A WILL AND A WAY

TRIES TO EARN KEEP IN SPITE OF HANDICAPS

Daniel McGuire, 24-year-old deaf and dumb youth of Chicago, will be in Evanston for the next two weeks trying to earn his own living despite his handicap.

McGuire has taught himself to make paper "Cut-ups." A "Cut-up" according to McGuire, is a white paper cut-out following the likeness of a photograph, which is placed against a black background, forming a novel means of portraiture.

Claiming credit for the innovation, McGuire also employs colored paper to bring out realistic effects for hair, eyes, lips, and cheeks. He also sells in his house-to-house campaign small novelties which he whittles out of wood with a pen-knife.

Telling about his attempts to sell these things, McGuire writes, "I am trying to save some money for my mother's operation. But I don't want to be pitied. I haven't been very successful thus far, but I will keep on trying."

The young man has received a permit to solicit orders from the local police department and from Mayor Charles H. Bartlett.

Nov. 1935

Little glue held these wires in place. And so the wire picture was created.

McGuire has obtained a patent from the government office in Washington covering his invention.

Today as he opened his studio in the home of Mrs. Lena Lathrop, mother of his best friend, Charles Mow, he displayed a picture of President Roosevelt he has just completed.

LIKENESS OF PRESIDENT.

The picture is so perfect, even to the minute detail of the kindly lines around the President's eyes, that he was urged by his friends to send it to the chief executive.

Daniel McGuire, red-haired, freckled-face deaf mute, is happy in his new work. The depression has not bothered him. He knows that on the defeats of the past great victories are founded.

DEAF AND DUMB, JOB GONE, HE PROVES HERO

Chalk up the name of Daniel McGuire, 22 years old, 5716 S. Justine st., deaf and dumb since his birth, as one of the heroes of the depression.

When McGuire lost his job with a radio company two years ago, he did not cry and whimper, and ask the world to give him a living.

He began to sketch and draw pictures with pencil and paint until he became proficient enough to sell some of his work and thereby earn a living.

GETS PICTURE IDEA.

Then Daniel McGuire got an idea. He obtained a few pine wood boards, and went back to the radio company where he had been employed and got himself some strands of copper, steel and picture frame wire.

He sketched the features of Lewis Beechler, his friend, on a pine board. Then he indented the lines of the sketch, and placed wires in these lines. A glass top, and a little glue held these wires in place. And so the wire picture was created.

McGuire has obtained a patent from the government office in Washington covering his invention.

Today as he opened his studio in the home of Mrs. Lena Lathrop, mother of his best friend, Charles Mow, he displayed a picture of President Roosevelt he has just completed.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE WORKS PROGRESS ADMINISTRATION

Mr. Mallamace came East with the financial aid of a friend for the purpose of seeing the President. This, of course, could not be arranged. He explained to me that he had at first been given work as an electrician, which is his occupation, but that later on he was asked to do hard manual labor beyond his ability. He is a frail looking individual. //

He pointed out that his son, having been afflicted with the after effects of an attack of infantile paralysis, requires a great deal of care and attention and asked that the WPA office at San Jose, California, be instructed to give him work which he is able to do.

What I'd appreciate very much for you to do is to send me a letter of introduction; so that I might have the necessary authority to present the statue to you, as the same represents two years of hard work on my part.

I would like very much to get something started in the honor of the late Will Rogers. I would like to get it done when the "Fair" opens in San Francisco in 1937.

Hoping very much that you will be our President again after the 1936 election and thanking you very much for reading this letter I am hoping to receive an answer from you soon.

RECEIVED

I was very much honored to have received a letter from A. R. Forbush at your request.

I have just completed a statue for Gov. Rolph, clippings of which I enclose in this letter. I have commenced work on a statue for you. Work on same has been going on for 3 months. The work is slow as I am taking extra care and precaution.

My wife and I intended coming to Washington and present the statue to you. As we are of the working class we have no means of making the journey; so I am writing to you if you could inform me or make it possible for such an act. Also some paper to gain admission to your presence.

Many Happy returns from your last Birthday & success.

'So You're Miss NRA

BOASTING 62 LIGHTS on her eight-foot figure, "Miss NRA" yesterday was carried into the Governor's office as a gift from James Mallamaco, San Jose sculptor. The creature in the heroine's right hand is the "big bad wolf" typifying the depression, while seated at the right is (you've guessed it) James Rolph Jr., the Governor.

Governor Is Bewildered By Illuminated Statue

EXAMINER BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, Jan. 4.—Art—with a capital A—has moved into Governor Rolph's offices here, and the Governor admits he doesn't know just what to do about it all.

Returning in the early morning hours today, the Governor was confronted with eight feet of statuary all lighted up with Christmas tree bulbs nad ensconced behind his swivel chair.

The piece was brought up from San Jose in a trailer last night by James Mallamaco, the sculptor, who supervised its installation with the 62 lights. Here are merely the principal parts of it.

The statue has a central figure—Miss NRA. You can get that right off because she has NRA in raised blue letters on her girdle. The girdle is gold, like the gold stripes around her red dress and the gold in her crown. There are also stars in her crown, which are seven white Christmas tree bulbs.

Also on her girdle is a scabbard.

In her right hand Mrs. NRA is choking a Big Bad Wolf who is in turn holding a sign in his paws which says "Depression."

You get the fact that he is a gold hoarder, too, by the big chunk of plaster of Paris in his back paw labeled "Gold."

Below all this is a four-story building with President Roosevelt and Governor Rolph looking out the windows.

Two star-spangled banners float from the corners.

The sculptor told the Governor's secretary that the statue was unbreakable and the secretary sighed and said that was nice.

Governor Rolph tonight wired his thanks, and added:

"I am trying to find a place to put it."

April 15, 1936

My dear Mr. Caridi:

I have your letter of April seventh, with reference to the statue recently left at the Executive Office by Mr. James Mallamace of San Jose, California.

I am very sorry indeed that there has been any misunderstanding about the statue. As requested, the President was shown the statue, but, as explained to Mr. Mallamace, it was felt that he could not accept a gift upon which there had been expended so much time and money.

This was explained to Mr. Mallamace when he was here and he only asked that the statue be left at the Executive Office until he had an opportunity to make some other disposition of it. The statue takes up a great deal of room and we would, therefore, like advice from Mr. Mallamace as quickly as possible as to the disposition of the statue.

Sincerely yours,

M. H. MCINTYRE

Mr. M. H. McIntyre
Assistant Secretary to President Roosevelt
The White House
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. McIntyre:

Mr. James Mallamace of San Jose, California, hails from the same part of the country in Italy that I come from. He is at present in New York, and he has exhibited to me a letter written by you to him dated November 20, 1935, wherein you refer to the acceptance of a statue of the likeness of our President. Mr. Mallamace has been working on this statue continuously for over two years.

Some excitement occurred in California while Mr. Mallamace was constructing this statue, as appear in clippings from newspapers delivered to me. I am informed by Mr. Mallamace that while he was erecting this statue, he was stopped, and I imagine a few reasons for said order.

I believe that it would be an opportune time to present such statue to President Roosevelt, if he is willing to accept it, and if any error or any objection has been committed in constructing this statue, I am willing to accept your suggestion before I undertake to interest a large committee of Italian citizens and proper persons to be interested in presenting in a form and manner which such statue should be presented to the President.

Will you please be kind enough to advise me of your view on same before I undertake to do any work. Your reply will be highly appreciated.

Dear Pres. Roosevelt;

Under separate cover I am mailing you a gift made by the Miller Mfg. Co.,

This gift is a holder for snelled hooks, hooks that you possibly carry loosely in your tackle box. I am sure you will enjoy your fishing after using one of these holders. You will not have a tangled mess of hooks, gut, leaders and what have you when you come to do some fishing.

We hope that on your next fishing trip to the South or anywhere in fact, that you will use this holder and see what a convenience it is. You may carry this in your coat pocket without danger of the hooks getting caught in your clothing.

Sincerely yours,

MISS LEHAND:

This book of poems came from Mrs. Eugene Merrill, the mother of Mr. Keith Merrill of the State Department. She is a very old lady and a very charming one.

I have told her that I would send the book over to the President. If it is not too much trouble, could you just send a line to her acknowledging it.

Sorry to burden you, but she is old and admires the President more than anyone in the world, so I feel that I can impose on you for these reasons.

Dear Mrs. Helm

A small book of poems, sent me by my son-in-law Clarence Ray Shepard of Winnipeg interested me very much, particularly as it came soon after the radio speech of the President at the Ford Fellowship meeting on February 3rd. The purpose of these poems, some good and others ordinary as shown in Prof. Kirkconnell's preface, is so unusual and yet so in line with the President's reiterated plea for our very personal apprehension of national life. If Mrs. Helm reports his personal reaction, I shall be grateful to you for word of it.

Mr. President

I am sending you this ^{also 3/6/36} portrait hoping you will accept it as a birthday gift. Really you don't know how much I enjoyed drawing your smiling face. You see Mr. President I never took up art in my life, it came to me. Right now I am in high school, I am 19 years old and very much interested in art. Someday I hope to be a great artist, so that I will be able to paint your picture. Mr. President I don't want to take much of your time reading this letter, but I cannot close unless I say just this, ever since you first took the president's chair, you have done the United States a great deal of good. Times were bad when

THE BILTMORE HOTEL
LOS ANGELES

March 4, 1936

Francis Murphy
719 West 46th Street
Los Angeles, California

To the President
The White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. President:

You undoubtedly knew my illustrious grandfather, the late Francis Murphy, who, during his life time enjoyed the friendship and support of many of the greatest men in this country as well as of international fame, because of his wonderful success in gospel temperance work many years ago. Being his grandson and name sake, I am still trying to carry on the same great work of helping my fellowmen toward a better life, as well as being a trouper of the professional world, of which I am proud.

I just had to write you a few lines at this time to tell you how much we all love you and how grateful we are to God that you are our President. How true it is that God never forsakes his own. What would have become of our country at this time if you had not been our President. How happy you must be - what a great peace that passeth all understanding must be yours to know that in helping those who have been out of work, not knowing where to turn next, their homes being at stake - the most precious thing that is left to any real American is his home - all he loves and all he lives for and fights for are safe because of you. You know, Mr. President this is true and I know whereof I am speaking when I say they love you. I have been around hundreds of these men and I know how grateful they are to you, and their only hope to want to live to fight on for their loved ones is because they know that you, our President, will do all you can that is right and what you think is best for them. Nothing could happen that would cause them to forget or forsake you, and they all heard you over NBC - the talk you made at the Jackson Dinner - if you could have seen their faces and heard what they said I know you would have been most happy.

The Federal Theatre Project is one of the blessings I am speaking of - at 1050 Santee Street, Los Angeles, which is an honor to you, Mr. President. The project is made up of famous actors and vaudeville entertainers of years, many of whom in the past drew salaries from $500 to $5000 per week - stars that came from Broadway and whose great art lives in the history of the entertainment world of the past. And now the most beautiful thing in this world has happened once more. Through you, Mr. President, God bless you, they are now again entertaining the people with their great art. Once more they can put on the grease paint and give again to the world the only love they ever knew - making people happy - the beloved trouper is happy again.

They have at the head of this project Mr. Gilmore Brown, and his assistant, Mr. Howard Miller, who, by the way, was the means of us all being able to go back to work in our profession. What a blessing Mr. Miller is to us all. His very life, heart and soul is given to them all to get them started back on the old trail again, and at the head of the vaudeville department we have a wonderful sweet little woman, whose name is Miss Etta Edson, who is not only an inspiration to her fellow troupers, but also a veteran of the stage herself. She is doing wonders for the entertainers of that department - and the performances that she sends out under her supervision are creating a great interest, and I know if you could see the results you would again be made happy for what you have done.

I am happy to tell you this, Mr. President, for so much is written in the press regarding relief that I just wanted you to know about this project - that what you have done in the past and are still trying to do - that all you are going through with and the great human fight you are making - the troupers of the drama and vaudeville at 1050 West Santee remain an honor and a credit to you.

Let not your heart be troubled. God is in his heaven and all is well, and no man could do more than you, Mr. President. You have brought happiness to thousands upon thousands whose hearts in the past years were broken, tired and weary of it all, and who had lost hope, life meaning only darkness to them, and you know, Mr. President, I am speaking the truth, and I can truthfully say that these wonderful people, who have in the past enjoyed the finest things of life, through your great heart - it was the happiest Christmas day they had had in a great many years - and how many did I hear say, "God bless Roosevelt. This was the happiest Christmas we have spent for many years."

Do you wonder, Mr. President, why they love you and that they ever pray that God will help you and keep you well and protect you? They, and all of us, will never forget the past years, and more so after the Hoover administration, and when I think of Hoover - how proud and thankful to our blessed Father than I am an American. I should think he would at this time remember Calvin Coolidge's famous words, "I do not choose to run." The American people know Hoover and the rest of them also, and they are not going back to the dark street that you spoke of in your broadcast. Thank God we can see our way down that street now, the lights are lighted which guide us safely through to the future where there is hope, faith, happiness and love, and once more we can say "My Country, tis of thee," for which, Mr. President, we thank you with all our hearts for lighting that dark lonely street so again we can find our way home where the fires are burning and our loved ones are still together with mother. What a wonderful sweetness that is to have mother - and I guess that is why God made mothers because he couldn't be everywhere - dad and the children - America is carrying on all because, Mr. President, you are doing all you can to make the world better for having lived - and far out across the span of ocean where the sunset turns the ocean blue to gold we, on the projects of your kindness, our prayers are ascended to God every night, asking him to keep you safe and well, protect you and your loved ones that you may carry on for the greatest country in the world - our America. Now is the time for the right thinking Americans to stand true, faithful and loyal to the principles of our forefathers and start reading those blessed words that are written in the greatest book of time, faith, hope, charity and love, and the greatest is charity. How you are trying with all your heart and soul to carry on these words and doing all you can for the hearts of your countrymen with a heart of gold and kindness.

Before closing, I want to add these few words. It was my great pleasure and happiness, something will live with me the rest of my life, to tour the C.C.Camps. If you never do anything more in this world that what you are doing for those boys - your name will be immortal. They have the finest of care and comfort and education under these commanders - and the welfare is their first thought, and I know whereof I am speaking. No wonder you are such a great President. Why? Because your benevolent heart has been touched by our trials. Your noble mind has understood our difficulties, your courage has swept aside thousands of men's conceit. The true greatness of your statue is reflected in the magnimity of forces you steadily vanquish. All Americans problems fall upon your shoulders and God grant that all Americans blessings go out to you now.

Permit me to say you need have no fears of results. America stands always for the right. True, these are trying times, but the old ship Constitution out on the ocean of troubled waters is well able to meet every wave of opposition and right will prevail. Lincoln had his Waterloo - he stood for what he thought was right. He gave his life - his memory is immortal. And now this country of ours is once more in a great crisis. I firmly believe, Mr. President, as God gave us Lincoln for those trying times, he gave us you at this critical time. You with your great heart and spiritual understanding are God's people - and God never forsakes his own - and the American people will never forsake you as they have never forgotten Lincoln.

May God bless, guide you and protect you and his divine tenderness and love rest always upon you and your loved ones is the prayer of us all for all you have done for us and the thousands upon thousands of us who will remember you in our gratitude when the great day comes to bring you back to our hearts again this year not only as our President, but our beloved neighbor.

Yours truly,

P.S. Enclosed you will find some press clippings I thought you would like to read, and also a pencil sketch that my boy drew of you. I would love dearly to have an autographed photograph of yourself to have in our home so my children and their children will bless and keep for years to come.

Dear President Roosevelt:

The Town of Manitou Springs has instructed the Ute Chief Mineral Water Company to bottle and send you a case of natural Mineral Water from a new Spring here. This water is untouched other than the bottling, and has only the medication given to it by Nature's own infinite process. The water contains sodium carbonate and sulphate, lithium, and calcium carbonates, magnesium and ferrous carbonate, and contains a trace of silica.

Manitou is rich in natural mineral springs, having over fifteen in use. Some of our springs are centuries old, and the Indian Tribes came here and drank from the bubbling water, holding their tribal dances and rituals, paying homage to the Spirit of Manitou.

We hope you enjoy this Natural Mineral Water, and would indeed like very much to have you drink at the Spring with us sometime in the near future.

 President of the United States
 White House
 Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. President:

A brief ceremony was held today in the Club House in honor of the birthday of Thomas Jefferson, and we are sending you, by airmail, a piece of the birthday cake and hope Mrs. Roosevelt and yourself will enjoy it.

With kind personal regards and very best wishes to Mrs. Roosevelt and yourself,

Faithfully yours,

President.

My dear Mr. President:

When you were kind enough to see me in Washington, you mentioned LITTLE WATERS; and Mr. Cooke was kind enough to send me a copy. I read it on the voyage with the greatest pleasure and interest, and I am going to send it on to Professor Stapledon, perhaps the outstanding expert on conservation in this country. It has occurred to me that you might be interested in Professor Stapledon's book on THE LAND, and I am taking the liberty of sending you a copy. It is a field in which there are none too many good books; literature lags behind the necessities.

Yours very sincerely,

My dear Senator:

Thank you very much for your letter of April twenty-fourth, transmitting one received by you from Mr. Herman Moss relative to the desire of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Marks, of Manchester, England, to present a reproduction of the "Washington Jug" to the President while they are in Washington on Sunday, May third.

I regret very much that the President will not be in Washington on May third. Confidentially, this sort of request should go through the State Department since, apparently, Mr. and Mrs. Marks are English people. Also, as you know, we have made it an almost unbroken precedent that all gifts for the President be received through me.

May I suggest if they want the President to have the jug, they arrange to leave it with you for delivery to the President.

Dear Col. McIntyre:-

I am enclosing herewith a letter which has just come from my good friend, Mr. Herman Moss, of Cleveland, relative to the presentation of a Doulton reproduction of the "Washington Jug" to President Roosevelt by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Marks of Manchester, England.

Will you be good enough to see what you can do about arranging such an appointment, and advise me? Please return the enclosure with your reply.

Honorable Robert J. Bulkley,

My dear Senator Bulkley:

Mrs. Moss and I are planning to be in New York about April 30th to meet some cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Marks of Manchester, England, who arrive on the BRITANNIC. We will be there for a few days, showing them the city and expect to motor to Washington on Sunday, May 3rd.

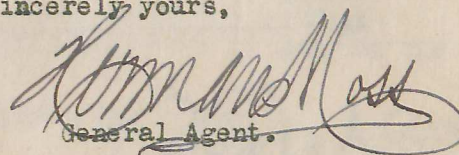

The Marks family have been merchants in Manchester for over a hundred years and are very responsible people. It seems that they have had the famous Doulton pottery people make a reproduction of the so-called "WASHINGTON JUG", and after a certain few were made the mould was destroyed. They are bringing one over with the hope of being able to present it to President Roosevelt.

Would I be imposing too much upon your friendship to ask you to suggest the proper way by which this could be done?

We expect to be at the Hotel Washington, Washington, D.C. late Sunday afternoon, May 3rd. Would it be convenient for you to send a communication to me, care of that hotel?

Thanking you very much indeed for whatever you may be able to do, I am, with kind personal regards,

Very sincerely yours,

General Agent.

MEMORANDUM FOR MISS LeHAND:

Were you ever able to locate the Washington Jug with the certificate which Mr. Marks refers to in the attached letter? The Jug was sent over to the House. As I remember it was about 18 in. tall with very elaborate figures all over. It looks like a very large beer stein. I understand it is rather valuable and I thought perhaps the President might like to have it registered as they suggest.

Dear Colonel Macintyre,

No doubt you will remember I had the pleasure of meeting you on May 4th. in connection with a presentation which was made to President Roosevelt, of a rather fine piece of Pottery which I took over from England, and which is now in the hands of the President.

At the same time, whilst I was in President Roosevelt's office, I left a Certificate with him which, unfortunately, I now remember, was not signed by our Artist - Mr. Charles Nokes, nor was there any number on the Jug or Certificate. As all these Jugs and Certificates are numbered and very strictly LIMITED to the edition of 1,000, I should be extremely obliged if you could obtain the Certificate from President Roosevelt and mail it to me, to enable me to get it signed, and in view of the Jug being the first passed proof from the factory I would also like to stamp the Certificate to that effect.

No doubt you will agree with me that these Jugs will certainly be the ANTIQUES of the future, and it would be our wish, and the Artist's, that President Roosevelt should have the Certificate entirely completed, which we should be happy to do and let you have it back in the course of a few posts, if you would kindly favour us with the return thereof.

I should like to say how much Mr. Moss, my wife, and self, enjoyed meeting President Roosevelt and yourself, and I think you will have already gathered that we respected your wish with regard to the Press absolutely to the letter, and no interview was granted by any of us according to your request.

Yours faithfully,
