

Farm to Fork

Durham's food scene has been widely celebrated as one of the best in the US, but where does all that great food come from? Take a journey out of town and into some of the close-by areas where great things happen for Durham's food community; meet the farmers, see the animals, and see the fields that your next memorable meal in Durham will come from. Enjoy!

► Located on Foster St. at the pavilion at Durham Central Park.

1 Durham Farmers' Market

501 Foster St | www.durhamfarmersmarket.com

Get your first taste of the Bull City at the Durham Farmers' Market. Expect to find fresh, locally grown produce and herbs (including organic), and other decorative plants, eggs, meats, cheeses, and more from over 60 local vendors. The Market features regular cooking demos by local chefs, many of whom source fresh produce on-site for use in their respective restaurants. This popular market is a staple Saturday activity for many locals and has been featured in publications ranging from The New York Times to Bon Appétit.

Sa, 8am-12pm (Apr-Nov), 10am-12pm (Dec-Mar); Wed 3:30pm-6:30pm, (May-Sep). (2 hours.)

► 5 minute walk to many of Durham's finest downtown restaurants.

2 Farm-to-Table Lunch

Now that you've had a taste of Durham, it's time for a meal! The Durham Farmers' Market is only a five-minute walk to many of downtown's finest restaurants. Thanks to a thriving colony of imaginative chefs and a passionate community of locavores, it's no wonder that Durham has been named the Tastiest Town in the South. Consult www.durham-nc.com/restaurants for recommendations and find out what all the buzz is about! (1 hour.)

► Head north on US 15-501/N. Roxboro St. for 11 miles. Turn right onto Bahama Rd., drive 4 miles, then turn right onto Hall Rd. and drive for 1.5 miles. Elodie Farms will be on the left.

3 Elodie Farms

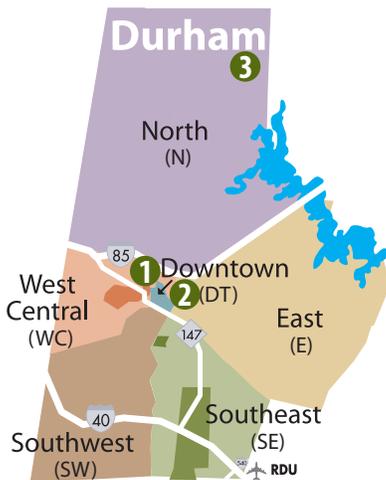

9522 Hampton Rd, Rougemont NC 27572
(919) 479-4606 | www.elodiefarms.com

A mere 30-minute drive north of Downtown Durham lies Elodie Farms, a goat farm and creamery whose cheeses are sold at area farmers' markets and specialty restaurants. The 21-acre family-owned farm regularly offers agritourism events and regularly welcomes visitors for farm tours. Tours provide visitors the opportunity to experience the entire cheese-making process – from the milking room to the cheese kitchen. Approximately 45 minutes in length, tours end in a cheese tasting. Call in advance to schedule. (3 hours.)
