Notes and caveats	All data is drawn from government survey results and is subject to any associated limitations or distortions present in the source data. The Population Census dataset provider has renamed the admin2 boundaries to conform with the current (2020) administrative division at district level. For this reason, some records at admin2 level correspond to more than one district, stating two names and two P-Codes in their respective fields. Language and dialect naming conventions in the census are sometimes unclear and in some cases have been re-named to the English naming convention. Language shares below 0.1% of an area population have been discarded. As a result languages may not be present at Medium administrative levels. All decimal values have been rounded to a maximum of 3 decimal places. As a result language shares may not total 100%. Empty values represent non-existent data and should not be treated as zero values.

Data confidence descriptions

Examples

High	Data from well regarded government census or other specialist organisation.
Medium	Data from quality source but without clear methodology or inverse.
Low	Data known to be erroneous or based on non-statistical or imprecise data.

Factors increasing confidence Data is corroborated. Data can be directly applied to administrative areas without aggregation or manipulation.

Factors decreasing confidence Data is disputed. Data requires transformation that may affect accuracy for example combining admin 2 data to form admin 1 data.
