

Emma Swislow is the Associate Editor at CNAS. In addition to editing and coordinating written research products from across the Center, she coordinates the Joseph S. Nye, Jr. National Security Internship and Mentoring Program, where she provides support and guidance to interns during their time at CNAS. Swislow also curates the Make Room newsletter and assists with The Pitch, an annual event that elevates new and emerging voices in the national security field.

Prior to joining CNAS, Swislow interned at Stars and Stripes as a Dow Jones News Fund Multiplatform Editing Intern. While there, she wrote and edited articles about issues and events that impact the military community.

Swislow is from Chicago, Illinois, and graduated magna cum laude from Amherst College with a BA in English and geology. At Amherst, she was the editor-in-chief of The Amherst Student, the student newspaper on campus.
