SECTION 1: OVERVIEW

Welcome to Field Education!
The field education practicum is an integral component of the Social Work Program and your education as a social worker. This manual serves as a resource to help make the field practicum experience a successful one for students, also serves as a guide for Field Liaisons, Field Instructors and Task Supervisors. It is the student’s responsibility to read through this Field Education manual carefully, and be familiar with and abide by Field Education Program policies. Refer back to this manual often throughout your field placement. This Field Education manual is available in electronic form on the social work website, you may also request a hard copy of this manual from the Director of Field Education. This manual includes a copy of the NASW Code of Ethics, the NASW Standards on Cultural Competence, and Resources for Social Workers.

George Mason University Mission
George Mason University is innovative and entrepreneurial in spirit and utilizes its multi-campus organization and location near our nation’s capital to attract outstanding scholars, faculty and programs. George Mason will:

- Educate the new generation of leaders for the 21st century – men and women capable of shaping a new economy in a global community with vision, justice, and clarity.
- Encourage freedom of thought, speech, and inquiry in a tolerant, respectful academic setting.
- Provide undergraduate, graduate, and professional courses of study that enable students to exercise analytical and imaginative thinking and make well-founded ethical decisions.
- Nurture and support a highly qualified and entrepreneurial faculty that is excellent at teaching, active in pure and applied research, capable of providing a broad range of intellectual and cultural insights, and is responsive to the needs of students and their communities.
- Maintain an international reputation for superior education that affirms its role as the intellectual and cultural nexus among Northern Virginia, the nation, and the world.

Adopted by Board of Visitors on August 15, 2008

College of Health and Human Services Mission
The Mission of the College of Health and Human Services (CHHS) is to equip professionals to provide leadership, care, and services related to health promotion, wellness, disease prevention, and quality of life through the promotion of physical, social, and environmental health practices. Graduates practice in a variety of roles in settings that are complex, multicultural, and dynamic. The College is a resource for health promotion to the university, as well as to the citizens of the Commonwealth of Virginia.

Department of Social Work Mission
The mission of the Department of Social Work at George Mason University draws from a tradition of commitment to social and economic justice through excellence and innovation in education that incorporates practice, critical thinking, research, communication, and technology. Building on its location in the culturally diverse environment of the metropolitan area of the Nation’s Capital, and guided by the history and mission of social work, its values and ethics, knowledge and skills, the Department of Social Work utilizes a variety of pedagogical approaches to provide dynamic social work education programs.

Graduates are prepared at the BSW and MSW level to pursue practice, research, and leadership in micro, mezzo, and macro settings. The George Mason University Social Work faculty is dedicated to preparing competent generalist social work practitioners and enterprising leaders to meet the needs of diverse clients and populations at risk in local, national, and international arenas. Graduates will be prepared to strengthen their communities, improve human service infrastructure, engage in policy development, and practice collaboratively to challenge oppression, discrimination and poverty through advocacy, and social, political, and economic reform. The department fosters a professional culture of ethical and competent practice, fostering lifelong learners committed to promoting social functioning, community empowerment, and cultural competence.
Liberal Arts Curriculum

BSW students are prepared for the practicum experience by taking a variety of courses from the core social work curriculum to the liberal arts courses. General education requirements provide students with an opportunity to build a strong liberal arts foundation. Required courses such as English Literature and Composition, Philosophy/Religion, Mathematics, Biology, Communication, Fine Arts, Humanities, History, Global Understanding, Psychology, Sociology, Economics, Statistics, Computer Science, and Government provide the opportunity for students to become exposed to multiple disciplines. Additional elective courses, which students select based upon their own interest, further prepare students for practice. Students are advised carefully and monitored closely to assist them in following program standards for social work education. Periodic feedback from professional social workers who serve as field instructors provide an additional opportunity to ensure that the curriculum is responsive to practice demands.

Competency Based Education

Social Work education is based upon core competencies established by the accrediting body Council on Social Work Education (CSWE) that define generalist practice or are applied in advanced practice and Field Education. Competency based education is an outcome performance approach to curriculum design. Competencies are measurable practice behaviors that are comprised of knowledge, values and skills. The goal of the outcome approach is to demonstrate the application of competencies in practice, necessary to work with individuals, families, groups, organizations, and communities. The competencies are demonstrated and evaluated in the Field Practicum. Students complete Field Practicums in their senior year of the BSW and both their Generalist year and Specialization year for their MSW. Students are enrolled in a seminar during the time they are also in Field Practicum.

MSW Program Goals

1. To prepare social workers with knowledge and advanced skills in direct and clinical practice, organizational leadership, social policy, and community practice to enhance social functioning and alleviate poverty, oppression, and injustice.
2. To prepare ethical social work leaders who facilitate positive social change locally, nationally, and internationally/globally through direct and clinical services, advocacy, social action, and community empowerment in diverse social, cultural, and political and organizational contexts.
3. To prepare social workers with appropriate knowledge and skills for practice with culturally diverse colleagues and client systems of all sizes in a variety of professional contexts.
4. To prepare social workers who contribute to the social work profession through continuous professional development and leadership activities that promote competent social work practice.

BSW Program Goals

1. To prepare students for entry level, generalist social work practice with individuals, families, groups, communities, and organizations.
2. To provide students with a foundation in liberal arts and social work knowledge, values, and skills that will enable them to pursue graduate work and lifelong learning.
3. To provide opportunities for students to develop proficiency in collaborative practice, effective leadership, advocacy, innovation, research, and technology.
4. To expose students to the complexities of human diversity and the range of intervention skills and strategies needed for effective practice.
5. To sensitize students to the dynamics of oppression and discrimination and to involve them in change efforts aimed at achieving social justice.
6. To encourage students to identify with the social work profession, to utilize supervision appropriately, and to appreciate the profession’s history and mission.
7. To promote adherence to the ethical standards of the profession with client systems, agency personnel, and colleagues.
ABOUT FIELD EDUCATION
Field education is the “signature pedagogy” of social work education; it is the pivotal transformative experience in progressing from “social work student” to “social work professional”. The curriculum of the Social Work Department, including the field education program, is guided by the Educational Policy and Accreditation Standards (EPAS, 2015) issued by the Council on Social Work Education (see www.cswe.org). The Field Practicum experience should provide the student with activities that are related to the Department of Social Work’s overall program goals and objectives. The purpose of the practicum is to provide the opportunity for the student to apply social work knowledge, skills, values, and ethics to professional practice. The Field Education is designed supervised, coordinated and evaluate on criteria by which students demonstrate the nine social work competencies.

The BSW degree program requires a Senior Field Practicum (450 hours). The regular MSW degree program requires two field practicum experiences – a generalist (450 hours) field practicum and a Specialization (600) field practicum. All levels require a two semester practicum and Field Seminar starting in the fall semester and continuing throughout the spring semester. No summer or block practicums are available at this time. Advanced Standing students enroll in the Specialization year practicum only, building upon field experiences from their BSW programs. Field sites are specifically selected to allow students to engage in an array of practice behaviors toward achieving core competencies. The student Field experience is supervised at the agency or organization by a BSW level or higher for BSW practicum and MSW level Social Work professionals and monitored by designated Field Liaisons. A waiver of social work status for field instructors may be granted by the Field Director if sufficient social work related experience is evident; in these times additional support by the Field Liaison and departmental faculty will be provided to the student to provide a well-rounded social work exposure and experience. The field practicum is accompanied by Field Seminar courses facilitated by a Field Liaison. Seminar courses serve to bridge theories, concepts and knowledge to real world application. Through these seminars students examine and reflect upon their experiences working in the field of Social Work and refine their critical thinking skills.

The BSW (SOCW 495/496) and Generalist (SOCW 672 and SOCW 673) year practicum are designed as a practical integration of social work theory, skill development, values and ethical orientation to the profession. Field activities are focused on students developing “best practice” standards in the settings where they are placed.

The Specialization year practicum (SOCW 692 and SOCW 693 for Clinical Practice students and SOCW 694 and SOCW 695 for Social Change students) is designed to provide students with the opportunity to apply their Social Work knowledge, values and skills from across the curriculum for advanced practice in the areas of clinical mental health and behavioral health practice, organizational management and leadership, community practice, and policy and advocacy.

Standards for Field Education
Field instruction will take place only in an approved agency or organization with approved plan for appropriate BSW or MSW level supervision. It is the responsibility of the Field Education Office to approve both the placement sites and the field instructors. This approval process occurs prior to the placement of the student. Aspects of approval of an agency is the responsibility of the Field Education Office.

An agency Affiliation Agreement (contract) with the GMU Department of Social Work is predicated upon the commitment to actively participate as a partner in professional social work education. This involves an acceptance of the fundamental goals and objectives of the Department’s educational program and a readiness to invest staff time and other agency resources in student education. Additional information regarding the Department of Social Work’s program mission, goals and objectives may be found at www.socialwork.gmu.edu

Field Instructors (FI) are experienced social workers who have an understanding of and an interest in social work education. Field Instructors for BSW level students must be a minimum of a BSW with 2 years post bachelors experience. Field Instructors for MSW Generalist level students must be a minimum of a MSW with 2 years post masters experience. A waiver of social work status for field instructors may be granted by the Field Director if sufficient social work related experience is evident; in these times additional support by the Field Liaison and departmental faculty will be provided to the student to provide a well-rounded social work exposure and experience. Field Instructors for MSW Specialization level students must be a minimum of a MSW from an accredited social work program and have 3 years post masters experience. Emphasis is placed on the teaching aspect of supervision for Field Education.

A Field Education Calendar is developed annually and denotes the target dates that materials are due to the Field Education Office. The schedule of assignments can be found in each seminar class syllabus, due dates may differ by level and section. The Department of Social Work requires specific documentation of the student’s learning processes and outcomes. The student, Field Instructor, and Field Liaison are expected to work together to complete the assignments and required formal evaluations of the student’s work and submit them to the Field Education Office on time. Field education involves close cooperation among the Agency, Field Instructor, University and student. Each has a responsibility in the on-going assessment of the practicum experience.

Roles and Expectations in Field Education

A. Director of Field Education
The Field Director will be responsible for:
1) Providing the agency with the necessary consultation and support to carry out the educational program goals;
2) Providing specific learning objectives compliant with accreditation standards to be used in planning the field educational program for students;
3) Providing guidelines for evaluation of students’ progress;
4) Developing and assuring a clear process for screening and selecting students for the placement process;
5) Coordinating the match of student to agency and assuring students are placed in appropriate settings;
6) Obtaining regular feedback from the agency regarding the field program’s strengths and limitations and recommending suitable modifications when appropriate;
7) Maintaining regular communication and support with agency directors, Field Instructors, and Field Liaisons;
8) Providing consultation to Field Instructors and Field Liaisons around field practicum concerns;
9) Providing continuing educational services including the field instruction training seminars;
10) Recruitment and retention of practicum sites within the community;
11) Developing the field seminar curriculum;
12) Recruitment and retention of Adjunct professors as Field Liaisons;
13) Providing supervision and support to Field Liaisons;
14) Serving as one of the faculty field liaisons when necessary;
15) Developing and maintaining field data system;
16) Coordinating and maintaining appropriate archival of student records;
17) Developing and adhering to Field Education budget.

B. Associate Field Director
The Associate Field Director will assist the Field Director in working with students who are conducting their field practicum at agencies in the community.
The Associate Field Director is responsible for:
1) Assisting in the recruitment and retention of practicum sites within the community;
2) Assisting in the coordinating the match of student to agency and assuring students are placed in appropriate settings;
3) Assisting in the field seminar curriculum development;
4) Providing supervision and support to field adjunct faculty (Field Liaisons);
5) Serving as one of the Field Liaisons.

C. Field Liaison / Field Seminar Instructor
Field Liaisons are adjunct faculty who are social workers and teach field seminar courses and support the practicum experiences in the community. A Field Liaison provides the critical link between the School, the student, and the Field Instructor. Students are assigned to a Field Liaison based on seminar enrollment and that liaison/instructor is primary roles is to provide direction, guidance, instruction and consultation supporting the student’s achievement of practice behavior competencies. Students are required to attend and participate in seminar. For each assigned student, the Field Liaison is required to make at least one face-to-face agency visit first semester (to include the student), along with standard monthly phone/email contact with the Field Instructor. Second semester, the Field Liaison is to make standard monthly phone and email contacts with the agency Field Instructor and one conference call/skype/ or in person visit (to include the student). The Field Liaison can visit, call, conference call, skype with the agency and student at any additional time as needed. The focus of all contacts and visits depends on the needs of the student and the agency, and involves consultation around developing a Learning Agreement, problem solving any practicum concerns, and clarifying competency evaluation issues. In the case of concerns or issues requiring immediate attention. The Field Liaison can enlist the assistance of the Director of Field Education at any time.

Expectations for the GMU Department of Social Work and Field Liaison

1. The Director of Field Education will maintain regular communication with agencies and field instructors through the Field Liaisons. This person will be the primary source of support and consultation to the agency, Field Instructor and student. The Field Liaison must have an MSW and a minimum of 2 years post-Master’s experience.

2. The Department of Social Work will provide an orientation for all students prior to the start of their Field Practicum. This orientation will include a discussion of the expectations of the Agency, The Department of Social Work and the student, in addition to a review of the NASW Code of Ethics (in the Appendix). The issues of Personal Safety and Risk Management will be discussed as well.

3. The Field Liaison will become familiar with the activities of the Agency. For each assigned student, the Field Liaison is required to make at least one face-to-face agency visit first semester (to include the student), along with standard monthly phone/email contact with the Field Instructor. Second semester, the Field Liaison is to make standard monthly phone and email contacts with the agency Field Instructor and one conference call/skype/ or in person visit (to include the student). The Field Liaison can visit, call, conference call, skype with the agency and student at any additional time as needed. The focus of all contacts and visits depends on the needs of the student and the agency, and involves consultation around developing a Learning Agreement, problem solving any practicum concerns, and clarifying competency evaluation issues. In the case of concerns or issues requiring immediate attention. The Field Liaison can enlist the assistance of the Director of Field Education at any time. In addition, the Field Liaison will act as an educational resource to the Field Instructor and student.

4. The Field Liaison will review the student’s work weekly, as assignment dates and at the time of the Agency visit. This can be in the form of process recordings, audio or video tapes, agency documentation, or other tangible, observable work products of the student.

5. The Field Liaison and Director of Field Education will provide consultation on educational issues and assistance in addressing any concerns the Agency may have about a student’s performance.

6. After reviewing the Field Instructor’s written assessment or evaluation, the Field Liaison will assign the semester grade and submit this grade to the University and the Field Education Office.

7. The Field Liaison will provide immediate consultation within 24 should a serious problem occur with a student’s performance and will advise the Field Education Office of the situation.

8. The Field Liaison will encourage the student to provide regular feedback to the Field Instructor about the student’s practicum experience.

9. The Field Liaison will attend Field Instructor orientations when scheduled, as well as routinely meet with the Director of Field Education.

10. The Field Liaison is responsible for ensuring student field records are submitted through the Field Education software. At the end of each semester, the Field Liaison ensures that the student’s Learning agreement, Mid-
Semester Assessment and End-of-Semester Evaluation, Record of Work Hours, process recordings and, where applicable, Remedial Contract, are filed in the software.

D. Field Agency
Role of the Field Agency
A field agency is an organizational entity that agrees to participate in the education of social work students is responsible for:

1. Providing an environment that is conducive to educational goals and objectives;

2. Accepting the student as contributing services related to the function of the agency;

3. Affording the student significant responsibility in assignments with clients, sufficient to enable meaningful learning opportunities appropriate to the program and field objectives, the students individual Learning Agreement and CSWE competencies;

4. Making adjustments as necessary to enable the Field Instructor sufficient time for planning of the student's activities, regular weekly and emergency conferences with the student, meetings with the Field Director and/or Field Liaison, writing of evaluations, and other duties connected with this responsibility;

5. Providing the Field Instructor and student suitable physical facilities and work items including adequate desk space, telephone, supplies, clerical support, and privacy for client interviewing, group meetings, and supervision conferences;

6. To provide meaningful and appropriate opportunities to work with clients and client systems: BSW and Generalist students must have 50% of their hours in direct client and client systems work; Clinical students must have 75% of their hours in direct client and client systems work;

7. Assuring that a student is not, under any circumstances, left alone or solely responsible in an office, agency, or institutional setting. At least one agency staff member must be available at all times. This does not preclude a student making a home visit alone, for example, if the Field Instructor believes the student is adequately prepared to do so.

Expectations for the Agency
1. The agency’s director should be committed to the agency’s participation in professional social work education, and there should be a commitment to enter into a long-term relationship with the University involving the training of numerous students over time.

2. An employee of the agency should be designated to serve as the contact person to work with the school.

3. The agency and the GMU will enter into an agreement regarding the mutual expectations for affiliation prior to a student being accepted for placement.

4. The agency will provide reasonable physical facilities necessary to accommodate the student and also provide a reasonable orientation to the agency.

5. The agency should provide the variety, quality and quantity of learning experiences appropriate for the level of field education: Generalist year (BSW and 1st yr. MSW) and/or Specialization year (Clinical or Social Change).

6. The agency will be expected to assure the availability of case material and work activities for instructional use by students. This material would be subject to the guidelines of confidentiality.
7. The agency should provide the opportunity for students to attend staff meetings and participate in other collaborative and professional exchanges.

8. In the case of working with a faith-based agency, the agency may provide the opportunity for students to attend and participate in spiritually-oriented activities; however they must respect the student’s decision as to whether or not to participate.

9. The agency should allow its field instructors adequate time for student supervision and for attendance at seminars and other meetings pertinent to this role.

10. Agencies should have formal safety policies and procedures.

E. Field Instructor (FI)
Role of the Field Instructor
A Field Instructor is an employee or designee of the agency selected to be the primary provider of instruction and supervision for social work students. The Field Instructor for a BSW student must hold at least a Bachelor’s in Social Work and have at least 2 years post-bachelor’s Social Work experience. The Field Instructor for a MSW Generalist student must hold at least a Master’s in Social Work and have at least 2 years post-Master’s Social Work experience. The Field Instructor for a MSW Specialization student must hold at least a Master’s in Social Work and have at least 3 years post-Master’s Social Work experience (clinical and/or administrative experience as appropriate). A waiver of social work status for field instructors may be granted by the Field Director if sufficient social work related experience is evident; in these times additional support by the Field Liaison and departmental faculty will be provided to the student to provide a well-rounded social work exposure and experience. Additionally, the Field Instructor is required to submit a current resume every two years. This document will be kept on file in the field education office.

Recognizing that the Field Instructor has other responsibilities besides student supervision, he/she should, however, allot a sufficient portion of his/her time for each student on designated field practicum days. This will include time for one hour of supervision per student per week, ongoing student instruction, program development, and occasional meetings with the Field Director and/or field liaison, program and student evaluation, and other related activities.

The Field Instructor should monitor practicum-related documentation. In particular weekly time logs, and student learning agreements/evaluations should be reviewed at the beginning of weekly supervision sessions. He or she is responsible for making sure that the student has access to guidance and consultation by other agency professionals in the field instructor’s absence (e.g., during vacation or illness). The Field Instructor is also expected to immediately notify the school if there is a significant change in the Field Instructor’s availability due to a change of employment status, staffing, etc.

To provide a meaningful field experience, the Field Instructor should:
1) Understand how the overall objectives and specific curriculum of the department relate to the objectives of field instruction;
2) Integrate these objectives with those of the agency and its policies and procedures;
3) Assist the student to formulate a comprehensive Learning Agreement i.e. educational contract;
4) Integrate the student into his/her practice unit and set up an orientation program that will present a total picture of the agency;
5) Select appropriate cases, objectives, learning tasks, and assignments for the student;
6) Plan conferences and unit meetings;
7) Assign written work (process and summary recordings, psychosocial summaries, case notes, etc.), and review these with the student;
8) Encourage the student to participate fully in the life of the agency;
9) Provide one hour of supervision to the student on a regular weekly basis as to professional social work development and student performance;
10) Ensure that students have opportunities of direct client and client systems work. BSW and Generalist students must have 50% of their hours in direct client and client systems work; Clinical students must have 75% of their hours in direct client and client systems work;
11) Communicate with the student, Field Liaison and/or Field Director of any unusual opportunities, conditions, or problems as soon as they are evident;
12) Participate with the student in the preparation of the Field Practicum Evaluations during the semester;
13) Participate in training seminars for all agency-based field instruction.

Expectations for the Field Instructor

1. The Field Instructor for a BSW student must hold at least a Bachelor’s in Social Work and have at least 2 years post-bachelor’s Social Work experience. The Field Instructor for a MSW Generalist student must hold at least a Master’s in Social Work and have at least 2 years post-Master’s Social Work experience. The Field Instructor for a MSW Specialization student must hold at least a Master’s in Social Work and have at least 3 years post-Master’s Social Work experience (clinical and/or administrative experience as appropriate). Exceptions must be approved by the Director of Field Education.

2. New Field Instructors are required to attend a Field Instructor’s Orientation that will be held before the start of the academic field semester. Continuing Education Credit will be awarded for attendance. Upon a new Field Instructor acquires the supervision of a student mid-year the Field Education office will provide personalized orientation to the expectations and requirements. Annual Continuing Education programs are made available to all Field Instructors affiliated with the George Mason University Department of Social Work.

3. Field Instructors should become familiar with and consistently use the appropriate field instruction curriculum in developing clear expectations of student performance. Program goals and field learning objectives are detailed in this Field Manual, the seminar class syllabus and the Learning Agreement and Evaluation.

4. The Field Instructor will develop learning opportunities that focus on areas of social work skill development related to theory and evidence based practice, and will create specific educational assignments in consultation with the student and Field Liaison.

5. The Field Instructor is required to provide weekly one hour of individual educational supervision as a minimum standard. Students will document a record of their supervision in the weekly journal located in the field software program.

6. The Field Instructor must ensure that students have opportunities of direct client and client systems work. BSW and Generalist students must have 50% of their hours in direct client and client systems work; Clinical students must have 75% of their hours in direct client and client systems work.

7. The Field Instructor is responsible for having the student prepare process recordings. The Field Instructor will provide clear written feedback to the student regarding their performance using the process recording as an assessment tool. Student process recordings with Field Instructor comments must be submitted to the Field Liaison as scheduled in the Field Seminar syllabus.

8. The Field Instructor will assist the student in developing an individualized learning agreement within the first month of the practicum. The student is responsible for submitting the learning agreement through the Field Education Software by the due date listed in the Field Seminar syllabus.

9. The Field Instructor’s evaluation of the student must reflect actual performance and not effort or potential. The Field Instructor’s written evaluations of student performance should be consistent, with clear examples of student strengths and/or areas of improvement. Narrative documentation of student performance should be consistent with any numerical ratings given.
10. The Field Instructor should confer with the student in the preparation of the mid-semester assessment and the end-of-semester evaluations. The student is expected to sign the evaluation and their signature indicates that they have read the evaluation.

11. The mid-term and final evaluations must be submitted through the Field Education Software by the dates listed in the Seminar class syllabus. The Field Liaison is responsible for interpreting the evaluations and submitting the student’s grade.

12. Field Instructors should provide timely feedback on the student’s progress to the Field Liaison. It is expected that the Field Instructor promptly notify the Field Liaison of any problem with the student’s performance or difficulty in the agency’s ability to meet the educational expectations of the student. If necessary, the Field Instructor in conjunction with the student will assist the Field Liaison to develop and monitor a Corrective Behavior Plan.

External Field Instructors

Occasionally there is an excellent educational opportunity with an agency, however, that agency may not have a BSW/MSW staff person available as a Field Instructor to supervise the student. In this circumstance, an external Field Instructor may be obtained, by the agency (with the support of the Field Education office if necessary) to provide weekly supervision for the student, while the agency employs a Task Supervisor who provides the student with daily assignments, tasks and supervision. The external Field Instructor must meet the same requirements of all other Field Instructors as appropriate by level. In addition, they must have their own professional liability coverage.

The external Field Instructor is expected to work closely with the Task Supervisor in obtaining input regarding the student’s performance to appropriately complete the student’s learning evaluation. The external Field Instructor will fulfill all the expectations required of Field Instructors of the Social Work Department.

F. Task Supervisor

In recognition of the fact that the students’ experience in an agency can be enhanced by interaction with non-social work social service professionals, some Field Instructors may assign some supervisory responsibilities to a Task Supervisor. The Task Supervisor is selected by the agency based on the preceptor’s experience or expertise in a particular area of service delivery. The Task Supervisor may be from professional disciplines other than Social Work such as marriage and family counseling, psychology, occupational and recreational therapy, etc.

The involvement of a Task Supervisor is at the discretion of the agency and the Field Instructor. A Task Supervisor does NOT replace the supervision provided by the Field Instructor to develop understanding and demonstration of social work philosophy and skills. The Task Supervisor fulfills duties as assigned to the Field Instructor as described above.

Both the Task Supervisor and Field Instructor are encouraged to develop clear avenues of communication as it relates to the students’ progress through the practicum. Ultimately, the Field Instructor remains solely responsible for the student’s field training experience and holds vicarious liability for the student’s field performance as documented by evaluation.

G. Field Instructor Orientation Training

The Department of Social Work provides, training experiences for all Field Instructors, Task Supervisors and open to all professionals of other disciplines wanting to work with Social Work students. The orientation provides an opportunity to:

1) Promote general consistency in the training of students with regard to basic social work skills across agencies;

2) Foster a network of communication between field instructors and the Department of Social Work;
3) Disseminate the most current information reflecting generally accepted principles of Field supervision (including legal issues, examination of the supervisory relationship, promoting the optimal Field learning experience, identifying and addressing student or agency problems, etc.).
4) Obtain information from community partners that can be used to help the Field Education program evolve and be progressively more coordinated with workforce needs.

Role and Expectations for the Student

1. The student is expected to cooperate, participate and adhere with protocol, process and policies of the practicum placement process as defined by the Field Education office and this Field Policy Manual.

2. Students are held accountable to the integrity of the practicum planning process and must allow for the Field Education office to coordinate and administer all details of the placements. Students may not seek out placements on their own; if they do so, this could result in the student being asked to leave the Field Practicum Planning Process until the following academic year.

3. The student is expected to meet the course requirements for each level of Field instruction and to maintain a GPA of 3.0 for the semester. See Grading Policies in this manual.

4. The student will adhere to the NASW Code of Ethics, included in this Field Manual. The student is expected to read the Code of Ethics during their first week of field placement. Failure to follow these ethical standards or the University’s Honor Code may result in termination from the Field Practicum and/or the Social Work Program. Please read the policies on termination and dismissal in the Policy Section of this manual.

5. Students enrolled in the university assume an obligation to conduct themselves in a manner compatible with the university’s function as an educational institution. The University has the authority for maintaining order within the University and the right to exclude those who are disruptive. Per the GMU Office of Judicial Affairs:
   The right to free speech and expression does not include unlawful activity or activity which endangers or threatens to endanger the safety or well-being of any member of the community. Further, it does not include any activity which materially interferes with the education or well-being of other students or the mission of the institution.

6. Students will engage in culturally competent practice.

7. It is mandatory that the student maintain the confidentiality of agency records.

8. The student will be responsible for the development of their Learning agreement with insight and guidance from their Field Instructor, Task Supervisor, and Field Liaison. It must be submitted through the software by the due date in their Seminar class syllabus.

9. The student will submit process recordings and other assessment materials as requested by his/her Field Instructor. The student will submit work products as well as a written agenda prior to their supervision meeting with their Field Instructor. This documentation will be reviewed by the Field Liaison weekly, as assigned and during the Liaison’s visit to the agency or as requested by the Field Liaison.

10. The student will not alter the program requirements or any other condition of his or her field placement without the written permission of the Director of Field Education and the Field Instructor.

11. The student will adhere to the Agency’s schedule of holidays, closings, etc. and will be expected to follow the GMU MSW Field Education Calendar regarding winter and spring recess. Students must consult with their Field Instructor to negotiate time off during these breaks in the academic calendar. The student will adhere to the Agency’s schedule of orientation and in-service training as a requirement of his/her practicum.

12. If a student is ill or otherwise absent from field work for any reason, the student must make up the missed hours. If time in the field is lost as the result of an inclement weather closing, the student must make up any time missed. All practicum hours regardless of weather or holiday must be completed in an appropriate agency setting and/or designated location; absolutely NO practicum hours may be conducted from home or other unofficial/inappropriate location. Please read the policies on Field Hours in the Policy Section of this manual.

13. All students must keep a record of the number of hours they work in the field. The student records hours of their in the field education software. Hours must be approved by the Field Instructor weekly and monitored by the Field Liaison. Ultimately students are responsible to meet the practicum hours’ requirement with in the designated time as described in the Seminar class syllabus.

14. All Students will meet the competencies and practice behaviors as established by CSWE. The competencies and practice behaviors are evaluated and documented on the Learning Agreement and Evaluation.

15. Students will have learning opportunities in direct client and client systems work. BSW and Generalist students must have 50% of their hours in direct client and client systems work; Clinical students must have 75% of their hours in direct client and client systems work. Please read the policies on Client Contact in the Policy Section of this manual.

NOTE: All students are expected to retain a copy of their Learning Agreement & Evaluation, all process recordings, assignments, time logs, and other related work products until they have completed the Social Work program. Documents maintained in the Field Database system are archived at the end of each academic year. However, students will not have access to these documents once they have been archived. It is imperative that students make copies of Field documentation prior to the end of any academic year.
SECTION 2: OVERVIEW OF FIELD PLACEMENT PROCESS:

1. Admittance: Upon approval and admittance into the BSW or MSW program, students are required to submit a Field Practicum Planning Survey. A notice is sent to all current and newly admitted students asking that they declare their intention to take part in a Field Practicum by submitting this survey. This notice is typically sent during admission to the major for BSW students; late fall/early spring semester for prior admitted students and upon admissions to newly admitted MSW students. In addition, a professionally developed resume must be submitted to the Field Education office. Until the practicum planning survey and professional resume has been received by the Field Education office, the placement process cannot proceed.

Matching: The student is expected to cooperate and participate with protocol/process of the practicum placement process as defined by the Field Education office. Once a student’s completed application and resume have been received by the Field Education office, students are required to participate in an in person Practicum Planning Advising appointment. At this appointment the Field Education Faculty will review the student’s interest areas, past experiences per resume, transportation needs, criminal background and any other needs that surface that could impact the matching with an agency or the practicum experience. It is the student’s responsibility to make transportation arrangements. The student will be provided a list of agencies that are potential matches to research in the Field Education software and on the internet and then rank them. The student’s preferred choice is never guaranteed. The purpose of the ranking is to assist the Field Education Faculty in making matches.

Students are encouraged to research on the internet and in the Field Education Database system for potential practicum sites. In researching possible placements, students may NOT refer themselves directly to an agency. All communication and inquires must be initiated through the Field Education Faculty.

Students are held accountable to the integrity of the practicum planning process and must allow for the Field Education office to coordinate and administer all details of the placements. All placements must be arranged by the Field Education Office. Students may not seek out placements on their own; if they do so this could result in the student being asked to leave the Field Practicum Planning Process until the following academic year. Any placements initiated without the knowledge of the Field Education Faculty may not be approved.

The Field Education Faculty cannot guarantee that students will be placed in one of their preferred slots or agencies, but student requests will be used to help determine appropriate sites.
Referrals: Following the identification of agencies for which there is a match, an official request is sent to the agencies by the Field Education Faculty asking that the student’s resume be considered and, if the agency wishes, to pursue scheduling an interview directly with the student. The student will be notified of the referral to the agency. The student will only be referred to one agency at a time and must complete the practicum placement process, and will only referred to a second agency if declined by the initial agency. If the agency does not wish to pursue an interview with the student, we ask that they inform the Field Education Faculty within two weeks of the referral so that the student can be referred to other another agency in a timely fashion.

2. Interview with the Agency: It is imperative that students respond to any agency’s request for an interview promptly, professionally, and to demonstrate flexibility with regard to scheduling the interview. Keep in mind that the goal is to have only one referral and one interview. Students may not refuse an interview or an acceptance at an agency. There will not be unlimited number of placement options available. Additionally, students may not interview at more than one agency at a time.

If a student has not been accepted after their initial interview with a potential field placement, the student will be directed to interview with another agency. Should the student not be accepted by a field agency, a second time, the student will be re-evaluated by the Director of Field Education. If a student interviews with an agency identified by the Field Faculty and the student is not accepted for placement due to reasons under the control of the student, the Field Faculty may consider providing a referral to a second placement interview for the student. If the student interviews for a second placement and is not accepted for placement due to reasons under their control, the student will need to resubmit practicum planning materials for the following academic year.

If the student is rejected for agency-related reasons, the student will be offered other placement options.

3. Agency Offer of Practicum: Agencies will generally make offers of practicum directly to students. It is the student’s responsibility to respond promptly and affirmatively to offers. Students may not decline viable practicum offers.

4. Confirming the Practicum: Upon receiving and accepting an offer for a practicum, it is imperative that the student complete confirmation form. The confirmation form provides essential information about a student’s field placement that is used to populate the Field Education software system as well as informing the field department/faculty about the student’s whereabouts and important points of contact while in the field.

5. Complying with Agency Requirements: Each agency may have their own on-boarding process for practicum students. It is the students’ responsibility to comply with all requirements as outlined by their accepting practicum agency. Students at times will be required to absorb the cost of medical checks and background checks. GMU Department of Social Work will not be responsible for the conducting of or financially for any medical and/or background checks.
SECTION 3: BSW and MSW GENERALIST FIELD EDUCATION

BSW and MSW Generalist Year Practicum
The BSW and MSW Generalist year practicum is concurrent with course work. It is designed to give students a hands-on learning experience in generalist practice that complements the classroom curriculum. The Social Work Department has formed partnerships with a host of human social service agencies in the Washington metropolitan area for this purpose.

BSW and Generalist MSW year students are placed in the field for a minimum of 16 hours per week (approximately 225 or more hours each semester) and will complete 450 or more hours by the end of their second semester. Students engaged in field practicum must make themselves available in general during regular business hours, commonly understood to be between the hours of 8:00 AM and 6:00 PM, Monday through Friday. Although some variation in hours may be necessary to meet the requirements of certain practicum sites, these modifications will be negotiated with those specific agencies and the Director of Field Education.

All BSW and MSW Generalist year students will meet with their Field Instructor (Social Worker) of record for one hour per week of educational supervision. This supervision time is included in the minimum 16 hour requirement of student time in the field. In addition to the field practicum, students are required to attend an integrative seminar facilitated by their assigned Field Liaison. Students must enroll in the SAME section of the seminar class spring semesters as they were enrolled for fall. This protocol is to keep consistency in the relationship, rapport, and understanding that is built during the fall semester between the agency, student and seminar professor. In addition, there is a very strict seminar attendance policy. Students may not miss the equivalent of two seminar classes. Once two classes are missed the student will be referred to the Director of Field Education for a consultation. Upon the third absence, the student will fail Field Practicum and Seminar and will be immediately terminated from Field Practicum for the year and earn a grade of “F”. The student will be invited to reapply to Field Education the next academic year. Special note: The second semester of Field Practicum begins the FIRST FULL WEEK in January for the Spring Semester; this is approximately TWO weeks before classes start!

The BSW and MSW Generalist practicum will focus on building generalist social work practice skills in the areas of working with individuals, families, groups, communities, and organizations. Generalist practice skills center on the process of problem-solving: assessment, problem identification, goal setting, planning and intervention, evaluation, and termination.

Appropriate Field Activities for BSW and Generalist students within the field practicum:

On Going Cases/Work with Individuals and Families-Actual number is related to complexity of the case, the amount of time that may be involved in the cases, and the manner of services that the placement setting provides. The faculty liaison monitors the appropriate number of cases.

Group Work-A minimum of one group experience (leader or co-leader). The group is broadly conceived as educational, counseling, socialization, problem solving, and task-oriented, parenting etc. is desired.

Community Project-A minimum of one experience interfacing with a community project, or other macro systems, such as agencies in the community, special community projects, public education campaigns, and policy.

Administration-Participation in administrative and board meetings, staffing, case conferences, and team meetings is encouraged. This may include case presentations.

Research-Use of research methodology to evaluate the student's own practice experience. Participation in ongoing or new research projects and or grant writing of the agency is encouraged, data gathering, internet research etc.

Written Communication-Opportunities to write using agency guidelines for format include charting, case notes, court reports, and other assignments in which students can demonstrate professional writing skills.
Technology—Training in, and use of, technology necessary to complete agency work or to enhance practice.

Professional Development—Collaboration and cooperation with other staff in appropriate professional relationships and in-service training.

Ethics and Values—Opportunities to demonstrate knowledge and application of ethical standards for practice.

Social Justice—Opportunities to serve as an agent of change on behalf of clients are encouraged.

Intergenerational Practice—Students should be assigned cases which allow them to work with clients at different stages of the life span.

Policy Setting—the development, analysis of policy and implementation of policy.

SECTION 4: SPECIALIZATION FIELD EDUCATION

Specialization Year Practicum
The Specialization year practicum is a concurrent model of field placement where students are working at agencies for a minimum 20 hours a week during both the fall and spring semesters while they are also completing other academic course work. Students will complete a minimum 300 hours of field work at the end of each semester, for a minimum of 600 hours by the time they graduate from the program. This type of placement requires greater flexibility in scheduling the necessary time to attend meetings or other activities related to their field assignments. Each student must negotiate their schedule with their Field Instructor to ensure they meet the 300 hours per semester.

The Specialization year practicum will focus on building advanced skills in clinical practice, community practice, supervision and administration, advocacy and social policy, in addition to enhancing the students’ understanding of issues such as, child welfare, juvenile justice, mental health, substance abuse, disabilities, health, long term care, and diversity. Practicum settings include government agencies, non-profit organizations, and for-profit organizations.

Specialization year students must make themselves available during regular business hours, commonly understood as between 8:00 AM until 6:00 PM, Monday through Friday. All Specialization year students will meet with their MSW Field Instructor of record for one hour a week of educational supervision. This supervision time is included in the 20 hour per week requirement (minimum) of student time in the field. Specialization year students will be required to attend an integrative seminar every other week, integrative seminar facilitated by their assigned Field Liaison. Students must enroll in the SAME section of the seminar class spring semesters as they were enrolled for fall. This protocol is to keep consistency in the relationship, rapport, and understanding that is built during the fall semester between the agency, student and seminar professor. In addition, there is a very strict seminar attendance policy. Students may not miss the equivalent of two seminar classes. Once two classes are missed the student will be referred to the Director of Field Education for a consultation. Upon the third absence, the student will fail Field Practicum and Seminar and will be immediately terminated from Field Practicum for the year and earn a grade of “F”. The student will be invited to reapply to Field Education the next academic year.

Special note: The second semester of Field Practicum begins the FIRST FULL WEEK in January for the Spring Semester; this is approximately TWO weeks before classes start!

SECTION 5: POLICIES

Americans with Disabilities Act
The Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 provides protection from discrimination for qualified individuals with disabilities. You may be qualified through the GMU Disability Resource Center, (703) 993-2474. If you require special accommodations, you must provide the Director of Field Education with documentation from the Office of Disability Services explaining the nature of the required accommodations prior to the placement process.

Client Contact
Students must have learning opportunities in direct client and client systems work. BSW and Generalist students must have 50% of their hours in direct client and client systems work; Clinical students must have 75% of their hours in direct client and client systems work. Social Change students do NOT have a minimum number of hours to be in direct client and client systems work.

Confidentiality
While the Social Work Department requires students to complete a field application documenting work experiences, it is recognized that there may be elements of a student’s background that would have implications for where the student will be placed in the field. With the student’s permission, the Office of Field Education does share relevant factors that may affect placement. However, the Social Work Program cannot be aware of all issues in a student’s background that may impact upon a field placement. It is the responsibility of the student to be forthcoming regarding any issues that may affect his or her ability to perform effectively with clients or with other related field assignments. The Faculty will respect each student’s right to privacy and only request consent to share information as deemed necessary. At all times students must adhere to the NASW Code of Ethics (located in the Appendix of this manual) regarding the standard of confidentiality in working with clients. During the Field Seminars, which occur every other week, all students are expected to maintain as confidential the information shared about various agencies, as well as any information of a personal nature disclosed by students themselves.

Conflict of Interest
The intent of the Conflict of Interest Policy is to ensure each student an objective learning environment, including a sound evaluation of student performance in the field setting. All students are required to sign a Conflict of Interest Statement prior to beginning the practicum experience.

Students should not undertake a practicum experience in an agency where a prior relationship exists. A prior relationship exists if the student is a former or current client of the agency; is a former or present employee of the agency; or has a relative or other close personal relationship among the staff in the practicum agency. Students are expected to immediately notify the Director of Field Education if such a relationship exists in a placement being offered for the student’s consideration, so that the Director can assess the appropriateness of the placement. All students must sign a Conflict of Interest Statement. Students will sign this statement through the field education software before field placements begin.

Criminal Background
Effective Fall 2003, all social work students entering the junior or senior practicum are expected to notify the Director of Field Education of criminal charges which will be reflected in criminal background checks. Virginia State Criminal Code section *63.2-1719 identifies a list of “barrier crimes” which preclude students and employees from working in a number of specific settings. Prior to beginning the placement process, students with prior convictions must provide a complete official copy of any and all convictions (i.e. rap sheet), and sign a consent form that allow the Field Education Office Director to share information with appropriate field education faculty and prospective field instructors. Students should be prepared to discuss their status with a prospective agency. Failure to comply with this policy or to sign a consent form for release of this information may result in the student being unable to receive a placement. Providing incorrect information on applications is considered application fraud and may lead to a student not being able to be placed in an agency and an honor code violation as well.

Students who have a criminal background should understand that some agencies are unwilling and unable to host and supervise such students. Depending on the specific charge, some students may find it difficult to obtain employment in a human services agency. Faculty advisors are available to counsel students in this area.

Disaster and Emergency Preparedness

Emergency Information can be obtained from the GMU Information number, 703-993-1000, the GMU Today web site, www.gmu.edu/today or the GMU TV Station, in addition to the local radio and television stations. If you are affected or involved in an emergency or disaster where you live, work, volunteer or are placed for field practicum, please notify your Field Instructor and Faculty Field Liaison as soon as it is safe to do so and within 72 hours.

Additional information on Emergency and Disaster Preparedness may be found at:

3. American Red Cross - www.redcross.org

Drugs and Alcohol

The abuse of drugs and alcohol by members of the GMU community is incompatible with the goals of the University. Those in need of assistance in dealing with such problems are encouraged to seek the confidential services of the University’s Counseling Center, the Student Health Center, or the Drug Education Center. Abuse of drugs and/or alcohol will be grounds for termination of a student from the program. Substance abuse of any kind will impair a student’s judgment and the ability to work effectively with clients in the field practicum setting.

The Department of Social Work has a Drug-Free Practicum Policy regarding the use, abuse, selling, trading, or offering for sale and/or distribution alcohol, illegal drugs, over the counter (OTC) or prescription drugs that impair functioning or are distributed illegally, and other intoxicants, such as the abuse of inhalants. Students must refrain from use and/or abuse as listed above at the practicum location and during the performance of all related duties. Students have an obligation to their clients, the agency and their colleagues to not be impaired while performing duties of the field practicum. If a student violates the Drug-Free Practicum Policy, they will be withdrawn and terminated immediately from the field placement and resulting in a failing grade for Field Practicum and Seminar. The student may be required to provide evidence of successful participation in a drug treatment program prior to reinstatement to Field Practicum.

In addition, students who fail a drug test as a condition of applying for or continuing in a field placement, must immediately notify the Director of Field Education. Failure to do so will result in termination from the program. A failed drug test may result in being withdrawn from Field Practicum for that academic year. The student may be required to provide evidence of successful participation in a drug treatment program prior to reinstatement to Field Practicum.

Emergencies

In the case of an emergency off campus (e.g. crime, injury, fire, etc.) call #911 and be prepared to report:

- a) the nature of the emergency;
- b) the exact location of the emergency;
- c) your name and call-back phone number in case further information is needed.

Make sure you are in a safe location.
It is imperative that the Field Education Office have your correct telephone numbers, including cell phone number, home address, email, and emergency contact. Please update your information in the field education software and with your Field Instructor whenever a change occurs. Please make sure that you understand what the Emergency Procedures are for your agency. Field Instructors have the responsibility to make sure that all students in their agency receive this information during orientation to the agency.

Employment

Students are strongly discouraged from working full time and attending school on either a part-time or full time basis given the workload of the Social Work educational program. Working in addition to attending class and Field Education requiring 225-300 hours of Field work a semester will be extremely stressful and may make the program impossible to complete. Those students who choose to work while attending the Social Work program are expected to negotiate with their employers the required time necessary to be available for their practicum during the usual business hours of the Field Agency from 8AM-6PM. In addition, students must attend the Field Seminar.

Employment Based Practicum (EBP)

The program supports Employment Based Practicums (EBP) given the criteria can be met to adequately meet the specific guidelines. To qualify for an EBP the student must have a practicum experience that is new to them and will provide new learning opportunities to develop and deepen their skills as a social worker. The experience must provide opportunities that are free from conflict of interest with clients therefore the student cannot serve the same clients in both settings (employment/volunteer and practicum). All inquiries and considerations for EBPs must be reviewed and approved by the Director of Field Education. The Student must submit the following documents for consideration of an EBP.

1. Current Job Description

2. Job Descriptions for any jobs or volunteer positions held at the organization

3. Job Description for the intern position

4. Either a joint letter or 2 separate letters from your current employment supervisor and your intended Field Instructor

   Format for the Letter: 2 paragraphs representative of each supervisor (1 paragraph for each position)

   The paragraphs need to include the following points of information:

   a. State Supervisor’s name, title, credentials, and relation to student (Employment Supervisor or Field Instructor)

   b. State days and hours of the intended schedule in that position

   c. State acknowledgement of being in agreement and support of this plan and acknowledge knowing this is a shared adventure and that the opportunities provided are different and provide a new learning for the student.

   d. Signature of BOTH supervisors

Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action

George Mason University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action institution. It is committed to the principle that access to study and employment opportunities afforded by the university, including all benefits and privileges, be accorded to each person, student, faculty or staff member on the basis of individual merit, without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, veteran status, disability, sexual orientation, sex or age. As required by the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended, the university is committed to the broad application of Title IX of the Education Amendment of 1972, Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Age Discrimination Act of 1975.
Field Practicum Hours
Field Practicum hours are counted hour for hour—All hours must be made up regardless of illness, holidays, inclement weather, university closing or agency closing.

BSW and Generalist year students are required to spend a minimum 225 hours engaged in Field Education activities during the fall and spring semesters for a minimum total of 450 hours per year. Specialization year students are required to spend a minimum 300 hours engaged in Field Education activities during the fall and spring semesters for a minimum total of 600 hours per year. However, the specific practicum schedules are coordinated between each student and his/her Field Instructor. Students should expect to spend eight hours, or more, per day engaged in their field placement activities. In some cases, students may work fewer hours. In no instance should a student be regularly scheduled for less than four hours. All Field hours are to be conducted in the agency or designated location by the Field Instructor (home visits, community meetings, partner community agencies); NO hours worked from home or other general locations will be accepted. In addition, students must have learning opportunities in direct client and client systems work. BSW and Generalist students must have 50% of their hours in direct client and client systems work; Clinical students must have 75% of their hours in direct client and client systems work.

Examples of what is not included as field hours are: travel to and from the agency for arrival and departure of the day, seminar hours, time spent on assignments related to seminar and/or other classes, and seminars/workshops not approved by the field instructor, and other activities not approved by the Field Instructor. All Field hours are to be conducted in the agency or designated location by the Field Instructor (home visits, community meetings, partner community agencies); NO hours worked from home or other general location (library, student lounge, coffee shops, restaurants, classroom during class hours, etc.) will be accepted. Field hours do include travel time for home visits/field related travel, documentation, reading and research related to field placement, supervision time, and other activities that are related to the field placement as approved by the field instructor.

Grading Policy
MSW Grading
Students must earn a grade of B minus or better in all MSW level Field seminar courses. If a student receives a grade of C or F they will be able to repeat the course only one time. The final grade is comprised of two components: 50% of their grade is derived from the Field Practicum evaluation score (as assigned by their Field Instructor) and 50% from assignments and participation in the Field Seminar class (as assigned by their Field Liaison). The Field Liaison with the consultation of the Field Education Director can make adjustments to the Field Practicum evaluation score. Students must successfully complete Generalist year courses SOCW 657, 658, 672 and 673 in order to proceed to the Specialization year curriculum. Receiving a grade of F in two courses will result in termination from the program. Please see the Student Handbook regarding additional information and the procedure for appealing a grade.

BSW Grading
Effective Fall 2017, senior practicum students enrolled in SOCW 495/496 (Senior Practicum I/II) will receive a letter grade. The final grade is comprised of two components: 50% of their grade is derived from the Field Practicum evaluation score (as assigned by their Field Instructor) and 50% from assignments and participation in the Field Seminar class (as assigned by their Field Liaison). The Field Liaison with the consultation of the Field Education Director can make adjustments to the Field Practicum evaluation score. Students must earn grade of C or better in all BSW level field seminar courses. If a student receives a grade lower than a C they will be able to repeat the course only one time.

Incomplete Grade (IN)
Social Work Department Policy— A grade of incomplete (IN) will only be assigned if, due to serious extenuating circumstances, the student is not able to take the final exam or complete a major project by the due date. It is the instructor’s discretion whether or not to allow a student to be assigned an incomplete grade and these situations will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis. Faculty and students must sign the Incomplete (IN) Grade Agreement Form, which can be obtained in the Social Work Office. Once assignments and/or hours are complete and a grade is to be assigned the Field Liaison will submit the Change of Grade form to social work department for approval and submission to the registrar’s office.

Home Visits
Home visits may be a routine responsibility of a student’s field placement, or indicated in a variety of situations. Agencies will be expected to take reasonable measures to ensure the safety of each student. At a minimum, the same security provided to the staff must be provided to the students. In certain circumstances students may need additional support and security. The Director of Field Education should be consulted by the student, Field Instructor or Field Liaison if safety is a concern.

Please Note: The Social Work faculty is perpetually cognizant of the potential risk involved in the practicum experience and in the service delivery process. Students are encouraged to adopt safe practices in the exercise of their practicum activities. Agency staff members are required to orient students to agency guidelines and procedures for risk reduction and personal safety, as well as their emergency procedures.

If you are working in an agency and you do not have access to a telephone when working with clients, please make sure you have your own personal cell phone, or arrange to change location where you have access to a telephone.

All personal safety incidents, (e.g. an accident which may have resulted in an injury or a case of sexual harassment or stalking) must be reported immediately to the Director of Field Education by either the student, Field Instructor or Faculty Field Liaison. The Personal Safety Incident Report is located in our field software program.

Honor Code
GMU is an Honor Code university and students are expected to adhere to the University’s Honor Code and academic policies. Please see the University Catalog for a full description of the code and the honor committee process. The principle of academic integrity is taken very seriously and violations are treated gravely. Information on the GMU Honor System and Code can be found on the following link: http://mason.gmu.edu/~montecin/plagiarism.htm. Plagiarism will not be tolerated, and plagiarism prevention software may be used to identify work that does not appear to be original.

Immunizations
All students must have the Hepatitis B vaccination series and a screening test for tuberculosis (TB) prior to beginning their field placement. The student’s immunization record must be on file with GMU Student Health Services. If a student does not have the required immunizations, the Director of Field Education may not be able to obtain a practicum for that student. Students who do not comply with the University’s immunization requirements may be unable to register for the next semester. To obtain more information visit the following website: https://shs.gmu.edu/immunizations/

Inclement Weather Policy
If the University delays opening in the morning, students should go to the next regularly scheduled class. In the instance of an early closing and cancellation of classes, the University will close at 4:00 pm to make it clear that late afternoon and evening classes are not being held. Individual students with special commuting issues should make sensible personal decisions as to whether or not they can attend class when the University is open but the weather is not optimal. Faculty is encouraged to be flexible regarding the attendance rules in this regard. If an agency closes during inclement weather on one or more day(s) that the student was scheduled to be in the field, the student must make up for time missed. Further, it is the student’s responsibility to arrange to make up those hours somewhere in the course of the current semester. Keep in mind that, under normal circumstances, ALL Field hours must be completed by the last day of class for any given semester.
Information regarding any delays or closings for the University, in addition to any Emergency Information can be obtained from the GMU Information number, 703-993-1000, the GMU Today web site, www.gmu.edu/today or the GMU TV Station in addition to the local radio and television stations.

Insurance Coverage

Students in field placements are covered for liability under the Commonwealth of Virginia’s Self Insured Liability Insurance Plan and will be covered for medical malpractice under the Medical Malpractice Insurance Plan, as established by the Department of General Services, Division of Risk Management. Only those practicum activities that have been determined by the student’s Field Instructor to be part of the course are covered.

Students may obtain additional professional liability insurance (malpractice coverage) through the National Association of Social Workers (NASW). You must be a member of NASW in order to receive a discounted insurance rate. For further information on student memberships, contact: www.socialworkers.org. Student professional liability coverage can also be obtained through the American Professional Agency.

While not a University requirement, the Social Work Department strongly recommends that all students have some type of health insurance. If you currently are not covered under an individual or family health insurance program, you may purchase health insurance through the University’s Student Health Services. If you do not purchase a Student Health insurance policy, you may receive routine healthcare through the University Student Health Services.

Internet Resources: The policy on internet resources is as follows: in conducting research for an assignment students are expected to use a combination of library and internet resources. When using internet resources student must take care in citing reliable sources. Secondary sources that rely on compilations from unknown or general sources (such as Wikipedia) will NOT be allowed.

Late Assignment

SW Departmental Late Policy - All assignments are to be submitted on the date the assignment is due. Students who are unable to meet a deadline as the result of a serious extenuating circumstance must apprise the instructor at least 24 hours prior to the deadline in order to negotiate an extension and appropriate submission arrangement. Late work will be penalized if submitted after the due date and within one week of the due date. No assignment will be accepted one week beyond the due date.

Learning agreement

The learning agreement is an agreement designed by the student in partnership with the Field Instructor to specify intended educational outcomes of the student’s learning needs. The learning agreement should demonstrate how the student will meet the 9 practice competencies and accompanying practice behaviors by identifying the skills utilized in the student’s field practica assignments and activities. In preparing their Learning agreements students should include all competencies and practice behaviors as are appropriate. Further, the measurable learning activities that accompany each of the practice behaviors should be clearly related. The learning agreement also serves as an evaluation method in that it is a tool for designating accountability and responsibility in the completion of assignments. Evaluation of student performance should be clearly related to measuring the outcome of those tasks and activities linked to the identified course competencies and practice behaviors.

Students and Field Instructors should refer to the Field Calendar in the manual regarding the completion date of the Learning agreement. The Field Liaison may be consulted for assistance. Learning agreements completed at the beginning of the fall and spring semesters in field.
Open Identification of Student Status
It is the policy of the Department of Social Work and specified in the NASW Code of Ethics that students must identify themselves as students or interns in their field placement with clients and other agency representatives.

Placement Non-Acceptance
If a student has not been accepted after their initial interview with a potential field placement, the student will be directed to interview with another agency. Should the student not be accepted by a field agency a second time, the student will be re-evaluated by the Director of Field Education. If the reason for the student’s non-acceptance with an agency is due to student-related issues, the Field Director reserves the right to refer the student for termination from the program since they will be unable to complete the practicum part of the degree requirements. If the student is rejected for agency-related reasons, the student will be offered other placement options. Student may not decline an agency acceptance.

Prior Work, Volunteer or Life Experience
In accordance with Council on Social Work Education EPAS guideline 3.2.5, this program does not grant social work course/practicum credit based on previous work, volunteer or life experience. Students who aim to do a field practicum at a place of prior or current employment, volunteer work or other such experience, must work with the Director of Field Education for approval. Please see Employment Based Practicum policy for necessary requirements.

Safe Assign
The Department of Social Work has determined that all assignments must be submitted through SAFE ASSIGN. Read about SAFE Assign at: https://itservices.gmu.edu/services/view-service.cfm?customel_dataPageID_4609=5477

SafeAssign™ is a plagiarism prevention service. This service helps in preventing plagiarism by detecting unoriginal content in student scholarly papers. In addition to acting as a plagiarism deterrent, it also has features designed to aid in educating students about plagiarism and the importance of proper attribution of any borrowed content.

Submitting through SafeAssign:
1. Go to the Blackboard page for your course.
2. Find the assignment; select View/Complete.
3. Add any comments if needed.
4. Browse for your submission by clicking on Choose File.
5. Agree/Disagree to the Global Reference Database submission (If this option is not seen, the instructor has set this submission as a Draft).
6. Click on the Submit button.

If you discover that a student has violated the Honor Code, it is your responsibility to take action. Be sure to contact the program director immediately to discuss any concerns about Honor Code Violations. The Office of Academic Integrity’s website has valuable information for faculty, including typical sanctions. Please visit the website at http://oai.gmu.edu.

Seminar Attendance
Seminar Attendance is mandatory, with absolutely no more than two absences will be allowed for a passing grade. Students who miss seminar will be required to create a narrated PowerPoint or video (virtual report) and post it on the Blackboard discussion folder. Students who miss two seminars will be referred to the Director of Field Education to discuss the jeopardy of not passing seminar. Upon the third absence, the student will fail Field Practicum and Seminar and will be immediately terminated from Field Practicum for the year. The student will be invited to reapply to Field Education the next academic year. Religious Holidays, as identified by the University, will be honored for both Seminar and Field Practicum attendance. Seminar assignment due dates will remain the same; all Field Practicum hours will need to be made up.

Seminar Enrollment
A student may enroll in the following classes a maximum of two times during the program. Earning a second unsatisfactory grade in any of these courses warrants academic termination from the program.

BSW Program: SOCW 495, 496
MSW Program: SOCW 672, 673, 692, 693, 694, 695

Seminar is facilitated by a social worker who is their Field Liaison. Students must enroll in the SAME section of the seminar class spring semesters as they were enrolled for fall. This protocol is to keep consistency in the relationship, rapport, and understanding that is built during the fall semester between the agency, student and seminar Field Liaison.

Sexual Harassment
George Mason University and the Social Work Department have a policy that seeks to guarantee each student a learning environment free from sexual harassment. Sexual harassment is unacceptable conduct and will not be condoned in any form at George Mason University or at a practicum site. University policy specifies that: “Unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature constitute harassment when (1) submission to or rejection of such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of an individual’s academic performance or employment; (2) submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for decisions about academic evaluation, employment, promotion, transfer, selection for training, performance evaluation, or selection for academic awards or benefits, etc.; (3) such conduct has the purpose or effect of creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive educational or work environment or substantially interferes with a student’s academic or an employee’s work performance.” (EEOC & OCR)

Special Requirements for Field Placements
A growing number of agencies serving as field sites require students to undergo a criminal background check, fingerprinting, and a child welfare check, as well as other additional requirements. Students desiring to complete practica in these organizations must comply with agency requirements for special screening. Although most agencies cover all or at least some portion of the costs for these special requirements, students will be expected to obtain all required screenings at their own expense if not covered by the agency. All students must follow the agency’s guidelines on Universal Precautions and this information should be part of the student’s orientation to the field by the agency. In addition, it is highly suggested that students have a valid driver’s license and access to personal transportation.

Student Evaluation
Student performance in the practicum is evaluated by the MSW Field Instructor of record, in cooperation with the student and any other work site supervisor providing assignments to the student. All students should have an opportunity to review and discuss their evaluation with their Field Instructor prior to the Field Instructor submitting the final version. The mid-term assessment and end of semester evaluation are on the same form as the learning agreement.

A Mid-Semester Assessment and an End-of-Semester Evaluation for the student is to be completed for both the fall and spring semesters. Both evaluations should be submitted only after a review and discussion has taken place between the Field Instructor and the student. Please consult the Field Education Calendar for submission due dates. The Field Liaison determines the grade for the practicum experience after receiving the End of Semester Evaluation.
Students’ Personal Transportation Responsibility
It is the student’s responsibility to be aware and plan for their own transportation needs and financial costs as it relates to attending and fulfilling the requirements of the Field Practicum. Although students are not allowed to transport clients in their own vehicle, students very likely will be required to drive to multiple locations to conduct client visits and attend meetings on behalf of their Practicum agency.

Transporting Clients and Driver’s License
If students will be driving as part of their field experience, they must possess a valid driver’s license. It is the student’s responsibility to obtain a license. If, at times, driving clients would be part of the responsibility of the student’s placement, the agency must provide a properly insured vehicle for use by the student. The student must be informed by the agency of any risks associated with driving a particular client. It is at the student’s discretion as to whether or not they choose to transport a particular client in an agency vehicle after being informed of the risks. Students should never transport clients in their personal automobiles.

Termination from Practicum Policy and Protocol
Termination Causes and Circumstances
A student’s practicum may be terminated Field Instructor, an agency administrator, Field Liaison or the Director of Field Education for any of the following reasons:

1. Level of student preparation and performance at the practicum: For the BSW and Generalist Practicum, it is assumed that the student has acquired the competencies expected for participation in the work-world (e.g., arriving on time, managing one’s schedule and communicating it to others as appropriate, presenting and conducting one’s self in a professional manner—including dress and other aspects of self-presentation as well as engaging in appropriate interpersonal interactions). In addition, for the Specialization Practicum, it is expected that the student has acquired the necessary knowledge for “entry level” professional practice (reflected in objectives for B.S.W. curriculum and Generalist curriculum of M.S.W. programs) prior to the beginning of the Specialization Practicum. For either practicum, evidence to the contrary of the above expectations—given appropriate efforts by the Field Instructor and Field Liaison to assist the student in remedy of these deficits—will constitute grounds for the agency’s termination of the practicum for that student.

2. Failing End of the Semester Field Practicum Evaluation: Students must have a passing evaluation at the completion of each semester, if they do not they will be terminated from the agency and failed in Field Practicum and Seminar.

3. Failure to comply with the Agency’s Policies and Procedures: Students are expected to comply with the Agency’s Policies and Procedures. It is the agency’s responsibility to provide the student with access to the agency’s Policies and Procedures (e.g., manual, PowerPoint, presentations, orientation, electronic, computer-based learning modules, etc.).

4. Failure to comply with the Code of Ethics: Students are expected to comply with the NASW Code of Ethics (provided in Field Manual).

5. Failure to comply with the Social Work Departmental Professional Standards and Ethical Behavior: Students are expected to comply with the Social Work Departmental Professional Standards and Ethical Behavior (provided in Field Manual).

6. Failure to comply with the GMU University Code of Student Conduct: Students are expected to comply with the GMU University Code of Student Conduct.
7. Agency breach of Affiliation Agreement: The agency is expected to provide the expected learning experiences and/or appropriate supervision to meet any of the other expectations identified in the Affiliation Agreement between the agency and the University.

8. Unexpected events: There may be times in the life of the student or in the agency where continuing in that practicum setting might jeopardize the quality of the student's learning experience (e.g. personal trauma, or agency re-organization, etc.).

9. "Mismatch": Sometimes, differences in learning or interpersonal styles between the Field Instructor and/or agency and the student emerge as the student and Field Instructor begin to work together, rendering the practicum less than optimally productive for a student's learning. Such circumstances are rare but they may generate recommendations for a change in the practicum arrangements.

Any number of the circumstances cited above are not necessarily anyone's fault. In some instances, termination of the practicum reflects the fact that the practicum is highly successful in helping the student discover that social work is not what she/he expected and is not appropriate for her/him. Sometimes, it is possible for a change to be made in the student's assignment, either to another unit of the agency or to another agency altogether. This action may necessitate extension of the student's program.

Whatever the reasons prompting consideration of practicum termination, the student, Field Instructor, Field Liaison, and Field Education Faculty will work as a team to resolve problems and to come up with appropriate solutions. The procedures that follow describe the process to terminate practicum, if the situation cannot be resolved.

Termination Procedure

If the Field Instructor identifies issues that may place the practicum in jeopardy, the Field Instructor should discuss these matters (as soon as possible) any such problems with the student and the Faculty Liaison. If the student violation is determined to be egregious, immediately termination may be the most appropriate action. However, most student violations can effectively be resolved with a written Behavioral Corrective Action plan developed by the Field Liaison, Field Instructor and the student. (The Behavioral Corrective Action plan is in this manual and can provided by the Field Education Faculty.) Upon follow up review of student’s progress of the Behavioral Corrective Action plan, if issues cannot be resolved, the Field Instructor can request termination of the placement. It is important that the Field Instructor clearly identify those areas which still need further development in order for the student to be successful in another practicum site. Once all avenues have been explored with the student and Field Liaison and the only option left is to terminate the current practicum, the FIELD LIAISON will:

1. Inform the Director of Field Education or appropriate Field Coordinator that the placement needs to be terminated.

2. Instruct the student to review the field manual and to contact the Director of Field Education.

3. Ask the Field Instructor to complete a “Statement of Practicum Termination” form. If the Field Instructor is not comfortable or willing to complete this form, the liaison should complete it with as much detail as possible.

4. Ensure the student has the opportunity to add to and sign the form indicating that the student understands the terms of termination and factors on which to work for future professional growth and development.

5. Add a summary of the termination decision including the event(s) prompting the termination and the reasons for it.

6. Sign the form and submit it to the Field Education Office for placement in the student file. The student should maintain a copy of this document for his/her records.
7. The Field Education Faculty will provide Field Liaison and Field Instructor a copy of the termination form.

8. Termination Consequences--The consequences depend upon the circumstances of the termination. The student will work with the Field Director to develop options. The Faculty Liaison will provide recommendations with feedback from the Field Instructor. Termination from practicum can have serious consequences to include, but not limited to:
   a. Loss of hours/successfully complete additional hours beyond the minimum requirements which may result in delay of graduation.
   b. Failing grade which will result in repeating the course.
   c. An Academic Review to discuss various options for the student. The Faculty Liaison, Academic Advisor, or Field Faculty member can request an Academic Review if the practicum termination raises question(s) as to whether the student should continue in the social work program or whether the student’s Program of Study should be significantly altered.
   d. An incomplete grade, which may require significant and additional time in a new placement to ensure competencies are achieved.
   e. Assignment to a new agency that might be a better match for the student.

9. The Field Education Faculty will determine if the student is eligible for consideration for replacement in a new agency within the academic year.
   a. If it is determined the student is eligible for replacement the Field Education Faculty will begin working with the student to refer to a new agency.
   b. If it is determined the student should not be replaced within the academic year a meeting will be held with Director of Field Education, the Program Director and the student. A plan of necessary steps to re-enter Field the following year will be established.
   c. If it is determined the student needs to be recommended for termination from the Social Work program, the Director of Field Education will follow the George Mason University Department of Social Work Student Termination Policy and procedure.

George Mason University Department of Social Work Student Termination Policy

Purpose:
To maintain the academic integrity of the program and to prepare quality social work practitioners, students are expected to maintain satisfactory academic performance levels and adhere to standards of professional behavior.

I. Policy Statement
The Department of Social Work retains the right to terminate from the BSW or MSW program students who are unable to meet performance or behavioral standards. It should be noted that termination is considered a rare occurrence and that students have a right to appeal a termination decision.

II. Termination From Program
Terminations are categorized as either academic or non-academic.

A. Graduate Students
The Department of Social Work follows the university policies for graduate academic termination. Please refer to the George Mason University catalog policy on Graduate Grading in the Grading section of the catalog, and the Academic Termination policy and Requirements for Master’s Degrees under the Graduate Policies section of the catalog for policies governing master’s degrees.

A notation of academic warning is entered on the transcript of a graduate student who receives a grade of C or F in a graduate course while a grade of IN is in effect.
Students may be academically terminated from the MSW program for any of the following reasons:

- Failure to make satisfactory progress toward degree completion as determined by the department;
- Accumulating grades of F in two graduate courses or 9 credits of unsatisfactory grades in graduate courses.

In addition to the above mentioned reasons for termination, provisionally admitted students may be terminated for:

- Failure to meet the conditions of admission within time limits;
- Accumulating 12 credits of unsatisfactory grades in undergraduate courses.

Students eligible for academic termination are notified by e-mail by the Office of the Registrar, followed by a letter from the CHHS Assistant Dean of Student Affairs with instructions on appealing the termination. Students have ten days to appeal an academic termination and must submit the Graduate Termination Appeal form found on the Registrar’s web site at: http://registrar.gmu.edu/wp-content/uploads/GTA.pdf. A student in the appeal process may not register for the next semester of classes until a decision is rendered on the appeal. If the appeal is denied, an official termination letter is sent to the student by the CHHS Assistant Dean of Student Affairs, and notification of academic termination is affixed to the graduate student’s official record.

Former graduate students who have been terminated, dismissed, or have resigned from a Mason graduate program are not permitted to re-enroll in the program and are not eligible to take any additional course work at Mason unless a new graduate program application has been submitted and the applicant has been admitted to a graduate program. Please refer to the Readmission to Graduate Study at Mason policy in the Graduate Academic Standing section of the catalog for additional information.

B. Undergraduate Students

The Department of Social Work follows the university policy regarding termination from the major. Please refer to AP.5.2.4 Termination from the Major in the Undergraduate Policies section of the university catalog. If the student does not have the minimum 2.50 GPA for admission into the social work major, the student will not be admitted into the major. Undergraduate students without the minimum GPA are not permitted to continue into the senior-level social work courses (please see University Catalog).

C. A student may enroll in the following classes a maximum of two times during the program:

BSW Program: SOCW 495, 496
MSW Program: SOCW 672, 673, 692, 693, 694, 695

Earning a second unsatisfactory grade in any of these courses warrants academic termination from the program.

D. Cause for Termination

The following applies to both undergraduate and graduate students:

a. If a student interviews with an agency identified by the Field Director and the student is not accepted for placement due to reasons under the control of the student, the Field Director may consider providing a referral to a second placement interview for the student. If the student interviews for a second placement and is not accepted for placement due to reasons under their control, the student will need to resubmit practicum planning materials for the following academic year.

b. If a student is disrupted from their field practicum for non-ethical violations, the Field Director may consider replacing the student in a new agency the same academic year. If the student is disrupted from a second agency, the Field Director will request termination from the program. Regardless of the timeframe between disrupted placements a student will be recommended for termination from the Social Work program immediately after a second failed field placement.

c. The student is convicted of a felony during the educational program.

d. The student possesses, uses, sells, trades, or offers for sale alcohol, illegal drugs, or intoxicants while in the classroom, practicum, or junior service learning.

e. The student abuses, sells, trades, or offers for sale over-the-counter or prescription drugs while in the classroom, practicum, or junior service learning affecting their ability to perform learning experiences.

f. The student engages in misconduct of any kind to include stalking, sexual harassment or assault, or any other behavior considered inappropriate.

g. Problematic behavior that impairs the student’s ability to maintain professional decorum in the classroom or practicum.

h. The student falsifies program or agency documents.

i. The student violates a University policy (Honor Code, Sexual Harassment, Substance Abuse, etc.), resulting in suspension.

j. The student fails or refuses to comply with remediation plans generated by the faculty in concert with the student.

k. The student violates the NASW Code of Ethics.

l. The student fails to comply with the Social Work Departmental criminal background policy.

III. Termination Process

A. The referring faculty member notifies the student and the Program Director (BSW or MSW) in writing of the grounds of misconduct and recommendations of termination from the program. If the Program Director is the faculty member directly involved with the termination circumstances, a second faculty member will be designated by the Department Chair to consider the termination case.

B. Within 5 business days of the termination recommendation, the Program Director or designee will notify the student in writing to include the following:

1. The reasons for the recommended termination from the program;

2. A request for the student to schedule a departmental Conduct Review Hearing;

C. The departmental Conduct Review Hearing must be held within 10 business days of the original referral. Attendees of the Conduct Review Hearing may include the student, one advisor of the student’s choosing and at the student’s own expense (advisors may only consult with the student and are not permitted to speak on the student’s behalf), the Program Director or designee, and the referring faculty.
1. Students may request postponement of the Conduct Hearing Review proceeding if circumstances warrant. In most cases, a postponement will only be granted for an academic or medical situation. The decision to postpone a disciplinary proceeding rests with the Program Director or designee.

2. Students may present information in writing. This additional information must be provided to the Program Director or designee at least two business days in advance.

3. Students have the right to decide not to participate in the Conduct Hearing Review or to not provide additional information. The Program Director or designee will render a decision in the absence of such information.

D. Results of the Departmental Conduct Review Hearing:

1. If the Program Director or designee and the referring faculty member determine that termination is not necessary, a remediation plan with a completion date will be written, provided to the student, and implemented immediately. If the remediation plan is not completed by the date specified, the Program Director or designee will recommend termination from the program to the Department Chair.

2. If the Program Director or designee and the referring faculty member determine that the student should be terminated, the Program Director will notify the referring faculty member and the Department Chair in writing within 5 business days.

E. The Department Chair will review the findings and make a determination of the results and will notify the student, Program Director or designee, and the referring faculty member in writing within 3 business days of receiving the Conduct Review Hearing results. The Department Chair may uphold the request of termination or request that the Program Director or designee and the referring faculty member write a remediation plan with the student.

F. If the student is terminated and believes due process was not followed, the student may follow the procedures outlined in the Student Status Review Process.

G. If the student is terminated and disagrees with the decision, the student may appeal the termination decision through the Assistant/Associate Dean for Student Affairs in the College of Health and Human Services. The student must contact the Assistant/Associate Dean within 5 business days of the written termination notification by the Department Chair.

Winter Break

Students are expected to plan ahead for the winter break by developing a plan with their Field Instructor. The completed Learning Agreement / Evaluation form should contain a statement describing the plan for the winter break that has been developed by the Field Instructor and student. Most students are expected to have a winter break of up to 2 weeks. The practicum will resume after New Year when the University reopens; the FIRST FULL WEEK in JANUARY. Please plan accordingly. The primary consideration should be continuity of service delivery to clients and meeting agency needs for coverage of your designated work responsibilities with clients.

AGENCY INTERVIEWS

Preparing for the Agency Interview
Placements require a preliminary interview. After an agency contacts the student for an interview, it is expected that the student respond promptly to that agency to schedule the interview. If the contact person cannot be reached, the student finds out when that person will be available and calls back at that time. The student should also leave his/her name, a return number, and the best time to be reached by the contact person. When leaving phone messages, students should also mention that they are George Mason University graduate social work students and are calling to set up an interview for field placement.

Once the agency contact person is reached, a date and time for the interview are set. Placement interviews should be handled like job interviews, which require appropriate professional attire, behavior, and some background knowledge about the agency.

Before the interview, the student might find it helpful to review the agency’s website and check the agency files in the Field Education Office to obtain more information about the agency. Occasionally, either the student or Field Instructor may need additional time to evaluate the “match” prior to deciding on whether or not to confirm the placement. In such cases, the student must be tactfully proactive in following up with the Field Instructor.

The Interview
During the interview, the student learns about the requirements of the particular placement and the educational opportunities available at the agency. The interview is a two-way process. Students should have clear goals and learning priorities and be prepared to ask specific questions about learning experiences available, clients served, skills that can be developed, type of setting (structured or unstructured), and methods of supervision, etc. Suggested questions are provided below:

Suggested Interview Questions
1. What kind of activities and programs does this agency undertake?
2. What activities, tasks, and/or projects will I be able to undertake?
3. What specific skills will I be able to develop at this agency?
4. Does this agency have a particular theoretical approach to intervention?
5. What are general characteristics of clients and communities served by this agency?
6. What is the approach to and structure of supervision?
7. What amount of interaction does a student have with other students and with permanent staff?
8. What opportunities exist for inter-professional collaboration or cooperation?
9. What types of in-service training or workshops and conferences will be available to me?
10. What kinds of cases and/or projects do you anticipate assigning to me?
11. What kinds of skills to you hope a student will bring to the agency?
12. How much independence and initiative do you expect me to demonstrate?
13. How are students helped to handle issues of diversity regarding age, gender, race, ethnicity, sexual orientation, and mental and physical ability on both staff and client levels?

Students should be prepared to answer questions about their background, educational and career goals, and why they might desire that particular placement. At the interview, agency personnel assess the student’s level of interest and suitability for the general type of assignments they have in mind. Typically, it is at this point that placement decisions are finalized. However, if there are well-founded reservations about the suitability of the match between the agency and the student, the Field Education Office should be informed at once by the student and/or the Field Instructor.

Students should discuss and make arrangements with the agency regarding their schedules. Students may also inquire whether stipends are available at the agency. Students should also ensure they comply with agency requirements such as background checks, drug screens etc. prior to the start of the practicum. Many agencies hold orientations at the beginning of the week, which are typically class days for full time students. Students must make sure that they make arrangements to attend any required orientations prior to the start of the semester.

If there is a problem at the agency that is identified before field work begins, the student or agency should contact the Field Education Office immediately.
AGENCY SAFETY GUIDELINES

Most agencies are under enormous pressure. Reduced budgets and clients with increasingly critical needs and histories of negative involvement with social services have resulted in increasing tensions in social work settings. As a result, social workers have experienced a variety of threatening situations, and some have been harmed. Social work students cannot be completely insulated from the realities of professional life, nor should they be. On the other hand, students frequently lack the experience and skills that help more seasoned practitioners assess danger and take appropriate precautions. The School recognizes its responsibility to help prepare students to handle potentially dangerous situations by providing students with safety training and classroom content on safety issues. Personal Safety should be carefully reviewed by Field Instructors and students. However, we also need to make a serious effort to try to reduce risk in field settings.

The following guidelines are designed to supplement the School’s agency selection criteria. Modification of guidelines for particular students and special circumstances may be made in the student’s educational agreement with the explicit approval of the Faculty Liaison to the agency and the Field Education Office. Moreover, it is recognized that the implementation of these guidelines may take some time. A liaison may determine that, while an agency is not currently meeting all guidelines, it is making a good faith effort to do so and current conditions are sufficiently safe to proceed with a field placement.

1. A field agency should have a policy and/or procedures on safety covering the following matters:
   (a) Building and office security
   (b) Emergency procedures, including when and how to summon security or police assistance.
   (c) Staff responsibilities and procedures governing the management of violent clients.
   (d) Safety on home visits, including when, where, and under what conditions visits should or should not be made, when the student should be accompanied, and how backup is provided (see four and five below).
   (e) Alcohol and drug use policy formulated and posted.
   (f) Guns and other weapons policy formulated and posted.
   (g) Procedures for logging and communicating with staff and students all incidents or threats of violence.
   (h) Policy for aftermath of assault and threat of assault. Provision of support services for victim’s family and/or staff and clients who may have witnessed the assault.
   (i) Relationship with police should be established.

2. The agency should provide each student with a copy of the above policies as part of the student orientation to the agency, and provide training on safety issues and procedures. Consideration should be given to in-service training on clinical and administrative management of violent clients and violent situations outside the agency. The agency and each of its programs should have a well-rehearsed specific plan of action in which students know exactly what to do in case of danger, from recognition of the signs of agitation to code words for signaling for help, when to call for police, clearing the building, etc. This plan of action should be rehearsed with students placed at the agency and reviewed on a regular basis.

3. Though a student has the right to refuse a dangerous assignment, a common understanding about the kinds of assignments that are appropriately safe should be reached by the student, the Field
Instructor, and the Faculty Liaison. The following types of activities should be discussed with either the Faculty Liaison to the agency to determine if these activities should be assigned to a student:
(a) Physical restraint of clients.
(b) Transportation of a client in an agency car; only if student has insurance.
(c) Transportation of a client with a recent history of violent behavior.
(d) Treatment of a client with a history of violence.
(e) Work in the agency at times when and/or in areas where other staff are not present.

4. The student’s Field Instructor should know, or be able to easily ascertain the student’s location during fieldwork hours and should discuss with the student any activities that require special planning with regard to safety.

5. Thorough preparation should be made for student home visits with consideration given to the following elements:
(a) Selection of clients and home environments that are not assessed to be dangerous to the student.
(b) Provision of a safe means of transportation, by agency vehicle, or public transportation where such can be judged to be normally safe.
ASSESSMENT, LEARNING EXPERIENCES, AND EVALUATION METHODS

Baseline Assessment
Knowing what one needs to learn is an obvious prerequisite to achieving professional mastery. The student achieves such mastery through engagement in self-assessment and the supervisor’s assessment, and subsequent written evaluation, of the student’s abilities and performance.

It is important for the field supervisor to have a sense of the knowledge and skills a student brings to the field placement. The initial challenge to the field supervisor is figuring out the student’s level of competence at the beginning of the field placement. Students come with a range of experiences and nothing should be assumed or predetermined prior to the student’s arrival at the field site. Sometimes a BSW student may have had more experience than a first-year MSW student. In addition, the amount of experience alone does not guarantee competency. Therefore, each student should have an individualized baseline assessment. From this baseline data, the field supervisor and student can develop a plan to provide learning opportunities that fit with the individual student.

Some suggestions for establishing a baseline assessment of the student’s abilities:

- have the student write a brief summary of his/her strengths and weaknesses
- have the student observe your practice—discuss the student’s observations about the client, the problem situation, assessment and intervention, social work roles, values and ethics, etc.
- have the student write a summary of an observed transaction between client and field supervisor
- observe the student’s practice of beginning-level tasks
- assess the student’s verbal communication skills through role play situations
- assess the student’s written communication skills through case summary, letter, meeting notes, etc. using the format required by the agency

Selection of Learning Experiences
Once the field supervisor establishes a baseline assessment of the field student, the next step is to identify appropriate learning tasks. However, in identifying student tasks, the supervisor needs to understand adult learning styles and individual preferences. Not everyone learns in the same way—consideration must be given to special needs, the educational context, and a preferred style of learning. Therefore, it is important to explore using a variety of learning experiences for the student. All learning experiences should enhance the student’s ability to meet his/her educational objectives.

The following is a list of learning experiences for Generalist, Clinical and Social Change students to help stimulate thinking about identifying learning experiences. This list is not exhaustive, some of the items may not apply to your setting, and there may be additional learning opportunities unique to your specific agency/organization or area of practice to consider.

BSW and Generalist Year:
BSW and MSW Generalist students focus on generalist practice in the areas of working with individuals, families, groups, communities and organizations. Students are to develop basic social work skills in the areas of engagement, assessment, problem identification, goal setting, contracting, planning and implementing interventions, evaluation and termination through many of the following activities:
Engage in direct practice -- (face-to-face or phone contact)
Conduct intakes
Case management
Develop and/or implement treatment plans
Conduct assessments and social histories
Conduct home visits
Provide referrals
Facilitate and/or co-facilitate groups
Advocate for client needs
Attend meetings -- (staff, clinical, team, eligibility, community, etc.)
Conduct and/or present research
Research and/or write grants
Participate in agency and/or community trainings
Coordinate and/or participate in community outreach events
Participate in legislative initiatives
Attend court hearings

Clinical Specialization:
In the beginning of placement, co-counseling or shadowing (as needed)
Minimum 3-5 clients (child/adult, individual/couple/family/group) per semester
Minimum 3-5 clinical assessments per semester (to include diagnosis)
Participate on treatment team (social work and/or multidisciplinary) -- Group supervision, case presentations, unit meetings, etc.
Case management and planning
Treatmnet planning and Intervention
Follow-up
Clinical progress notes
Receive at least one hour of individual supervision per week with Field Instructor
Participate in a minimum of 3 agency or outside trainings per semester
Facilitate/co-facilitate groups (clinical, psycho-educational)
Develop and conduct trainings and/or orientations
Research and identify best clinical practices to use with different clients
Teamwork with outside agencies to help your clients (schools, hospitals, etc.)
Intakes
Home visits
Forensic evaluations
Referral of clients

Social Change Specialization:
Monitor and analyze policy and legal precedents
Conduct research -- (Agency research, original research, surveys, best-practices)
Conduct community needs assessment and planning
Make recommendations for program improvements
Participate in program management and evaluation
Participate in public education events
Represent agency in meetings -- Team meetings, staff meetings, stakeholder meetings, coalition meetings, budget meetings
Write policy briefs, presentations and/or position statements
Attend local, state or national trainings and/or workshops
Identify funding sources
Write and submit grants / proposals
Identify community resources and make recommendations for utilizing them
Attend congressional or municipal hearings
Attend and/or participate in court hearings
Lobby and advocate for constituent needs
Conduct agency or community presentations
Develop evaluation or program methods and tools
Conduct stakeholder interviews
Participate in coalition building
Conduct community outreach and/or community organizing events
Facilitate/co-facilitate groups and trainings
Write newsletter articles and/or press releases
Coordinate volunteers
Participate in social marketing

Don’t forget your “wish list” of activities you have on your Things To Do list (written or otherwise) that could match well with the student’s educational objectives. These activities may be great learning opportunities for the student. For example, that coalition meeting you never have time for may be perfect for your student. Perhaps your student can update the agency’s community resources directory. What about those clients who need a follow-up phone call after having received services from your agency? Even within the parameters of educational objectives, you can be creative in identifying learning experiences for the social work intern.

Methods of Evaluation
Evaluation of student performance is an ongoing, interactive process between student and supervisor culminating in an end-of-semester written evaluation. For a fair and complete assessment of student performance, the field supervisor should employ a variety of measures along with the repetition of such measures. This approach will increase accuracy and fairness in evaluating student performance and provide the field supervisor with more opportunities to offer professional direction, guidance, and specific feedback. Listed below are methods of evaluation that can be made use of over the course of the field placement to evaluate the student’s performance as related to the educational outcomes in the learning contract and the final evaluation instrument. Methods of evaluation include (but are not limited to):

1. Observation
   Direct observation of a student allows for direct assessment on all aspects of a student’s interviewing skills. While students may feel uncomfortable at this prospect, most realize that it is an invaluable opportunity to gain feedback. One suggestion is to phase in observation by starting with the student observing the field supervisor and processing what took place, then conducting a joint interview followed by discussion, and, finally, the field supervisor observing the student conducting an interview.

2. Role Play
   Simulating placement-specific situations can be used to identify the student’s strengths and weaknesses. A role play can be used to deal with challenges and obstacles that confront a student in practice. For a role play to be most beneficial, it should be carefully planned and structured. Some field supervisors use role play situations to develop benchmarks for specific skills and to determine assignment of student tasks.

3. Case/Task Summary
The student’s ability to apply social work knowledge, skills, and values to practice can be assessed through a written case/task summary. Multiple summaries over time offer an opportunity to view how the student gathers and organizes information, makes assessments, sets goals, and identifies appropriate interventions. Through a written summary, the student’s writing abilities, familiarity with professional style, and ability to be clear and concise while highlighting significant data can be demonstrated. A case/task summary may be required agency practice or requested specifically by the field supervisor as a method of student evaluation.

4. Process Recording
This type of recording is specifically used for teaching purposes. Most of the time it is not placed in agency records. The process recording is a verbatim documentation of an interaction between the student and a client or a transaction between the student and another worker (e.g., information gathering on a project). It requires the student to write down both the verbal and non-verbal communications of the student’s interactions along with the student’s reflections and analysis. Although somewhat tedious, the process recording is a very effective method for assessing the student’s professional skills, knowledge, and values. The student engages in self-assessment and, in addition, receives feedback from the field supervisor. One process recording is required per semester and two or three process recordings per semester are suggested.

5. Video/Audio Taping
The use of video and audio taping allows for an extensive evaluation of the student’s performance by the supervisor and provides an opportunity for self-evaluation. Both strengths and weaknesses can be identified. A student may be asked to submit a self-evaluation with the actual tape prior to the supervisor’s critique. Clearly, field supervisors must be selective about the transactions students are allowed to tape. The student must follow agency protocol in securing client permission to video or audiotape. Such protocol must include the acknowledgement of voluntary client participation in taping with continuation of receiving services not contingent upon participating, the educational purposes of taping, and tape disposal.

6. Forms, Reports, Professional Letters, and Additional Disseminated Materials
A student’s ability to write clearly and professionally, retrieve information from a variety of sources, and organize material in writing is intrinsic to the process of evaluating a student’s performance. It is helpful to offer opportunities for the student to write, in full or in part, court reports, grants, reports to funding sources, intakes, newsletter articles, program/agency descriptions for brochures/websites, informational handouts for clients, letters, etc. Although field supervisors may be able to complete forms by rote, this is a new task for the student. Having the student fill out forms can provide the field supervisor with information about the student’s knowledge of the agency, ability to gather data, basic writing skills, and ability to focus on purpose of the task.
7. Written Assignments
In addition to the variety of written items as part of routine agency practice, the field supervisor may ask the student to complete a written assignment in order to assess the student’s knowledge, values, and/or skills. Such assignments may be in addition to any assignments the student must complete for field seminar. A student and field supervisor may agree to use a required field seminar assignment (e.g., agency summary, critiques of articles, daily/weekly logs, process recording) for evaluation purposes as well.

8. Staff Presentation
The student’s ability to gather, organize, and verbally present information can be evaluated through the student’s participation in agency meetings (e.g., staff, program, committee) and community opportunities (e.g., meetings, special events/projects, collaboratives). As an active participant, the student is not only able to increase his/her understanding of the agency, the community, and their interrelatedness, but is able to enhance his/her sense of professional self and connection to the agency.

9. Supervisory Conference
Weekly formal supervision enables the student to process his/her tasks and field experiences on a regular basis. Initially, the field supervisor may set the structure for the supervisory conference, but eventually the student should take on more responsibility in preparing an agenda and identifying challenging situations. Through the supervisor’s support and constructive criticism, there should be evidence of the student’s professional growth. It is recommended that both the supervisor and the student maintain written summaries of supervisory sessions to be used in completing the student’s final written evaluation.

10. Feedback from Others
Most students have the opportunity to work with agency staff in addition to the primary field supervisor. Some students may be assigned task supervisors. Other students may work on a joint project with a professional from another agency. In any case, a student will benefit from being given the opportunity to work with others, each with his/her own professional style. In addition, feedback from these other professionals can be useful in assessing student performance. The field supervisor should build in a mechanism for obtaining such feedback.

11. Student Self-Report
The student’s ability to recognize his/her strengths and limitations, personal biases/prejudices, and areas of professional growth are critical to the educational process. The final evaluation form may be used as a pre- and post-test measure to observe how the student evaluates his/her performance over time in the field placement. The supervisor may ask the student for a written self-assessment separate from the final evaluation.
The purpose of this plan is to specifically identify behaviors that are targeted for change and the strategies that will be implemented to promote actual behavior change.

A. Define and describe the behaviors being targeted. Be specific and address the setting of the practicum, seminar or wherever the behaviors needing change were identified.

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Targeted Behaviors (Problem)</th>
<th>Setting</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Example: Not talking in meetings</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
B. Write a measurable description of the behavior changes expected to be demonstrated. What behaviors will replace those viewed as needing to be changed?

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>List Behavior Change Goals</th>
<th>Describe</th>
<th>Timeline</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Example: Increased interpersonal interaction in seminar</td>
<td>Ex. I will increase my participation in seminar discussions and giving feedback to peers.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

C. How will success be measured? Be specific.

D. How often will the plan be reviewed and status assessed by whom?

E. What are the student's strengths and abilities that will likely help in achieving the goals of this plan.

F. What obstacles will need to be addressed to help in the achievement of the plan?

G. What requirement(s) must be met for student to be reinstated or eligible for a referral for a new practicum?

Support services recommended:
I agree to comply with the terms and timelines of this behavioral corrective plan. I realize that compliance with this agreement is a criteria for the continuance in the field education program.

The primary mission of the social work profession is to enhance human well-being and help meet the basic human needs of all people, with particular attention to the needs and empowerment of people who are vulnerable, oppressed, and living in poverty. A historic and defining feature of social work is the profession’s focus on individual well-being in a social context and the well-being of society. Fundamental to social work is attention to the environmental forces that create, contribute to, and address problems in living.

Social workers promote social justice and social change with and on behalf of clients. “Clients” is used inclusively to refer to individuals, families, groups, organizations, and communities. Social workers are sensitive to cultural and ethnic diversity and strive to end discrimination, oppression, poverty, and other forms of social injustice. These activities may be in the form of direct practice, community organizing, supervision, consultation administration, advocacy, social and political action, policy development and implementation, education, and research and evaluation. Social workers seek to enhance the capacity of people to address their own needs. Social workers also seek to promote the responsiveness of organizations, communities, and other social institutions to individuals’ needs and social problems.

The mission of the social work profession is rooted in a set of core values. These core values, embraced by social workers throughout the profession’s history, are the foundation of social work’s unique purpose and perspective:

• service
• social justice
• dignity and worth of the person
• importance of human relationships
• integrity
• competence.

This constellation of core values reflects what is unique to the social work profession. Core values, and the principles that flow from them, must be balanced within the context and complexity of the human experience.

Purpose of the NASW Code of Ethics

Professional ethics are at the core of social work. The profession has an obligation to articulate its basic values, ethical principles, and ethical standards. The NASW Code of Ethics sets forth these values, principles, and standards to guide social workers’ conduct. The Code is relevant to all social workers and social work students, regardless of their professional functions, the settings in which they work, or the populations they serve.

The NASW Code of Ethics serves six purposes:
1. The Code identifies core values on which social work’s mission is based.
2. The Code summarizes broad ethical principles that reflect the profession’s core values and establishes a set of specific ethical standards that should be used to guide social work practice.
3. The Code is designed to help social workers identify relevant considerations when professional obligations conflict or ethical uncertainties arise.
4. The Code provides ethical standards to which the general public can hold the social work profession accountable.
5. The Code socializes practitioners new to the field to social work’s mission, values, ethical principles, and ethical standards.
6. The Code articulates standards that the social work profession itself can use to assess whether social workers have engaged in unethical conduct. NASW has formal procedures to adjudicate ethics complaints filed against its members.* In subscribing to this Code, social workers are required to cooperate in its implementation, participate in NASW adjudication proceedings, and abide by any NASW disciplinary rulings or sanctions based on it.

The Code offers a set of values, principles, and standards to guide decision making and conduct when ethical issues arise. It does not provide a set of rules that prescribe how social workers should act in all situations. Specific applications of the Code must take into account the context in which it is being considered and the possibility of conflicts among the Code’s values, principles, and standards. Ethical responsibilities flow from all human relationships, from the personal and familial to the social and professional.

Further, the NASW Code of Ethics does not specify which values, principles, and standards are most important and ought to outweigh others in instances when they conflict. Reasonable differences of opinion can and do exist among social workers with respect to the ways in which values, ethical principles, and ethical standards should be ranked ordered when they conflict. Ethical decision making in a given situation must apply the informed judgment of the individual social worker and should also consider how the issues would be judged in a peer review process where the ethical standards of the profession would be applied.

Ethical decision making is a process. There are many instances in social work where simple answers are not available to resolve complex ethical issues. Social workers should take into consideration all the values, principles, and standards in this Code that are relevant to any situation in which ethical judgment is warranted. Social workers’ decisions and actions should be consistent with the spirit as well as the letter of this Code.

In addition to this Code, there are many other sources of information about ethical thinking that may be useful. Social workers should consider ethical theory and principles generally, social work theory and research, laws, regulations, agency policies, and other relevant codes of ethics, recognizing that among codes of ethics social workers should consider the NASW Code of Ethics as their primary source. Social workers also should be aware of the impact on ethical decision making of their clients’ and their own personal values and cultural and religious beliefs and practices. They should be aware of any conflicts between personal and professional values and deal with them responsibly. For additional guidance social workers should consult the relevant literature on professional ethics and ethical decision making and seek appropriate consultation when faced with ethical dilemmas. This may involve consultation with an agency-based or social work organization’s ethics committee, a regulatory body, knowledgeable colleagues, supervisors, or legal counsel.

Instances may arise when social workers’ ethical obligations conflict with agency policies or relevant laws or regulations. When such conflicts occur, social workers must make a responsible effort to resolve the conflict in a manner that is consistent with the values, principles, and standards.
expressed in this Code. If a reasonable resolution of the conflict does not appear possible, social workers should seek proper consultation before making a decision.

The NASW Code of Ethics is to be used by NASW and by individuals, agencies, organizations, and bodies (such as licensing and regulatory boards, professional liability insurance providers, courts of law, agency boards of directors, government agencies, and other professional groups) that choose to adopt it or use it as a frame of reference. Violation of standards in this Code does not automatically imply legal liability or violation of the law. Such determination can only be made in the context of legal and judicial proceedings. Alleged violations of the Code would be subject to a peer review process. Such processes are generally separate from legal or administrative procedures and insulated from legal review or proceedings to allow the profession to counsel and discipline its own members.

A code of ethics cannot guarantee ethical behavior. Moreover, a code of ethics cannot resolve all ethical issues or disputes or capture the richness and complexity involved in striving to make responsible choices within a moral community. Rather, a code of ethics sets forth values, ethical principles, and ethical standards to which professionals aspire and by which their actions can be judged. Social workers’ ethical behavior should result from their personal commitment to engage in ethical practice. The NASW Code of Ethics reflects the commitment of all social workers to uphold the profession’s values and to act ethically. Principles and standards must be applied by individuals of good character who discern moral questions and, in good faith, seek to make reliable ethical judgments.

Ethical Principles
The following broad ethical principles are based on social work’s core values of service, social justice, dignity and worth of the person, importance of human relationships, integrity, and competence.

These principles set forth ideals to which all social workers should aspire.

Value: Service
Ethical Principle: Social workers’ primary goal is to help people in need and to address social problems. Social workers elevate service to others above self-interest. Social workers draw on their knowledge, values, and skills to help people in need and to address social problems. Social workers are encouraged to volunteer some portion of their professional skills with no expectation of significant financial return (pro bono service).

Value: Social Justice
Ethical Principle: Social workers challenge social injustice. Social workers pursue social change, particularly with and on behalf of vulnerable and oppressed individuals and groups of people. Social workers’ social change efforts are focused primarily on issues of poverty, unemployment, discrimination, and other forms of social injustice. These activities seek to promote sensitivity to and knowledge about oppression and cultural and ethnic diversity. Social workers strive to ensure access to needed information, services, and resources; equality of opportunity; and meaningful participation in decision making for all people.

Value: Dignity and Worth of the Person
Ethical Principle: Social workers respect the inherent dignity and worth of the person. Social workers treat each person in a caring and respectful fashion, mindful of individual differences and cultural and ethnic diversity. Social workers promote clients’ socially responsible self-determination. Social workers seek to enhance clients’ capacity and opportunity to change and to address their own needs. Social workers are cognizant of their dual responsibility to clients and to the broader society. They seek to resolve conflicts between clients’ interests and the broader society’s interests in a socially responsible manner consistent with the values, ethical principles, and ethical standards of the profession.

Value: Importance of Human Relationships

Ethical Principle: Social workers recognize the central importance of human relationships. Social workers understand that relationships between and among people are an important vehicle for change. Social workers engage people as partners in the helping process. Social workers seek to strengthen relationships among people in a purposeful effort to promote, restore, maintain, and enhance the well-being of individuals, families, social groups, organizations, and communities.

Value: Integrity

Ethical Principle: Social workers behave in a trustworthy manner. Social workers are continually aware of the profession’s mission, values, ethical principles, and ethical standards and practice in a manner consistent with them. Social workers act honestly and responsibly and promote ethical practices on the part of the organizations with which they are affiliated.

Value: Competence

Ethical Principle: Social workers practice within their areas of competence and develop and enhance their professional expertise. Social workers continually strive to increase their professional knowledge and skills and to apply them in practice. Social workers should aspire to contribute to the knowledge base of the profession.

Ethical Standards

The following ethical standards are relevant to the professional activities of all social workers. These standards concern (1) social workers’ ethical responsibilities to clients, (2) social workers’ ethical responsibilities to colleagues, (3) social workers’ ethical responsibilities in practice settings, (4) social workers’ ethical responsibilities as professionals, (5) social workers’ ethical responsibilities to the social work profession, and (6) social workers’ ethical responsibilities to the broader society.

Some of the standards that follow are enforceable guidelines for professional conduct, and some are aspirational. The extent to which each standard is enforceable is a matter of professional judgment to be exercised by those responsible for reviewing alleged violations of ethical standards.

1. SOCIAL WORKERS’ ETHICAL RESPONSIBILITIES TO CLIENTS

1.1 Commitment to Clients

Social workers’ primary responsibility is to promote the well-being of clients. In general, clients’ interests are primary. However, social workers’ responsibility to the larger society or specific legal obligations may on limited occasions supersede the loyalty owed clients, and clients should be so advised. (Examples include when a social worker is required by law to report that a client has abused a child or has threatened to harm self or others.)

1.2 Self-Determination

Social workers respect and promote the right of clients to self-determination and assist clients in their efforts to identify and clarify their goals. Social workers may limit clients’ right to self-determination when, in the social workers’ professional judgment, clients’ actions or potential actions pose a serious, foreseeable, and imminent risk to themselves or others.

1.3 Informed Consent

(a) Social workers should provide services to clients only in the context of a professional relationship based, when appropriate, on valid informed consent. Social workers should use clear and understandable language to inform clients of the purpose of the services, risks related to the services, limits to services because of the requirements of a third-party payer, relevant costs, reasonable alternatives, clients’ right to refuse or withdraw consent, and the time frame covered by the consent. Social workers should provide clients with an opportunity to ask questions.

(b) In instances when clients are not literate or have difficulty understanding the primary language used in the practice setting, social workers should take steps to ensure clients’ comprehension. This may include providing clients with a detailed verbal explanation or arranging for a qualified interpreter or translator whenever possible.

(c) In instances when clients lack the capacity to provide informed consent, social workers should protect clients’ interests by seeking permission from an appropriate third party, informing clients consistent with the clients’ level of understanding. In such instances social workers should seek to ensure that the third party acts in a manner consistent with clients’ wishes and interests. Social workers should take reasonable steps to enhance such clients’ ability to give informed consent.

(d) In instances when clients are receiving services involuntarily, social workers should provide information about the nature and extent of services and about the extent of clients’ right to refuse service. (e) Social workers who provide services via electronic media (such as computer, telephone, radio, and television) should inform recipients of the limitations and risks associated with such services.

(f) Social workers should obtain clients’ informed consent before audiotaping or videotaping clients or permitting observation of services to clients by a third party.

1.4 Competence
(a) Social workers should provide services and represent themselves as competent only within the boundaries of their education, training, license, certification, consultation received, supervised experience, or other relevant professional experience.

(b) Social workers should provide services in substantive areas or use intervention techniques or approaches that are new to them only after engaging in appropriate study, training, consultation, and supervision from people who are competent in those interventions or techniques.

(c) When generally recognized standards do not exist with respect to an emerging area of practice, social workers should exercise careful judgment and take responsible steps (including appropriate education, research, training, consultation, and supervision) to ensure the competence of their work and to protect clients from harm.

1.5 Cultural Competence and Social Diversity
(a) Social workers should understand culture and its function in human behavior and society, recognizing the strengths that exist in all cultures.

(b) Social workers should have a knowledge base of their clients’ cultures and be able to demonstrate competence in the provision of services that are sensitive to clients’ cultures and to differences among people and cultural groups.

(c) Social workers should obtain education about and seek to understand the nature of social diversity and oppression with respect to race, ethnicity, national origin, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, age, marital status, political belief, religion, immigration status, and mental or physical disability.

1.6 Conflicts of Interest
(a) Social workers should be alert to and avoid conflicts of interest that interfere with the exercise of professional discretion and impartial judgment. Social workers should inform clients when a real or potential conflict of interest arises and take reasonable steps to resolve the issue in a manner that makes the clients’ interests primary and protects clients’ interests to the greatest extent possible. In some cases, protecting clients’ interests may require termination of the professional relationship with proper referral of the client.
(b) Social workers should not take unfair advantage of any professional relationship or exploit others to further their personal, religious, political, or business interests.
(c) Social workers should not engage in dual or multiple relationships with clients or former clients in which there is a risk of exploitation or potential harm to the client. In instances when dual or multiple relationships are unavoidable, social workers should take steps to protect clients and are responsible for setting clear, appropriate, and culturally sensitive boundaries. (Dual or multiple relationships occur when social workers relate to clients in more than one relationship, whether professional, social, or business. Dual or multiple relationships can occur simultaneously or consecutively.)
(d) When social workers provide services to two or more people who have a relationship with each other (for example, couples, family members), social workers should clarify with all parties which individuals will be considered clients and the nature of social workers’ professional obligations to the various individuals who are receiving services. Social workers who anticipate a conflict of interest among the individuals receiving services or who anticipate having to perform in potentially conflicting roles (for example, when a social worker is asked to testify in a child custody dispute or divorce proceedings involving clients) should clarify their role with the parties involved and take appropriate action to minimize any conflict of interest.

1.7 Privacy and Confidentiality
(a) Social workers should respect clients’ right to privacy. Social workers should not solicit private information from clients unless it is essential to providing services or conducting social work evaluation or research. Once private information is shared, standards of confidentiality apply.
(b) Social workers may disclose confidential information when appropriate with valid consent from a client or a person legally authorized to consent on behalf of a client.
(c) Social workers should protect the confidentiality of all information obtained in the course of professional service, except for compelling professional reasons. The general expectation that social workers will keep information confidential does not apply when disclosure is necessary to prevent serious, foreseeable, and imminent harm to a client or other identifiable person. In all instances, social workers should disclose the least amount of confidential information necessary to achieve the desired purpose; only information that is directly relevant to the purpose for which the disclosure is made should be revealed.
(d) Social workers should inform clients, to the extent possible, about the disclosure of confidential information and the potential consequences, when feasible before the disclosure is made. This applies whether social workers disclose confidential information on the basis of a legal requirement or client consent.
(e) Social workers should discuss with clients and other interested parties the nature of confidentiality and limitations of clients’ right to confidentiality. Social workers should review with clients circumstances where confidential information may be requested and where disclosure of confidential information may be legally required. This discussion should occur as soon as possible in the social worker/client relationship and as needed throughout the course of the relationship.
(f) When social workers provide counseling services to families, couples, or groups, social workers should seek agreement among the parties involved concerning each individual’s right to confidentiality and obligation to preserve the confidentiality of information shared by others. Social workers should inform participants in family, couples, or group counseling that social workers cannot guarantee that all participants will honor such agreements.
(g) Social workers should inform clients involved in family, couples, marital, or group counseling of the social worker’s, employer’s, and agency’s policy concerning the social worker’s disclosure of confidential information among the parties involved in the counseling.  (h) Social workers should not disclose confidential information to third-party payers unless clients have authorized such disclosure.

(i) Social workers should not discuss confidential information in any setting unless privacy can be ensured. Social workers should not discuss confidential information in public or semipublic areas such as hallways, waiting rooms, elevators, and restaurants.

(j) Social workers should protect the confidentiality of clients during legal proceedings to the extent permitted by law. When a court of law or other legally authorized body orders social workers to disclose confidential or privileged information without a client’s consent and such disclosure could cause harm to the client, social workers should request that the court withdraw the order or limit the order as narrowly as possible or maintain the records under seal, unavailable for public inspection.

(k) Social workers should protect the confidentiality of clients when responding to requests from members of the media.

(l) Social workers should protect the confidentiality of clients’ written and electronic records and other sensitive information. Social workers should take reasonable steps to ensure that clients’ records are stored in a secure location and that clients’ records are not available to others who are not authorized to have access.

(m) Social workers should take precautions to ensure and maintain the confidentiality of information transmitted to other parties through the use of computers, electronic mail, facsimile machines, telephones and telephone answering machines, and other electronic or computer technology. Disclosure of identifying information should be avoided whenever possible.

(n) Social workers should transfer or dispose of clients’ records in a manner that protects clients’ confidentiality and is consistent with state statutes governing records and social work licensure.

(o) Social workers should take reasonable precautions to protect client confidentiality in the event of the social worker’s termination of practice, incapacitation, or death.

(p) Social workers should not disclose identifying information when discussing clients for teaching or training purposes unless the client has consented to disclosure of confidential information.

(q) Social workers should not disclose identifying information when discussing clients with consultants unless the client has consented to disclosure of confidential information or there is a compelling need for such disclosure.

(r) Social workers should protect the confidentiality of deceased clients consistent with the preceding standards.

1.8 Access to Records

(a) Social workers should provide clients with reasonable access to records concerning the clients. Social workers who are concerned that clients’ access to their records could cause serious misunderstanding or harm to the client should provide assistance in interpreting the records and consultation with the client regarding the records. Social workers should limit clients’ access to their records, or portions of their records, only in exceptional circumstances when there is compelling evidence that such access would cause serious harm to the client. Both clients’ requests and the rationale for withholding some or all of the record should be documented in clients’ files.

(b) When providing clients with access to their records, social workers should take steps to protect the confidentiality of other individuals identified or discussed in such records.

1.9 Sexual Relationships
(a) Social workers should under no circumstances engage in sexual activities or sexual contact with current clients, whether such contact is consensual or forced.

(b) Social workers should not engage in sexual activities or sexual contact with clients’ relatives or other individuals with whom clients maintain a close personal relationship when there is a risk of exploitation or potential harm to the client. Sexual activity or sexual contact with clients’ relatives or other individuals with whom clients maintain a personal relationship has the potential to be harmful to the client and may make it difficult for the social worker and client to maintain appropriate professional boundaries. Social workers—not their clients, their clients’ relatives, or other individuals with whom the client maintains a personal relationship—assume the full burden for setting clear, appropriate, and culturally sensitive boundaries.

(c) Social workers should not engage in sexual activities or sexual contact with former clients because of the potential for harm to the client. If social workers engage in conduct contrary to this prohibition or claim that an exception to this prohibition is warranted because of extraordinary circumstances, it is social workers—not their clients—who assume the full burden of demonstrating that the former client has not been exploited, coerced, or manipulated, intentionally or unintentionally.

(d) Social workers should not provide clinical services to individuals with whom they have had a prior sexual relationship. Providing clinical services to a former sexual partner has the potential to be harmful to the individual and is likely to make it difficult for the social worker and individual to maintain appropriate professional boundaries.

1.10 Physical Contact
Social workers should not engage in physical contact with clients when there is a possibility of psychological harm to the client as a result of the contact (such as cradling or caressing clients). Social workers who engage in appropriate physical contact with clients are responsible for setting clear, appropriate, and culturally sensitive boundaries that govern such physical contact.

1.11 Sexual Harassment
Social workers should not sexually harass clients. Sexual harassment includes sexual advances, sexual solicitation, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature.

1.12 Derogatory Language
Social workers should not use derogatory language in their written or verbal communications to or about clients. Social workers should use accurate and respectful language in all communications to and about clients.

1.13 Payment for Services
(a) When setting fees, social workers should ensure that the fees are fair, reasonable, and commensurate with the services performed. Consideration should be given to clients’ ability to pay.

(b) Social workers should avoid accepting goods or services from clients as payment for professional services. Bartering arrangements, particularly involving services, create the potential for conflicts of interest, exploitation, and inappropriate boundaries in social workers’ relationships with clients. Social workers should explore and may participate in bartering only in very limited circumstances when it can be demonstrated that such arrangements are an accepted practice among professionals in the local community, considered to be essential for the provision of services, negotiated without coercion, and entered into at the client’s initiative and with the client’s informed consent. Social workers who accept goods or services from clients as payment for professional services assume the full burden of demonstrating that this arrangement will not be detrimental to the client or the professional relationship.

(c) Social workers should not solicit a private fee or other remuneration for providing services to clients who are entitled to such available services through the social workers’ employer or agency.
1.14 Clients Who Lack Decision-Making Capacity
When social workers act on behalf of clients who lack the capacity to make informed decisions, social workers should take reasonable steps to safeguard the interests and rights of those clients.

1.15 Interruption of Services
Social workers should make reasonable efforts to ensure continuity of services in the event that services are interrupted by factors such as unavailability, relocation, illness, disability, or death.

1.16 Termination of Services
(a) Social workers should terminate services to clients and professional relationships with them when such services and relationships are no longer required or no longer serve the clients’ needs or interests.
(b) Social workers should take reasonable steps to avoid abandoning clients who are still in need of services. Social workers should withdraw services precipitously only under unusual circumstances, giving careful consideration to all factors in the situation and taking care to minimize possible adverse effects. Social workers should assist in making appropriate arrangements for continuation of services when necessary.
(c) Social workers in fee-for-service settings may terminate services to clients who are not paying an overdue balance if the financial contractual arrangements have been made clear to the client, if the client does not pose an imminent danger to self or others, and if the clinical and other consequences of the current nonpayment have been addressed and discussed with the client. (d) Social workers should not terminate services to pursue a social, financial, or sexual relationship with a client.
(e) Social workers who anticipate the termination or interruption of services to clients should notify clients promptly and seek the transfer, referral, or continuation of services in relation to the clients’ needs and preferences.
(f) Social workers who are leaving an employment setting should inform clients of appropriate options for the continuation of services and of the benefits and risks of the options.

2. SOCIAL WORKERS’ ETHICAL RESPONSIBILITIES TO COLLEAGUES

2.1 Respect
(a) Social workers should treat colleagues with respect and should represent accurately and fairly the qualifications, views, and obligations of colleagues.
(b) Social workers should avoid unwarranted negative criticism of colleagues in communications with clients or with other professionals. Unwarranted negative criticism may include demeaning comments that refer to colleagues’ level of competence or to individuals’ attributes such as race, ethnicity, national origin, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, age, marital status, political belief, religion, immigration status, and mental or physical disability.
(c) Social workers should cooperate with social work colleagues and with colleagues of other professions when such cooperation serves the well-being of clients.

2.2 Confidentiality
Social workers should respect confidential information shared by colleagues in the course of their professional relationships and transactions. Social workers should ensure that such colleagues understand social workers’ obligation to respect confidentiality and any exceptions related to it.

2.3 Interdisciplinary Collaboration
(a) Social workers who are members of an interdisciplinary team should participate in and contribute to decisions that affect the well-being of clients by drawing on the perspectives, values, and experiences of the social work profession. Professional and ethical obligations of the interdisciplinary team as a whole and of its individual members should be clearly established.
2.5 Consultation (a) Social workers should seek the advice and counsel of colleagues whenever such consultation is in the best interests of clients.
(b) Social workers should keep themselves informed about colleagues’ areas of expertise and competencies. Social workers should seek consultation only from colleagues who have demonstrated knowledge, expertise, and competence related to the subject of the consultation.
(c) When consulting with colleagues about clients, social workers should disclose the least amount of information necessary to achieve the purposes of the consultation.

2.6 Referral for Services
(a) Social workers should refer clients to other professionals when the other professionals’ specialized knowledge or expertise is needed to serve clients fully or when social workers believe that they are not being effective or making reasonable progress with clients and that additional service is required.
(b) Social workers who refer clients to other professionals should take appropriate steps to facilitate an orderly transfer of responsibility. Social workers who refer clients to other professionals should disclose, with clients’ consent, all pertinent information to the new service providers.
(c) Social workers are prohibited from giving or receiving payment for a referral when no professional service is provided by the referring social worker.

2.7 Sexual Relationships
(a) Social workers who function as supervisors or educators should not engage in sexual activities or contact with supervisees, students, trainees, or other colleagues over whom they exercise professional authority.
(b) Social workers should avoid engaging in sexual relationships with colleagues when there is potential for a conflict of interest. Social workers who become involved in, or anticipate becoming involved in, a sexual relationship with a colleague have a duty to transfer professional responsibilities, when necessary, to avoid a conflict of interest.

2.8 Sexual Harassment
Social workers should not sexually harass supervisees, students, trainees, or colleagues. Sexual harassment includes sexual advances, sexual solicitation, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature.

2.9 Impairment of Colleagues
(a) Social workers who have direct knowledge of a social work colleague’s impairment that is due to personal problems, psychosocial distress, substance abuse, or mental health difficulties and that interferes with practice effectiveness should consult with that colleague when feasible and assist the colleague in taking remedial action.
(b) Social workers who believe that a social work colleague’s impairment interferes with practice effectiveness and that the colleague has not taken adequate steps to address the impairment should take action through appropriate channels established by employers, agencies, NASW, licensing and regulatory bodies, and other professional organizations.

2.10 Incompetence of Colleagues
(a) Social workers who have direct knowledge of a social work colleague’s incompetence should consult with that colleague when feasible and assist the colleague in taking remedial action.
(b) Social workers who believe that a social work colleague is incompetent and has not taken adequate steps to address the incompetence should take action through appropriate channels established by employers, agencies, NASW, licensing and regulatory bodies, and other professional organizations.

2.11 Unethical Conduct of Colleagues
(a) Social workers should take adequate measures to discourage, prevent, expose, and correct the unethical conduct of colleagues.
(b) Social workers should be knowledgeable about established policies and procedures for handling concerns about colleagues’ unethical behavior. Social workers should be familiar with national, state, and local procedures for handling ethics complaints. These include policies and procedures created by NASW, licensing and regulatory bodies, employers, agencies, and other professional organizations.
(c) Social workers who believe that a colleague has acted unethically should seek resolution by discussing their concerns with the colleague when feasible and when such discussion is likely to be productive.
(d) When necessary, social workers who believe that a colleague has acted unethically should take action through appropriate formal channels (such as contacting a state licensing board or regulatory body, an NASW committee on inquiry, or other professional ethics committees).
(e) Social workers should defend and assist colleagues who are unjustly charged with unethical conduct.

3. SOCIAL WORKERS’ ETHICAL RESPONSIBILITIES IN PRACTICE SETTINGS

3.1 Supervision and Consultation
(a) Social workers who provide supervision or consultation should have the necessary knowledge and skill to supervise or consult appropriately and should do so only within their areas of knowledge and competence.
(b) Social workers who provide supervision or consultation are responsible for setting clear, appropriate, and culturally sensitive boundaries.
(c) Social workers should not engage in any dual or multiple relationships with supervisees in which there is a risk of exploitation or potential harm to the supervisee.
(d) Social workers who provide supervision should evaluate supervisees’ performance in a manner that is fair and respectful.

3.2 Education and Training
(a) Social workers who function as educators, field instructors for students, or trainers should provide instruction only within their areas of knowledge and competence and should provide instruction based on the most current information and knowledge available in the profession.
(b) Social workers who function as educators or field instructors for students should evaluate students’ performance in a manner that is fair and respectful.
(c) Social workers who function as educators or field instructors for students should take reasonable steps to ensure that clients are routinely informed when services are being provided by students.
(d) Social workers who function as educators or field instructors for students should not engage in any dual or multiple relationships with students in which there is a risk of exploitation or potential harm to the student. Social work educators and field instructors are responsible for setting clear, appropriate, and culturally sensitive boundaries.

3.3 Performance Evaluation
Social workers who have responsibility for evaluating the performance of others should fulfill such responsibility in a fair and considerate manner and on the basis of clearly stated criteria.
3.4 Client Records
(a) Social workers should take reasonable steps to ensure that documentation in records is accurate and reflects the services provided.
(b) Social workers should include sufficient and timely documentation in records to facilitate the delivery of services and to ensure continuity of services provided to clients in the future.
(c) Social workers’ documentation should protect clients’ privacy to the extent that is possible and appropriate and should include only information that is directly relevant to the delivery of services.
(d) Social workers should store records following the termination of services to ensure reasonable future access. Records should be maintained for the number of years required by state statutes or relevant contracts.

3.5 Billing
Social workers should establish and maintain billing practices that accurately reflect the nature and extent of services provided and that identify who provided the service in the practice setting.

3.6 Client Transfer
(a) When an individual who is receiving services from another agency or colleague contacts a social worker for services, the social worker should carefully consider the client’s needs before agreeing to provide services. To minimize possible confusion and conflict, social workers should discuss with potential clients the nature of the clients’ current relationship with other service providers and the implications, including possible benefits or risks, of entering into a relationship with a new service provider.
(b) If a new client has been served by another agency or colleague, social workers should discuss with the client whether consultation with the previous service provider is in the client’s best interest.

3.7 Administration
(a) Social work administrators should advocate within and outside their agencies for adequate resources to meet clients’ needs.
(b) Social workers should advocate for resource allocation procedures that are open and fair. When not all clients’ needs can be met, an allocation procedure should be developed that is nondiscriminatory and based on appropriate and consistently applied principles.
(c) Social workers who are administrators should take reasonable steps to ensure that adequate agency or organizational resources are available to provide appropriate staff supervision.
(d) Social work administrators should take reasonable steps to ensure that the working environment for which they are responsible is consistent with and encourages compliance with the NASW Code of Ethics. Social work administrators should take reasonable steps to eliminate any conditions in their organizations that violate, interfere with, or discourage compliance with the Code.

3.8 Continuing Education and Staff Development
Social work administrators and supervisors should take reasonable steps to provide or arrange for continuing education and staff development for all staff for whom they are responsible. Continuing education and staff development should address current knowledge and emerging developments related to social work practice and ethics.

3.9 Commitments to Employers
(a) Social workers generally should adhere to commitments made to employers and employing organizations.
(b) Social workers should work to improve employing agencies’ policies and procedures and the efficiency and effectiveness of their services.
(c) Social workers should take reasonable steps to ensure that employers are aware of social workers’ ethical obligations as set forth in the NASW Code of Ethics and of the implications of those obligations for social work practice.
(d) Social workers should not allow an employing organization’s policies, procedures, regulations, or administrative orders to interfere with their ethical practice of social work. Social workers should take reasonable steps to ensure that their employing organizations’ practices are consistent with the NASW Code of Ethics.
(e) Social workers should act to prevent and eliminate discrimination in the employing organization’s work assignments and in its employment policies and practices.
(f) Social workers should accept employment or arrange student field placements only in organizations that exercise fair personnel practices.
(g) Social workers should be diligent stewards of the resources of their employing organizations, wisely conserving funds where appropriate and never misappropriating funds or using them for unintended purposes.

3.10 Labor-Management Disputes
(a) Social workers may engage in organized action, including the formation of and participation in labor unions, to improve services to clients and working conditions.
(b) The actions of social workers who are involved in labor-management disputes, job actions, or labor strikes should be guided by the profession’s values, ethical principles, and ethical standards. Reasonable differences of opinion exist among social workers concerning their primary obligation as professionals during an actual or threatened labor strike or job action. Social workers should carefully examine relevant issues and their possible impact on clients before deciding on a course of action.

4. SOCIAL WORKERS’ ETHICAL RESPONSIBILITIES AS PROFESSIONALS
4.1 Competence
(a) Social workers should accept responsibility or employment only on the basis of existing competence or the intention to acquire the necessary competence.
(b) Social workers should strive to become and remain proficient in professional practice and the performance of professional functions. Social workers should critically examine and keep current with emerging knowledge relevant to social work. Social workers should routinely review the professional literature and participate in continuing education relevant to social work practice and social work ethics.
(c) Social workers should base practice on recognized knowledge, including empirically based knowledge, relevant to social work and social work ethics.

4.2 Discrimination
Social workers should not practice, condone, facilitate, or collaborate with any form of discrimination on the basis of race, ethnicity, national origin, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, age, marital status, political belief, religion, immigration status, or mental or physical disability.

4.3 Private Conduct
Social workers should not permit their private conduct to interfere with their ability to fulfill their professional responsibilities.

4.4 Dishonesty, Fraud, and Deception
Social workers should not participate in, condone, or be associated with dishonesty, fraud, or deception.

4.5 Impairment
(a) Social workers should not allow their own personal problems, psychosocial distress, legal problems, substance abuse, or mental health difficulties to interfere with their professional judgment and performance or to jeopardize the best interests of people for whom they have a professional responsibility.
(b) Social workers whose personal problems, psychosocial distress, legal problems, substance abuse, or mental health difficulties interfere with their professional judgment and performance should immediately seek consultation and take appropriate remedial action by seeking professional help, making adjustments in workload, terminating practice, or taking any other steps necessary to protect clients and others.

4.6 Misrepresentation
(a) Social workers should make clear distinctions between statements made and actions engaged in as a private individual and as a representative of the social work profession, a professional social work organization, or the social worker’s employing agency.
(b) Social workers who speak on behalf of professional social work organizations should accurately represent the official and authorized positions of the organizations.
(c) Social workers should ensure that their representations to clients, agencies, and the public of professional qualifications, credentials, education, competence, affiliations, services provided, or results to be achieved are accurate. Social workers should claim only those relevant professional credentials they actually possess and take steps to correct any inaccuracies or misrepresentations of their credentials by others.

4.7 Solicitations
(a) Social workers should not engage in uninvited solicitation of potential clients who, because of their circumstances, are vulnerable to undue influence, manipulation, or coercion.
(b) Social workers should not engage in solicitation of testimonial endorsements (including solicitation of consent to use a client’s prior statement as a testimonial endorsement) from current clients or from other people who, because of their particular circumstances, are vulnerable to undue influence.

4.8 Acknowledging Credit
(a) Social workers should take responsibility and credit, including authorship credit, only for work they have actually performed and to which they have contributed.
(b) Social workers should honestly acknowledge the work of and the contributions made by others.

SOCIAL WORKERS’ ETHICAL RESPONSIBILITIES TO THE SOCIAL WORK PROFESSION

5.1 Integrity of the Profession
(a) Social workers should work toward the maintenance and promotion of high standards of practice.
(b) Social workers should uphold and advance the values, ethics, knowledge, and mission of the profession. Social workers should protect, enhance, and improve the integrity of the profession through appropriate study and research, active discussion, and responsible criticism of the profession.
(c) Social workers should contribute time and professional expertise to activities that promote respect for the value, integrity, and competence of the social work profession. These activities may include teaching, research, consultation, service, legislative testimony, presentations in the community, and participation in their professional organizations.
(d) Social workers should contribute to the knowledge base of social work and share with colleagues their knowledge related to practice, research, and ethics. Social workers should seek to contribute to the profession’s literature and to share their knowledge at professional meetings and conferences.
(e) Social workers should act to prevent the unauthorized and unqualified practice of social work.

5.2 Evaluation and Research
(a) Social workers should monitor and evaluate policies, the implementation of programs, and practice interventions.
(b) Social workers should promote and facilitate evaluation and research to contribute to the development of knowledge.
(c) Social workers should critically examine and keep current with emerging knowledge relevant to social work and fully use evaluation and research evidence in their professional practice.

(d) Social workers engaged in evaluation or research should carefully consider possible consequences and should follow guidelines developed for the protection of evaluation and research participants. Appropriate institutional review boards should be consulted.

(e) Social workers engaged in evaluation or research should obtain voluntary and written informed consent from participants, when appropriate, without any implied or actual deprivation or penalty for refusal to participate; without undue inducement to participate; and with due regard for participants’ well-being, privacy, and dignity. Informed consent should include information about the nature, extent, and duration of the participation requested and disclosure of the risks and benefits of participation in the research.

(f) When evaluation or research participants are incapable of giving informed consent, social workers should provide an appropriate explanation to the participants, obtain the participants’ assent to the extent they are able, and obtain written consent from an appropriate proxy.

(g) Social workers should never design or conduct evaluation or research that does not use consent procedures, such as certain forms of naturalistic observation and archival research, unless rigorous and responsible review of the research has found it to be justified because of its prospective scientific, educational, or applied value and unless equally effective alternative procedures that do not involve waiver of consent are not feasible.

(h) Social workers should inform participants of their right to withdraw from evaluation and research at any time without penalty.

(i) Social workers should take appropriate steps to ensure that participants in evaluation and research have access to appropriate supportive services.

(j) Social workers engaged in evaluation or research should protect participants from unwarranted physical or mental distress, harm, danger, or deprivation.

(k) Social workers engaged in the evaluation of services should discuss collected information only for professional purposes and only with people professionally concerned with this information.

(l) Social workers engaged in evaluation or research should ensure the anonymity or confidentiality of participants and of the data obtained from them. Social workers should inform participants of any limits of confidentiality, the measures that will be taken to ensure confidentiality, and when any records containing research data will be destroyed. (m) Social workers who report evaluation and research results should protect participants’ confidentiality by omitting identifying information unless proper consent has been obtained authorizing disclosure.

(n) Social workers should report evaluation and research findings accurately. They should not fabricate or falsify results and should take steps to correct any errors later found in published data using standard publication methods.

(o) Social workers engaged in evaluation or research should be alert to and avoid conflicts of interest and dual relationships with participants, should inform participants when a real or potential conflict of interest arises, and should take steps to resolve the issue in a manner that makes participants’ interests primary.

(p) Social workers should educate themselves, their students, and their colleagues about responsible research practices.

6. SOCIAL WORKERS’ ETHICAL RESPONSIBILITIES TO THE BROADER SOCIETY

6.1 Social Welfare
Social workers should promote the general welfare of society, from local to global levels, and the development of people, their communities, and their environments. Social workers should advocate for living conditions conducive to the fulfillment of basic human needs and should promote social, economic, political, and cultural values and institutions that are compatible with the realization of social justice.

6.2 Public Participation
Social workers should facilitate informed participation by the public in shaping social policies and institutions.

6.3 Public Emergencies
Social workers should provide appropriate professional services in public emergencies to the greatest extent possible.
6.4 Social and Political Action
(a) Social workers should engage in social and political action that seeks to ensure that all people have equal access to the resources, employment, services, and opportunities they require to meet their basic human needs and to develop fully. Social workers should be aware of the impact of the political arena on practice and should advocate for changes in policy and legislation to improve social conditions in order to meet basic human needs and promote social justice.
(b) Social workers should act to expand choice and opportunity for all people, with special regard for vulnerable, disadvantaged, oppressed, and exploited people and groups.
(c) Social workers should promote conditions that encourage respect for cultural and social diversity within the United States and globally. Social workers should promote policies and practices that demonstrate respect for difference, support the expansion of cultural knowledge and resources, advocate for programs and institutions that demonstrate cultural competence, and promote policies that safeguard the rights of and confirm equity and social justice for all people.
(d) Social workers should act to prevent and eliminate domination of, exploitation of, and discrimination against any person, group, or class on the basis of race, ethnicity, national origin, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, age, marital status, political belief, religion, immigration status, or mental or physical disability.

Process for Addressing Violations of the Professional Standards and Behaviors

Provided below is a description of the process for addressing unacceptable student behavior, as identified in the Professional Standards and Behavior document. At any stage of the process, it may become necessary for the faculty, the program or field directors, or the department chair to consult, refer and/or coordinate with other members of the University in order to assist with addressing concerns.

1. Procedures
   A. If appropriate, and the violation is not unethical or one that creates a safety concern, the faculty/staff member may have an informal discussion with the student.

   B. If the violation is deemed by the faculty or staff member to be repetitive, severe, unethical, and/or puts people at risk, a Student Feedback for Growth form will be completed, provided to the student, and provided to the appropriate Program Director. The Program Director will do the following:
      1. Meet with all relevant individuals
         a. Students may be accompanied to the meeting by one advisor of the student’s choosing and at the student’s own expense. Advisors may only consult with the student and are not permitted to speak on the student’s behalf.
         b. Students may request postponement of a disciplinary proceeding if circumstances warrant. In most cases, a postponement will only be granted for an academic or medical situation. The decision to postpone a disciplinary proceeding rests with the Program Director.
         c. Students may present other information. This additional information must be provided to the Program Director at least two business days in advance of the scheduled meeting.
         d. Students have the right to decide not to participate in the meeting or provide additional information; the Program Director will render a decision in the absence of such information.
         e. Students have the opportunity to challenge the objectivity or fairness of the meeting by engaging in the Student Status Review process.
      2. Create a remediation plan with timelines for action (to be documented on the Student Feedback for Growth Form). A copy will be provided to the student.
      3. If significant progress has been made on the remediation plan, but goals have not been fully met, and relevant individuals agree, a one-time extension may be granted.

   C. If any of the above has not resulted in change the Program Director will refer the issue to the Department Chair for consideration of termination from the social work program. At that time, the procedures in the Department of Social Work Student Termination Policy will be followed.

2. Behaviors Addressed by Other University Departments and/or Policies
   A. Office of Academic Integrity:
      • Addresses plagiarism, and academic cheating, stealing, and lying.
B. Office of Student Conduct:
- Non-academic acts of misconduct that may include, but are not limited to: alcohol and drug use; illegal gambling; disorderly conduct; infliction or threat of physical harm; unwanted sexual behavior; threatening or intimidating behavior/ harassment/ stalking; hazing; misuse and unauthorized use of technology; interfering with the normal operation of the teaching environment; violation of policies or regulations in official publication (e.g., University Catalog, policies in Social Work Department Handbooks); alleged or actual violation of local, state, federal or international law; retaliation against another student or employee for their participation in any portion of a student conduct process. Misconduct may be directed at a student or employee.

C. Office of Student Support and Case Management:
- Provides assistance to students who are experiencing difficulty achieving academic success, when they may harm themselves or others, or are in need of support. The office connects students with on-campus and off-campus resources.

RECOMMENDED RESOURCES IN FIELD EDUCATION FOR STUDENTS, FIELD INSTRUCTORS AND FIELD LIAISONS:
The books in bold font are highly recommended reading. The cost of professional material and related expenses that Field Instructors and Field Liaisons incur may also be a professional business deduction for tax purposes. Please save your receipts and consult with your tax advisor.

Following receipt of notice of disciplinary action and/or termination from the BSW or MSW program, if a student can demonstrate that due process was not followed, the student may ask the Department Chair in writing to call a Student Status Review Committee (SSRC) to review the process. The purpose of the SSRC is to ensure that due process procedures were followed. Due process involves a determination of whether the departmental procedures and policies have been followed leading to a decision of disciplinary action and/or termination of a student from the program. Requests for review by the SSRC must be made by the student directly to the Department Chair. The Department Chair will then follow these procedures:

- The Department Chair will appoint two social work faculty members and a faculty member from the College of Health and Human Services to form a committee to review the procedures followed by the department and determine if due process was afforded to the student.
- The committee will send a recommendation to the Department Chair, who will make the final decision regarding due process and notify the student in writing of that decision.
- If the committee and the Department Chair concur that due process was followed, the disciplinary action and/or termination decision will remain. However, if the committee and/or Department Chair find that due process was not followed, the Department Chair will take appropriate action to reassess the original disciplinary action and/or termination decision in order for a student to be provided with due process.
- Students who wish to appeal the Departmental decision may follow the procedures outlined in the University catalog for appealing a decision made by the department.
