Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. President:-

I am having forwarded to you, by the Beck Engraving Company, of Philadelphia, a copy of our calendar. The original drawings are by Earl M. Horter, reproduced by Beck Gravure.

Although I am a hidebound Republican, a member of the Union League of Philadelphia, I want to compliment you on your fearless stand on great public questions. Surely our country is to be congratulated on having such a leader at this time.

As an "Alpha Delt", (Brunonian, '94) I am proud to see the principles of our fraternity so wonderfully exemplified. Still, I am but one of millions who wholeheartedly admire and support your sterling Americanism.

Fraternally yours

March 27 1933.

My Dear President Roosevelt. Jack

Ever appreciating your untiring efforts to bring this glorious country of ours out of chaotic circumstances.

I ask no greater privilege than to express my heartfelt gratitude by presenting you a little token in the way of a paper weight which is being sent this date under seperate cover.

I made it yesterday at the Northern Pacific roundhouse where employed and the portrait in relief on the coin inserted, will, I hope, serve to symbolize the fact that God once again has given us another Honest abe.

Your good helpmate must also share this sentiment, she is wonderful in every respect.

Hoping you accept and use the weight with equal pleasure as it is for me to present it, always wishing you and yours continued success. I beg to remain.

Yours respectfully.
Francis B. Nickerson.

The Honorable Franklin D. Roosevelt
President of the United States

My dear Mr. President:

Your well-known interest in all that pertains to the traditions of New York, Dutch, English and American, and your loyal support of the New York State Historical Association - attested by twenty-one years of membership and by many other reassurances - have doubtless kept you somewhat apprised of a project dear to all of us, the ten-volume cooperative History of the State of New York, written by eighty-five of our members, edited by Dr. Alexander C. Flick, State Historian, and published for the Association through the Columbia University Press. The first two volumes will be issued at the last of this month and pairs of volumes will follow at six-month intervals. I take the liberty of sending herewith an announcement of the History, in order to refresh your impression of its character and quality; reference to the next to the last page will remind you that you head the list of its endorsers.

The purpose of this letter is to ask if you would consent to receive as the Association's gift the first copy, especially bound with appropriate device. We would appreciate it if you felt you could receive it from the hands of a committee which the Association has appointed for the purpose: Dr. Flick, the editor; Mr. Frederick Coykendall, President of the Columbia University Press (and Chairman of the Trustees of Columbia University); and myself, as President of the Association, - and if you would allow a photographic record to be made of the occasion as a matter of cultural interest to the public.

In case of your approval, the exact date must be left, of course, to your convenience. But we would very much like to have it early in May, as marking the opening of a celebration of the 250th anniversary of the founding of self-government in New York and the establishment of the original ten counties.

We well realize that you are importuned for attention by every sort of enterprise, at a time when you are making history faster than we can write it. But we like to think that you will regard this request as somewhat more attractive to your personal interest than many of those received; I assure you that this publication is not "commercial," save in that we hope to cut down our losses as far as possible. If, however, the press of public business makes any such interview inadmissible, we shall remain, as we are now,

Very respectfully yours,

Dixon Ryan Fox

President of the
New York State Historical Association.

April 17, 1933.

History

My dear Mr. Fox:

The President asks me to acknowledge receipt of and thank you for your letter of April 6th.

Due to the tremendous pressure on the President he has delegated me to receive the Committee and to accept the book on his behalf.

For your information, due to the necessity of completing his program of emergency legislation within the shortest possible time, this has been the practice since the beginning of this Administration.

Sincerely yours,

M. H. McIntyre,
Assistant Secretary to the President.

York State Historical Association

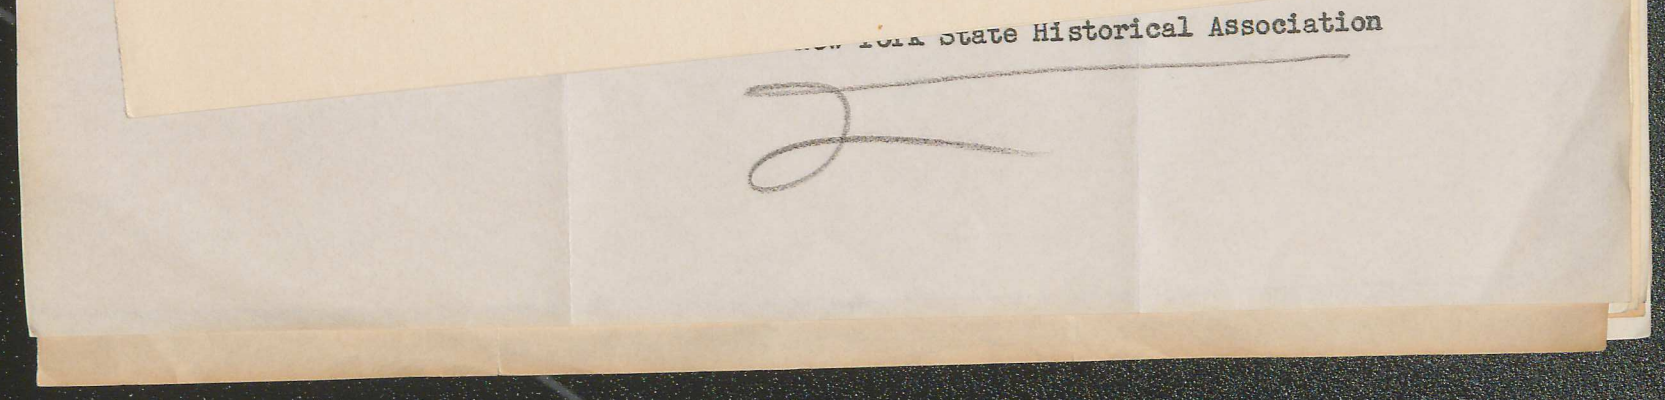
An Announcement by
The President of the New York State
Historical Association

THE State of New York, having a great history, deserves a good History. None heretofore has covered the whole stretch of time, none even in a particular era has covered the whole range of human interests. In the ten-volume coöperative history which the New York State Historical Association is producing, due and proportionate attention is paid to such human concerns as religion, literature and the other arts, social customs, professional development, education, agriculture, business, labor, racial stocks, etc., as well as the more conventional staples of history.

Here is a really interesting story: the foremost savage warriors of all time; Dutch mynheers and vrouws striking into a wilderness; manor-lords and yeoman English farmers; fur traders and missionaries nosing their canoes through unmapped streams; gay Canadians behind Montcalm; Redcoats, Tories, Whigs, and Iroquois, facing each other in forest massacres or ranged in one of the world's decisive battles; the French allies captained by nobles lately from Versailles; Hamilton, Jay, Gouverneur Morris, the Livingstons, the Clintons, great architects of the republican government; land speculators and pioneers; a second war with England fought largely on its soil; New York a school of party politics under Van Buren and Weed, and of idealism under Greeley, Gerrit Smith and the early feminists; organizing victory in Civil War days against a stubborn opposition; Tilden, Tweed and battles for good government; Cleveland, Hill, Platt and Roosevelt in bitter contest; enormous industrial development concentrating wealth and people in the metropolis of the New World. Where is there a history more dramatic, more richly varied, more instructive? In every stage it illustrates the history of the whole United States.

Fortunate it is that the publication of this standard HISTORY OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK has been undertaken by the Columbia University Press. All who are interested in the backgrounds and traditions of New York are thus doubly reassured that the work is not produced for financial profit but for public usefulness. The text of these ten volumes, written by the best-qualified specialists, has met the exacting tests of the Press, and the Press' high reputation has guaranteed to the Association an artistic excellence and a dignity of presentation that it could scarcely otherwise have expected.

DIXON RYAN FOX
President, New York State Historical Association



For many years there has been a demand for a complete and authoritative account of the many-sided development of New York State, from its earliest beginnings down to the present time. Although there are numerous excellent monographs and sectional histories, it is astonishing to discover that a field, so obviously important, has gone without comprehensive historical treatment. As long ago as 1915, a committee of nine leading historians acting for the United Historical and Patriotic Societies of New York issued a fifty-six page pamphlet on "The Need of a History of New York." To meet this need, the most competent forces have been brought to bear on the subject. The individuals and groups connected with the preparation of the History of the State of New York have been carefully selected to insure the attainment of the highest possible results.

The Columbia University Press and the New York State Historical Association feel most fortunate in having secured as editor-in-chief, Alexander C. Flick, Ph.D., Litt.D., LL.D. Dr. Flick has achieved high distinction in the field of history both as teacher and author. As official New York State Historian, he is best qualified to determine the nature of the material to be included as well as to select the most competent contributors for each special topic. Acting with Dr. Flick as an advisory board in the preparation of the History of the State of New York are the following: Dixon Ryan Fox, President of the New York State Historical Association; Victor H. Paltsits, of the New York Public Library; Alexander J. Wall, of the New York Historical Society; A. J. F. Van Laer, New York State Archivist; Peter Nelson, of the Division of Archives and History.

The table of contents reproduced herein will give at a glance an idea of the thoroughness with which the History of the State of New York covers the ground. The many endorsements already received indicate the widespread interest which this announcement has aroused.

The volumes will be in uniform library buckram binding. Page size 6¼" x 9". Maps, illustrations and bibliographies accompany each volume and the work is completely indexed. There will be ten volumes in all, each of about 320 pages subdivided into ten chapters. Under the general title History of the State of New York the volumes will bear individual titles. Beginning in April, 1933, two volumes will appear every six months until the work is completed.

Editorial Statements

"The need for a comprehensive and authoritative history of the Empire State has been expressed repeatedly. Periods and regions have been fairly well covered but the history of the state as a whole has never been adequately presented. The New York State Historical Association has assumed the responsibility of meeting this opportunity. Its History of the State of New York is a new history embracing many centuries of the development of man, red and white. It includes the economic, social, cultural and religious as well as the political phases of growth. It is the product of coöperative and specialized scholarship which alone can cover so vast a field. It treats the colonial period but stresses the era of statehood and particularly recent times. It aims not merely to narrate and describe but also to interpret."

Dr. Alexander C. Flick, New York State Historian

* * *

"The History of the State of New York, now being prepared under the sponsorship of the New York State Historical Association, will fill a need that has long been felt. New York has had few histories and has never had a comprehensive one. The wide range of the present work, written upon principles of modern historical scholarship by a corps of specialists, responsible for the individual chapters, augurs well for its serviceability to all who realize the singular importance of the Empire State's history in the fabric of the nation, and will make it a readable history, as well as a permanent reference book for private and public libraries."

Victor Hugh Paltsits, New York Public Library

* * *

"The proposed History of the State of New York, to be issued under the auspices of the New York State Historical Association, will fill a need, as there is no comprehensive, up-to-date history of the state in print. Under the editorship of Dr. Alexander C. Flick, State Historian, we are assured of a scholarly production, and that the project will be carried out with the utmost care. Associated with Dr. Flick as contributors is a long list of well-known writers and teachers of history."

THE HEADQUARTERS BUILDING, WITH MUSEUM AND LIBRARY, AT TICONDEROGA, NEW YORK

The
New York State Historical Association

was organized in 1899 by people who, like Parkman and Cooper in earlier days, knew and loved the romantic tradition of the Lake George country. After a few meetings devoted to the cultivation of this history, they enlarged their role, began to hold their annual meetings in various parts of New York and became state-wide in actual interest as well as in name. The Association has now nearly 2,000 members.

Cordially yours,

President
New York State Historical Association

TEN REASONS FOR BELONGING TO THE

New York State Historical Association

1. It increases knowledge of the long, immense, and varied effort that has gone into the building of New York from the first tentative settlements at Albany to the present Empire State.

2. It fosters a wholesome pride in these achievements. In such sentiment, it has seemed to many, New Yorkers have lagged behind their New England neighbors.

3. It enriches the association of our hearthstones. Even those who have but recently come to New York can, by learning of its background, acquire a comfortable sense of home.

4. It concerns itself with a history that is really interesting: the foremost savage warriors of all time; Dutch mynheers and vrouws striking into a wilderness; manor-lords and yeoman English farmers; fur traders and missionaries nosing their canoes through unmapped streams; gay Canadians behind Montcalm; Redcoats, Tories, Whigs, and Iroquois, facing each other in forest massacres or ranged in one of the world's decisive battles; the French allies captained by nobles lately from Versailles; Hamilton, Jay, Gouverneur Morris, the Livingstons, the Clintons, great architects of the republican government; land speculators and pioneers; a second war with England fought largely on its soil; New York a school of party politics under Van Buren and Weed, and of idealism under Greeley, Gerrit Smith, and the early feminists; organizing victory in Civil War days against a stubborn opposition; Tilden, Tweed, and battles for good government; Cleveland, Hill, Platt and Roosevelt in bitter contest; enormous industrial development concentrating wealth and people in the metropolis of the New World. Where is there a history more dramatic, more richly varied, more instructive? In every stage it illustrates the history of the whole United States.

5. It affords a most agreeable social contact of like-minded people in its annual three-day meetings at a comfortable hotel in some city, village, or resort. The program offers a wide range of historical addresses and papers.

6. It presents its members with a Quarterly Journal containing each year nearly 400 pages of historical articles, pictures, and news.

7. It cares for historical parks, erects historical markers, stimulates interest in the development of the state — an educational work of broadest usefulness.

8. It maintains a spacious, stately museum-house at Ticonderoga, an exact reproduction of a colonial mansion, furnished with scale-replicas of many of the finest furnishings in America, all made for the Association. There is a well-stocked library as well. The house is open every day of the year and welcomes thousands of visitors.

9. It becomes more and more an integrating factor in the work of local historical societies carrying on their scholarly, social, and educational interests throughout the state.

10. It costs for all the benefits you receive and bestow through membership—only $3.00 per year.

April 22, 1933

M. H. McIntyre, Esquire
Assistant Secretary to the President
The White House
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. McIntyre:

I have your letter of April 17 and understand perfectly that the enormous pressure upon the President in the present emergency precludes his doing many things that he would greatly like to do, and that a ceremonial presentation of the History of the State of New York is on that account at present inadmissible. Delays have developed in the preparation of these specially bound volumes, and after consultation with my colleagues I am suggesting that the presentation be deferred until summer when, very possibly, the President will be at Hyde Park. Perhaps there is a special propriety in its taking place on New York soil.

Thanking you, I am

Dear Mr. President,

Having a great respect for the personality of the first President Roosevelt (in conjunction with thousands of other Englishmen) and hoping to retain the same nice feeling in regard to yourself as the second President of that great name, I venture to enclose this little book by Francis Gribble, which seems to bear the impress of truth in its pages.

If you will honour Mr. Gribble by scanning the said book, I feel sure you will endorse the sportsmanlike feeling so many thousands of my countrymen connect with the name of Roosevelt by doing your utmost to remit our present taxation, which is roughly three times as heavy as that of any other nation; by cancelling all interest past and present on your loan to England.

Some thirty years ago, I had the pleasure of knowing intimately Colonel Gordon (Niles Tool Works) whom you also probably knew, as he was one of the late President McKinley's staff.

I remain, dear Mr. President,

Yours faithfully,

Chas. Reading.

Since your induction into high command, your achievements have been such as to challenge the admiration of every loyal American citizen, regardless of party affiliation.

Therefore, as an expression of appreciation of your magnificent efforts, we are publishing a series of advertisements similar to the framed photostat copy that is going forward to you under separate cover, which I trust you will read with interest.

My dear Mr. President:

Please accept with the compliments of the NEW YORK-RIO GRANDE LINE, the crate of eggs expressed from here to-day, the first of a large consignment about to be moved for the first time by sea from the Magic Valley of the Rio Grande direct to New York City.

These eggs originated at the Santa Gertrudis Ranch, Kingsville, Texas, more generally known as the King Ranch, brand of the "Running W" , the home country of the distinguished Vice-President.

We are timing the shipment to reach Washington for the children's Easter fiesta, which happens also, to be the day of the big shipment from the Rio Grande, bringing a new money crop to the farmers in this territory.

With assurance of high esteem,

Yours very truly,

DELTA PACKING ASSOCIATION

CANNERS AND DISTRIBUTORS OF CALIFORNIA ASPARAGUS

ISLETON, CALIF.

IN YOUR REPLY PLEASE ADDRESS:
P. O. Box 728

May 26, 1933

Franklin D. Roosevelt,
White House,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President:

Kindly accept with the compliments of the Delta Packing Association, Two cases of canned Asparagus being forwarded by this Association addressed to you at the White House.

It will perhaps be interesting to you to know a little of the history of the Delta Packing Association, as we feel that our Association in its limited way is endeavoring to accomplish some of the purposes that you, as our Chief Executive, so strongly support and without which support our efforts, we are afraid, would have been futile.

Due to the chaotic condition of the canning industry at the beginning of the canning season, a good number of growers found themselves with no home for the product of their fields. It just so happened that the commencement of canning operations occurred during the general banking holiday, making it impossible to obtain financing through commercial channels. We therefore presented our problems to the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Berkeley whom we found very sympathetic and willing to assist us in every way possible, with the result that arrangements were made with this Bank to finance our operations, and it is with a feeling of the deepest gratitude, and also relief, to know that in conditions such as which we are now passing through that the machinery of the Government is so set up and operated as to enable the individual, by the formation of groups having a common interest, to take advantage of the aid placed at his disposal by the Federal Government.

In closing, the Delta Packing Association heartily endorses the policies as set up by you and your Administration and extend their sincere best wishes for the continued success of your endeavors.

We have the honor to remain,

Yours faithfully,

DELTA PACKING ASSOCIATION

Read

My dear Mr, President:

I have the honor to transmit under seperate cover,a small volume published by my very close loyal friend, Governor Alva Adams,of Colorado,

The reason for sending you this book,referring to the great Napoleon,is because of the fact,that you possess so many of the best ideas and principals,of this great Statesman; and thinking that perhaps you had never read this unpublished manuscript,I thought you might enjoy it;and if you would like to have this little book in your library,I will be most delighted to present it to you with my compliments.

I loaned the book to a friend,some time ago, and it came back somewhat mutilated,which I very much regret,and since all the torn pages were not returned,I have no way of replacing the damage.

I cannot close this letter,without praising you, for the very strong stand you have taken on questions now involving the entire world; you are right, and making history that will stand for ages.

I hope your vacation,was restful,and that you may have health to carry on,is the fervent prayer of your admiring friend.

Dear President Roosevelt—

I was on the wharf—or rather a wharf the day you sailed up through the narrows, to Campobello and was fortunate to get this very lovely picture, even to the cloud in the sky. I think the fog must have cleared that day just for you and all of us, who were awaiting your arrival.

I had three of these pictures enlarged. One for Mr. Bennett who was very, very pleased as I knew he would be and he assured me that you would be happy to receive one too.

Every one here is very much concerned over the Muddy Dam Project and I'm sure we all hope to see it's beginning in the near future. It will be the salvation of Lubec as well as Eastport.

Wishing you all the luck and success during the next four years, and many years to come I am

Sincerely
