

Sean Cote

Senior Associate

Sean's passion is coming to work every day to recruit talent that can bring immediate value to the companies they join. To accomplish this, he digs deep to identify and assess candidates that exceed clients' expectations. His success finding great cultural fits comes from his ability to meaningfully connect with others, problem-solve, and draw from past experience.

He has a 10-year track record in recruitment and healthcare, having partnered with C-level executives and healthcare professionals. Most recently, as a recruiter for a search firm, Sean built client relationships and earned their loyalty by consistently delivering on executive-level searches. Recognized for top performance there, he earned three President's Club awards. Previously, Sean held client relations, analyst, and clinical roles for healthcare companies.
