Our theme for 2015 is Families: Called to Justice. In the book of Amos we read, “…let justice roll down like waters, and righteousness like an everflowing stream.” (Amos 5:24, NRSV) Those words are both thrilling and terrifying. What is the justice we seek? How do we experience God’s justice? What do we see in the world around us that calls for God’s justice? And as families, what does it mean to be called to justice? For Christians, probably the simplest way to look at God’s justice is God’s desire for all to be treated as God would treat them.

Think for a minute of what you know about the injustices in our world today. Here are some of the questions related to justice:

- Where is justice at school when children who are different in some way are bullied by others?
- Where is justice for those who have been abused and cannot face their abusers?
- Where is justice when there are those who work hard each day and do not have enough to support their family?
- Where is justice when older adults who can no longer care for themselves suffer at the hands of caregivers?
- Where is justice when those seeking freedom in a new land are ignored or vilified?
- Where is justice when loved ones are randomly shot and killed in street violence?

These questions call upon all of us who claim the name Christian to examine our ways of living, participate in the study of scripture, and to practice justice in our homes, our churches, our schools, our workplaces, and our communities.

We believe you can begin by supporting the families through observing Christian Home Month, using the suggestions here to strengthen the home as a place for living justly, and designating a day of prayer to pray that all families might be places of love, peace, justice, and hope.
Call to Worship

Leader: Come! Gather near to praise God, the creator of us all.

People: We come to recognize and support families who practice justice in their homes and communities, and in the world.

Leader: Come! Gather near to listen to God’s call to speak out on behalf of the oppressed.

People: We come praying for families who struggle for fair treatment, who are without communities who care for them.

All: Let us worship, trusting in God’s love and mercy. Praise be to God!

A Litany for Families

Leader: Let us give thanks...

People: For families that work hard to be caring and supportive of one another and help other families gain strength.

Leader: Let us pray...

People: For families suffering because of abuse, who feel separated from God, who experience constant hardship, or are without homes.

Leader: Let us speak...

People: For families that are judged wrongly, for those caught in a system of mistrust and greed, and for families for whom the world is a cold and uncaring place.

Leader: Let us seek guidance...

People: For families who read the scripture, pray together, worship in the home and seek to be faithful disciples of Jesus Christ.

ALL: O God, we are your children. Help us remember that justice was not meant for only a few but was intended for all. Open our eyes for the ways we as a community of faith can be a witness to all in our homes, in our communities, and in our world. AMEN.
CALLED TO JUSTICE: FAMILY DEVOTIONAL TIMES

- Talk together in the family about what is justice. Justice is when all of God’s creation (the earth, animals, people) are treated with love and care so that all have what they need. We have injustice when some do not have food or shelter; when the earth is harmed; when there is inequality because of culture, ethnicity, or religion.

- Sort through clothing and belongings. Find those items that are in great shape, but are no longer being used by your family. Give these items to clothing closets or shelters.

- Take the word JUSTICE and create an acrostic – J.U.S.T.I.C.E. Using each letter of the word, list words or phrases that become a prayer. For example:

  Jesus
  Undergird us so that your life
  Shines and
  Tells others of God’s desire for Justice
  In our Communities and homes
  Everywhere. Amen

- Place on your dining table cards with the following discussion starters on them. Once a week choose a card and invite everyone at the table to say what they think.
  - Tell about an act of justice you’ve read about in the paper or seen on television and say why you think this is important.
  - Name someone who you know prays for you. Why do you think this person prays for you?
  - Think of another country where you would like to live. Tell us which country and why you would like to live there.
  - Tell about something you’ve seen this week that you feel was unjust. Why?
  - Where did you see someone taking care of God’s earth this week? What did they do?
  - Tell about a time when you gave up something for Lent. What was it? How did this make you feel?
  - Who is the nicest person you know? Why?
  - Who are the people you feel sorriest for? Why?
  - What is your most important treasure in life? Why?
  - Tell about something you saw in nature that made you glad for God’s creation.

- Plan a family day for helping others. Contact agencies in your community and find one that will allow your entire family to volunteer for an evening activity or a weekend.

- Set aside a family game night at least once a month. Rotate which family member chooses the games each month. Play games together chosen by that family member.

- Borrow enough hymnals from your church so that each family member has one. Do a search of songs that speak about justice. Sing the ones you know. Try to learn one new one.

- Establish a Family Covenant for Living Justly. This covenant can be renewed every three months; however, the basic elements of the covenant stay intact. The promise of love, forgiveness, acceptance, truthfulness, growth and witness is the basis of the covenant. This leads to living justly in the family.

FAMILY COVENANT FOR JUSTICE

This covenant will be in effect from _______________ (beginning date) to _______________ (ending date).

In order that our family may be one that promotes justice as we learn to live in this world together, we promise one another to:

1. Seek God’s presence through regular Bible study, reflection and prayer together.
2. Love one another unconditionally – loving the person even while naming behaviors that might need to be changed.
3. Be truthful to all members of the family.
4. Spend time together determining ways we can do our part to care for the whole world: recycling; taking food to food banks; providing clothing for clothing closets.
5. Learn about hunger. Eat with, prepare, and/or serve one meal for the homeless.
6. Educate our family about justice issues in our church and community and together write a letter to an official in local, state or national government either praising their efforts for justice or asking for them to take action for justice.

Additional articles and ministry ideas are available at: http://www.umcdiscipleship.org/leadership-resources/intergenerational-family-ministries.
1. The congregation prays for the retreat, the participants, and the team that will plan the retreat.

2. A retreat planning team is created, made up of 3-5 people in the congregation.

3. The retreat team meets and: Chooses a date and location; decides on the study to use; designs and plans the retreat; prepares a budget; secures a location; recruits leaders; plans times for prayer and worship; arranges all food needs; plans an offering for an organization in the community that has as its mission helping families in need of lodging and food; designs a flyer or announcement which includes a registration form and information about fees, dates, and location.

4. The team prepares for publicity and promotion. Someone from the team prepares information and distributes it through the church newsletter, e-letters, worship bulletins, and other avenues in the congregation. Regular notices and registration forms should appear beginning six months prior to the retreat and leading up to the week prior to the retreat.

5. The team collects supplies needed for the retreat. Those needed, if following this retreat model: hymnals or songbooks/sheets, Bibles, board games, sports equipment, bag of miscellaneous items (e.g. masking tape, box of tissues, car keys, hula hoop, basketball, running shoes, toothbrush, roll of toilet paper, towel, spatula, hat, etc.), Christian Home Month (a copy for each participant), poster board for each group, markers, writing paper, magazines, scissors, glue, a movie that focuses on justice such as Glory Road or Remember the Titans (or another movie of your choice that you have reviewed and deemed appropriate), play dough, chenille sticks, drawing paper, markers.

Friday

- 4:00–6:00 P.M. – Registration

- 6:30–7:00 P.M. – Dinner (A served meal or bring-your-own-bag supper)

- 7:30–8:15 P.M. - Divide participants into “family” groups of 4-6 (mixing up actual family members with others in the congregation). Have a bag of miscellaneous items available and let each group choose an item. Instruct all participants that each family group gets the next 30 minutes to prepare a short commercial, no longer than 90 seconds. The commercial must be on the theme of “justice.” Find one or two people to be emcees for the show. As family groups prepare their commercial, the emcees should wander among the groups to create a list of commercial titles and set an order for the “performances.”

- 8:15–9:00 P.M. Let the emcees guide groups through presenting their family commercials on justice to the total group. At the conclusion, ask them to list some key words or phrases they heard that help us focus on justice.

Saturday

Ask each group to read Amos 5:24. Ask each group to talk together about what would make ‘justice’ flow in their community. What would need to change? What would need to continue to happen? Make a list of these items. Next to each item, ask the group to list places or groups that address each of the issues of justice the group has raised. Using the magazines provided, ask each group to find pictures that would show what is needed to make each item listed “just” in your community. For instance, if “not everyone has enough food” is listed, select pictures of food. Glue the pictures onto the poster board to create a poster of what is needed.

- 10:30–11:00 A.M. – Break

- 11:00–11:45 A.M. - Distribute hymnals or song books to each group. Give them 15 minutes to locate a hymn or song that helps talk about justice. Ask them to rehearse this song so that they can teach it to the total group. Call the group together and invite each family group to share their poster and their song.

- NOON–1:00 P.M. – Lunch

- 1:00–5:30 P.M. - Afternoon Fun. Encourage naps and recreation.

- 5:30–6:30 P.M. – Dinner

- 6:30–8:30 P.M. - Watch a movie that addresses “justice”, such as: Remember the Titans, Selma, Glory Road, or Akeelah and the Bee. As the group watches the movie, invite them to use the chenille sticks, play dough, or art materials to show visually what justice looks like to them.
At the end of the movie, take some time to reflect together what they saw in the movie that helps us know ways to bring about justice.

8:30–8:45 P.M. - Break
