

ELLIE MARUYAMA is a Research Associate in the Energy, Economics and Security Program at the Center for a New American Security (CNAS).

Prior to joining CNAS, Ms. Maruyama worked in the Office of the Executive Director for Japan at the World Bank. She also interned in the Political, Security and Development Section at the European Union Delegation to the United States.

Ms. Maruyama earned her M.A. in International Affairs from Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs, where she studied International Energy Management and Policy. She graduated cum laude from the University of California, San Diego, with a B.A. in International Studies.