GrainBridge

WHAT IT DOES FOR YOU

When you have grain to move, market volatility and emotion don't have to dictate your every move. With GrainBridge, one sophisticated but surprisingly simple web platform delivers game-changing resources to help growers and grain buyers make the most informed decisions. Integrating valuable data from multiple sources so no matter when it's time to sell, you can be sure you're making the right call and getting the best value for your grain – every time.

Future versions of the app will incorporate agronomic and risk management tools, allowing you to utilize one application for all of your business needs. The goal is to maximize your integrated data and further enhance user operational management.

FEATURES

LOCATIONS

With immediate access to local and regional ADM and Cargill elevators, enhance your logistical efficiency while avoiding any unforeseen delays. Real-time alerts and wait-time notifications make sure you are always in the know.

MARKET OPTIONS

Navigate available markets for final grain sale value to support your marketing decisions in real time.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

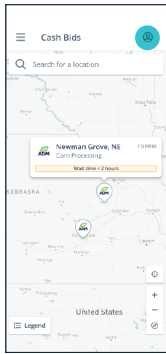

Direct communication between elevator and grower provides additional support capabilities at all hours of the day. Local elevators are constantly sending product updates such as pricing and specials, ensuring every piece of relevant information is available to you.

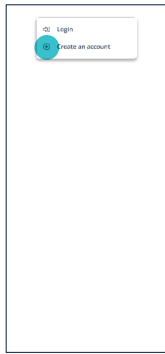

CONSOLIDATED GRAIN POSITION

Provides one place to get an aggregated view of your grain account information from multiple grain buyers. Easily access and view the details of your contracts, scale tickets and settlements.
