BRADLEY, D. Richards
Pleasantville, N. Y.
July 7, 1933

Sends the President a reproduction of an old photograph taken in the seventies, showing the champion ice yacht, "Hayes" with her dignified crew. Also encloses a booklet of the constitution of the Poughkeepsie Ice Yacht Club, in which are the names of John A. Roosevelt, James Roosevelt and William C. Arnold, his great Grandfather. Asks the President to write in the first few blank pages of the booklet the relationship between his present family and that of Mr. John A. and Mr. James Roosevelt and return it to him. -- On July 21st, the President thanked Mr. Bradley for the picture, but stated that he did not recognize either his Uncle John or his father, as being in it. Told him that he is sending the picture to his cousin, Miss Ellen C. Roosevelt, John Roosevelt's daughter, asking her to make a check on the name of the ice yacht. -- On August 7th, the President advised Mr. Bradley that his cousin, tells him that the ice yacht was the "Haze," and she remembers the boat as being one of the fastest on the river when she was a little girl.

Very Dear and Honored Sir:
Please pardon the liberty I have taken in dedicating to you my booklet on

"Monetary Systems and the Gold Standard,"

a copy of which I am mailing you under separate cover, and which I sincerely trust you may find time to read.

I dare not hope that you will approve it all, but do believe you will approve its spirit and purpose; and it may contain some thought or suggestion of help to you in your great work.

It may be of interest to you to know that Cordell Hull was a student in our office.

In common with all my fellow citizens hereabouts, allow me to subscribe myself faithfully, loyally, trustfully, and admiringly,

Yours Friend,

Dear Mr. President:

Sending you herewith copy of a picture of a group taken upon your visit to the home of Hon. James M. Cox, in Dayton, this spring a year ago. Reading from left to right, the group is - Hon. J. O. Shoup, one of the best known Democrats throughout this section and a very close personal friend of Governor Cox, - the next gentleman, Mr. Farley, of whom you have doubtless heard, - then yourself, - then next is the writer, - to my left your old friend Judge Marx, and on the right end is Albert A. Horstman, Chairman of the Democratic Committee for Montgomery County, Ohio.

I know you have collected a great number of interesting photographs and am very happy, indeed, to add this one to your collection.

Inasmuch as I expect to be the candidate for Governor of Ohio on the Democratic Ticket next year, I am all the more interested in your great administration. I am happy to report that throughout this entire section it is meeting with hearty cooperation. You and your administration are a great success.

My dear Mr. Petter:

Dear Mr. President:

The President has asked me to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of August sixteenth and to tell you how much he appreciated the kindly thought which prompted you to send "The Mahzel" to him.

Its traditional dates back to the Royal House of David and good fortune, and down through the ages it has been that talisman.

Very sincerely yours,

Its use as a symbol of the early Christians was established by recent discoveries of wall paintings, discovered after cleaning, and now on exhibition in Egyptian Museum, founded by St. Anthony and St. Paul.

Dear Mr. President:

I have ventured to enclose for your kind acceptance the World's recognized safeguard against misfortune and ill-luck - "The Mahzel" - in the hope that you may retain it, and so participate in the benefit of its undoubted mystic influence.

Its traditional history dates back 3000 years to the Royal House of David, by whom it was used as an emblem of hope and good fortune, and down through the ages it has been treated in that belief.

Its use as a symbol of the early Christians has been established by recent discoveries of wall partitions, disclosed after cleaning, and now on exhibition in Egyptian Monasteries founded by St. Anthony and St. Paul.

Further evidence of Christianity is supplied by the Ethiopian Court, the most ancient Court in direct line of descent, where today the symbol is incorporated in the decoration of the "Order of Saba."

It is carried by great numbers of the most prominent people in the Royal, Social, Political, Stage and Film world.

I enumerate hereunder a few of the very many already possessing the emblem and trust you will gratify me by consenting to be associated with them.
