Hon Sirs

We are sending you what we consider an emblem of the era of increased prosperity we are just entering into - an ear of corn - multiplying itself seven-fold - typical of the turn in the tide of the times It would seem that nature her-self

To His Excellency,
Franklin D. Roosevelt,
President of the U.S.A.
Dear President,

On behalf of the Roosevelt-Garner Club of Lakefield,
Minn., we are sending you a present.

The former Roosevelt, a republican was some what of an originator of ideas. On tough problems he used the big stick. But, his problems were a lark compared with what you have to contend with. You have some real problems on hand. They are what the modren would call hard nuts to crack. We ^{feel} ~~feel~~ the time may come, when in some cases you may have to resort to drastic measures and should be equiped to deal with such cases promptly and properly.

We are sending you by insured post a club. A club is a democratic Idea. It is the idea that put another Roosevelt in the presidents chair. This time a democrat, as it should be. A club is the only instrument that will have any effect under present conditions and in case of a necessity, dont be a bit bashful, use it. We are with you and if you have reason, use it on us too. That is, I mean, dont use it on us as you would on some tough republican, but only to keep us lined up as good democrats should be.

We could have sent you a big stick. But whats a big stick today.
Besides its republican and good democrats will notstand for any thing

Hi Nichols, Esq., X
8524 South Paulina Street,

First, for the splendid and masterful way in which you have catapulted into reforestation. I do not refer here to your incalculable service to the nation in salvaging its unemployed young manhood, but to your inspired work in fending off inevitable timber famine, nationally fatal soil erosion, and an ultimate desecration of the continent.
For this I am inexpressibly thankful to you and grateful to God. And with good reason for as a former cow-boy and still ranger as well as a lifelong student of dendrol-ogy and forestry, I am most ardently concerned with all that affects the welfare of both trees and wild life.

Hi Nichols, Esq., X
8524 South Paulina Street,

First, I am glad to hear of a thorough purging of the Indian Department. Frankly, I had all but despair of ever seeing the blot of our inefficient administration of Indian affairs removed from the national conscience. But I am beginning to see light in this matter, thanks to your wise selections. And it really meant much to me, to have lived many years among the Indians and feel keenly my ill fortune.

Second, for the splendid and masterful way in which you have catapulted into reforestation. I do not refer here to your incalculable service to the nation in saving its unemployed young manhood, but to your inspired work in fending off inevitable timber famine, nationally fatal soil erosion, and an ultimate desolation of the continent. For this I am inexpressibly thankful to you and grateful to God. And with good reason, for as a former cow-boy and kill-ranger as well as a lifelong student of dendrology and forestry, I am most passionately concerned with all that affects the welfare of both trees and wild life.

The President,
of the United States,
Washington, D. C.

Sir:

In addressing you I am not only exercising the privilege of a loyal citizen, but fulfilling the obligation of a grateful one. And as a slight, a very slight, token of my appreciation for my good fortune in living to see you hold the highest office in our gift, I am sending to you, under separate cover, a little book, PAY DIRT IN CHICAGO .. a free-lance scribbler's humble contribution to your program to recover our lost prosperity.

But to the true purpose of this letter .. that of thanking you for certain things you have done in these few months of your incumbency:

First, for a regeneration and a thorough purging of the Indian Department. Frankly, I had all but despaired of ever seeing the blot of our inefficient administration of Indian affairs removed from the national scutcheon. But I am beginning to see light in this matter, thanks to your wise selections. And it really means much to me, for I lived many years among the Indians and feel keenly their good or ill fortune.

Second, for the splendid and masterful way in which you have catapulted into reforestation. I do not refer here to your incalculable service to the nation in salvaging its unemployed young manhood, but to your inspired work in fending off inevitable timber famine, nationally fatal soil erosion, and an ultimate desolation of the continent. For this I am inexpressibly thankful to you and grateful to God .. and with good reason; for as a former cow-boy and hill ranger as well as a lifelong student of dendrology and forestry, I am most jealously concerned with all that affects the welfare of both trees and wild life.

Third, for your frank, friendly radio talks .. talks which are worth more than whole hecatombs .. talks which are in striking contrast with the ghost-written soporifics of one other .. talks which are endearing you to thinking Americans as much as your constant alertness to the Nation's needs and your undeviating devotion to the right.

Therefore, let me place myself on record as being ever ready to support you and serve you to the limit of my capacity, anywhere, at any time, in any way.

I am, dear Mr. President,
Yours faithfully,

Hi Nichols

Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt,
The President,
Warm Springs, Georgia.

My dear sir:

Mr. W. B. Haley, Chairman of the local committee for the Georgia Hall tells me of the very pleasant evening he spent at the dedicatory exercises of that fine Memorial in which all Georgians are so deeply interested.

Two boxes of delicious pecan nuts are going forward to you by express with compliments of the Exchange. This is a growers cooperative marketing association for pecan growers and has been in successful operation for the past sixteen years. The nuts that you will receive are of the famous Schley variety, renowned as the most delicious nut grown. As you probably know, pecan growing is restricted to the United States and therefore we have the possibilities of the world for a market without the fear of foreign importations. We doubt if this can be said of any other agricultural commodity.

The nuts in question are bleached, this being a new product of the Exchange which we worked out and rather recently put on the market after much experimentation and under the direction of one of the leading chemists in Georgia. You doubtless know that all English walnuts and almonds are bleached before sale and distribution and our success with this splendid bleached nut, which has met with a wonderful reception in the trade, is putting pecans on a basis of fair and open competition with these other fine looking edible nuts. I need not say that the appearance of a product in the market adds greatly to its reception and sale.

We trust these nuts will be an acceptable addition to the Thanksgiving table of yourself and guests, not forgetting the good young people who are availing themselves of your great munificence in the hope that they will be restored to health and able to take their rightful place in the social and business world of this great nation.

With personal regards in which our entire organization join most heartily,

It is with great pleasure that we send you with our compliments and those of Hervey Allen, the two hundred thousandth copy of ANTHONY ADVERSE which we took from the presses and had specially bound for you. The binding is from a design by Ernst Reichl of the H. Wolff Estate, binders, who join us in presenting this volume.

It seems to us that this book symbolizes the progress of your labor toward recovery, since it was published coincidentally with the institution of the N.R.A. and its tremendous sale has kept pace with the revival of American business. In fact, ANTHONY ADVERSE has been running continuously on the presses since June.

I hope you will accept this copy for your library and that some time you will have an opportunity to read it, if you have not already done so.
