Melody Cook is the Creative Director at CNAS. Cook has over 15 years of experience creating visual tools that communicate and explain complex national security challenges. Working closely with CNAS experts, Cook leads the design team in creating videos, reports, infographics, and data visualizations in support of the Center’s research efforts.

Prior to joining CNAS in January 2015, Cook worked at the Office of Naval Research (ONR), the Navy’s premier science and technology research organization. At ONR, she worked as a senior communications analyst where she learned the value of using design tools to help translate science to a broader audience.

Cook has an MA in graphic design from George Mason University and a BA in international business from Whitworth University. Her design interests include branding, event design, and data visualization.
