DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL COMMITTEE, Hon. James A. Farley
March 3, 1937.

Writes Miss LeHand enclosing correspondence from C. E. Ludwig, of Belmont, Mass., dated Feb. 26th, addressed to Mr. Farley, sending an ordinary lead pencil which was used twice to make an "X" behind F. D. Roosevelt. Asks that the pencil be given to the President. The writer will be 75 years of age April 13th. Wants to send a gift he is making to Mrs. Farley. Encloses a poem for the President also.--President wrote Mr. Ludwig, March 10th, saying the Postmaster General has forwarded the poem and pencil to him. The President also congratulated Mr. Ludwig on his coming birthday.--Miss LeHand wrote to the Postmaster General, March 10th, saying the President had written a note of thanks to Mr. Ludwig.

My dear Mr. President:-

As President of the United States of America, you have unquestionably saved this country from a complete economic failure and a vast number of its people from starvation.

I have the utmost confidence in your integrity for the interest you have shown in the general welfare of the people of these United States.

As a token of appreciation, I had the pleasure of mounting your photograph in a 32 ounce bottle.

Besides the flowers and photograph, the mounting is constructed of ten pieces of wood, which is covered and silvered with paper. The mounting was constructed through the neck of the bottle, piece by piece.

I sincerely hope you will accept and cherish it.

My dear Mr. Pender:

This will acknowledge the receipt of your letter of March twentieth.

Thank you very much, in the President's behalf, for your kind offer. I am afraid, however that it will not be possible to arrange for the presentation of the asparagus to be made to him personally. At the beginning the Administration we adopted a policy, and have adhered to it rigidly, of having all gifts presented to the President through me. I do not see, therefore, just how an exception can be made in this case.

If you will send the asparagus to me, I shall be very glad indeed to present it to the President with your compliments.

President Franklin D. Rosevelt,

Warm Springs Ga.

Dear Mr Rosevelt:-

Our asparagus season is just coming in and I am wondering if you would permit me to send you a crate of fresh green asparagus. If you remember I sent you a crate of natural winter asparagus from Belle Glade Fla on Jan 2. 1933 thru our mutual friend J. Austin Latimer, now assistant to Mr Farley.

Mr Latimer is from my home town and a personal friend of mine and was my sunday school teacher for ten years or more.

Was also wondering if you want the asparagus would it be asking to much of you to let me bring it and see you for just a little while. I have no business or favors to ask, but would like very much to se a great man and a great President. I am a rural carrier which position I have held for 22 years and a little two by four four horse farmer. I am inclosing a kodak picture of you given to me by one of my school mates, Dr Gregg Smith now in the Navy. Needless to say that I appreciate the picture as well as the personal letter which I received from you concerning the crate of asparagus.

If the request is not in line or convenient please be as frank as I was for asking for the invitation, and I shall be to glad to send the crate of asparagus.

Dear Sir & Friend:

I hope you are kept a very busy man, so please pardon me for bothering you with my letter, but I assure you I will cut them very short & off completely and give you a chance to rest up a bit. For heavens sake take a peep at this wicked slipping about that white man & woman supposed to be white people (but are they really white?) allowing their 14 yr old Daughter & many 18 yr old gorilla like ni-mouth black nigger. ashamed of themselves should say they should be and all white people should be ashamed of them & their color-white, if not then why not, ask your all white folks? If this sort of business is allowed to be carried on, in a few years we wont know who are white people and who are not- sorr it-to yourself It has been a great what can you do about this matter? Just about the same thing as you are doing now—in a justifiable way with the U S a supreme court. But in this case just a little different that will learn other white people good lessons; that is, have an order this mr X mrs Charles Palmer, placed in jail and throw the keys away forget all about them for all time; place this nigger in jail also for 35 or 40 years, and this child wife 14 years old have her sent to a reform school until she is 21 years old—if not, then with your permission, lock mr X mrs Charles Palmer & this nigger John Lee Mansfield to see white Hobos here in Omaha Nebraska and will will fix them up quickly and it wont cost this state or the U S a government one penny for their court trials. Respectfully awaiting your answer in full by Porter.

this other chippy should plainly show you that this state should now have enough money left over from sales tax to support all a mothy old people now getting relief without the aid of any money from the U S a treasury if not why not?

EXCERPT OF LETTER

March 27, 1937

Newport, Rhode Island

Franklin D. Roosevelt, President - U.S.A .

Dear Friend.

Regards my brother Roy Savage's pension I wrote you of. No member of our family has any knowledge of his ever having been granted one, and if my brother does get one, he did not mention the word Increase to me.

Our Rep. Clyde H. Smith, whom has been aiding Roy recently, has found a record, under the provision of Public Act Number 299 71st Congress as reenacted by Publib Act 269 74th Congress that one Roy Savage has been getting a Pension of $60 per month for several years. however, I think it is another man by the same name in or near Skowhegan, Maine, or some place. I have informed Mr. Smith that my Brothers middle name is Leroy, first name Elbridge, which being an odd name no other Savage would have. So I hope to hear the exact fact soon. I received one letter from Veterans Dept. that he had no War Record and not eligable to draw a pension. I know he was a cook in his Co. and was down there, but as I understand it the war was declared over while they was enroute. Roy writes me he was in a Hospital there with malarial fever and has chills & fever by spells ever since. I hope he can trace the other Roy Savage and find out if he is getting a Pension so we can rest at Peace in our minds.

Just had a letter from Brother Roy stating he has never had a Govt. Pension must be a mouse in the meal some where.

Time Cycle Not Man-Made

"Thus the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the host of them. And on the seventh day God ended His work which He had made; and He rested on the seventh day from all His work which He had made. And God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it: because that in it He had rested from all His work which God created and made." Genesis 2:1-3. We see from this that it was the seventh day upon which God rested. It was the seventh day that He blessed, and it was the seventh day that He sanctified or set apart for worship.

God is the creator of time. Man has had no part in this, nor can he have. We see from the first and second chapters of Genesis that God made the days of the week, fixing them as it pleased Him. The weekly cycle was established …

tempt to change the day God has fixed as the Sabbath as it would be to change the orbital motion of the earth. Jesus says, "The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath." Mark 2:27. The Sabbath was made for Adam and all his posterity. It doesn't say that it was made for the "Jews," but for "man,"—generic man. The Sabbath was made following the creation of the man, and given to him not as a holiday, but as a holyday; not as a day in which he could do as he pleased, but a day in which to rest and worship God, Creator. The Sabbath was made as the memorial of creation. It was the birthday of the world. Just as it is an impossibility for a man to change the day of his birth, so it impossible to change the world's birthday.

When God published His law at Mount Sinai, He embodied the Sabbath commandment in the very heart of His great moral code, the Ten Commandments. Webster says of the word "moral": "Of or pertaining to the practices, conduct, and spirit of men toward God, themselves, and their fellow men." The keeping of the Sabbath is a great moral obligation toward God.

This is the Sabbath …

much. His condition was not wholly mental, but he needed a mental uplift to aid his physical condition.

Many are ill and disabled because they have surrendered to depressed feelings or worry. Nothing tends more to promote health of body and mind than does a spirit of gratitude. "A merry heart doeth good like a medicine." It "maketh a cheerful countenance." Proverbs 17:22; 15:13. Not merely does it make a cheerful countenance, it makes a cheerful heart, a cheerful stomach, a cheerful liver. It sends a benediction and blessing to every organ and cell of the body. No organ can function normally or be at its best without this medicine,—a merry heart.

On the other hand, mental depression means depression of every organ. No organ can function normally or be at its best when the mind is depressed. When there is a smile on the countenance, the stomach smiles, the liver smiles, even that prolapsed and inactive colon smiles.

The Duty of Good Cheer

Thoughts and feelings are encouraged as we give utterance to them. Instead of giving way to depressing and melancholy thoughts, it is a positive duty to cultivate thoughts of good cheer. The command is,—note that it is a command,—"Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things." Philippians 4:8. Overcome undesirable thoughts with good thoughts. "Overcome evil with good." Romans 12:21.

Digestive disturbances which are traceable to mental influences diet alone can never cure. This explains why reforms in diet are often a failure. Even the best food and the most careful combination of foods cannot cure such cases. A physician who practiced in Mexico informed me that it was not uncommon there to have patients come to his office suffering from digestive disturbances, which they themselves were able to trace to an outburst of anger. Any angry stomach is unable to function normally, and writings of the law and the prophets, was astonished at the Saviour's statement. And, indeed, it does express something supernatural and beyond the range and limit of ordinary human experience. Though a man should want to reform his heart, he could not do so. "Can the Ethiopian change his skin, or the leopard his spots? then may ye also do good, that are accustomed to do evil." Jeremiah 13:23. We cannot alter the inborn configuration of our souls. By taking thought we cannot add one cubit to our stature.

How, then, can we be changed? and how can we escape from the bondage of sin? and how can we be born again into that heavenly kingdom, we who by natural birth belong to this earthly kingdom? We come to God by repentance. "Godly sorrow worketh repentance to salvation not to be repented of: but the sorrow of the world worketh death." 2 Corinthians 7:10. There are different kinds of sorrow, and not all sorrow is godly sorrow. The burglar who backs off the scene of his activities into the arms of the police is sorry that he stole; but that is not repentance in the Bible sense. So we sometimes, for offenses which we consider lesser, regret that we have acted in such and such a way, because our act has brought us embarrassment or humiliation or loss. But the repentance of the Scripture is of another type. It is not regret that we have suffered, but regret that we have sinned. It is the turning of the soul to God in humility and contrition. It is also,—and this is a point that must not be overlooked,—being "sorry enough to quit." The one who has repented, will keep from the act of which he has repented.

Acknowledgment of Sin

Such repentance as this is not the product of our own minds. The apostle speaks of "a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel." Acts 5:31. Those who have repented most deeply and efficaciously, are the first to acknowledge that their repentance comes of God, and is a gift of the Holy Spirit, the fruit of His working upon their hearts.

And as this repentance works within our hearts, we yield ourselves to God. We claim His promise, that "if we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." 1 John 1:9. These sins that we confess may be acts of the type that the common opinion of mankind condemns,—disgraceful things, which would place us under the stigma of the community. Or they may be merely the inner and quite respectable attitudes of selfishness and meanness. All alike are equally disgraceful in the sight of God, and equally demand repentance, confession, and forsaking.

For the person who professes to be a Christian needs constantly to watch himself, lest the unholy traits that will never find a home in God's kingdom lodge in his heart. A woman once came to Spurgeon, and announced, "I haven't committed a single sin for twenty years!" "Really," he said, "you must be very proud of that." "Indeed I am!" she said. That is not the attitude of the converted heart. Whenever you see a Christian standing off in amazement at his own holiness, you may be sure that you do not see a Christian at all. The true Christian knows himself too well to suspect that there is any holiness there. He realizes that whatever of goodness and sanctification may be in him, comes from God, and God alone.

The result of this change, this new birth, this conversion, is obedience. There can be no dodging this conclusion. The person who attempts to ignore the law of God by exclaiming, "But I was converted ten years ago,—I know I was!" needs to have his conversion brought up to date. We cannot say, "Now I am converted," and go into spiritual sleep for the rest of our lives. "I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in Me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave Himself for me." Galatians 2:20. It is not enough to have been a Christian ten years ago, or even ten minutes ago. We must be followers of Jesus, converted in heart and spirit, now.

Conversion is not a matter of emotion and transports. It is a turning from evil to good, from self to God. And always and invariably it manifests itself in obedience to God's law and His revealed will. "What doth it profit, my brethren, though a man say he hath faith, and have not works? can faith save him? If a brother or sister be naked, and destitute of daily food, and one of you say unto them, Depart in peace, be ye warmed and filled; notwithstanding ye give them not those things which are needful to the body; what doth it profit? Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone.

"Yea, a man may say, Thou hast faith, and I have works: show me thy faith without thy works, and I will show thee my faith by my works. Thou believest that there is one God; thou doest well: the devils also believe, and tremble.

"But wilt thou know, O vain man, that faith without works is dead? Was not Abraham our father justified by works, when he had offered Isaac his son upon the altar? Seest thou how faith wrought with his works, and by works was faith made perfect? And the scripture was fulfilled which saith, Abraham believed God, and it was imputed unto him for righteousness: and he was called Jesus observed this day when He was upon earth in person about fifteen hundred years after the giving of the law at Sinai: "He came to Nazareth, where He had been brought up: and, as His custom was, He went into the synagogue on the Sabbath day, and stood up for to read." Luke 4:16. It was Jesus' custom, or habit, to keep the Sabbath, the seventh day.

FARLEY IS MAN OF HOUR IN POSTOFFICE CRISIS

POSTMASTER GENERAL POINTS WAY TO SOLUTION

WASHINGTON.—Postmaster Farley himself is reported to have scored a triumph in the strategic conferences now being held to consider practical ways and means to promote courtesy to the public from postal employes.

After an all-night session, during which many suggestions were grunted down, Farley suddenly leaped to his feet and made an inspired speech. After describing his recent trip to Ireland, and reading statistics from the World Almanac on the election returns of last Autumn, Farley urged that idle theory and fantastic speculation give way to practical reform.

"For example," he shouted, "let's find out how many fingers are smashed daily by window clerks who refuse to accept packages at the last minute! Then, after digesting these figures and making proper allowances for the human factor, let us pass a resolution urging Congress to appropriate funds to keep the windows open ten minutes longer every day, so that last-minute package patrons will be on time without knowing it."

The applause was deafening. Assistant postmasters who had suggested padding the windows or planting the sills with grass, withdrew their motions, thus paving the way for unanimous acceptance of what will hereafter be known in history as the Farley plan.

Q. and A. DEPARTMENT

Dear Aunt Bella:

I am engaged to the son of a minister of the gospel, and although I am a chorus girl, my boy friend assures me that his parents are broad-minded, and want him to bring me to visit them. Should I take such a risk, or should I? —Anxious.

Ans.—Of course, dearie, if he wants you to meet his parents you should by all means appear eager to do so. Of course, you should be very careful of your manners, and when, at table, they ask will you have corn, do not make the mistake I once made. I handed my glass instead of my plate.

Of the three Arms of the American Government, no one can DOMINATE the others without destroying vital safeguards of THE LIBERTIES OF THE PEOPLE.

Which is exactly WHAT WILL HAPPEN if the Roosevelt plan to control the Supreme Court prevails.

Alexander Hamilton wrote in "The Federalist":

"The general liberty of the people can never be endangered so long as the Judiciary remains TRULY DISTINCT from both the Legislature and the Executive."

And he said further:

"Liberty can have nothing to fear from the Judiciary alone, but would have EVERYTHING TO FEAR from its union with either of the other departments."

Which means that the present effort to subdue the Judiciary to the will of the Executive is a direct assault upon the GENERAL LIBERTY OF THE PEOPLE.

Now, according to the Biblical record, it was the last, or seventh, day of the week that God rested on, and He made it the Sabbath, and not Sunday the first day.

Time Cycle Not Man-Made

"Thus the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the host of them. And on the seventh day God ended His work which He had made; and He rested on the seventh day from all His work which He had made. And God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it: because that in it He had rested from all His work which God created and made." Genesis 2:1-3. We see from this that it was the seventh day upon which God rested. It was the seventh day that He blessed, and it was the seventh day that He sanctified or set apart for worship.

tempt to change the day God has fixed as the Sabbath as it would be to change the orbital motion of the earth. Jesus says, "The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath." Mark 2:27. The Sabbath was made for Adam and all his posterity. It doesn't say that it was made for the "Jews," but for "man,"—generic man. The Sabbath was made following the creation of the man, and given to him not as a holiday, but as a holyday; not as a day in which he could do as he pleased, but as a day in which to rest and worship God, his Creator. The Sabbath was made as the memorial of creation. It was the birthday of the world. Just as it is an impossibility for a man to change the day of his birth, so is it impossible to change the world's birthday.

When God published His law at Mount Sinai, He embodied the Sabbath commandment in the very heart of His great moral code, the Ten Commandments. Webster says of the word "moral": "Of or pertaining to the practices, conduct, and spirit of men toward God, themselves, and their fellow men." The keeping of the Sabbath is a great moral obligation toward God.

ALONE

IT IS human to stand with the crowd; it is divine to stand alone. It is man-like to follow the people, to drift with the tide: it is God-like to follow a principle, to stem the tide.

It is natural to compromise conscience and follow the social and religious fashion for the sake of gain or pleasure: it is against nature to sacrifice both on the altar of his will.

"No man stood with me, but all men forsook me," wrote the battle-scarred apostle in describing his first appearance before Nero to answer with his life for believing and teaching contrary to the Roman world.

Truth has been out of fashion since man changed his robe of fadeless light for a garment of fading leaves.

Noah built and voyaged alone. His neighbors laughed at his strangeness and perished in style.

Abraham wandered and worshiped alone. Sodomites smiled at the simple shepherd, followed the fashion, and fed the flames.

Daniel watched and prayed alone. Elijah sacrificed and witnessed alone. Jeremiah prophesied and wept alone. JESUS loved and died ALONE. And of the lonely way his disciples should walk he said:

"Enter ye in at the strait gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat: Because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it" (Matt. 7:13-14).

A Business Man's Confession

A BUSINESS man, at the close of a strenuous day, called at the hospital to see his beloved wife. To his sad disappointment the kind doctor laid his hand upon his shoulder and said, "There is nothing more we can do; the end is near."

After a short stay with his wife this man, with a sad, heavy heart, turned his steps toward home. He went out of the hospital and with bowed head sat down on the steps. Finally he cried out, "O God, won't you spare my wife?" Then he looked up into the starry heavens and for the first time in all his life he really saw the handiwork of God. He saw himself as never before, and he cried out, "O Lord, what have I ever done for thee that I should ask any such favor? I have been selfish, living all for self. I have spent my life grasping for money and have had no time for God or my fellow men. I have not even taken time to enjoy my wife or my home. O Christ, thou Son of God, if thou wilt spare my wife I will surrender and set our home in order and give Jesus the first place in our lives. I will take God into my business and render unto God what belongs to him." He arose and went home with a feeling in his heart that in spite of circumstances all would be well.

The next morning when this man went to the hospital he met the nurse, who said, "Shortly after you left last night a great change came over your wife. The doctor could not understand it but she is much better and the doctor says there is hope for her.'' The man went in to see his wife and she greeted him with an old-time smile and said, ''I am going to get well; I shall soon be home with you again.''

She gained very rapidly and was soon home. They set their house in order and set up the family altar and their home became a house of prayer. He kept his promise and took God into his business. His business increased and God made him a blessing to many.

Many today are trampling the mercy and blessings of God under foot. They never recognize the hand of God in anything. They never realize that God is the author, owner, and giver of every good thing they enjoy. ''I girded thee, though thou hast not known me'' (Isa. 45:5). How sad not to know our great God, who so many times has protected us and bestowed his divine favors upon us!

Friend, I pray God to awaken you before the death angel calls at your door and it is too late. I long to be a brother to you and help you to find and fill a greater place and purpose in life. I long to help you to make home and life sweeter, so that when home is broken up there will be fond memories of the past. Your brother knows by experience that the fondest memories of the past, after a companion has been called away, is that of a Christian home. You, like this business man, can settle the whole matter in a moment and it will change the whole trend of your life. Just invite Christ into your life. ''But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ'' (Eph. 2:13).

IS SUNDAY THE SABBATH?

SUNDAY is the Sabbath, according to a recent issue of the Literary Digest. In a three-column article, under the caption, "Keeper of Sabbath," the Digest uses the words "Sabbath" and "Sunday" interchangeably. Dr. Harry L. Bowlby, general secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance and metropolis Sunday crusader, is the "keeper of Sabbath" referred to.

Quoting from the fifth paragraph of the article, we read: "Every Sabbath, the Reverend Dr. Harry L. Bowlby, sixty-seven, general secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, thus performs a compound of spiritual and temporal duty." Again: "Head of an organization whose sole purpose is to keep the nation's sabbath quiet, dignified, and holy." But now in the first and fourth paragraphs we find that Sunday is the day called the sabbath: "Up and down one sizzling New York street after another, a short, wiry man, with smooth salt-and-pepper hair, beat an unwearied path in a small motor car last Sunday." When Dr. Bowlby finds a store open and doing business, he goes to the nearest police station and complains against the merchant. The charge is: "Keeping open on Sunday."

We admire Dr. Bowlby's unwearied zeal, but we think that it ought to be directed to the accomplishment of a better task. Whether a man ought ever to be forced to keep a Sabbath is one matter. For another, Sunday is not the Sabbath of the Lord, never has been, nor will it ever be. It is simply a working day. It is the first day upon which God worked in the creation of the world. Now, according to the Biblical record, it was the last, or seventh, day of the week that God rested on, and He made it the Sabbath, and not Sunday the first day.

Under the measures that some denominations are endeavoring to impose through legislation, it would be against the law to get a "shine" on Sunday. And yet most of these organizations readily confess that the first day of the week is not really the Sabbath.

"Thus the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the host of them. And on the seventh day God ended His work which He had made; and He rested on the seventh day from all His work which He had made. And God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it: because that in it He had rested from all His work which God created and made." Genesis 2:1-3. We see from this that it was the seventh day upon which God rested. It was the seventh day that He blessed, and it was the seventh day that He sanctified or set apart for worship.

God is the creator of time. Man has had no part in this, nor can he have. We see from the first and second chapters of Genesis that God made the days of the week, fixing them as it pleased Him. The weekly cycle was established at creation, and it is as far from the power of man to change or attempt to change the day God has fixed as the Sabbath as it would be to change the orbital motion of the earth. Jesus says, "The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath." Mark 2:27. The Sabbath was made for Adam and all his posterity. It doesn't say that it was made for the "Jews," but for "man,"—generic man. The Sabbath was made following the creation of the man, and given to him not as a holiday, but as a holyday; not as a day in which he could do as he pleased, but as a day in which to rest and worship God, his Creator. The Sabbath was made as the memorial of creation. It was the birthday of the world. Just as it is an impossibility for a man to change the day of his birth, so is it impossible to change the world's birthday.

When God published His law at Mount Sinai, He embodied the Sabbath commandment in the very heart of His great moral code, the Ten Commandments. Webster says of the word "moral": "Of or pertaining to the practices, conduct, and spirit of men toward God, themselves, and their fellow men." The keeping of the Sabbath is a great moral obligation toward God.

This is the Sabbath commandment as it was given by God at Mount Sinai:

"Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor, and do all thy work: but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God: in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, thy manservant, nor thy maidservant, nor thy cattle, nor thy stranger that is within thy gates: for in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day: wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day, and hallowed it." Exodus 20:8-11.

Likewise His followers were taught obedience to the Ten Commandments, for at the time when Jesus was taken down from the cross, it was late on Friday, the preparation day. Now the women who were followers of Jesus followed to the tomb, and saw that His body was laid away; and then the record tells us they went home and kept the Sabbath: "The women also, where. The extremism of the one feeds on the extremism of the other; between them they make the moderation and compromise of democracy look both futile and incompetent.

With their ideological impact, backed by rapidly expanding military power, they are putting a pistol to the heart of the remaining European democracies, forcing them to choose between the two with the knowledge that such a choice involves the suicide of democracy itself. Berlin or Moscow is the unpalatable alternative facing all European nations today, and is the explanation of recurrent street fights and strikes in France, the horrors of the Spanish civil war, Putsches in Austria, and the severe domestic strain in both Poland and Czechoslovakia. It also is the background for the armament race itself; for the hurried conferences between statesmen and chiefs of general staffs; for the violent language of the European press; and for the feverish activity of European chancelleries.

No Escape From War

Europe as a whole is now in the position of Germany under Bruening, when national socialism and communism crushed the democratic parties between them. Though the other nations may hope to escape an identical fate, they are still forced to ally themselves more or less openly with one side or the other. So far, Great Britain alone, with that enviable instinct which crosses no bridges before it comes to them, seeks to avoid the choice by denying its compulsion.

The present alignment of nations represents a cross on the European map in which a German line-up running north and south from the Baltic to the Mediterranean crosses in center the line-up of Moscow running east to west from Moscow to Paris. And perhaps the most significant element in the latter line-up is that it is becoming doubtful whether Moscow or Paris is the dominating partner. The inclusion of Soviet Russia in this alignment, which has enabled Moscow to push its ideology with greater emphasis everywhere, is one result of German rearmament, but also furnishes Germany with her most powerful argument for rearmament. The "Bolshevist menace" was used to the utmost to justify the latest army increase.

The struggle in Spain suddenly brought this confusion of ideas into some kind of focus. It is strange that Spain, which was out of the World War, out of the currents of contemporary Europe, almost as politically and economically isolated in the west as Russia was in the east, should become in its belated and violent social awakening the first battleground of the typical struggle of our time. And yet the anachronism is of a piece with a drama that violates all the dramatic unities.

Here was a country that came late into the modern world. It missed the experiences in democratic development that formed France, England, the Netherlands, Scandinavia. Unprepared, it began to experiment with democracy just when two new conceptions of government had grown powerful and peremptory. It was inevitable that these rival powers should fight for Spain. Her political backwardness and the temper of Europe made it inevitable that the contest should be interpreted in terms of communism and fascism.

It is because of these terms, and for that reason only, that the Spanish conflict involves the world. Until now Spain's internal troubles have attracted very little attention beyond her borders. But now, because every European and nearly every American takes sides, Left or Right, the Spanish war has become a sort of domestic issue everywhere.

International Storm Imminent

Most nations are preoccupied with a local phase of the general struggle. Hardly one, from England to Greece, but is stirred by a fascist movement of some potentiality. Communist parties are an older story; open or underground, they have been longer at work and continue to operate even in countries where they are suppressed. So far France and Spain are the only states in which communists have followed the new strategy of the Comintern Congress of 1935, and united with other parties of the Left to insure a Popular Front government. This change of tactics on the part of the Third International, which has never before cooperated with socialists, is the direct result of the growth of fascism. It shows how completely official communism, instead of propagating its own doctrine, has become simply a synonym for antifascism.

The overshadowing issue in the present struggle is not national but international. In the stormy sky of Spain are traced the first crude outlines of a contest not for one country but for the mastery of Europe. For the first time the fascist powers have been seen moving together. For the first time the shadow of two Internationals, instead of one, appears on the horizon.

Hitherto Mussolini has played a lone hand with no further aim than the interests and aggrandizement of Italy. Hitler has followed the same course in Germany. The two dictators personally dislike each other, and their policies have been antagonistic rather than co-operative. Fascist Italy blocked Nazi Germany in Austria, and during the Ethiopian campaign received no help from Germany beyond a frigid neutrality. But in Spain, though both signed hands-off agreements to prevent others from aiding the Madrid government, they act as fascist states in open sympathy with the insurgents. This solidarity is more striking than that of France and Russia on the other side because it is a new portent, the sign of a line-up never seen before.

Before the nation was exalted into a symbol of fascism or communism, it would have made little difference to Italy how or by whom Spain was ruled. Russia would not have felt that her prestige was involved in the outcome of a civil war on the Iberian Peninsula. But as representatives of two rival systems they are vitally interested in the affairs of their neighbors.

International relations thus became extremely complicated. No government could make a move one way or the other in the Spanish situation without implying a choice, not between Loyalists and Rebels, but beweent communism and fascism, and therefore between the powers professing these doctrines.

All Europe in Two Camps

To be sure, more is involved in the Spanish crisis than the clash of these two political theories. But they have become, in the minds of millions, the most potent and provocative symbols of the warring factions. As symbols, they divide Europe into opposing camps, and these divisions cut through national lines, through alliances, through geographic barriers. They foreshadow the

The SHADOW of WAR

All the world now knows that the "war to end war" did not accomplish its purpose. Again we face a titanic struggle among the nations.

L. DONALD WARREN

THE underlying causes of the conflict which shook Europe and three fourths of the other nations of the world from 1914 to 1918 are usually given as follows: Commercial rivalry among the great industrial nations to obtain world markets; entangling alliances, which divided Europe into two hostile camps; the rising spirit of nationalism, which occasioned the disintegration of certain powerful states; and the race in armaments, in which a test of strength was sooner or later inevitable.

All these forces are today operating as strongly among the nations of Europe as they were before the World War. And to them has been added another force far more sinister in its workings and far more disastrous in its consequences. It has begotten a war of ideas that has drawn a sharp line of cleavage in the midst of every people. The Spanish Revolt has brought into clear outline this vast, deep-seated conflict in which fascism and communism each seek the mastery of Europe, and which threatens the extinction of the very spirit of democracy.

Thus the political situation in Europe in 1936 is more serious than it was in 1914. The nations, it is now evident, blundered into the World War without any apparent historic necessity. They were moored more or less to the same general view of the world, the same economic system, the same mode of living. Their variations in form of government seem almost infinitesimal now. But today Europe is being shaken by an intensifying struggle between two rival mysticisms, with totalitarian pretensions and crusading proclivities, which are destroying the old foundations and throwing all accepted values into the melting pot.

These two mysticisms are bolshevism and national socialism. The latter is sometimes called fascism. Both have many things in common, but have embarked into deadly son. We may place hearts of peace and od will on our trees, for if ever the world is in need of these virtues it is now.

As we unreservedly make this surrender, turally we shall determine to support with ur means those who are taking the mesage, "Peace on earth; good will to men,"
o the remote corners of the earth. Realizng that His work cannot go forward with-ut our aid, our choicest presents this Yuletide will be for the saving of men and women in the darkness of sin. Since Jesus gave His life that whosoever believes in His sacrifice may be saved, no more suitable remembrance could be made the Saviour than to give, with our hearts, a liberal gift for the progress of His gospel work.

Unselfish Ministry

So "let there be recorded in the heavenly books such a Christmas as has never yet been seen, because of the donations which shall be given for the sustaining of the work of God and the upbuilding of His kingdom."

Then, too, the bestowal of the heart will also result in the dedication of a life of service to man. A loving soul will work to save other individuals in the darkness of fear. Thus shall be conquered the spirit of self-serving and of nationalism that has put the Old World down and out. And to the extent that this consecration is made by the men and women that comprise the nations, to that degree "the Wrong shall fail" and 'Right prevail" among us. So let us offer the tender ministry so much needed in homes, communities, and nations. Christ will thus be honored, His cause remembered.

But money cannot purchase the gift of the heart. Intellect alone cannot attain to the possession of the qualities of love, peace, justice, faith, hope, and courage. These all dwell together in the soul that throbs with pity for the woes of humanity. The world has much of intelligence, of education, of science, and of progress. But how much it needs a little of Christ,—of His love and mercy, His goodness and compassion!

In order to serve our fellows unselfishly, we must surrender to Jesus our selfish and unbelieving hearts, and receive in exchange hearts of love and tenderness, sensitive to the needs of Christ's cause on earth, and to the distress of "the stranger within our gates." Christ calls for this consecration of heart and life. No Christmas Eve is complete without this bestowal of our affections.

LIGHT ON THE CHRISTIAN'S PATHWAY

by Ellen G. White

EVERY child may gain knowledge as Jesus did. As we try to become acquainted with our heavenly Father through His word, angels will draw near, our minds will be strengthened, our characters will be elevated and refined. We shall become more like our Saviour. And as we behold the beautiful and grand in nature, our affections go out after God. While the spirit is awed, the soul is invigorated by coming in contact with the Infinite through His works. Communion with God through prayer develops the mental and moral faculties, and the spiritual powers strengthen as we cultivate thoughts upon spiritual things.

The life of Jesus was a life in harmony with God. While He was a child, He thought and spoke as a child; but no trace of sin marred the image of God within Him. Yet He was not exempt from temptation. The inhabitants of Nazareth were proverbial for their wickedness. The low estimate in which they were generally held is shown by Nathanael's question, "Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth?" Jesus was placed where His character would be tested. It was necessary for Him to be constantly on guard in order to preserve His purity. He was subject to all the conflicts which we have to meet, that He might be an example to us in childhood, youth, and manhood.

Satan was unwearied in his efforts to overcome the Child of Nazareth. From His earliest years Jesus was guarded by heavenly angels, yet His life was one long struggle against the powers of darkness. That there should be upon the earth one life free from the defilement of evil, was an offense and a perplexity to the prince of darkness. He left no means untried to ensnare Jesus. No child of humanity will ever be called to live a holy life amid so fierce a conflict with temptations as was our Saviour.

The parents of Jesus were poor, and dependent upon their daily toil. He was familiar with poverty, self-denial, and privation. This experience was a safeguard to Him. In His industrious life there were no idle moments to invite temptation. No aimless hours opened the way for corrupting associations. So far as possible, He closed the door to the tempter. Neither gain nor pleasure, applause nor censure, could induce Him to consent to a wrong act. He was wise to discern evil, and strong to resist it.

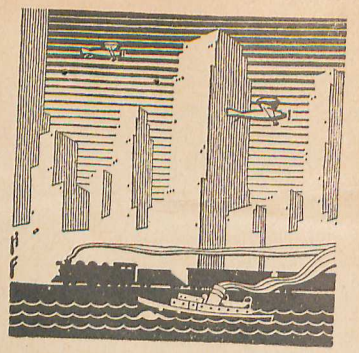

Christ was the only sinless one who ever dwelt on earth; yet for nearly thirty years He lived among the wicked inhabitants of Nazareth. This fact is a rebuke to those who think themselves dependent upon place, fortune, or prosperity, in order to live a blameless life. Temptation, poverty, adversity, is the very discipline needed to develop purity and firmness. . . .

As Jesus worked in childhood and youth, mind and body were developed. He did not use His physical powers recklessly, but in such a way as to keep them in health, that He might do the best work in every line. He was not willing to be defective, even in the handling of tools. He was perfect as a workman, as He was perfect in character. By His own example He taught that it is our duty to be industrious, that our work should be performed with exactness and thoroughness, and that such labor is honorable. The exercise that teaches the hands to be useful, and trains the young to bear their share of life's burdens, gives physical strength, and develops every faculty. All should find something to do that will be beneficial to themselves and helpful to others. God appointed work as a blessing, and only the diligent worker finds the true glory and joy of life. The approval of God rests with loving assurance upon children and youth who cheerfully take their part in the duties of the household, sharing the burdens of father and mother. Such children will go out from the home to be useful members of society.

Throughout His life on earth, Jesus was an earnest and constant worker. He expected much; therefore He attempted much. After He had entered on His ministry, He said, "I must work the works of Him that sent Me while it is day; the night cometh, when no man can work." Jesus did not shirk care and responsibility, as do many who profess to be His followers. It is because they seek to evade this discipline that so many are weak and inefficient. They may possess precious and amiable traits, but they are nerveless and almost useless when difficulties are to be met or obstacles surmounted. The positiveness and energy, the solidity and strength of character manifested in Christ, are to be developed in us, through the same discipline that He endured. And the grace that He received is for us."—Selected by G. A. Roberts, from "The Desire of Ages," pages 71-73.

CIVILIZATION'S SUICIDE

The nations are rearming as never before. "The next world war" is a common expression on the lips of both statesmen and military leaders. What is God's remedy for the curse of universal conflict?

By
ROY F. COTTRELL

AN OCEAN greyhound was slowly nosing her way into New York Harbor. Upon the deck an American traveler talked entertainingly with a distinguished visitor from France. Pointing to Bedloe Island, he said, "There is Bartholdi's great Statue of Liberty, guarding the very entrance to the greatest harbor in the world."

"Ah, yes," said the Frenchman, as he gazed at the mighty monument with absorbing interest, "it is very, very fine. In France we, too, build monuments to the illustrious dead."

Is liberty dead or dying? Listen to Francis B. Sayre, Assistant Secretary of State, in Washington, D. C.:

"Human liberty, democracy, parliamentary government, freedom of speech, freedom of conscience, tolerance, faith,—these in important parts of the world have ceased to exist. Democratic government is fighting for life. Autocracy and dictatorship are in the saddle. . . . Fear of the future haunts every land. The principle of security is fast losing ground. Armaments have increased to a new high point. The war system, which we ourselves have created, seems to leave no room for escape.

"It is as though we could see cracks slowly widening in the walls of some splendid old cathedral. Unless the foundations themselves are strengthened, the great edifice will surely collapse. In our civilization we see ominous fissures: concentration of wealth and poverty; increasing crime; permanent unemployment; profound social unrest; gigantic preparations for war, though nations know that another war may spell the end of civilization."

Across the Atlantic, Mr. Lloyd George asserts that "the nations of Europe are today feverishly engaged in preparing themselves for a final suicide of war." Similarly, Mr. H. G. Wells, describing modern war preparation as " the idiot child of invention and tradition," declared:

"Soon there will be no future to prophesy. . . . We won't need any invaders from Mars to destroy us, . . . because we are going to commit suicide soon. Another war will sweep the world, . . . and will find all nations equipped to annihilate civilization with armaments."

Speaking of the League of Nations, the same writer predicts that "this misbegotten child of Peace-in-a-Hurry by President Wilson" cannot live very much longer.

Left to themselves, no people really want war; yet fear, combined in some instances with covetousness, impels the nations to join the greatest armament race of all time. Says a well-known editor:

"Instead of using our resources to lift the common standard of living, to provide better education, better health protection, finer recreation, and the facilities generally for better living, throughout the world billions are appropriated to provide the machinery of destruction and to train young men in the most modern arts of dealing out death. Are we and all other people nursing notions of national suicide?"

The Alarm of War

In Europe alone 50,000,000 young men, intensively trained, are assembled in army barracks ready for action at a moment's notice; while in an emergency another 50,000,000 recruits would quickly respond to the call of "do or die."

In the armament factories of Europe there is fevered haste, while in the world's navy yards hundreds of new warships are emerging, ready to take their places in the line of battle. Italy plans to expand her air fleet until she can send 10,000 fighting planes across her borders to deal death to an enemy. Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia, Japan, and numerous smaller nations, also air-minded, are constructing stratosphere fighters and bombers, many of them capable of carrying several tons of death-dealing missiles and maintaining a speed of three hundred miles an hour.

The United States delights to term itself the "most peaceful nation" on the globe; yet at this moment it is expending three and a half times as much money for war preparation as in 1913. This country has twice as many men under arms and ten times as many officers. Its navy is double the strength of twenty years ago. Its aviation arm of defense includes some 2,000 fighting planes, with a construction program of 4,400 more. Besides these, there are approximately 8,000 commercial aircraft, the best in the world, which constitute a reserve air strength vastly superior to that of any other nation. For wars, past, present, and future, every family of five in the United States owes an annual bill of $181.

After four months of savage war in Spain between two extreme forms of radicalism, it is estimated that 60,000 government "communists" have been killed, while 80,000 "Revolutionary fascists" have yielded up their lives in the onslaught. Again and again we hear the question, Will the civil war in Spain yet spread to inflame all Europe? Germany and Italy strongly favor the Revolutionists, while the sympathies of France, Russia, and England are with the Loyalists. More and more the peoples of earth are definitely taking sides either with the fascists or with the communists; and a distinguished writer significantly asks, "Will they seek to fight it out on a world-wide scale?" So the nations, playing with destiny, draw closer and closer to the brink of the unknown.

In Tokyo, the Japanese government is training even dogs to defend themselves in case of an aerial raid. Notice the dogs wearing gas masks during one of the defense drills against mock air raids.

In this twentieth century, statesmen have devised most elaborate machinery for world peace; yet the octopus of war preparations moves grimly forward. A few years ago we talked "of a war to end war;" now we talk of a war to end civilization.

God's Message for This Time

Looking at "a world turning somersaults," there comes a sense of bewilderment and utter helplessness; yet for an hour like this God has prepared a marvelous message, and the two great contradictory trends in the modern race between peace and war were long ago foretold in Bible prophecy. One of these ancient forecasts presents the attitude of "many people" in the following language: "Many people shall go and say, Come ye, and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the house of the God of Jacob; and He will teach us of His ways, and we will walk in His paths; for out of Zion shall go forth the law, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem. And He shall judge among the nations, and shall rebuke many people: and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks: nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." Isaiah 2:3, 4.

In fulfillment, consider the peace organizations, leagues, courts, treaties, pacts, and palaces of the past quarter of a century to which some of the world's greatest minds and noblest hearts have contributed their best. Behold, also, the mighty pageant of armament that God declared would be marshaled throughout the world just prior to the second coming of Christ: "Proclaim ye this among the Gentiles; Prepare war, wake up the mighty men, let all the men of war draw near; let them come up: beat your plowshares into swords, and your pruning hooks into spears: let the weak say, I am strong. Assemble yourselves, and come, all ye heathen, and gather yourselves together round about: thither cause Thy mighty ones to come down, O Lord." "Put ye in the sickle, for the harvest is ripe: come, get you down; for the press is full, the fats overflow; for their wickedness is great. Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision: for the day of the Lord is near in the valley of decision." Joel 3:9-11, 13, 14.

These followers of the Saviour "rested the Sabbath day according to the commandment." Jesus had not taught them to keep any other day, but He had taught them to obey the law of God; and, despite the fact that their minds were sorely agitated, they were careful in their obedience. But as soon as the light part of the first working day of the week, Sunday, had dawned, they took the spices and ointments that they had prepared on Friday before the Sabbath, and hastened to the sepulcher to anoint the body of the One they loved.

But even though he and his girl friend pretend to be so "mild" and soothing to the nerves, and so helpful and "uplifting" to tired business men and business women, farmers, athletes, and, in fact, to everybody else, those who play around with them are surely "playing with fire in more ways than two; for every year these sneaky, bribing, robbing, burning criminals drag away nearly half a million new victims into a slavery from which few ever escape unaided.

claring, "I am the way, the truth, a life." This is the complete answer to t miah 8:1-8. Later they were reduced to writings known as Targums. The texts from the two schools of Targums in Palestine and Babylonia are a check on each other, and insure the authenticity of the Scriptures as used by Christ.

The purity of the Hebrew Scriptures was further safeguarded by the Talmudists, who, during the time of the Targums and afterward, commented on the paraphrased texts. The Talmudists are the commentators, correctors, and verifiers of the original reading of the Hebrew Scriptures, the Talmuds being a mass of rabbinical tradition reduced to writing and dating from about 270 A. D. to 500 A. D.

The Vowel Points

Because of the fact that the Hebrew language at this time did not have the vowel points, but only consonants, so that, illustratively speaking, BT might be either BaT, BuT, or BiT, the Talmudists made notes in the margins of the Targums to fix the original meaning according to the author's intent. Thus was the truth of the text preserved; for the Talmudists have zealously guarded the text of the Scriptures used by Christ and the rabbis.

Then from 500 A. D. to 800 A. D., the Masoretes edited the Old Testament, fixing the text according to traditions preserved in the Talmud by adding the vowel points to letters. If they thought for example, that CT should be CaT rather than CuT, as found in the Talmud, they noted the change they had made by marginal notes, which have come down to us.

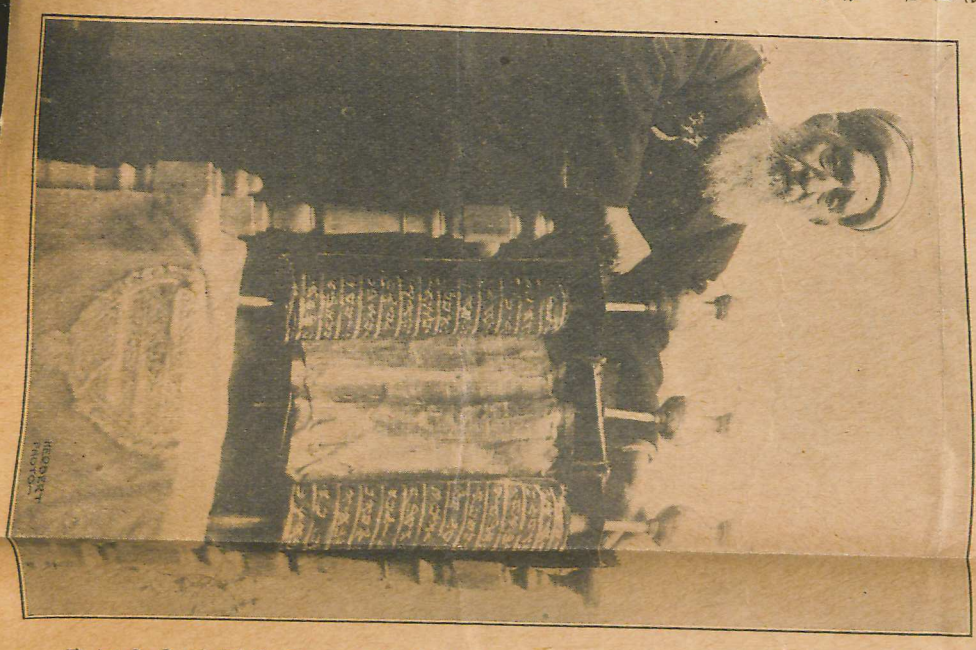

Great care was taken by the Masoretes, the Jewish scribes who labored in the transcription and rendering of the Scriptures, to insure against error, checking the number of verses, words, and even letters of each sacred scroll. They counted the number of words and verses in the Old Testament, and ascertained the middle word. The middle verse and word of the law were likewise found, and even the middle letter in each book and section accurately noted.

Then whenever any scribe copied the Scriptures in whole or in part, he checked the verses, words, and middle letters of his copy, thus assuring meticulous accuracy. "Because of this fact," says Hamilton, "the Hebrew text which we have has been handed down to us from the time when this practice was started, practically without the change of a letter." — "The Basis of Christian Faith," page 199. Undoubtedly God's hand guided in the scrupulous care with which the rabbis handled His word as it was passed from hand to hand and to hand down to the corridor of time from Christ's day to our own.

The oldest Hebrew manuscript we have today is not earlier than the ninth century. But in view of the accuracy with which the text was transmitted, this late date is of no consequence. Variations are of such minor importance that comparison enables the text to be determined with almost complete certainty. Further, we have as a means of confirming the authenticity of Christ's time the Masoretic Scriptures and the Septuagint versions of the Old Bible.

The Samaritan Pentateuch, written in old Hebrew, such as was used before the cursive style was adopted, comes to us from the time of Nehemiah. When the Samaritans were expelled from Jerusalem by Nehemiah (see Nehemiah 13:25-30), they took with them a copy of the first five books of Moses. Under the leadership of Manasseh, son of a high priest, they established a separate worship on Mount Gerizim.

The oldest Bible manuscript in existence, the Samaritan Pentateuch. This priceless document has been in the possession of the Samaritans for more than two and a half millenniums. The high priest of the Samaritans in their colony at Nablus (old Shechem) is the guardian of the rolls.

Pietro della Valle obtained from the Samaritan community at Nablus (ancient Shechem) a copy of this Pentateuch, handed down through the centuries.

This Samaritan Pentateuch is the oldest textual critic of the Hebrew Scriptures. We find it confirms the veracity of the Masoretic text. There are only unimportant differences, mainly of idiom and of alterations due to the bifurcation of national interests of Jew and Samaritan. That is all we find.

The Septuagint

The other witness to the truthfulness of the Jewish Bible is the Septuagint, often cited as the LXX, which is a complete translation of the Old Testament with the Apocrypha. There are several manuscripts of this version extant today, the most important of which are the Codex Sinaiticus, now in the British Museum, discovered by Tischendorf at St. Catherine monastery, Mount Sinai; the Codex Vaticanus, reposing in the Vatican Library, Rome; and the Codex Alexandrinus, now in the British Museum. All these manuscripts date back to about the fourth century A. D.

This Septuagint, a Greek version of the Old Testament, is by far the most important of all the ancient translations. The rendering was made because the Jews in Alexandria before Christ's time found it necessary to have the Scriptures in Greek, now their mother tongue since the spread of civilization under Alexander the Great. According to the letter of Aristeas, King Ptolemy Philadelphus (B. C. 285-247) arranged for a translation of the Hebrew Scriptures by about seventy scribes, hence the name, the Septuagint, or seventy. This translation, contrary to the well-known legend which affirms seventy men independently produced seventy identical translations in seventy days, actually occupied about one hundred fifty years. The finished version was adopted by the Greek-speaking Jews and the Christian church, and is quoted by New Testament writers and the early church fathers.

We find that the word of God, as revealed by the Septuagint prior to the Saviour's life on earth, is in all essentials the same as that of the Masoretic text, which has come down to us from Christ's day. In fact, we may be sure that the Hebrew text represented in

GWYNNE DALRYMPLE

AMONG the Jews of Christ's time there were many persons of excellent character and unblemished reputation. We, who often think only of the act of the Jewish nation in rejecting Christ and securing His crucifixion, sometimes fail to consider the devout and sincere followers who came to Him from that race.

Among the best of the Jews was a man named Nicodemus. He was a member of the Sanhedrin, and was therefore a man learned in the law and the Scriptures. He was a man of some wealth, and respected by his associates, as we may learn from the brief allusions which the Bible makes to His career. Certainly he was a man far from the taint of scandal and ill repute.

One night he came to talk with Jesus. He came by night because he was afraid to come by day. The new Teacher from Galilee was not wholly accepted by the careful and learned of the nation; His status was yet questionable; and Nicodemus feared that he might risk his reputation if he went to Him openly to receive instruction in the truth of God. So he decided on the part of caution, and in a quiet way when the city of Jerusalem lay wrapped in slumber, he went to the abode of Jesus.

One might suppose that Jesus would be much flattered by finding that a prominent teacher of the Jews had approached Him for counsel on religious matters. One might suppose that Jesus would welcome Him with an almost effusive cordiality, and press Him immediately to enter into the circle of His friends. One might suppose that Jesus, realizing the man's wealth and importance, would be very careful to smooth the way for his entrance into the infant church.

But the conversation took no such turn. Nicodemus began by paying a polite and perhaps sincere compliment to Jesus' talents. "Rabbi, we know that Thou art a teacher come from God: for no man can do these miracles that Thou doest, except God be with him." John 3:2. But Jesus, sweeping away the courtesy, replied, "Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God." Verse 3.

This is the greatest principle of Christianity. It is also the principle most frequently forgotten.

It is not enough that a man should believe that Christianity is true, in the same way that he believes that other facts are true. The believer must be born again, or from the standpoint of God he is no true believer. There must be a new heart. The new heart will result in a new life. He must be born again, into something that formerly he was not.

Though this new birth may be claimed by the most humble and obscure, that does not mean that it is necessarily easy to grasp. Nicodemus himself, learned as He was in the which came with Him from Galilee, followed after, and beheld the sepulcher, and how His body was laid. And they returned, and prepared spices and ointments; and rested the Sabbath day according to the commandment. Now upon the first day of the week, very early in the morning, they came unto the sepulcher, bringing the spices which they had prepared, and certain others with them." Luke 23:55, 56; 24:1.

These followers of the Saviour "rested the Sabbath day according to the commandment." Jesus had not taught them to keep any other day, but He had taught them to obey the law of God; and, despite the fact that their minds were sorely agitated, they were careful in their obedience. But as soon as the light part of the first working day of the week, Sunday, had dawned, they took the spices and ointments that they had prepared on Friday before the Sabbath, and hastened to the sepulcher to anoint the body of the One they loved.

In the carrying of the gospel after the ascension of Christ, Peter went to the Jews and Paul went to the Gentiles. Paul itinerated through Asia Minor, Macedonia, and Greece, and we find that wherever he went he kept the Sabbath: "When they departed from Perga, they came to Antioch in Pisidia, and went into the synagogue on the Sabbath day, and sat down." Acts 13:14. At this place the rulers of the synagogue asked Paul to preach to them, and when he had they were so well pleased that they wanted to hear him again: "When the Jews were gone out of the synagogue, the Gentiles besought that these words might be preached to them the next Sabbath. . . . And the next Sabbath day came almost the whole city together to hear the word of God." Acts 13:42-44.

In Philippi of Macedonia Paul kept the Sabbath. He did the same at Thessalonica. And at Corinth he observed the Sabbath for a year and a half. Acts 16:13; 17:2; 18:4, 11.

Pagan Rest Day

But where did Sunday come from? And who has claimed to sanctify it?

"Sunday—so named because anciently dedicated to the sun, or to its worship."—Webster's Dictionary.

The Sunday School Advocate of Dec. 31, 1921, has this to say on the subject: "In the days of very long ago the people of the world began to give names to everything, and they turned the sounds of the lips into words, so that the lips could speak a thought. In those days the people worshiped the sun because many words were made to tell of many thoughts about many things. The people became Christians, and were ruled by an emperor whose name was Constantine. This emperor made Sun-day the Christian Sabbath because of the blessing of light and heat which came from the sun."

Mr. Jennings, in his "Jewish Antiquities," tells us this: "Sunday—the day which the heathen in general devote to the worship and honor of their chief god, the sun, which, according to our computation, is the first day of the week."

H. Gunkle's book, "Zun Religionsgsh, contains this very enlightening paragraph: "If, in another Oriental religion we should hear about the celebration of Sunday and should ask, Who is the Lord after whom Sunday is called the Lord's day? we would at once get the answer, the Lord is a god, the sun-god. According to the Babylonian calendar, Sunday, as its name implies, was regarded as essentially to belong to the sun-god. The taking over of Sunday by the early Christians does not originate in the gospel, but in a system of religion foreign to it."

We will now call to witness on the subject some of the twenty-four denominations that support the Lord's Day Alliance, of which Sunday-crusading Dr. Bowlby is general secretary:

PRESBYTERIAN: "So some have tried to build the observance of Sunday upon the apostolic command, whereas the apostles gave no command on the matter at all. . . . The truth is, as soon as we appeal to the litera scripta (the literal writing) of the Bible, the Sabbatarians have the best of the argument."

CONGREGATIONALIST: "The current notion that Christ and His apostles authoritatively substituted the first day of the week for the seventh, is absolutely without any authority in the New Testament."—Dr. Lyman Abbott, in the Christian Union, June 26, 1890.

BAPTIST: "The Scriptures nowhere call the first day of the week the Sabbath. There is no scriptural authority for so doing."—The Watchman-Examiner.

The Holiness Sunday School Senior Quarterly, Mar. 17, 1929, page 25, states: "Now the only day plainly named in the Scripture as Sabbath, which comes once a week, is the seventh day."

CHRISTIAN: "The first day of the week is commonly called the Sabbath. This is a mistake. The Sabbath of the Bible was the day just preceding the first day of the week. The first day of the week is never

The LESSON of Bethlehem

MERLIN L. NEFF

GENEVA, London, Shanghai, New York, Paris, and Washington, D. C., represent great centers of our twentieth-century civilization. In them are to be found libraries, banks, art galleries, churches, stock markets, universities, political arenas, hospitals, and marts of business; but none of these cities contains the answer to the problems facing a confused and disintegrating society. From these metropolitan areas we must turn to a lowly village "among the thousands of Judah" for the lessons which humanity needs to learn today.

crowded with merchants, traders, lawyers, —the rich and poor alike,—whose only thought was the attainment of material wealth. Probably there was no one in Bethlehem who was talking of the coming Messiah, for the age was a corrupt one. Vice had become a science, and crime was prevalent. Graft in the religious rites and practices in the temple at Jerusalem was becoming so flagrant that in a few years Jesus Christ would cleanse the temple and rebuke its violators.

Within a barnyard hovel Jesus Christ was born of Mary; "and she wrapped Him in in humanity. What a lesson in humility for the sophisticated world! The King of glory entered into human form and was born in the rude cattle shed that He might save "His people from their sins." Until the modern world can accept such a Saviour, until we will deny self and take up the cross, we cannot be His disciples.

The message of the angelic choir cannot be passed by carelessly. It is the essence of Christianity, and it aims at the greatest problem of a disillusioned world—the problem of the world today.

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men in whom He is well pleased." Luke 2:14, A. R. V. How often do I give glory to God for all my benefits? Like the nine lepers healed by Jesus who never returned to give Him thanks, so we pass by His providences and blessings without a prayer of thanksgiving.

But with our love to God must come a relationship with our fellow men. "And on earth peace among men." A war-weary world hastens its preparations for another death agony. There is no world court to solve the discordant problems of harassed statesmen. Geneva councils of the League of Nations have proved futile, and wars move on apace. The world must return to Bethlehem to find the Prince of Peace.

As one writer has beautifully stated the relation of God to man: "Heaven and earth are no wider apart today than when shepherds listened to the angels' song. Humanity is still as much the object of heaven's solicitude as when common men of common occupations met angels at noonday, and talked with the heavenly messengers in the vineyards and the fields. To us in the common walks of life, heaven may be very near."

Until man establishes this direct communication with heaven there can be no peace. Jesus Christ said, "These things I have spoken unto you, that in Me ye might have peace." John 16:33. This relationship, broken by sin, will be restored when Jesus Christ returns again. This man "shall be our peace."

Most Precious Promise

The human mind is incapable of fathoming the relationship established between earth and heaven by the birth of Jesus Christ in Bethlehem. "They shall call His name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us." Matthew 1:23. No more precious promise has ever been given to mankind than this announcement made by the angel to Mary. From the time that Adam and Eve sinned in the Garden of Eden there had been a promise of a coming Redeemer. Genesis 3:15. The relation between heaven and earth had been broken, and man had gone farther and farther from God; but as Jesus Christ, the Word, was made flesh, He restored that relationship, and "God with us" could truly be said to be the relation of the Son of God to man. The Messiah came that He might show man what the heavenly Father's character was. He was the thought of God in human form that could be understood. It is to Bethlehem that we must return if we would find the most precious relationship between heaven and earth. As we pray "Our Father," we acknowledge the unity of all men. There is no "forgotten man" with God, for He so loved the world that He gave the gift of eternal life to all men through His Son.

With Jesus Christ came the "more abundant life." It is not a new thing in our day. Jesus gave the true meaning of the term when He was here among men. "I am come," He said, "that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." John 10:10.

Bethlehem is not only a place to learn the lesson of humility, the theme of peace on earth good will toward men, or the relation of God to man through Jesus Christ; it is also a message of salvation. The birth of Christ in Bethlehem was for one purpose, and that was clearly stated in the message to Mary: "He shall save His people from their sins." Matthew 1:21. This was the great purpose of the Son of God. In childhood, youth, and manhood He lived an exemplary life. At the age of thirty He took upon Himself a public ministry of teaching the people, healing the sick, and raising the dead. This would have been a noble work, but it would not have saved mankind from their sins. It was necessary that He should take upon Himself the death for sin which belonged to every man. "So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for Him shall He appear the second time without sin unto salvation." Hebrews 9:28.

Direction and Purpose in Chaos

The coming of Jesus Christ gave direction and purpose to a chaotic world. As one scholar says, "When we ask what idea of world process was held by the thinkers and teachers of Greco-Roman society, we find that they all thought of it as, in one way or another, a vain eternal recurrence, leading nowhere." It was an age which had many characteristics like our own. The intellect had been highly developed in Greece, and the culture of the Greeks had been disseminated through the Roman Empire. Disillusionment seized the minds of men. Yet into such a world came the Son of God, declaring, "I am the way, the truth, and the life." This is the complete answer to the world in travail.

At this season of the year the heart of humanity must turn again toward Bethlehem. The Christ of the manger is the hope of the world. Without Him there shall never be peace or good will among men. His first advent is the promise of His second coming. When Jesus Christ ascended into heaven He left the promise, "I will come again." The preparation for the return of Jesus Christ in power and glory is the final lesson of Bethlehem. As the world was not ready to meet the Son of God at His birth in the city of David, so it will not be prepared to stand in the day of His second advent. "Be ye . . . ready" is God's message to a careless and indifferent age. Christ comes; do we receive Him? Or is there yet no room?

The centuries-old murmur of the masses against hard and oppressive conditions of life has now swelled into the crescendo of a harsh, sinister, menacing roar of determined millions of men who propose to take these conditions into their own hands, and ruthlessly smash all opposition. A titanic struggle for mastery is on. All the elemental forces of human nature in the raw are about to be unleashed in the smashup and remaking of the world.

This widespread social discontent will find no solution save in the return of Jesus Christ. Its very existence in the world is an evidence of the nearness of His coming, for all this turmoil and upheaval in connection with the present economic order has been definitely foreseen and positively predicted as a harbinger of the second coming of our Saviour.

Corrupted Riches

Under inspiration the apostle James was given a revelation of the tumultuous conditions in the last days. He wrote of our troublous times thus: "Go to now, ye rich men, weep and howl for your miseries that shall come upon you. Your riches are corrupted, and your garments are moth-eaten. Your gold and silver is cankered; and the rust of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh as it were fire. Ye have heaped treasure together for the last days. Behold, the hire of the laborers who have reaped down your fields, which is of you kept back by fraud, crieth: and the cries of them which have reaped are entered into the ears of the Lord of Sabaoth. Ye have lived in pleasure on the earth, and been wanton; ye have nourished your hearts, as in a day of slaughter. Ye have condemned and killed the just; and he doth not resist you." James 5:1-6.

Here inspiration describes "the last days" as a period when there would be an unparalleled heaping together of wealth and treasure. "The last days" were to be marked by an amassing of wealth on the part of a few as never before had been seen in the history of the race. This heaping up of wealth in "the last days" was to result from an unfair and unjust dealing with the laborers who have reaped down the fields.

In other words, those who had produced the wealth of the world were defrauded of their just share of the results of their industry. This is covered in the expression, "Ye have condemned and killed the just."

The prophetic picture accurately describes the present condition of the world. Human history has never before witnessed such vast accumulations of wealth as are known today. Never before has there been such a mad rush to make money quickly.

We have passed rapidly through the age of millionaires to the multimillionaires, and now to the billionaires. This is an age of colossal fortunes. There is an unprecedented hoarding of treasures. There are unparalleled accumulations and combinations of capital. There appears to be no end to human greed.

The Problem of Poverty

On the other hand, there has been a corresponding increase in poverty. This was altogether to be expected. The wealth of the world cannot be gathered into a few hands without producing want, suffering, and misery among millions. As a consequence, laboring men, in order to obtain rights which are not voluntarily granted them, and to secure an adequate return for their labor, have been organizing to protect themselves. They have formed labor unions; and strikes, boycotts, and lockouts have resulted.

Labor is organized. Capital is organized. They are locked today in a titanic struggle for the supremacy. What this all means, its significant and essential meaning, is pointed out in the words of the inspired scripture in the same chapter where the prophecy is given. Counseling the faithful people of God who are caught in this turmoil and upheaval of elemental passions, James writes: "Be ye also patient; stablish your hearts: for the coming of the Lord draweth nigh." Verse 8.

Thus a current development meets in full the specifications of the ancient prophecy. This is the time foretold. These are the developments foreseen. This is the situation the ancient prophet saw in vision. This seething caldron of world-wide social discontent means just one thing. It means that "the coming of the Lord draweth nigh."

The Pearl of Great Price

THE blessings of redeeming love our Saviour compared to a precious pearl. He illustrated His lesson by the parable of the merchantman seeking goodly pearls, "who, when he had found one pearl of great price, went and sold all that he had, and bought it." Christ Himself is the pearl of great price. In Him is gathered all the glory of the Father, the fullness of the Godhead. He is the brightness of the Father's glory and the express image of His person. The glory of the attributes of God is expressed in His character. Every page of the Holy Scriptures shines with His light. The righteousness of Christ, as a pure, white pearl, has no defect, no stain. . . . In Christ are "hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge." He is "made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption." All that can satisfy the needs and longings of the human soul, for this world and for the world to come, is found in Christ. Our Redeemer is the pearl so precious that in comparison all things else may be accounted loss. . . .

In the parable, the pearl is not represented as a gift. The merchantman bought it at the price of all that he had. Many question the meaning of this, since Christ is represented in the Scriptures as a gift. He is a gift, but only to those who give themselves, soul, body, and spirit, to Him without reserve. We are to give ourselves to Christ, to live a life of willing obedience to all His requirements. All that we are, all the talents and capabilities we possess, are the Lord's, to be consecrated to His service. When we thus give ourselves wholly to Him, Christ, with all the treasures of heaven, gives Himself to us. We obtain the pearl of great price. —"Christ's Object Lessons."

yet he stalks through the land boldly taking billions of dollars from the people every year, sending many to poverty and some to suicide. This despicable outlaw is armed with something which he injects into the brain of anyone who tries to get the best of him; and the result is that the victim's judgment is affected to such an extent that he becomes willing to part with larger and larger sums of hard-earned money on chances that are more than a hundred to one against him. The average man or woman stands almost no chance, in the long run, in a battle of wits with this wily rascal.

These three and similar criminals and racketeers are responsible for more poverty than any other one cause in the world. If they could be captured, and either deported or summarily executed, and their property confiscated and distributed to the poor, there would be no need of any other "share-the-wealth" plan, for the money that would be saved because of better health, increased efficiency, and the discontinuance of their robberies and racketeering methods would banish poverty as the sun banishes darkness.

As already stated, the best way to avoid getting into the clutches of one or more of these robbers and murderers is to have nothing whatever to do with them. Farsighted persons—especially those who look beyond this present life—have neither time nor energy to waste in playing with these dangerous outlaws. High rewards in time and health saved, and in money earned and saved for better purposes, will be paid to every individual who will, at all times, turn resolutely away from them. Fearing, however, that some into whose hands this notice may fall already have been trapped by one or more of these unprincipled deceivers, it seems best to explain how to get away from them. Physical strength, speed, and mental alertness are not sufficient. A powerful, persevering determination has enabled a very few to escape; first-class physicians have aided a few more; but the surest and most permanent and satisfactory way is the "straight and narrow" way, the way that leads upward toward God and a happy, healthful, peaceful, and everlasting hereafter.

THERE is no power on earth so subduing as genuine goodness. Holiness is a flower which the world well knows it is incapable of producing out of its own soul; and, when it sees it, it acknowledges that there must be another world to account for it. When all the arguments have failed, the doubting mind yields to the evidence of a saintly life. —Teaching by Illustration.

The SEDUCTIVENESS of SIN

"When the woman saw that the tree . . . was pleasant to the eyes, . . . she took of the fruit thereof." Genesis 3:6.

LLEWELLYN A. WILCOX

In the alluring pleasures of our modern and easygoing life thousands are losing their way.

SIN HAS been defined as ugliness, deformity, monstrosity. Spiritually it is, but not physically. There is no lure in the unattractive. And therefore from the beginning it has been the satanic strategy to camouflage sin into beautiful externals. Sin may be aesthetic, artistic, poetic, stealing God's roads to travel on. If sin should appear as it really is, far fewer would listen to sin's solicitations. They would recoil in loathing from the abhorrent, leprous thing. They would shrink in horror from its murderous malevolence.

In its sensuous appeal sin attacks with fatal fascination. But beware of the doctrine that all that appears beautiful, charming, entrancing, delightful, is good. Believe it not. I am not suggesting that the good is unbeautiful, unsymmetrical, uninteresting—but it is a delusion that there is no pleasure in sin. There is. Experience and the Bible (Hebrews 11:25) both testify that there is. But it is "for a season." And at the last "it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder."

Had not the tempter and the temptation appeared glamorous to the woman, it would have had no power over her. Strange to say, one of the most beautiful things to see under the microscope is a drop of viper's poison. Across the field of vision, a crystal-like fiber may be first observed, and then another and another, these slender lines crossing one another at various angles, reminding one of an aurora borealis, or of delicate frost crystals on a window.

Poisonous, but beautiful. Fascinating, but fatal. The sirens were more destructive than the harpies. This explains perhaps why historically the eras of greatest art have been the eras of most riotous sin.

From the beauty of sin, that vivid, irridescent, enticing covering for a rotten core, there is but one deliverance—the scarred Sacrifice of Calvary, who penetrated its disguises and whose word strips off its deceitfulness. Jesus can deliver not only from what defiles but from what beguiles. In Him is deliverance—have you accepted it?

The arrows of the Wambutti dwarfs, encountered by Stanley in the African jungles, were like children's playthings. But upon their tips was a tiny drop of poison which would kill a man as quickly as a Winchester rifle. The poison was made of honey.

Beware of the honeyed fascination of sin! Beauty and pleasure themselves are no criteria. Look to their end!

What JESUS Says ABOUT THE Dead

WESLEY AMUNDSEN

At the tomb of Lazarus, Jesus proved His power over death.

"GOD SO loved the world, that He gave His only-begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." John 3:16.

In these words Jesus tells us that eternal life is given to man upon condition of belief in Him. In another passage He makes plain when this reward will be bestowed:

"Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear His voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation." John 5:28, 29.

To give assurance of His power to raise the dead, Jesus brought Lazarus back to life. You will remember the story. Lazarus had died and was buried. Then Jesus said to His disciples, "Let us go into Judea again." His disciples were surprised that He should go back to the place where the Jews had tried to stone Him. Jesus said, "Our friend Lazarus sleepeth; but I go, that I may awake him out of sleep." Seeing their dullness in comprehending His words, the Saviour said, plainly, "Lazarus is dead."

Death Is a Sleep

Thus Jesus, the Life-giver, established the fact that death—this first death which all die—is but a sleep out of which we shall one day be awakened.

Martha was the first of the two sisters of Lazarus to meet Jesus. Her greeting was, "Lord, if Thou hadst been here, my brother had not died." Softly and tenderly the voice of Jesus answered her, "Thy brother shall rise again." Martha replied, "I know that he shall rise again in the resurrection at the last day." No doubt the question of the resurrection had often been discussed in that home, and Martha looked forward to that great day when all "that are in the graves shall hear His voice," and be loosed forever from the bonds of death.

But at the tomb of Lazarus the voice of Jesus rings out a command, "Take ye away the stone!" The attendants hesitate, and Martha ventures to say, "Lord, he hath been dead four days." But Jesus reminded her, "Said I not unto thee, that, if thou wouldest believe, thou shouldest see the glory of God?" Then they took away the stone.

The voice of Jesus calls: "Lazarus, come forth." There is a stir within the dimly lighted tomb, and a figure, bound in graveclothes, arises from the place and comes out. No sign of decomposition is seen; his body does not bear the traces of death or disease. He has answered the call of the Life-giver.

Whence did the Saviour call him? Was he called down from heaven? No, for Jesus said, "Come forth." Was he called to come up from purgatory? No, for Jesus said that He would awaken him from sleep.

It is important to note the personal experience of the Master Himself. The last scenes of Calvary had been enacted, and Jesus was in the tomb. Sadness had come over His disciples. They who had seen so many miracles performed by their Master now mourned for Him as though He would never come forth from the place whence He had called others. The Sabbath had passed, and during its sacred hours they had rested.

Mary, hastening to the tomb in the early morning hours of that first day of the week, finds it empty. Dismayed and saddened, she turns, only to see a man standing before her. Supposing him to be a gardener, she says: "Tell me where thou hast laid Him." One word from the lips of the Saviour reveals Him to her—"Mary." No other person could utter her name with such pathos and love. Quickly she turns and says "Master," and her hands venture to touch Him. Jesus draws back, saying "Touch Me not; for I am not yet ascended to My Father: but go to My brethren, and say unto them, I ascend unto My Father, and your Father; and to My God, and your God." John 20:17. Clearly, then, in death there is no ascending to God. It is a sleep from which an awakening must come before any rewards can be enjoyed.

"I Will Come Again"

Let us follow Jesus in His teachings, and then He will be able to fulfill to us His blessed promise, "Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in Me. In My Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto Myself; that where I am, there ye may be also." John 14:1-3.

A MAN can counterfeit love, he can counterfeit faith, he can counterfeit hope and all the other graces, but it is very difficult to counterfeit humility. You soon detect mock humility. They have a saying among the Arabs that as the tares and the wheat grow they show which God has blessed. The ears that God has blessed bow their heads and acknowledge every grain, and the more fruitful they are the lower their heads are bowed. The tares lift up their heads erect, high above the wheat, but they are only fruitful of evil. If we only get down low enough, God will use us to His glory.—D. L. Moody.

My dear Mr. McIntyre:

I am exceedingly sorry that Mr. Glenn Hewitt and myself failed to contact you yesterday afternoon when we took to Galveston a rod and reel of a special character that a group of Port Arthur fishermen desire to have conveyed to the President with their compliments.

It was our hope that we might arrange through you for a contact with the U. S. S. POTOMAC at some hour agreeable to the President, when the presentation might be made to him by radio after the rod and reel had reached him by seaplane. We asked the very courteous gentleman who met us to explain this to you and to ask that you advise my office by long distance telephone when delivery had been or would be made to the POTOMAC. We are awaiting this information from you.

However, will you please say to the President that these articles come to him not from a public organization or a public institution, but actually from a group of Port Arthur men who enjoy the salt water fishing that offers in the vicinity of our city, and who take advantage of those opportunities for recreational purposes when and as often as business permits.

This rod and reel were made by Mr. Stanley Russell of Port Arthur by hand in a little shop that he has on the rear of his residence lot. The making of these articles has taken place over a period of about eighteen months. Mr. Russell is himself one of our local fishermen who understands the habits and knows the haunts of the piscatorial elements of these Gulf waters, and has a great many notable catches to his credit.

There is no other rod and reel just like this. It is the only one of its kind, and I am instructed by the group who are forwarding it to the President to express the hope that it may be the means of affording him excellent sport during his excursions after the sporty kings of the briny deep.

TEXT OF SPEECH GIVEN BY COL. HAYNES OVER STATION KPAC, PORT ARTHUR.

"Mr. President, I have been asked to perform a very pleasant duty this afternoon. A group of Port Arthur fishermen have asked me to convey a message to you. Yesterday there was delivered on board the U.S.S. Potomac a rod and reel of most unusual construction. This rod and this reel were made in the city of Port Arthur by one of our local fishermen in a little shop in the rear end of his residence. In his spare time during the last eighteen months he has constructed this rod and this reel by hand and it represents the result of his experience as a fisherman in the Gulf waters. We are aware, Mr. President, that it is quite unusual for the people of this country to give to their Chief Magistrate many gifts of royal value and many gifts of peculiar construction that are of great value, thus, today I am asking not to give a gift to the Chief Magistrate but I am asked by a group of Port Arthur fishermen to give to a noted fisherman who has come to us a momento of his visit to Texas waters. This rod and reel are a fitting momento to a man whose reputation as a fisherman is known not only all over the United States but all over the world. Of course the people of Texas were elated when they learned that the Chief Magistrate was coming to the coastal waters to fish. Mr. President, it is my great pleasure to ask you to accept this rod and reel as a gift from fishermen who have fished in the waters in which you fish today who enjoy that pastime and who know and understand the peculiarities and the situation in which you find yourself today. We ask you to accept this as a momento to them and you as a fisherman."

Rod and reel were constructed by Mr. F. F. Russell of Port Arthur. Mr. Russell in his radio talk this afternoon described the methods, materials used in making this rod and reel, and their peculiarities, but due to poor reception and interference of another broadcasting station, Mr. Russell's speech could not be accurately recorded. He stated that the rod and reel were made entirely in his spare time and that construction was based on his experience in tarpon fishing. He stated that he and the sportsmen in the city of Port Arthur sincerely hope that the President will get a fraction of the pleasure from the rod and reel that they have had in presenting it.

Sent to the President note and portfolio of photographs from Andre Roosevelt, Quito, Ecuador, which were entrusted to him for forwarding. Mr. Roosevelt's note is a description of the photographs of what he terms his "new 'Paradise'", and it is dated April 3, 1937. ---- The President wrote to Andre Roosevelt, May 22, 1937 thanking him for the photographs and saying that he hopes he will send him some photos of the Indians in the eastern sections. The President also said that they had the film at the White House the other day and that all liked it.

Dear Mr. McIntyre:

Permit me to thank you for your appreciated note of the 4th instant, in behalf of the President for the sketch of Lincoln which I was honored to send his way. Your thanks also was appreciated and I hope you will never tire of the work.

I shall be in Washington on Sunday, June 27th, and if there might be a moment of opportunity, know that I would be very grateful for the pleasure of meeting and shaking the hand of our President. I have received letters from Senator Capper, Mr. Farley, Mr. Hoover (J. Edgar) and many others to whom I was happy in making presentment of my portrait. Not having a short note over Mr. Roosevelt's signature, of course was a little disappointing.

In furtherance to my desire to see and meet in person, Mr. Roosevelt, I am sure that Senator Capper would gladly give me a letter of introduction. Will you therefore, please advise me by return mail if this will be necessary.

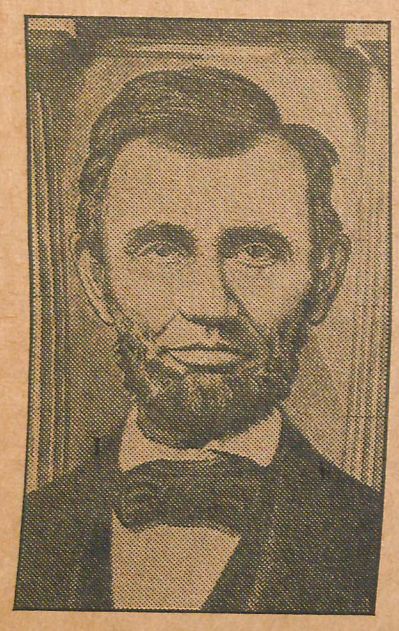

Very truly yours,

THE PORTRAIT

THE ARTIST

On Sunday afternoon Louis Padgett, young New York attorney and artist, realized a fond ambition when he dedicated his charcoal portrait, "Lawyer Lincoln," in the Soldiers' National cemetery where Lincoln delivered his immortal Gettysburg address.

The short services commemorating the unveiling commenced at 2 o'clock and were conducted before a gathering composed of Mr. Padgett's friends and week-end battlefield visitors. Joseph Rosensteel, son of George D. Rosensteel, of Gettysburg, and a friend of the young artist, in his capacity of chairman, introduced Levi E. Bottens, of New York, also an attorney, boyhood friend of the artist and his classmate at the National University of Law in Washington. Mr. Bottens presented Mr. Padgett.

The latter spoke briefly on "Lincoln—The Friend to Man," stressing the honesty, simplicity and unselfishness of the "Great Emancipator"; pointing out his qualities as a leader, and concluding with reference to a priceless heritage. "Lincoln has forever, by his worthy example, by his honesty of purpose, by his glorified simplicity and by his outstanding integrity, promulgated a new realization to all, if we but endeavor to observe it: The advancement of progress without shackles, or limited servitude," the speaker said.

Immediately after his graduation from the National University of law, Mr. Padgett served in the department of justice under J. Edgar Hoover. Following this he set up law offices in Washington, which practice culminated in membership in the United States supreme court in that city. He was appointed recently to the staff of New York's special prosector, Thomas E. Dewey, head of the state's crusade against crime and racketeering.

Previous to his creation of "Lawyer Lincoln," he had confined his hobby to oil painting, this being his first attempt in charcoal. The work has been praised by critics throughout the world. M. M. Jamieson, artist and critic in this country and abroad, declares it to be altogether the most interesting presentation of the Lincoln character that I have seen, old or new."

Following its unveiling here, the portrait is scheduled for exhibitions throughout the United States, including Washington, Springfield, Illinois, Kansas City, San Francisco and Chicago, after which it will be placed on display in New York.

At the conclusion of the dedication ceremonies, the artist presented the chairman with a replica of his work. The replica will be placed on display at the National museum.

Reprinted, with the exception of the illustrations, from the May 31, 1937 issue of The Gettysburg Times, Gettysburg, Pa.

Writes President on behalf of Mrs. Catherine M. Yorston, Littleton, Colo., who is in her 87th year. States Mrs. Yorston is a great admirer of the President. Encloses a photograph which was taken from a water color which she made from a dim photographic reproduction, publihsed in the Denver News, in May, of a little girl presenting the President with the first poppy. Asks the President to write her a little note.--President wrote Mrs. Yorston, June 29th, saying he was sending her this note to tell her how grateful he was to her for her fine loyalty to his administration and saying he was much interested in seeing a photograph of one of her recent paintings, which Mr. Fisher was good enough to bring to his attention.--Miss LeHand, on June 29th, wrote Mr. Fisher saying that the President had written a little note of appreciation to Mrs. Yorston.

The Honorable Franklin Delano Roosevelt,
The White House, Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. President:

Miss Le Hand's gracious note acknowledging my novel, "There's A Divinity," was received. "Part II," "Wings With The Dawn," is coincident with the perilous days of your first administration, when our country faced so many banking disasters. It shows how we rode the stormy seas, with our new Captain at the helm to steer us, and finally reached the haven with safe ports in sight.

Perhaps my novel will be of service to readers, lest they forget those days of fear and panic; and perhaps it will do its little part to instill renewed faith in our Captain, who still steers the Ship of State. The winds blow high from another point and the seas are just as rough, but we have faith in our Captain & for fairer skies ahead.

With my continued prayers and best wishes

Sincerely, Marie Tello Phillips (Mrs.)

Honorable Franklin D. Roosevelt.
President , Unites States of America.
White House;
Washington , D. C.

My Dear Mr President;

Knowing the splendid work you have done since March 4th, 1933, in behalf of every man, woman, and child in the United States of America, and being personally present at Washington D.C, during 1933, up to and including January 15th, 1936. I have had the opportunity of knowing the real work accomplished by you and your administration.

We are hereby forwarding you with the compliments of Dr, T.M. Lukovich, Manager of the Pachanga Mineral Hot Springs and the Chamber of Commerce of Lake Elsinore, California, a Gallon bottle of Pachanga water, I say to you that this water is just as powerful and even better than that at Bad - Wiesbaden Germany.

I would like to have you try this water and may we hope that this water will prove as beneficial to you, as it has to me in my battle for good health.

Having been disabled in an accident in 1928, I have traveled all over the United States and Germany trying to find a cure for my injury and I assure you that this water is most beneficial for the paralytic conditions of your body.

We are planning to hold our convention on Social Security here in Lake Elsinore in the near future. Blease inform us if you will be our guest during this convention and also accept the hospitality of Lake Elsinore's Sanitoriums and the treatments the same as you have received at Warm Springs, Ga.

And I also believe you would be in favor of giving an equal chance to the West-Coast to establish a place similar to that you sponsored at Warm Springs, Ga, before your work is done in behalf of the American People.

Pachanga Mineral Water

Nature's Best Laxative

HISTORY

The Indians of the Southland had a custom to travel long distances to gather at the health-giving springs near Lake Elsinore.

The Pachanga Indians discovered this spring which was the particular mecca for the red-skinned health seekers. For years this spring water was lost and in 1924 it was rediscovered, thus bringing to the white man the water that had given health and longevity to the Indians.

Thousands of people all over the land have learned the virtues of Pachanga water. It is now being shipped from coast to coast. Physicians, Chiropractors, Osteopaths and Naturopaths recommend its use, and in most instances on record, benefits occurred when taken in accordance with directions.

AN EFFECTIVE CORRECTIVE FOR MANY AILMENTS

In the opinion of leading physicians of medicine and drugless therapy, and of the pharmacists, the mineral ingredients in Pachanga Water are in exactly the right combination, offering a highly healing water for numerous internal and external diseases.

DIRECTIONS: Best results are obtained by drinking about four (4) ounces of Pachanga one-half hour before breakfast and before retiring, following it with two glasses of warm water.
Children should be given about one ounce.
All people are not constituted alike, thus the amount of Pachanga taken should be adapted to each individual case by watching the consequent reactions.

TREATMENT FOR THE EYES

Pachanga Water will soothe and heal sore eyes, granulated eyelids, inflamed eyes, tired, strained or itching eyes. Will give new sparkle to the dull eyes. One application with an eye cup will convince you. Use several times a day.

STOMACH — DIGESTION

Pachanga will give quick relief to sufferers from Acid Stomach, Gastritis, Pain, Gas, Heartburn, Gastric and Duodenal irritations, Mucous Colitis or other distresses due to Hyperacidity. It has been proven that from one to four applications of Stomach Wash will relieve Gastric Ulcers. Many people who have been benefited by Pachanga have written letters statin~ that it is just what they needed.

INTESTINAL TRACT

Pachanga will relieve Constipation as the Pachanga ingredients (minerals) aid in cleansing the Liver, Kidneys and Bowels of wastes, acids and poisons, which cause tired, weak, rundown conditions, nervousness, dizzy spells, headache. Pachanga chemicals help to improve the Blood.

To cure Constipation, Pachanga stands as the BEST proven mineral Laxative in this country.

BLOOD CONDITIONS

One to four bottles of Pachanga will bring High Blood Pressure down to normal. Numerous high blood sufferers use Pachanga regularly—about four ounces — three times a day. In Anemia conditions, four gallons of water will raise blood to almost normal.

TO REDUCE AND TO GAIN WEIGHT

If you will drink Pachanga regularly for a couple of months, as prescribed, you will surely lose weight; also the thin ones will gain. A middle-aged man recently gained 25 pounds in about two months.

FEMININE HYGIENE

Pachanga used as a Douche is refreshing and cleansing and is recommended for irritated, acrid types of minor vaginal infections, pruritus or itching. It is safe and promotes healing.

FOOT TROUBLES

Pachanga is wonderful for Athlete's Feet — that itching, scaly, soft, moist condition between the toes — and is highly recommended for sore and tender feet. Just warm up Pachanga and bathe the feet every evening for 20 minutes and see for yourself.

SKIN IRRITATIONS

Pachanga works like a miracle on the following conditions due to external causes: Scabies, Itching Rashes, Chafing, Pimples, Cold Sores, Ringworms, Impetigo, Eczema or Weeping Eczema, Sunburn, Insect Bites, Poison Oak or Ivy. There is no stain or muss. Simply moisten a clean cloth with water, cover affected area and expose to sun rays or therapeutic lamp for five minutes at a time, several times during the day. It assures relief without suffering.

BURNS

Pachanga works as magic on burns. For burned fingers keep them in Pachanga Water for 15 minutes at a time. Repeat at intervals. For other body burns saturate a clean cloth with the mineral water and make a pack.

RECTAL AILMENTS

You need no longer suffer the constant torture of Piles, or Hemorrhoids. Walk, sit, or stand in comfort. Pachanga alleviates the suffering due to Piles, whether blind, protuding, itching or bleeding Piles. Use it every evening. Lie on the stomach and put 2 ounces of mineral water into the rectum with rectal syringe. Pachanga is soothing, which tends to allay soreness and inflammation. It acts as a lubricant, softening hard parts and making passage easy. It has an astringent effect which reduces swelling and checks bleeding.

Try Pachanga for soreness or chaping around the rectum with packs. It assures relief without suffering.

Use one quart of Pachanga as an Enema.

SINUS TROUBLES

Sniff Pachanga for a Cold in the nose, or Sinus congestion. It relieves and opens up the nasal passages. It is excellent as a gargle in obstinate cases of sore throat.

RHEUMATIC CONDITIONS

For Rheumatism, Arthritis, Neuritis, Sciatica, Lumbago, drink Pachanga Water two or three times daily, and apply in the form of hot packs to the swollen or painful parts. It will give relief quickly.

Pachanga water will be shipped to any place in the United States for $1.50 per gallon (the price is not permanent) plus express charges.

Pachanga contains 10 known chemicals, as well as many more in very minute quantity. It can not be manufactured to give the same Alkaline Reaction.

It Is a Nature's Miracle.

Try Pachanga as a Tooth Cleanser, and especially for Tender Gums; and let me hear from you. Two of my bald assistants have used Pachanga, massaging the scalp for a month, and have grown the hair.

Pachanga water lasts indefinitely. It won't spoil or evaporate. However, keep it away from the direct sun rays.

To make a more palatable drink of Pachanga, add 10 to 15 drops of lemon juice or dilute with warm or cool, fresh water.

Year after year the sick and ailing have come to Elsinore to partake of the benefits offered by the climate and the wonderful hot sulphur mineral baths. Each year has seen greater number arriving. In response to this ever-increasing demand for newer and more modern facilities for proper treatment of the various ailments, the PACHANGA TREATMENT BUILDING has been opened. It is a new and modern Health Institution, where scientifically applied Nature's remedies are used.

For seven years my Staff in this Institution has treated thousands of chronic cases which had been pronounced incurable.

There are hundreds of letters of appreciation from our clientele, which could be used as an advertisement, and thev are open for your inspection at my office.

For further information write directly to me, or see me personally.

LATE ARTHUR BRISBANE SAYS WAY TO RICHES IS TO BUY REAL ESTATE

Newspaper Giant and One of Greatest Minds of Generation Urges Individuals to Buy Land and Stick To It

"BUY LAND AND STICK TO IT," is the secret to riches, as handed down by the late Arthur Brisbane, newspaper giant and one of the great minds of this generation. "Everything of real importance is born of an idea," explained Brisbane. "Columbus had an idea and he discovered America. Edison, working as a telegrapher for small pay, had an idea that two messages could go over the same wire; they did, and he succeeded."

"Henry Ford had an idea that the quickest way to make money is to make the best thing you can and sell it at the cheapest possible price. Look at him now, and his bank account."

"Ideas are born in the front brain, energy to put them through is found in the back brain. That is why a successful American often has the back of his head sticking out far beyond his coat collar."

"John Gottlieb Wendel's idea, constantly impressed upon his children, was this:

"There is only so much of New York. The population will become bigger, but there will still be only so much New York. PEOPLE GIVE TO LAND ITS VALUE. INCREASING POPULATION GIVES INCREASING VALUE."

MUST CLEAN LOTS

FIRE DEPARTMENT CHIEF James Cox has been busy the past several weeks ordering owners of premises and vacant lots to clean them of debris and to cut and burn the weeds. If this is not done, the Firemen will clean the lots and the same will be charged on the owner's tax bill.

With the dry weather here, a serious fire hazard is presented, and it is hoped that owners will take heed and do their part to not only minimize the fire hazard, but to improve the appearance of their property as well.

Heavy winter rains have resulted in an unusually rank growth of weeds and brush on the various lots of the valley district. In addition to presenting a real fire hazard, they create an unsightly condition as well.

Course Is Sponsored By National Racing Association

DARING, STEEL-NERVED YOUNG MEN AND VENTURSOME FEMININE stars with a dash of the dangerous in their makeup, will skyrocket to fame in the speed-boat racing world Sunday, June 20th, at LAKE ELSINORE, when they answer the starting cannon in the annual Mid-Summer Championships to be held on the famous Aloha Beach maritime speedway.

From the length of the coast and inland to the bordering states of the Pacific Coast will come national and sectional champions to vie for honors in this colorful and spectacular sporting event.

LURE THOUSANDS

Thousands of motorists are being attracted to Elsinore valley enroute to the site of the world's largest telescope being erected atop Palomar Mountain, at a cost of $5,000,000.00.

Elsinore is in direct line between Los Angeles and this "giant eye" which is attracting world-wide attention. It is heralded as Southern California's eighth wonder of the world.

When the 200 inch telescope—more than twice as large as any other in the world—is completed, it will bring the moon within "25 miles" of the eyes of the scientists, and is expected to reveal unimaginable dis-

It will be a gala occasion. Untold thousands will pour into the valley for this sensational performance, at which world records are certain to fall. It is an accepted fact that the local Aloha Beach course, in the heart of the crystal blue waters of Lake Elsinore, is the fastest in the world. Marks faster than any ever even approached on the famous Milan, Italy, course, have been established on the Elsinore water speedway. With the lake higher than at any time in the history of the valley, the conditions will be ideal for record shattering marks. The pilots know this fact and have already broken all entry lists for this mid-June event.

Building Activity

ELSINORE is washing behind her ears. She is dolling up in her best Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes and is doing everything possible to present a good appearance to her visitors.

Main street has been a veritable bee hive of activity the past few months with crews of workmen seen at almost every building making repairs, putting in new fronts or completely remodeling business houses. The Mint, Burnhams Grocery and The Ark have all undergone extensive improvements during the past few weeks with other business houses expected to follow suit in the very near future.

W. E. Jones of the Alpha Beta store and his staff of co-managers are looking forward with a great deal of interest to construction of a new ultra-modern store building for their use.

Real estate has really boomed the past few weeks. There have been many sales of homes and vacant property. There has been more real estate activity the past two months in Elsinore than in the previous two years. There is no doubt that this phase of development has just begun.

When the present plans are complete the Elsinore business district will present a pretty modern picture with practically the last of the old eye-sores removed.

Now is the time to make those additions and improvements to your own property. Elsinore is going back rapidly. It would pay others to get back on the band wagon.

Civic Work of the 20-30 Club

MEMBERS of the new 20-30 club have elected officers and are now in full swing seemingly just itching to get their hands in some worthy civic programs for the benefit of Elsinore.

They have already chosen two major projects on which to focus their attention at this time. They have chosen the stocking of the lake with fish and the cleaning up of the city baseball park as their first jobs. They have rolled up their sleeves and will be right at work this week on these two worthwhile projects.

They will name a committee to take charge of the program for filling the lake with fish. They feel that this civic enterprise will add greatly to the popularity of Elsinore as a recreation center. They will contact Firsh and Game Commissioners and have a report within a few days from which a definite program of procedure will be worked out.

tablished. Considerable work can be done at this time to put the ball park in shape for the coming season. The 20-30 group is also planning to organize a team and enter it in the regular city league schedule.

These are two worthy projects. They are excellent ones for the ambitious young men to cut their civic teeth on in the valley. If carried to a successful conclusion they will have accomplished very worthy civic enterprises.

The Giant Eye

THE VALUE of the Imperial highway to this district becomes increasingly evident as new links are forged regularly in the great new artery that will provide Elsinore with a new flood of motorists from many parts of the nation.

The supporters of the program for building the new highway are not limiting their efforts to working out a program for just building the various parts of the highway. They are doing everything that is possible to build the tributaries leading into the Imperial highway and also to call attention and support the many attractions offered along the artery.

One excellent evidence of this fact is the decision to hold the next meeting of the Association atop Palomar Mountain. Plans are being made to make it a week-end affair in order to take advantage of the Memorial Day holidays.

The Association has two objectives in holding its next meeting atop this mountain. It will provide an enjoyable outing for the many members in one of the truly delightful spots of the Southland. More important, however, they will focus attention on this great new attraction that will provide a new stream of motorists for the Imperial Highway. There will be few attractions in all the west that will compare with this giant 200-inch, $6,000,000 telescope that is being erected on Palomar.

The Imperial Highway Association hopes to start the ball rolling for providing a new and more adequate highway entrance from this side of the mountain. They realize that Los Angeles residents that will make trips to see this new tlescope, once it is put into place, will pass through Elsinore, Murrieta, Temecula and other communities along the Imperial Highway bound for this giant "eye" that will astound the scientists of the world.

DE LUZ ROAD IS POPULAR

The Main Highways Provide Most Direct Routes To Elsinore

Thousands and thousands of visitors are again pouring into Lake Elsinore valley seeking recreation and health. The news that the lake has filled to over-flowing and the winter rains have transformed the valley into a radiant carpet of green, is spreading rapidly, and countless individuals are returning to see the NEW Lake Elsinore.

Traffic over the highways leading to Elsinore is as much as ten times what it was before the flood waters filled the lake. Highway experts expect the travel to continue to improve and to expand as more hear of the remarkable change in the valley district.

There are numerous entrances into Elsinore Valley. The most colorful is probably over Ortega highway, leaving the coast at San Juan Capistrana. This includes the breath-taking view from Jameson Point, which overlooks the valley district.

Another scenic drive that is receiving particular attention is the De Luz road, starting at Fallbrook and leading into this valley. This is through almost virgin country. Improvements of the road, during the past year, have aided this line of travel.

The San Diego motorists, and those living in the vicinity of this metropolis, have a choice of the Temescal canyon road, from Corona, or the highway from Riverside.

The progress on the Imperial highway is tapping a new territory for use of autoists. This giant new artery is bringing motorists from the desert land and also from the east.

One of the greatest attractions that has developed during the past year is the decision to construct the giant 200 inch telescope atop Palomar mountain. Motorists in most cases pass through Elsinore to reach this scientific wonder.

NAME COMMITTEES TO DIRECT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WORK

Twelve committees that will add momentum to various phases of the Lake Elsinore Chamber of Commerce were announced this week by President J. O. Walser after an enthusiastic meeting on Monday night.

The committees selected to serve during the ensuing year are for advertising, roads, finance, races, safety, membership, public relations, entertainment, house committee, bath house treatment, and decorating.

Members attending the meeting on Monday praised highly the extensive redecorating of the chamber of commerce public rooms that has been carried out by the Business and Professional Women's club. A vote of thanks was given the women's organization.

The report of the secretary, Mrs. Anna Horton, showed a rostra of 83 members with 61 paid up. She reported 75 callers at the chamber of business. He urged the merchants to organize and establish minimum prices where possible, to build up business to attract a better class of visitors and not "chislers." He reported that the bath house owners had already accomplished this desirable end.

Their other civic job is to clean up the city ball park. Night ball games have been held on the local Engberg field for many years. The value of such games is providing wholesome entertainment for young men and as a means of cementing the community together as spectators at the games, is well established. Considerable work can be done at this time to put the ball park in shape for the coming season. The 20-30 group is also planning to organize a team and enter it in the regular city league schedule.

The 20-30 club is made up of young men. Young men make up for experience with the enthusiasm of youth. The 20-20 clubs of other communities have established outstanding records in civic accomplishments. The Elsinore club has a nucleus of fine young men who will do just that in Elsinore.

NAME COMMITTEES TO DIRECT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WORK

Twelve committees that will add momentum to various phases of the [illegible] Chamber of Commerce were announced this week by President [illegible] on Monday night.

The committees selected to serve during the ensuing year are for advertising, roads, finance, races, safety, membership, public relations, entertainment, house committee, bath house treatment, and decorating.

Members attending the meeting on Monday praised highly the extensive redecorating of the chamber of commerce public rooms that has been carried out by the Business and Professional Women's club. A vote of thanks was given the women's organization.

The report of the secretary, Mrs. Anna Horton, showed a rostra of 83 members with 61 paid up. She reported 75 callers at the chamber of commerce office two weeks ago on Saturday and 45 callers last Saturday. Some of the callers were from such distant points as Breckenridge, Minnesota; Appleton, Wisconsin, and Washington, D.C.

President Walser in his address at the meeting pointed out that the Chamber of Commerce was non-political and should remain neutral in all politics. He explained that they should establish good public relationship and promote and build up good business. He urged the merchants to organize and establish minimum prices where possible, to build up business to attract a better class of visitors and not "chislers." He reported that the bath house owners had already accomplished this desirable end.

He urged the members to attend the Imperial Highway meeting being held this Friday night at Guenther's Murrieta Hot Springs, explaining the vast improtance of this project.

Chairman G. R. Gough of the race committee gave an extensive report. He explained that the total expenses of the race had been $391.08. He pointed out that $326.50 had been raised from advertising and that the chamber had absorbed the remainder. He added that the Los Angeles Speedboat Association desired to designate Lake Elsinore as their "official course." He explained that the cost of future races planned for Decoration Day and Labor Day would not be as great as the past one.

Dr. Joseph G. Hunter was appointed chairman of the committee to aid in the Memorial Day parade program.

The chamber approved the purchase of an inexpensive trophy to be awarded at the gun competition to be held this (Thursday) afternoon in connection with the meeting of the Riverside County Peace Officers' Association.

A chamber of commerce banquet to be held the second week of May, was planned. Definite arrangements will be made at the next meeting.

Speed Boat Races At Famous Aloha Beach Maritime Speedway Are Attracting Thousands

laughing, happy visitors, who anxiously awaited the performances of the dashing pilots in their water dynamos. Every effort is being made to take care of the hord of visitors who will be here for this sporting event. Arrangements are being made to direct autoists to the hillsides that form a natural grandstand, with the water speedway in their "laps."

Three score speed demons from as far as Tonopah, Nevada and the length of the state, brought racing on the famous local Aloha Beach club course to a new high Sun., Apr. 18, as they made spectacular assaults on existing records before a near record crowd that blocked the shoreline and highways and extended upward to blanket the hillsides.

A select group of champions from Stockton, San Luis Obispo, Fresno and Santa Barbara invaded the local course for the spring regatta to provide unexpected competition for the cream of the crop from a score of cities between San Diego and Los Angeles. It was a gala day for motor boat racing in Elsinore.

All predictions of the crowds fell short of the huge invasion of visitors who started arriving as early as Friday and remained until late Sunday night to "get acquainted" with the NEW Elsinore.

It remained for F. W. Lundy of San Diego to provide the speed thrill of the day when he coaxed his racing hydroplane to an unbelievable speed of almost 70 miles an hour on the straitaway to turn in an average for the five-mile sprint of approximately 50 miles an hour. He got off to a beautiful start in the final heat of the Class C hydroplane event, slowly gained on the field with daring skidding negotiations of the pylons, roared into the final lap to hang up a course record of 6 minutes and 22 seconds with the cream of the Pacific Coast's speedsters seemingly floundering in his wake. E. Ford, a fellow competitor from San Diego, bested Lundy with "Blue Nose" in the opening heat, but was no match for the daring pilot of "Nuffy" in the final test.

Wally Francisco of Los Angeles at the helm of "Static" proved just that to the competitors in the Clss A hy- the field in both heats, negotiating the final heat in 8 minutes and 55 seconds. Tommy Ingalls, son of the well known sport fan and racing enthusiast, Dr. W. R. Ingalls of Los Angeles, pushed Francisco in the first heat with "Little Doc," while Kenny Glenn of Los Angeles in "Ho-Hum" was in the choice second spot in the final heat.

E. MacLean in "Hoot Mon" finished second in both heats of the C Service Runabout event to win racing honors in this class. Bill Higbee of Los Angeles in "Pronto" captured the first heat in excellent time and Ernie Millot of Stockton in "Miss Stockton" brought the northerly community into the spotlight by capturing the final heat.

L. Murray of San Luis Obispo walked off with the Class B events against a select field of competitors from the length of the Pacific Coast.

Inboards Thrill

From the spectators' point of view the last inboard heat, which wound up the day's events, carried the punch of the program. With one of the big boats flying to pieces at full speed, three capsizing and no less than six pilots and mechanics in the water at the same time, the fans were all a-jitter when the race was officially declared as ended.

Although about an hour behind schedule, the first of the inboard heats, the 332 cubic inch class, went off without difficulty, even though a strong breeze from the southwest slowed the speed with choppy water.

Following were outboard runabout heats, the water all the time becoming increasingly rough.

When the time arrived for the first heat of the 225 cubic in. inboards, the judges announced that due to hazardous conditions of the rough water, the two 225 heats would be consolidated in one heat, with double the solidate in one heat, with double the usual number of heat points to be awarded; also that the second heat of the 732 inboards would be run with the 225's, each of the two classes competing separately.

The greatest field of inboards ever to answer the starter's cannon was away at the start, eight crossing the line. Then the thrills began. Going into the turn on the back-stretch of the first lap, the rough water bashed two 12-inch holes in the bottom of the sea-sled type "Helen Torcher," driven by D. R. Crawford. The pressure created by the inrushing water tore the top covering of the craft to pieces. Two large sections, two feet by five feet were easily seen by the fans on the beach as they were driven fifty feet into the air. Turning toward shore at full speed, the driver and his helper barely reached safety before "El Diablo" and "The Dolphin" both capsized, but in both cases the pilots were thrown clear. However no one was injured. Other boats did not finish when the motors failed.

Lou Fageol driving "El Torbellino" for A. L. Bobrick, who was ill, turned in one of the most brilliant performances of the day, with the gold cup winner, when he romped home to victory in both heats of the 732 inboard class — the most powerful craft entered in the regattta. "El Torbellino" lived up to all expectations, defeating Dorothy Muson of Arcadia in "Miss Arcadia," after a dogged fight around the turns and the straightaways.

Charming Miss Munson bids fair to take the place of Loretta Turnbull as "Queen of the Speedboat Pilots." She hails from just a few miles of the home of Miss Turnbull in Monrovia.

El Millott's victory in the C Racing Runabouts and J. Butler's triumph in the F Racing Runabout division were other highlights of the day.

"It was an outstanding success from every conveivable point of view," voiced the thousands of visitors.

REPORT OIL WELL CONTRACT MURRIETA AREA

Canadian Company Said to Have Signed Up Drilling Contracts

TO GO DOWN 3,000 FEET

Expect Drilling to Start Within Two Weeks; Standard Rig

Officials of the Canadian Petroleum Company have signed a contract with the Lyons Oil Well Drilling Company to put down an oil well immediately in the Murrieta district, according to reports this week by leading Murrieta citizens.

The Murrieta field adjoins the district in which the Great Coastal drilled in Elsinore. Stout claims by prominent geologists that this area lies over a pool of oil is believed to have prompted the new drilling project.

It is explained that the contract calls for drilling a 3,000 foot hole at a reported price of $10 per foot. It was stated that no payment will be made until the company reaches the 2,000 foot level.

The Lyons Oil Well Drilling Co. is said to be a large operator in Southern California, now drilling approximately twenty-five wells.

A standard rig will be used, instead of rotary equipment, because it is thought more adaptable to the strata found in the Murrieta valley.

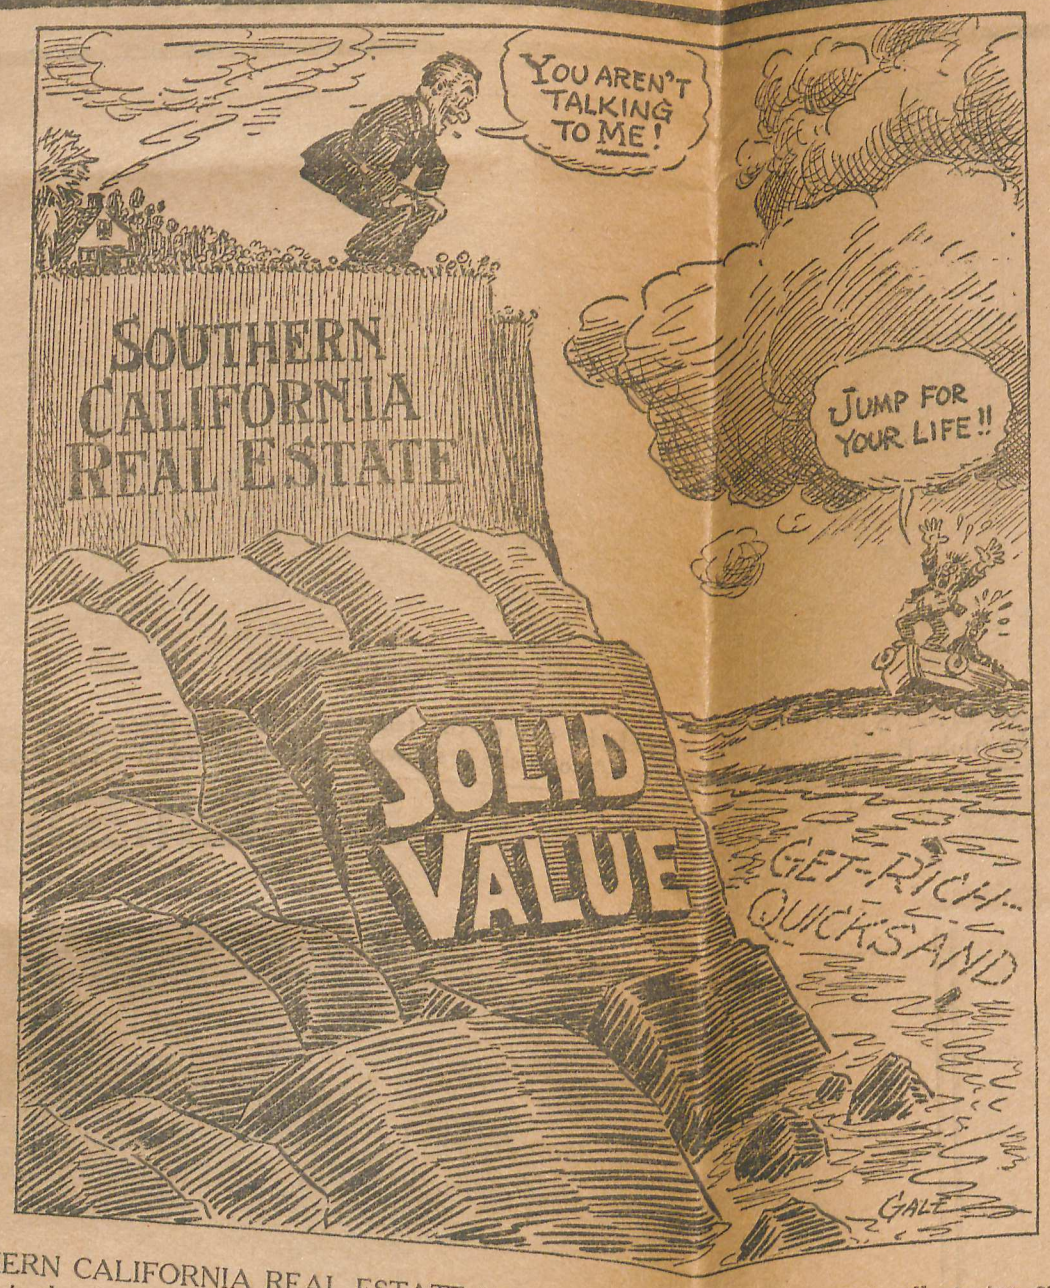

It is reported that equipment will arrive within two weeks and that actual drilling will commence when the crew begins spudding in the new well.

The oil well will be the third to be put down in the Murrieta valley district. In the other two drilling operations, oil sands and heavy gas pockets were encountered.

SERVICE CLUB PROVIDING FOR PUTTING BASS AND SALMON IN LAKE BY STATE COMMISSION

Fish and Game Commission of California Would Provide For Making Lake Elsinore Sportsmen's Paradise; Negotiations for Program Now Under Way

Provision for stocking of the NEW Lake Elsinore with game fish is to be made by the newly organized 20-30 Club, whose membership is made up of the younger business men of the valley.

Through cooperation with the State Fish and Game Commission, it is expected that the lake can be made a fisherman's paradise. Countless thousands of bass and salmon can be put in the lake as soon as formal approval of the State Commission is obtained.

In all such projects, the expense of the fish planting is paid for from state funds available for promoting and extending interests of sportsmen.

Filling the lake with game fish, cleaning up the city ball park, and taking over the active management of the city ball league, are tasks the new Elsinore 20-30 junior civic club has cut out for itself, as its first commmunity programs.

Twenty younger business men of the community, form the charter group that will be the nucleus of the new service organization. The membership is limited to business men between the ages of 20 and 30.

Weekly dinner meetings will be held by the club after their formal award of a charter by the national chapter. The 20-30 club is similar to Lions, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs with the exception that their membership is limited to the younger business men of a community.

Many of Southern California's most ambitious civic programs have been sponsored by 20-30 clubs. The club in Hemet is sponsoring the newly organized Elsinore group, under the direction of President "Doc" Liesser and his committee.

The charter group of the Elsinore group of the Elsinore club includes: Bob Hudson, Larry Martin, Bob Winans, Bob Neblett, Jack Roach, Chuck Collins, Roger Freeman, Ivan Clogston, Bruce Kidder, Walt Kitch, Bill Bottel, Dorian Coogan, Jimmie Bell, Hugh Doyle, George O'Dell, Russ White.

The first dinner business meeting of the club will be held at the Clevelin Country club, May 6.

START CAMPAIGN FOR NEW ROAD TO GIANT "EYE"

Imperial Highway Group to Push Entrance From Temecula Side

Inauguration of a campaign for construction of a new and adequate highway that will provide proper entrance from the Temecula side to the giant $6,000,000 world-famous telescope atop Palomar Mountain was made last Friday at the regular meeting of the Imperial Highway Association at Guenther's Murrieta Hot Springs.

Realization that the Elsinore-Murrieta-Temecula entrance to the giant "eye" will be used by the millions of residents in the Los Angeles district is the force that is expected to bring success in the campaign.

State Highway Commissioner Hart, who was present at the meeting, expressed sympathy with the proposal and indicated a survey should be made immediately to determine the feasibility of the plan. A final decision in the matter will be made by this State body.

A news item this week from Philadelphia carried knowledge of the completion of another major step in the ultimate realization of the scientific achievement.

While Dr. Albert Einstein and Dr. Robert A. Millikan, two of the world's greatest scientists looked on, a workman with forty-eight years experience, fitted the final bolt into the huge skeleton structure.

company reaches the 2,000 foot level.

The Lyons Oil Well Drilling Co. is said to be a large operator in Southern California, now drilling approximately twenty-five wells.

A standard rig will be used, instead of rotary equipment, because it is thought more adaptable to the strata found in the Murrieta valley.

It is reported that equipment will arrive within two weeks and that actual drilling will commence when the crew begins spudding in the new well. The oil well will be the third to be put down in the Murrieta valley district. In the other two drilling operations, oil sands and heavy gas pockets were encountered.

WORK PROGRESSING ON WATER CHANGES

One of the pumps has been installed on well number one, which furnishes water for the low reservoir, and is producing water at the rate of 500 gallons per minute. With this load it is only possible to bring the water level down in this 450 foot well to within sixty feet of the surface.

For the upper reservoir, well number two is being equipped with a new pump also, and when completed, will have a capacity close to 600 gallons per minute. It is hoped to have this new pump in by the last of the week, which, when completed, will give the entire plant a capacity of over 1100 gallons of water per minute.

As a precautionary measure, a third pump is being installed, in case of a bread down, or emergenccy. This is one of the old pumps overhauled.

Some two hundred feet of eight inch main, from well number two, to the plant, is being installed, to take the place of old equipment.

The Sam Dimas Company, which purchased the old gas engine, has removed them from the plant.

Water Commissioner Fred Smith states they hope to have all work completed in the next two to three weeks, and feels with this done, that Elsinore will have an exceptionally fine plant and one that covers all the requirements of the city at a much lower cost of operation.

WORK STARTS ON NEW $20,000 HOME IN LAKELAND DISTRICT

Although a large proportion of the new homes arising in Elsinore valley are moderate in size, one of the newest ones to be started is a palatial $20,000 estate, being erected in the Lakeland tract, for C. L. Valjean, wealthy San Diego man.

The contract was awarded this week to O. H. Sexton and O. E. Flanders, for immediate construction of the beautiful home on the Grand avenue side of the lake back in the foothills.

The new home will be built a short distance from the pretentious estate of Mrs. Cottrel, the nationally known authoress.

Local labor and materials are being used exclusively in the construction of the new structure. It will be one of the finest and most modern in the valley district.

Sexton and Flaanders have just completed an attractive new home on Sumner street, and have a fine reputation as builders.

FORM COMMITTEE FOR CIVIC WORK

An Elsinore beautification Committee, from the Lions Club and the Womans Club was formed Tuesday evening at the joint dinner party of the two civic service groups.

President L. H. McKenzie, of the Yions Club, named Dr. C. C. Wagner Rev. James J. Cameron and O. P. Hornaday on the Lions committee. Mrs. Lynn Hughes named Mrs. A. S. Burnham, Mrs. Ray Bohannon and Mrs. Edna McCoy on the Womans Club committee.

These two committees will hold a joint meeting in the near future to outline their program.

Mrs. Lynn Hughes and Mr. L. H. McKenzie presided jointly at the interesting meeting of the two organizations.

STATE HIGHWAY PROGRAM WILL BE IMPROVED THROUGH DISTRICT

Further improvement in maintenance of State highways in the Elsinore-Murrieta-Temecula valley district is assured through the establishing of another crew for the district.

Fred Newport, well-known local resident, who has been a member of the State crew headed by Superintendent H. A. Swonger, has been placed in charge of the new crew that will operate out of the Temecula district.

The new highway crew will have charge of maintenance of State highways from Stowell's corner in Murrieta to the San Diego county line on the Inland route and also the Imperial highway to Aguanga and Sage.

Superintendent Swonger and his crew will have charge of maintaining the highway between Twin Springs on the Elsinore-Corona highway, to and including Elsinore, and also the portion of the Ortega highway that is in Riverside county.

The Orange county portion of the Ortega highway will be under the direction of a crew in that area and the highway below Twin Springs will be under the supervision of the Corona crew.

The advantages of the change are listed as providing more men for carrying on the work in this district and also to bring the highway programs closer to the center of operations of the various crews.

STREETS TO BE IMPROVED WITH GAS TAX MONEY

Portions of Lowell, Kellogg, Sumner And Riley Are Included

Three-quarters of a mile of Elsinore city streets will be oiled this summer by the State Highway Department, with funds due this municipality from the state gasoline tax.

Through approval of the City Council, and under the direction of street commissioner John Mills, the improvement will be carried out by state highway crews.

The improvement will be the same as carried out last year on Heald Avenue, with similar funds. The streets recommended by the council for this work by the state are Lowell Street, south of Graham Avenue; Kellogg Street, south of Graham Avenue; Sumner Street, south from Riley to Poe; also Riley Street between Heald and Sumner and an extension of Heald Avenue near the high school to connect with the main highway or Graham Avenue.

The council pointed out that there are many streets in the city that should be oiled, but that they were forced to limit the present improvement to three-quarters of a mile and had to make a selection of the roads they feel most needful of immediate improvement. They pointed out that the streets selected serve three of the churches and the Elsinore Woman's Club, well built up residential districts, and provide for greater use of improved Heald Avenue by the extension.

The road improvement will be of oil and plans and specifications for the project are now being prepared in the offices of district engineer Sullivan, and will probably be completed with a few weeks time. The work is expected to be carried out before the end of this summer.

Other city streets will be oiled under a similar program, as soon as the funds become available from the gasoline tax, that is turned over for use in municipal districts.

Land Riches

"Old Wendel boiled it all down into these words:"

"BUY, NEVER SELL. NEW

"He bought and didn't sell. His descendants kept and didn't sell. The last was buried the other day, leaving $100,000,000 behind her.

"She did not do all that she might have done, perhaps, but she did go through life free from financial worries. Many millions of Americans today could tell you what financial worry is, the lack of employment and of income.

"Get a good piece of land, take care of it and it will take care of you."

These words of Brisbane's were written on March 20, 1931. He said much more than appears on the surface. Persons cannot now buy land in New York. It would take a fortune.

INDIVIDUALS CAN, HOWEVER, BUY LAND BEFORE IT GOES SO HIGH THAT ONLY THE VERY RICH CAN AFFORD TO OWN IT.

Southern California is the fastest growing corner of the globe. Southern California is being built on recreation and health. It is the play ground of the world. There are only so many recreation and health centers available in the Southland at reasonable prices.

LAKE ELSINORE is one of these places. It offers recreation—yes—but it also offers health. This valley is famous for its mineral waters that daily perform modern miracles in curing ailing persons.

As Brisbane would say,—"There is only so much of Elsinore Valley!" Those who buy Elsinore property and stick to it will reap the benefits of the march of civilization to Southern California's health and recreation centers.

This is why Elsinore property is selling faster today than at any time since the depression. Scores of sales are being made each week. Countless more will be made in weeks to come.

STRICT REGULATIONS GO INTO EFFECT FOR ORTEGA HIGHWAY

Strict regulations designed to protect the neighboring Cleveland National Forest from destruction by fire, went into effect this week under orders received from A. G. Brenneis, supervisor.

The Ortega scenic highway from Elsinore to San Juan Capistrano and the skyline drive from Corona to Oat Flats are both kept open to travel, but the entire forest, except in camps at places of habitation and in special posted areas is closed to smoking. Persons smoking while driving along these highways are subject to arrest and fine or imprisonment.

The discharge of fireworks is prohibited within the entire Cleveland National Forest. A shovel and axe and camp fire permit are required of all persons building fires or using camp stoves, including stoves in trailers within the Cleveland National Forest.

The three beautiful highway camps along the Ortega highway have been put in excellent shape for campers and picnickers. The use of the same is permitted without charge. Strict enforcement of regulations governing the obtaining of a fire permit, however, will be enforced. These fire permits may be obtained at the ranger station at the head of the Ortega highway on the Elsinore side.

Supervisor Brenneis pointed out that these regulations are put into effect in order to protect the forest for the use of all people and prevent destruction by fire. He urged cooperation of campers and the motoring public in enforcing the new regulations. The restrictions will remain in force until the rainy season arrives in the fall.

SWIMMING CARNIVAL LURED INTERNATIONAL STARS

FIRST SWIMMING EVENT PROVED HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL; WILL BE AN ANNUAL SPORTING AFFAIR

Los Angeles Athletic Club All-Star Team Defeated By Powerful Fullerton Squad in Major Upset of First Carnival; Long Beach, Pasadena, Redondo, Star

Elsinore's Swimming Carnival will become an annual event.

This announcement came in the wake of the tremendously successful acquatic program Sunday, May 23rd, on the local Aloha Beach maritime course, that lured some two hundred swimmers from all parts of Southern California. Olympic stars, national champions, and Pacific Coast title holders were among the stars who performed before a large crowd throughout the day.

Praise was high for Bruce Kidder, who planned and directed the Swimming Carnival, with the aid of the 20-30 Club and Chamber of Commerce.

The opening event proved to be the most sensational of the day. All eyes were focussed upon Herb Barthel of the 1936 Olympic team, who was expected to win the 1¼ mile open water event from Lowell Street to the Aloha Beach pier, in a walk. Two swimmers, however, stayed right with Barthel from the start. They were Paul Herron, a 15-year-old youth from Long Beach Poly high school, and Edward Christensen, veteran performer from the Fullerton Swimming Club. As they neared the one mile mark there was little to choose between the leading trio. At this point, however, the Long Beach high school lad put on a tremendous spurt and slowly, but steadily, pulled away from his highly touted competitors. It just couldn't be true—but it was. This high school lad actually swam the Olympic star into the ground and went on to win in the brilliant open water time of 27 minutes and 17 seconds. Barthel faded rapidly at the finish, but had enough left to hold Christensen. Ed Horran of Fullerton finished in fuorth position and Paul Eubank of the University of Southern California, was fifth.

Margaret Richie, of Son Diego, the first woman to finish, was eleven and Dorothy Flanagan, also of the border city, was in twelfth position. Little eleven-year-old Carolyn Sommer, who had negotiated the entire distance back-stroke, finished thirteenth with a big cheer from the crowd.

The Fullerton Swimming Club furnished the major upset of the day by defeating the powerful Los Angeles Athletic Club team in the Men's division. Occidental College finished third with Compton Junior College fourth and a group of unattached competitors from the University of Southern California finished fifth.

In the Women's division the Los Angeles Athletic Club team literally walked away with the days honors although they received stiff competition from the girls of the Florence

EVENTUALLY TO INCLUDE ENTIRE CITY DISTRICT

Better Business and Residential Lights Included in Program

Elsinore is going to have better business district and residential lighting effects.

This fact was made clear today by Mayor Nick Matich, speaking in behalf of the members of the city council.

The council expects during the ensuing month to work out a fesible plan to be carried out over a long time period for improving and enlarging the lighting system for both the business district and the residential areas. The program is still in a formative stage and will not be fully known for several weeks.

The program is being brought to a head with the change-over to electric operation of the city pumping plant that carries with it a reduction in rates for operation of lights in the business district.

Under the new set-up it will be possible to increase the size of the lights used in the business district at practically the same cost as now being paid for the present 60-watt lights.

Mayor Matich made it clear, however, that the present lighting equipment for the business district is practically worn out and that no change can be made until the present lines are at least partially replaced.

The program is to be carried out as rapidly as available funds make possible, with the probability that the complete change may extend over as Flood waters from the last of the melting snow back in the mountains continue to pour into Lake Elsinore. The lake waters have swollen to capacity size.

The water basin is three miles longer and thirty feet deeper than last year.

There are 30,000,000,000 more gallons of water in the lake than there were six months ago.

Measured in acre feet it is 90,000.

The lake was 1,224 feet above sea level when the flood water commenced. It is now 1,254 feet above sea level.

In the Women's division the Los Angeles Athletic Club team literally walked away with the days honors although they received stiff competition from the girls of the Florence Chambers Swimming Club of San Diego. Florence Chambers grand old woman of swimming in Southern California, was present in her bathing suit to cheer on her coming stars.

Coach Wally Dietrick, who has turned out undefeated dual teams at Long Beach Polytechnic high school for eleven years, proved his prowess again Sunday when his high school squad scored 52 of the possible 74 points in the high school division. Pasadena, Hollywood, and Redondo high school teams, rated three of the best in Southern California, were no match for the Long Beach team.

Coach Dietrich was the least surprised when his Paul Herron won the open water swim from the older competitors. He explained that Herron is easily his finest prospect in years. Dietrick has turned out many Olympic stars.

Credit for the success of the initial Swimming Carnival goes to Bruce Kidder, athletic director at the Elsinore high school. Kidder spent weeks in contacting the leading swimming organizations in Southern California and urging them to enter teams. He was successful in bringing the cream of the competitors in the men's, women's and high school divisions of the Southland. The meet was run off like clock work with the capable assistance of Frank Houdina, Frank Odiorne, Walter Kitch, Howard Kitch, Chuck Collatz, Frances Collatz, Miss Fawcett and Miss Dinnick, all of Elsinore, and Harry Dietrick, Mr. Johnny Smith, and Pearson, Mr. Edward Allen, Mr. Wally Dietrick, Mr. Jommy Smith and Art Lindegren, well known swimming leaders in Southern California.

COLLINS ORGANIZES BAND FOR ELSINORE

First Practice to be Held Friday, June 4th, at Band Room In City Park

Philip E. Collins, in cooperation with the business men of the community, is organizing a city band that will give weekly concerts and play for civic affairs during the summer months.

Mr. Collins has announced the first practice for Friday, June 4th, at the band room in the city park. He has sent out a call for volunteers and urges all musicians who are willing to play in the band to attend this first meeting.

Plans will be outlined at the meeting for regular weekly rehearsals.
