Dear Mr. President:

As an expression of admiration and respect I am sending you this work of which I am the author and hope you will find it interesting.

I have spent more than two years compiling it, utilizing every minute of my spare time. I consider this work as my humble contribution to the cultural affluence of my adopted country of which I am proud to be a citizen. I consider it as an attempt to challenge the accepted theory and conception that the incentive of every one's work, undertaking and accomplishment must be personal material benefit, having spent time and energy without any expectation of material gain.

I hope that you will accept this gift with the same spirit with which it is given.

Yours for a still better America,

Jacob Romm

To The Dearest Pres. on Earth and the 1st Lady of the Land.
The Pres. of the U. S. and His Family

Just a few moments ago I heard your voice over the air - It rung as tho' it were coming from the gates of Heaven - I want you to know that I never eat a meal that I don't ask God to re-elect you our Pres. of the U. S. Don't you mind what is said, if our "Four Long Years Past Pres." only knew just part of what has been said about him he would never go on the air again. "He certainly had his nerve to come on at all."

I'm going to tell you a little something about myself I am an Old Lady will be 73 my next birthday - The 1st Pres. I remember is Pres. Grant in Atlanta Ga. when he appeared before the public in a home spun suit - My aged Grandmother was one of the Ladies who helped to make the suit - in some way she happened to know the family - He patted me on the head and called me a little white haired gal - Today I heard the Gov. of Tenn. ~~I~~ speaking in your behalf - He said so many nice things for you and not half enough.

Pres. my birth state is Tenn. and that is my name - My maiden name was Tennessee Odell. I grew from a young married lady in my teens in Little Rock Ark. to ~~my~~ about the age of fifty five. I heard a Darling Lady telling about your sickness and how you developed into such a noble and intelligent Man which is all that God could ask of any human.

Now Dear Pres and Mrs Roosevelt I'm sending you a little Maskot on Mondays (June 29) American Express - which I hope you will receive it alright - It is coming to sing your praises, please read the little notes which are attached to its little house

Mrs Roosevelt - I want you and Mrs Roosevelt to know just how I feel about you but you will never know just how I appreciate you -

I have seen many hard struggles - The Civil War robbed me of my parents at the age of three - so you may know I appreciate living in the Land of Contentment in my declining years - I close by asking

God to grant you Victory which I know he will do.

With Very Best Wishes to you and yours and God grant you Victory -

Sincerely Yours!

The President of the United States
The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President:

The little book "Character and Characteristic Men" by E. P. Whipple, enclosed herewith, I ran across in a second-hand bookstore here in Tucson. It occurred to me, as I read it, that, especially chapters one, two, and five, would refresh your mind on the human problem you have to cope with in your present campaign. It was written just prior to the Civil War and it, therefore, presents an interesting comparison of the thinking of that day as compared to that of our own.

I venture to send it with the hope that it will be of interest and help to you. If you find it so, I will be glad and would like for you to keep it; otherwise I would like to have you return it.

With best wishes to you and yours, I am

Sincerely your friend,

My dear Mr. President: --

Due to a coincident, I take the liberty of writing you again.

On July 12th last I read in a New York newspaper that your temporary offices had been robbed, and as I enclosed to you a letter, a copy of which I enclose herewith and also a half dozen advance copies of "The President and a Plutocrat," and since I have not heard of their reception I wondered if the books and letter had been purloined at the time of the theft, since the letter and package was sent by parcel post and must have been received on the same day of the robbery.

I would be greatly disappointed if you did not receive the books and letter. Would you be kind enough to let me know if they were received.

My dear Mr. President: --

I am taking the liberty of forwarding to you, under another cover, an advanced copy of my latest product, "The President and a Plutocrat." After several issues of "The President and His Assurances for 1936", copies of which I sent you some time since, there were so many requests for a longer book that I produced "The President and a Plutocrat" as a result.

I hope if there is anything objectionable in this book you will let me know of it soon.

Pardon my suggestion, when I state that 100,000 of these books should be sent into Kansas, and 100,000 more into the State of Michigan, with several more such lots in some of the Southern, Eastern and Western states. They could do no harm and could do some good in solidifying and increasing the votes of the Democratic Party.

The books if sold at 25¢ a copy, with paper covers, and 50¢ and 75¢ for the stitched and cloth-bound ones, would bring in a goodly sum for your Honorable National Democratic Committee, to be used as campaign funds.

I would be glad to cooperate and do all in my power to make a successful distribution of this kind. I will withhold any general publication of this book for the present in the hope of hearing some comment on this proposition.

I consider the coming Election is one of the most important events in the world's history for progress and advancement of civilization, not exceeded by the Magna Charter or the Treaty of Peace given by Mary and James to the Scots after 1,000 years of bloody warfare, hence my enthusiasm and interest in trying to go along in this great work.

My dear Mr. Rovelstad:

The President has asked me to acknowledge the receipt of your letter to him of September eleventh concerning your desire to have your mother present him with the first of the new Pioneer Memorial Coins, which you designed.

I am very much afraid that it will not be possible to arrange for this presentation in view of the fact that the President's calendar for the next few weeks is an extremely heavy one, and I do not feel that I can add to his commitments just now.

Furthermore, it has been the policy since the beginning of the Administration for me to receive in the President's behalf all gifts, presenting them to him with a suitable word of explanation. I will, therefore, be glad to receive the coin from your mother and will suit her convenience as to time. I shall await your further advice.

I am awfully sorry that I cannot give you a more favorable reply but I know you will appreciate the situation and will understand that it is not due to any lack of interest on our part.

Dear Miss LeHand:-

On June 5th, 1935, I had attempted to pass on to President Roosevelt thru Hon. Rexford G. Tugwell, Resettlement Administrator, a copy of my "HISTORY of the DeHAVEN FAMILY", but during the absence of Mr. Tugwell it seems that the first copy went astray.

Under separate cover I am taking the liberty of mailing another copy of my book to you personally, which I trust that you will do me the honor of handling in such manner as you deem advisable. I would certainly appreciate it if President Roosevelt were to at least have the book placed in his hands, if such is permissible. If not, would you do me the courtesy to glance thru the first chapter of the book, and, if you deem the subject of sufficient interest and merit to speak to the President personally regarding same.

Thanking you for this courtesy, and trusting that you will personally find my book of interest, I am,

My dear Mr. President:

Being greatly impressed by the wonderful speech delivered by you at Charlotte, N. C., September 11, 1936, at the SEVEN STATES GREEN PASTURES RALLY, and appreciating how graciously you wove into its delivery, the beautiful Twenty-third Psalm, which all must know, if accepted, would bring forth peace, happiness, health and harmony for a suffering world.

For many years I have endeavored to make this Psalm the basis of my thoughts and have made a hobby of making pen and ink sketches of the same in various designs. One of these I take the liberty of sending to you. No doubt you will realize that it is the work of an amateur and will appreciate that it is

"ALL FROM THE HEART, THOUGH BETTER MIGHT HAVE BEEN"

In the knowledge, Mr. President, that you will again bless our country with your guiding hand for the next four years, and that your consecrated efforts will stand and guard it throughout all its future years, I beg to remain, Thump! Thump!

No

Three Short Years

Newton D. Baker, who was secretary of war during Wilson's wartime administration, drew thunderous applause from the American Legion convention in Cleveland yesterday, when he said,

"Nothing can possibly replace the decisions of a majority rule as a refuge for the spirit of man."

Whatever changes may be necessary to bring the Constitution up to date, he continued, "must come as the result of discussion and democratic decision, and not from supine acquiescence in its violation or by the application of the principles of force."

Mr. Baker, like President Roosevelt, is a Democrat. Governor Landon, who says practically the same thing, is a Republican. We venture to say that all three express what is virtually the unanimous opinion of the people . . . of whom the American Legion is a typical cross section. Hence the thunderous applause.

Yet it must be remembered that amending the Constitution is a slow and cumbersome process. When President Roosevelt took office in the spring of 1933, the economic condition of the country called for INSTANT action, and prompt emergency measures.

The American people by a "majority decision" of the Congress which represented them, conferred vast emergency powers upon the President and passed legislation which violated the provisions of the Constitution.

People in every walk of life, from bankers to boot-blacks, had faith in Mr. Roosevelt, and there was not a murmur of protest as the vast federal recovery machine got under way. There were no protests then, because a frightened country saw in those measures its only chance to escape economic shipwreck.

Have we forgotten those dark days in the three short years that have followed?

Now that the pilot has taken us safely past the shoals of inflation and the rocks of revolution—now that we can all breathe easier—the voice of the ingrate and the reactionary is heard in the land.

The Roosevelt who, three brief years ago was looked upon as a saint with the halo of unselfish devotion above his brow—is now pictured by the partisan press as a horned devil, ready to lead us into the hell of Communism.

We don't believe that this hue and cry will fool the American people. There have been other presidents whose courage in times of stress evoked the venomous hatred of political opponents. Washington was called the "stepfather of his country"; Jefferson was called an anarchist, and Lincoln "a monster and a tyrant."

Roosevelt may be beaten on November 3—but most of you who read this editorial may live long enough to see his name mentioned in the same breath with the names of Washington, Jefferson, and Abraham Lincoln!

Inclosed I am sending a newsphoto of the memorial which I had created for Her Late Majesty Astrid.
The one I am working on for Armistice Day is entirely different - created to express the beauty of Peace.

I decided to write to Your Honor before completing this creation to ask your permission to present this to you on November 11th, Armistice Day - when I could place it with the Commandant of Mare Island.

There is no obligation to our Government whatsoever, it is in truth only a sincere effort that I would like to show in appreciation to our wonderful United States.

Thanking you most sincerely for your consideration,

Baker Builds Monument of Sugar

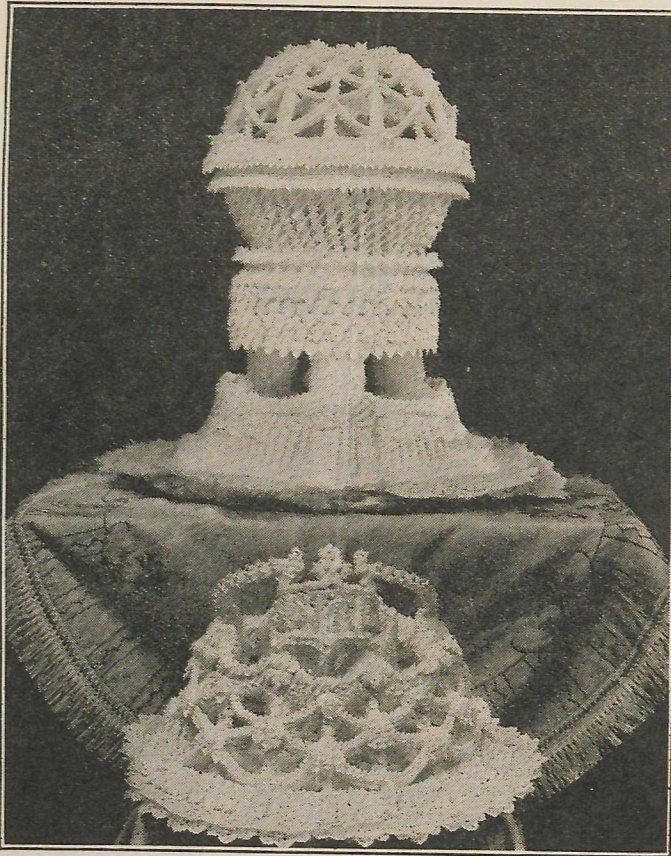

Lights Add to Beauty

AN elaborate miniature monument made entirely of sugar has been fashioned by Ollie Ross, Vallejo baker, as a memorial to the late Queen Astrid of Belgium. It now is en route to Brussels to be presented to King Leopold and later placed in the Royal Museum.

The memorial, produced by five months of patient and exacting effort, is three feet high and of delicate lace-like design. It is surmounted by a dome resembling a crown, in which small electric lights have been installed to give an added touch of beauty. The sugar used in fabricating the little monument was prepared by a secret process and Ross says that, with proper care, his work should last at least a hundred years.

Ross built the memorial because he has a soft spot in his heart for Belgium.

Memorial fashioned by Ollie Ross of Vallejo in honor of late Queen Astrid of Belgium. It took five months to make.

A few years ago he received a letter from the late King Albert congratulating him on his success as a long-distance amateur radio operator. And he was presented to King Leopold and Queen Astrid during a visit to Brussels shortly after their coronation.

In appreciation for my love for the United States and in respect to the most wonderful efforts toward the betterment of life and conditions made possible by our President, Mr. Franklin Delano Roosevelt I was inspired to create this monument.

This is the second such memorial in the world, the first as you recall I mentioned in my letter was created in honor to the memory of Her Late Majesty, Astrid, beloved Queen of Belgium.

I will greatly appreciate it if you would advise me how you wished to have the memorial shipped. I thought it may be possible if the authorities at the Mare Island, Navy Yard were asked why then it could be transported to Washington on a transport directly.

However, I shall await your instructions before shipping it.

Thanking you again and sincerely wishing that our beloved President is again retained at the helm of our ship of state, I beg to remain

Dear Skipper:

As you go forward to battle for intelligent consideration of the future of our land, allow me to congratulate you on your courage and leadership, and to wish you unbounded Success.

You have banished fear, revived our confidence, led us back to kindly consideration for our fellow men. You have brought us to realize our patriotic and political duty to all our people.

Under your intelligent and courageous leadership, Onward and Upward the course of progressive, humane Democracy wends its victorious way. Undeterred by the ungrateful actions of men who league themselves under the sacred name of Liberty to block the mountain path which leads to the summit of prosperity and human rights, our cause surges forward. The leadership that acts courageously and timely is the leadership which deserves to succeed.

The age of patriotic thought is here, with a fair deal for all now demanded by the American people. Pioneer thinking and action has replaced the clamor for advice on outworn policies. The day of the New Deal Progressive Democratic Party has arrived.

The support of any other cause or candidate at this particular crisis in our National affairs would have destruction as its ultimate destiny. We cannot afford as a nation to look backward. In a world struggling against the forces of disruption, we have a high and necessary duty to make America more American than ever.

I firmly believe that the remedy for the ills we are now suffering from as a result of four long years of Hooverism, is the practically unanimous re-election of your own kindly, thoughtful, humane self.

It is our destiny. No pent-up rock-bound commonwealth contracts our powers, the whole boundless continent (including Kansas) is ours. With God's help, Onward and Upward to Victory strides the Democratic New Deal Party. Onward and Upward to the heights of Human Justice, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against us.

May God bless you and keep you and inspire you. May His grace be with you and bring you the success you so well deserve.

Sincerely your Friend

Matthew J. Rippon

Dear Mr. President:-

It is with real satisfaction that we are able to show that the inspiration of the New Deal has helped strike a blow for greater freedom and comfort for men.

Enclosed we are submitting a pair of GARD-O-SOX, the hose which stays up without garter or binding.

Once more American ingenuity and skill has helped make men more free and ask you to accept this pair as a good will gesture from industry.

We trust, after inspecting our offering, you will share our optimism.

Respectfully yours,

New!
Sensational

It is a new, revolutionary idea, designed to give you the "new" feeling of being rejuvenated to look like an 18-year-old girl.
It is the new, sensational idea of comfort,
