Tax office involved in three major projects

The Angelina County Tax Office appears to be one of the busiest places in town as it is simultaneously involved in three major projects; voter registration, license plate renewals and computing tax information.

Prior to this interview, Angelina County Tax Assessor-Collector Doug Allem was enjoying a morning of bliss as he finally ended a night long surge to prepare voter registration cards for mailing to their prospective holders. Not only Doug, but a number of County employees had spent the night in town computing the cards which were issued to approximately 32,173 voters.

Allem mentioned that he is not sure what would happen if President Carter enacts his "instant voter" process that would eliminate voter registration altogether. If this plan became enacted, all the voter would have to do is sign his name at the polls before voting. Allem added that such a process would make it difficult to tell who was voting illegally and who was not.

A second project being undertaken by the tax office is vehicle registration. Beginning January, 1978, county residents who own vehicles will be obtaining their license plate renewals on the same basis that they receive their car inspection stickers. In reference to this new format, Allem mentioned that not everyone's vehcle will expire on the same date, but will continue to expire on the same month that they were previously issued. The plan has been enacted to cut down on the heavy load of persons applying for new license tags by arranging it so not everyone's tags expire at the same time.

Of additional interest, the new license tags are being issued on a more general basis rather than having special tags for different types of vehicles, such as cars, trucks, trailers and boats. According to Allem, the new plan will definately cut down on heavy customer load.

The new tags will include a special number which will enable law enforcers to recognize a tag which has expired in much the same way that they can spot an expired inspection sticker.

Project number three, which is currently being tackled by employees of the tax office, involves the computing of tax information. Phase one of the project is currently underway as the City of Lufkin has previously agreed to allow the County to use their computer system. Allem states that being allowed to feed tax information into the City Computer is saving the County nearly $5,000 a year. Before the agreement, the County had to send all of its information 200 miles to have it computed on data sheets, costing the County nearly $15,000. Even then the County could not be assured that the date received was right.

Now, information concerning County taxpayers, including exactly what they are paying taxes on, being fed into the City of Lufkin computers. In the tax office, there is a mini-computer system which keeps records only on the date taxes are paid and how much is received.

As the tax office moves into phase two of the program, they hope someday to have an in-line feed to the City which would allow the County to send information directly into

City Commission gets visit from dope sniffing dog

The Lufkin City Commissioners had a surprise visitor entertain them during their regularly scheduled meeting Tuesday of last week in the Council Chambers of City Hall. Before beginning their discussion on a rather lengthy agenga, the Lufkin Police Department allowed one of the newest members of the force to demonstrate his keen nose. "Rocky" is a police dog just recently purchased by the Lufkin Police Department to help sniff out illegal drugs in area schools and to assist in various other duties.

Before the commission meeting began, a container of marijuana was concealed in one area of the Council Chambers and it was left up to Rocky to locate it. At the sound of a command from his superior, Rocky took off on the search making loop turns between some spectators' legs. On his final turn, Rocky made his way behind the council table and came to rest between the chairs of City Manager Harvey Westerholm and City Commissioner Pat Foley. Although the two had no distinct idea on how the container of marijuana got in their area, Rocky finally ended up planting his nose in a small trash container under the council table, uncovering a rather large blue conatiner with the drug concealed inside. Accidents are an unnecessary part of hunting season

It happens every year about this time. Earlier in the season, usually when the first hint of cool weather arrives, hunters begin checking out wooded areas for signs of deer, cleaning guns and sharpening their marksmanship skills with a little target practice; all in preparation for the opening of deer season.

Also part of the season, are numerous annoucements on radio, television and in newspapers concerning hunting safety. Hunters undoubtably hear these announcements and most are probably honestly concerned with safety, but too often these warnings are forgotten when the hunter hears the rustle of what might be a deer after waiting for a few hours on a cold morning.

It is an unpleasant, but valid, fact that hunting accidents are a part of hunting season. Undoubtably this fall, news broadcasts will carry several reports of persons who were killed or unjured because they were mistaken for a deer, climbing a fence or tree while handling their carelessly or cleaning their guns in a careless manner. How many times has someone attempted to explain a death with a phrase such as, "I didn't think it was loaded," or "I thought he was a deer?"

This article boils down to another warning about hunting safety, but all the outsider can do is warn. The hunter is on his own when out in the woods and one can only hope that he has had a gun safety course, which he took seriously, or has the common sense to use a gun safely.

Gun safety courses will probably one day to a requirement for receiving a hunting license, but until then, and even after that time, it is up to the hunter to be responsible enough to handle the gun properly and know that he is shooting at.

As in most other unpleasant events, the victim was usually of the belief that it could never happen to him, but it can...and does. Be careful.

From the Trimbles

Since arriving in England two months ago, Diane and I have finally reached the point of accepting and appreciating English customs and traditions. Hot tea in the afternoon, crumpets, steak-and-kidney pie, and nights out in the pubs have all become commonplace to us as we have settled in Durham. But there is still a lot to be said about British habits, particularly those that are not known to Americans. One of these happens to be the English holiday that falls on Nov. 5th each year, Guy Fawkes Day.

Guy Fawkes was a leader in a conspiracy that plotted to blow-up the Houses of Parliament around the early 17th century, I believe. English historians who read this may correct me about the date, for I am only guessing. Anyway, the infamous 'Gunpowder Plot' was uncovered before the blast was set off, and Guy Fawkes and company were arrested, convicted, and put to death. It does seem like unusual circumstances upon which to hold a national holiday, but believe me, it's almost like our Fourth of July.

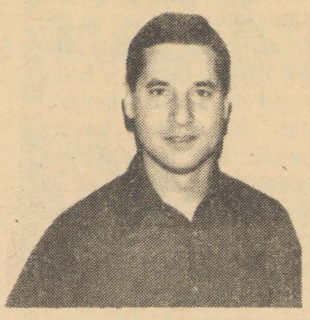

In fact, both celebrations are characterized by similarities. Children, as well as adults, look forward to Guy Fawkes Day mostly because of the opportunity to set off fireworks. In this respect Guy Fawkes Day did seem like the 4th, since it was not unusual to hear strings of firecrackers go off at all hours of the evening. Fireworks were readily available in Durham, as they were purchasable at book stores, newstands, and sporting goods shops. The thought of being able to buy bottle rockets and Roman candles at a book store constitutes some rather odd merchandising and retailing, but I assume that these shop owners have been selling such wares for quite some time. As well as being legal to sell fireworks within the city boundaries, it is also permissible to set them off within the city limits also. I do not know whether the police frown on such activity, but the practice is certainly very legal at the present.

Another traditional facet of Guy Fawkes Day is the 'punishment' of the old criminal himself. Huge piles of wood and brush are collected by children in preparation for the holiday. In the center of the woodstack there is a long pole or tree branch, an effigy of Mr. Fawkes is usually hanged. This ragamuffin replica of the old boy then just hangs there, while children gather around this makeshift memorial and sing folk songs and ballads. I hate to compare this ritual to singing carols around a Christmas tree, but since I seemed pressed for a comparison, that is the closest thing which I can come up with. After Mr. Fawkes has been allowed to sway in the breeze for a few minutes, and the children have tired of singing, some adults will light the wood, resulting usually in a bonfire that would be the envy of the Lufkin High Pep Squad and Cheerleaders. The flames inch towards the effigy who is hanging near the top of the heap, until they finally reach this down-trodden figure and consuem him in blazes. Of course, the burning of Guy Fawkes is what the holiday is all about!

More precisely, however, Guy Fawkes Day is a type of 'British' 4th of July, rather than a day to commemorate a would-be revolutionary of years. Not long ago, the holiday was regarded with somewhat of an "All's Right with Britain" atmosphere, and national pride was the theme. However, much like our own Independence Day, commercialism has struck hard and ruined some of the aspects that made Guy Fawkes Day a day of inspiration, as well as one of fun and fireworks.

I assume that Guy Fawkes Day will be a part of the British tradition for as long as, well, as long as there is a pub to sell a pint of beer. You know though, I just cannot help but feel sorry for Guy Fawkes. Almost 400 years since he was tried and put to death has passed, but he still has to suffer the consequences today for the sake of British tradition and merrymaking.

Guest evangelist featured at Calvary revival

Revival services concluded Friday night, Nov. 18th, at the Calvary Baptist Church, located at the corner of Montrose and Kerr streets in Lufkin.

Their guest evangelist for the revival, which lasted five days, was W.I. Thomas, D.D., a Bible Expositor and Evangelist with the Bibletime Evangelism Association, Inc., headquartered in Grand Saline, Tex.

Looking back on Thomas' past history: he received his associate degree at Tyler Junior College; went on to obtain his bachelor's degree at Baylor University in Waco, was educated in theology at Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth and has spent the past nine years in the field of evangelism.

Along with his wife and four children, Thomas makes his home in Grand Saline where he bagan the Bibletime Evangelism Association, Inc., in which he is the only member operating under the ministering organization. Before beginning his labor in the field of evangelism, W. I.

Thomas previously pastored several churches for an overall total of 22 years (lastly at the Trinity Church in Memphis and prior to that, the Central Baptist Church in Marshall).

In an interview held with Reverand Thomas before one of the evening services, the question was asked: If there was one statement that you could make to the christians today, what would it be? Thomas stated, "Christians today should familiarize themselves with and make a commitment to the word of God."

He went on to mention that the churches of today should slack off on trying to entertain the people to get them to go to church and let them know that God's blessings are in His word.

Doctor Herman L. Hendrix is the Pastor at Calvary Baptist Church of Lufkin and the public is invited to worship during their regular services held each Wednesday night at 7:15 and during their Sunday services held at 10:40 in the morning and 7 o'clock Sunday evening.

Memorial services scheduled for Nov. 27

The family of Rev. James A. Durham extends a corcial invitation to everyone to attend the memorial service at the Redtown Gospel Church on Nov. 27. The service will feature all day preaching and singing and dinner.

Rev. Durham established the day on his birthday many years before his death in 1949 and since then the service has been carried on by his family.

He founded the Gospel Church of Jesus Christ and was very well known throughout East Texas.

The esteem in which he was held is exemplified by the following tribute from Dr. Joe Williams of Corsiciana, Tex. in 1949:

The funeral service of the late Rev. Jim A. Durham, pioneer Minister of Redtown, near Lufkin, was a most unusual one, attracting thousands of people from every walk of life, including Ministers from many churches in various creeds, because of the request of Rev. Durham that his body lie in state for

FROM WALL STREET TO MAIN STREET

By Jerry Benson, Registered Representative with Edward D. Jones and Co., Members of the NY Stock Exchange.

What proof of ownership does an investor in securities have?

An investor receives a stock or bond certificate after he has purchased securities.

In the case of a stock certificate, the owner's name appears on the front side and it is registered in the owner's name and in the issuing agent's records. Although it is possible to have the certificates issued in the brokerage house's name and kept in safe keeping for the owner. The brokerage firm receives dividends, and credits them to the client's account. Normally on a monthly basis, the brokerage house sends a statement to its clients advising them of dividends, and other changes in the account.

With some bonds, the owners can request that the bond be a bearer bond and not be registered. The certificate in this case does not show the owners identity.

ON BUSINESS TERMS

In "street name" refers to securities which are registered in the name of the brokerage house. Normal margin accounts require that securities be registered in street name, and the client receives a monthly statement to confirm his ownership.

Stockholders to vote Nov. 30 on proposed Southland merger

Southland stockholders will vote Wednesday, Nov. 30, on the proposed merger of Southland with St. Regis Paper Company.

The special meeting is scheduled for 11 a.m. in the Auditorium of First City East Building, 1111 Fannin, Houston.

Stockholders of St. Regis will meet the preceding day in New York to vote on the proposal.

Directors of the two companies executed in August a definite agreement for the acquisition of Southland. The announcement was made jointly by Melvin E. Kurth, Jr., Chairman of the Board of Southland, and George J. Kneeland, Chairman of St. Regis.

The transaction is subject to certain conditions, including the receipt from the Internal Revenue Service of a ruling that the merger will be tax-free to Southland's shareholders.

Also, in order that the transaction may be accounted for as a "pooling of interests" the merger proposal is conditioned on the holders of not more than 671,710 Southland shares exercising their right to dissent and receive payment for their shares.

Under provisions of the proposed transaction, which was announced in June of this year, Southland shareholders would receive 1.1 shares of St. Regis common stock for each share of Southland common stock. St. Regis currently owns 37.3 per cent, or about four million shares, of Southland's 10.7 million outstanding shares.

If the merger is effected, St. Regis has agreed to nominate to its Board of Directors Kurth and Daniel B. Burke, President and Director of Capital Cities Communications, Inc., which owns 358,700 shares of Southland stock.

Capital Cities owns and operates a number of newspapers in Texas, Illinois, Michigan, California and New York. One of its newspapers, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, was a founding shareholder in Southland when the company pioneered the manufacture of newsprint from Southern pine trees in 1940.

St. Regis is a fully-integrated forest-based products company whose primary lines of business are the manufacture and sale of pulp, paper and paperboard, packaging, other converted products and construction materials. The operations of the company are international in scope.

The company's Texas operations include packaging and converting plants in Houston, Dallas, Garland and Mineral Wells. The company had its beginning as a newsprint producer around the turn of the century, but has not manufactured newsprint in more than 40 years.

Four St. Regis officials currently serve on the Southland Board of Directors. They are Kneeland; William R. Haselton, President; Edwin H. Jones, Jr., Executive Vice-President for Finance and Administration; and William R. Adams, a St. Regis Director and retired Chairman.

Proxy statements describing the proposed merger and soliciting its approval were mailed to Southland stockholders on Oct. 24.

County Tax Office employees look over appraisals on County property. The office began appraising property throughout the county last January; a process that will take an estimated four years to complete.

the City computer from the tax office. This would do away with the recording discs which currently hold the information involving the taxes being paid.

Phase three of the program will hopefully include the sending of delinquent tax notices each month after the expired date. Each year, County residents have from January to July to pay their taxes. After the taxes become delinquent, under the proposed plan, notices will be sent out to the residents in violation each month until the payments are received. Allem added that, when phase three becomes operational, the operating costs could jump up to nearly $10,000 a year. That, however, is still in the future.

The tax office is also in the process of appraising all land in the county, and updating records of property owners and past owners and recording the appraised value on record sheets. This is a task which began last January and will take approximately four years to complete.

terwards, knowing that Rocky had no business actually getting inside the container, his superior gave him a tennis ball to chew on to quench his curiosity.

Getting back to more seriour business, the Lufkin City Commission had a rather lengthy agenda to cover as they began to eliminate some of the less pressing items first. Among those items was the passage on the second reading of ordinance changing the speed zones on Frank Avenue and Bynum streets. Following this the commissioners passed the second reading of ordinance on a zone change application by Charles Fredrick from Residential Large to Commercial District covering the property located just east of Highway 59 north and north of Loop 287 between Davisville Road and Highway 59 north and north.

Getting back to more serious business, the Lufkin City Commission had a rather lengthy agenda to cover as they began to eliminate some of the less pressing items first. Among those items was the passage on the second reading of ordinance changing the speed zones on Frank Avenue and Bynum streets. Following this the commissioners passed the second reading of an ordinance on a zone change application by Charles Fredrick from residential large to commercial district covering the property located just east of Highway 59 north and north of Loop 287 between Davisville Road and Highway 59 north. Lastly, under consideration of old business, the commissioners approved the second reading of an ordinance for a zone change application by C.M. Hicks from local business and residential small to central business district, covering property located just north of Elm street between Thompson street and North Raguet streets of the Angelina Lumber Company addition, and passed a second reading of ordinance on a zone change application by John W. Perkins and Ernie Teer from residential large to commercial district covering the property fronting on Loop 287, north of Highway 103 east and east of Teer Street.

Under new business, the City Commission established a hearing date on a request for annexation and permanent zoning recommended by the Lufkin City Planning and Zoning Commission as proposed by the Sabine Investment Company for Crown Colony Subdivision section five, located south of the existing Crown Colony Subdivision and section three, located east of U.S. Highway 59 south, across from Angelina College.

The City of Lufkin will be purchasing additional new equipment for use by the Maintenance Department to better their service to the community. Among the purchases will be three Ford Courier pick-ups from low bidder Greater Lufkin Ford. The commissioners approved the purchase of the Ford's because they are economical and get good gas mileage. The city presently has a number of Couriers in operation and it has been said that the men working in the Maintenance Department are very pleased with them.

The city will also be purchasing a new Yazoo front cutting riding lawn mower with a 12 and one-half horsepower motor and an approximate 60 inch cut. The commissioners seconded the motion to purchase the mower from Halsell Small Engine Service in Fuller Springs.

An item under new business which created the majority of the discussion was that of Article 23.01-2 of the building code regarding the use of portable signs. Portable signs with the majestic lights shaped in the form of an arrow and containing a miniature marque under neath are on the increase as they stand out by the main thorougfares to lure customers. Under the standard building code, a port able sign must be within 12 inches of the property line in which they are stationed. The commissioners brought up the subject of whether to construct an ordinance to require a permit for each sign in the city. Whether or not the signs should be anchored to the ground was discussed by City Manager Harvey Westerholm. Anchoring would insure the safety of others and protect property in a strong wind. The commissioners decided to further discuss the matter during their next meeting.

In final business, it was announced that Louis Atkinson has chosen to resign from the City of Lufkin Board of Development, which oversees the budget for the Lufkin Visitor and Convention Bureau and also that of the Angelina County Chamber of Commerce. Atkinson had been with the Board of Development for the past three years and is now leaving on good terms.

From your County Agent

by Irene V. Johnson

Should I buy nuts shelled or in the shell? This question will be weighing heavy on the minds of many shoppers this holiday season.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) reports peanuts, almonds and walnuts to be plentiful. The 1977 pecan crop has more than doubled last year's.

To shell or not to shell, that is the question. Shelled is the answer if you are in a hurry with cooking and baking.

Buying nuts in the shell has its advantages, too. They are often cheaper than shelled nuts and shelling nuts can be a time for family fun.

When buying nuts, compare the cost. A good rule of thumb is two pounds of nuts in the shell equal one pound of nut meats. If the cost of two pounds of shelled nuts is the same for one pound of nut meats, then they are the same. If there is a difference, and there usually is, the difference is the extra price paid for shelling.

When buying unshelled nuts, look for those that are clean and free from scars, cracks or holes.

Shelled nut meats should be plump and meaty. The kernels should be crisp and brittle.

To have one pound of shelled nut meats, you would need the following amounts of unshelled nuts:

Almonds	3-1/2 lbs.
Brazil nuts	2-1/2 lbs.
Filberts	1-1/2 lbs.
Pecans	2- 2-1/2 lbs.
Walnuts (English)	2-1/2 lbs
Walnuts (Black)	5-1/2 lbs.

Here are some tips that will make shelling nuts for holiday cooking and eating easier.

Brazil Nuts -- 24 hours in the freezer will make the shell so brittle that they will yield to gentle cracking.

Pecans -- give up perfect halves if you soak them 6 - 8 hours in a cold salt solution (1/2 cup salt to 3 quarts water).

Walnuts -- yield to the hammer for best results. Hold the nut so it stands on the flat end. Strike the pointed end, giving it a sharp, bouncing blow.

After shelling, store nuts in a covered container in the refrigerator. You can freeze shelled nuts for eight to ten months, if properly packaged.

In general, one pound of shelled nut meats equals 3 to 3-1/2 cups. Whole nut meats make more cups per pound than halves, pieces, or chopped nuts.

Shelled nuts won't do for the nut bowl. Nuts depend on their oils for their pleasing flavor. When nuts are stale, the oils become rancid and unpalatable.

Nuts in the shell keep better than shelled nuts. Nuts keep better in a cool, dark place and unsalted ones keep better than salted ones.

Nuts can absorb off flavors and moisture. When this occurs, you will have a limp, tough, even moldy nut.

Davidson, Anderson transferred

CAP changes announced

LTC Paul Boss, Civil Air Patrol Group Seven Commander, announces the promotion of Capt. Dan Davidson to Major and his transfer to Group Headquarters staff at Tyler effective Nov. 15, 1977. At the same time, Lt. Barbara Anderson has been transferred from Administrative Officer to Commander of the Lufkin Composite Squadron, CAP.

Major Davidson will assume the position of Group Director of Material with the added duty of Advisor to the Commander for the Lufkin Unit.

As Director of Material, he will be responsible for acquiring, checking and issuing Department of Defense excess material and equipment to all the CAP units within seventh Group, maintaining proper records and reports, and disposing of obsolete and worn out equipment.

Major Davidson will maintain an office at the Lufkin Squadron Headquarters and travel to Tyler once a month for a Group Seven Staff meeting.

Major Davidson joined the Lufkin Composite Squadron, Civil Air Patrol in 1969 as an enlisted man and has worked his way up in virtually every position within the squadron to his present rank.

Civil Air Patrol regulation prohibit any member from holding the position of Commander for more than four years without at least a one year break. Major Davidson served as Commander of the Lufkin Squadron from February 1, 1973 to Nov. 15, 1977.

Lt. Anderson joined the Lufkin Composite Squadron Civil Air Patrol on March 10, 1975. Her husband Paul and son Dennis are also members of CAP. They reside at 1517 Durst St. in Nacogdoches.

Lt. Anderson is well versed in CAP having held the positions of Deputy Commander, Finance Officer and Administrative Officer in the Lufkin Squadron and has attended most training seminars.

She has attended all search missions in the East Texas area since joining CAP and has handled almost all positions from Radio Operator to Assistant to the Mission Coordinator. She has also flown as an observer and worked with Ground Search Teams.

Lt. Anderson stated today she would be making very few changes at this time. Her most pressing item, she said, was to build the squadron strength. We need both Senior and Cadet members, male and female. Anyone interested in joining CAP or desiring information is encouraged to attend a meeting at the Angelina County Airport any Tuesday night at 7 p.m. (Phone 829-3233) or write Lufkin Civil Air Patrol, 1517 Durst St., Nacogdoches, Texas 75961 or call Lt. Anderson at 564-1270.

Kiwanis Turkey Shoot termed 'the most successful ever'

This year's Kiwanis Turkey Shoot was the most successful ever, according to club President Lehman Booher.

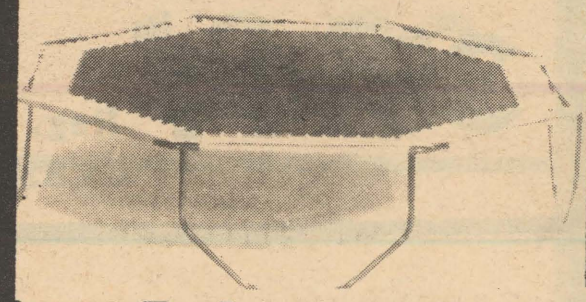

Advance ticket sales amounted to over $2,000. Sales at the event totaled $344, bringing the grand total for the event to $2,426.

Sixty-three turkeys were either won by marksmen or won in the drawings which were held every hour.

Booher added that over 6,000 rounds of ammunition were fired by persons attempting to shoot their own Thanksgiving dinner.

Stephen Foster Music Club receives award of merit

The Nov. 10 meeting of the Stephen Foster Music Club, member of the National and Texas Federations of Music Clubs, was held in the home of Mrs. Richard Haas and was called to order by President Mrs. John Orynawka.

An award of merit was received from the District Convention for a progressive dinner held by the club last May.

In other business, Mrs. Jerry Morgan, Mrs. J.A. Barrow and Mrs. Doyle Anderson were appointed to study ways that the club can serve the community through musical gifts.

A joint meeting between the Stephen Foster Music Club and the Lufkin Music Study Club is currently being planned.

Members attended a concert by Mr. Gene Philley following the meeting. Those attending were Medames Doyle Anderson, J.A. Barrow, R.F. Bradley Jr., Elliott Cavanaugh, Lonnie Gallas, Richard Hass, B.G. Massingill, Jerry Morgan, John Orynawka and Frank Shockley.

Grandmothers to man Salvation Army kettles

The Lufkin Grandmothers Club met Thursday, Nov. 10 at the home of Jesse Mills for a covered dish luncheon. The business meeting that followed the meal was opened with a poem and Thanksgiving prayer by Lillie Belle Athey.

President Myrtle Christenson presented Jim Ellis with a plaque for her "untiring efforts" on behalf of the club. She sold more quilt tickets than any other member.

Also during the meeting, members decided to man the Salvation Army kettles at Chestnut Village Shopping Center on Nov. 28 from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

The Christmas party, for members and their husbands, is scheduled for 7 p.m. Dec. 8 at the home of Pauline Ross.

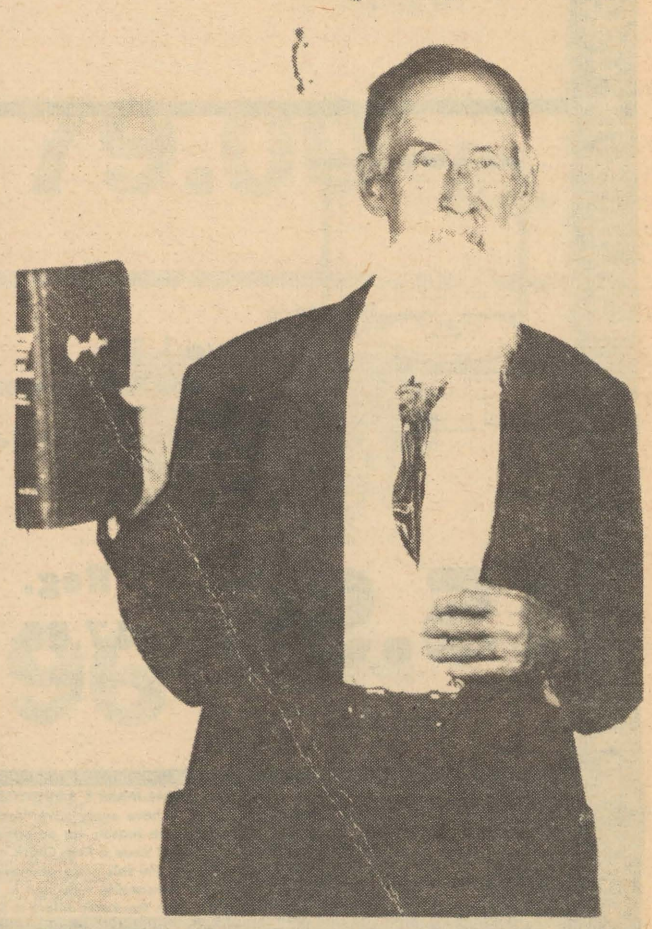

Members present included Pauline Ross, Jim Ellis, Jewel Norsworthy, Myrtle Rivers, Mary Ruth White, Annie Laura Still, Elizabeth Barrett, Audrey Lowrey, Esther Lowry, Jesse Mills, Inex Giles, Ada Kennerly, Myrtle Christenson and Lillie Belle Athey.

faithfully carried out by family, church, and friends, Rev. Homer Greenville being chairman of same, assisted by Rev. Lonnie Romine.

Rev. Durham had been a Minister of the Gospel for more than 65 years, preaching throughout East Texas during the early days when preachers were few, and the circuit rider with his umbrella across his saddle, and his Bible in his saddle-bags, brought religion to rural communities. I have ridden behind him on his horse many, many times to his services, when a child. His motto and teaching was: "It is better to suffer wrong. Than to do wrong," -- And in his preaching there was no note of selfishness! -- Every re-deemed soul becoming a member of "Our Heavenly Father's Household," making them brothers and sisters in Christ being his philosophy of life, and his only desire was to be an ambassador to lead people to Jesus Christ in whose name alone is Salvation from Sin.

Many years ago my good friend requested that when he passed away, if it was God's will, that I read the first three verses of the first chapter of Psalms at this funeral, and to quote the 8th verse of chapter 40 of Isa.: "The brass withereth, the flower fadeth; but the word of God shall stand forever"--and at the close of my remarks for my wife to sing the old hymn: "Where the tree of life is blooming, meet me there." Yes,--The grass has withered beneath the last footsteps of our departed Brother here on this earth!--The house-full of gorgeous flowers with which his remains were surrounded as a last tribute of loved ones, have faded by now!--But the word of our God shall stand forever! His body has been returned to the earth,--and his Spirit unto God who gave it! Jesus said: "I am the way, the truth, and the life.--Have Faith in God.--And Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world.--He that endureth unto the end shall be saved." Hold to your faith. (Taking God at his word)--and you will get all the help that you ask! You will draw from the invisible the things you need, including hope and courage, and strength for your journey "Through the Valley of the Shadow of Death." Have faith in God!--and--"Where the tree of life is blooming, meet me there."--Dr. Joe B. Williams, Corsicana, Texas.

Jack Frost not totally responsible for fall colors

Most people expect autumn's colors to show after the season's first frost. Cold weather is associated with the colors of fall.

However, contrary to popular opinion, Jack Frost is not totally responsible for the leaves and their annual fall showing of red, yellows, greens and finally browns.

In fact, some of the sweetgum and black gum trees as well as smaller bushes and other hardwoods have started turning shades of yellow, green and red already.

"More important than whether we have a frost or not, are whether we have shorter daylight hours, how much rain we get and what the temperatures are," according to Ernie Smith, District Forester with the Texas Forest Service.

"These factors of temperature, daylight, rainfall and sunlight combine with chemical processes within the leaves to produce the autumn colors."

Internally, the leaves have served the trees as food factories during spring and summer. Then, in the fall, these factories breakdown operation and all their food is stored in the body of the tree for use the following spring.

If there is more food in the leaves than can be sent to the body of the tree, that chemical combination with other substances produces several shades of color ranging from bright reds of the dogwood to the deeper red-browns of most oaks.

In the East Texas area, November is usually the best time for fall color displays. Bright, clear, dry weather during cool periods brings out the brightest colors.

As evident now by the first colors in local forests, sweetgum, black gum and sumac are the first species to show their beauty. Soon, dogwood and red maple will follow with their reds ranging from burgundy to fire engine shades.

Others that can be expected to show off their best colors will be the oaks, sassafras and crape myrtle with their shades of red. Yellows appear later in elms, oaks, hickories, yellow poplar, river birch, red bud and persimmon.

Depending on the local weather and the species variety, almost every color in the ranibow can be expected this fall in the East Texas region.

The best areas to view mother Nature's handiwork are those with varieties of trees and shrubs. While hardwood species provide the spectacle of bright colors, pines and other evergreens furnish the local pictures with a stable background of greens. Low-lying areas and those around rivers and streams usually provide the best array of colors.

Take time to enjoy the forests.

The Mayflower, Plymouth Rock, the Pilgrims, they have all been so romanticized down the years that our images of them & the truth, are, well, centuries apart. Lets begin with the name, "Plymouth" it was spelled Plimoth, (or Plimmoth) in the 1620's. As for the Pilgrims, most of them as we have come to believe did not parade around in somber grays or blacks, heads bowed. Moreover they were a mixed group, those one hundred Mayflower passengers. Among them was the Leyden Congregation, which came to the New World after a twelve year exile in Holland, but these defectors from the Church of England were joined by a quite different group, homespun from families mainly from the southeast of England. Religion Motivated some of the Colonists, but many emigrated for economic reasons. The colonists' clothes were not drab grays, browns or black, but were scarlet blue, pink or purple, mixed with a quite gray, brown or black. These were a people closer to Columbus (1492) than to American Independence (1776). They were a medieval people & came woefully ill, prepared to carve a colony out of the New World Wilderness. Plimoth Plantation dates not to 1620, the year of the Mayflowers' arrival, but to 1627, the last year Plimoth remained within its wooden enclosure, (afterward Colonists moved into the surrounding Country side to work for them solves instead of for the good of the group.) Their houses were dim, smoke filled & sparrely furnished. (few colonists had beds & slept instead on pallets on the floor.) Their yards were littered with bones, parings & other fallout of cooking, pumpkins in the fileds, also corn, squash, all foed the Indians taught the Colonists to cultivate, that kept the Plymoth Plantation from extinction. Their life was grim, basic only half of the one hundred Colonists survived the first winter. Their food was rustic, heavy, high calorie, an odd mixture of English & Indian. Their principal meats were chicken, game, birds, deer, pork & fish. (the few cows, first introduced in 1624 were milk producers) They had no sugar or molasses, but used dark beer & ales as sweetners & their flour was corn flour. Our traditional Thanksgiving is in fact more Victorian than Pilgrim. It was a roistering secular, "Harvest Home" much like those celebrated in England after the ingathering of crops. "That First Feast in 1621 was a long one, to prepare for it, Governor William Bradford sent four of the best hunters into the woods & they returned with wild ducks, gueese, turkeys & deer, which the women stuffed & roasted. Pilgrims fancied spicy, sweet stuffings instead of the heavily saged stuffings we prefer today. Recipes, in the beginning were rustic - simple soups, stews & fish hashes that could be cooked over open fires & as for sweets - sweet puddings that could be steamed in kettles on the hearths. Thanksgiving is now one of the truly American holidays. It is a time for family gatherings & get together among friends & above all it is a time for good cooking. Entrees of pork, deer, turkey, delicious autumn vegetables & fresh baked homemade rolls, pies & cakes, will complete your menu. For decorations, the corn copies spilling over with Autumn fruits, English Walnuts, pecans, squash & Indian Corn. A cook need not be the world's greatest gourmet to produce a Thanksgiving meal she'll be proud of---Happy Thanksgiving.

Basketball registration underway

Largest group in town works to give bands a boost

Believe it or not, the largest organization in the Lufkin area is not the Rotary Club, the Lions, Kiwanis or any of the other widely known groups. It is the Lufkin Band Boosters.

The 475 members of the Band Boosters work throughout the year in various fund raising projects in order to help sponsor band trips, awards, camps and numerous other activities. In fact, since the club's founding in 1970, its sole purpose has been to support the school bands of Lufkin.

A major fund raising project sponsored by the Boosters is the sale of concessions at Lufkin High School and junior high football games and track meets. Some of the proceeds from these sales are used to buy the band letter jackets which are presented annually to senior band members. Another event sponsored by the Boosters is a high school band trip each summer.

As a result of these projects and others, such as the fish fry at the Hush Puppy Olympics and the sale of band calendars, LHS band members not only were able to attend a week-long band camp in Palestine last summer, but also enjoyed a three-day visit to the Cottonbowl in Dallas.

Band Booster President, Leland Gay, said that the club has just released their annual band calendars which feature photographs of all four Lufkin bands. The calendar is currently on sale at the schools for $2.50 each.

Lufkin Band Boosters meet on the second Monday of each month. Their next meeting will be held Dec. 12 and will feature a covered dish supper. One does not have to be a parent of a band member in order to join the organization. Anyone interested in helping the Lufkin band program is invited to attend the meetings.

Daughters of Republic of Texas hear speaker

The Mary Hall Mantooth Chapter of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas met Nov. 9, with Mrs. Arthur T. Cloyd, President, and Miss Elizabeth Jenkins, Treasurer, serving as co-hostesses.

Guest speaker, Mr. Joe Ericson, Head of the Department of Political Science Stephen F. Austin University, presented the program on "Judges of East Texas". Beginning with the Justice of the Peace and inferior courts proceeding to the Chief Justice and superior courts, Mr. Ericson outlined court structure and presented some of the difficulties encountered by early judges, while applying simple frontier justice, a replica of the states from which they came.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ericson, Nacogdoches and Mr. J.B. Hill.

In Houston one might call it the Light House Mission. In Dallas it could be called the Wayward Inn. But in Lufkin its called the Light House Chapel; and so it is. Reverend Buster Lewis began the Light House Chapel some years ago with the idea of offering spiritual help for outsiders. It is a mission aimed at providing a place to go when there is no place to go; a place to sleep when sleep is at hand; a place to think things out and better aquaint oneself with the reality that there is someone who loves and cares for people. However, its a place which, emphasizes that persons can only make decisions for themselves. The Lighthouse Chapel is open 24 hours a day and also offers evening and morning services during the week. The Light House Chapel is located across from the Angelina Hotel in downtown Lufkin, next door to the Texas Bus Line Terminal.

Choir Director to address state convention in Arkansas

The Lufkin Junior High West choir director, Sampy Wall, will be in Little Rock, Ark., on Tuesday, Nov. 22, to address the state's junior high choral directors. He will be speaking on teacher preparation and continuing growth during the Arkansas Choral Directors Association state convention. Having conducted several teacher workshops, this lecture-demonstration is another part of Wall's professional growth and his continuing efforts to aid other directors in the improvement of teaching at the junior high level.

Over the weekend Wall served as clinician at the annual Middle School Honor choir clinic for the Dallas Independent School District. This involved seven hours rehearsal and a concert with 240 junior high students. He is a judge for U.I.L. contests and has served as clinician at the junior high level for all-region, honor, and festval choirs throughout Texas. His choirs have received consistently high ratings in U.I.L. competition including numerous sweepstakes awards.

Mr. Wall was graduated from North Texas State University in 1966 with a bachelors degree and has completed some work towards a masters degree, also at NTSU. Upon graduation he taught five years at Runnels Junior High in Big Spring, the last year of which he also taught at the high school. He then did team-teaching for three years in McAllen during which time his Lincoln Junior High A Cappella Choir sang a concert of contest music at the 1973 Texas Music Educators Association Convention in San Antonio. He was employed for two years in the Edinburg Public Schools with primary responsibilities at South Junior High. Wall is now completing his second year in Lufkin.

Wall has taught private voice and performed as a soloist all during his career. His professional organizations include Texas Music Educators Association, Texas and American Choral Directors Associations, Texas State Teachers Association and National Education Association.

His wife, Cindy, teaches elementary music at St. Cyprian's Episcopal Day School. They have two children, Angela and Sampy, III.

GETHSA Health Systems Plan completed

After months of hard work the first Greater East Texas Health Systems Agency (GETHSA) Health Systems Plan has been completed.

Instead of using a "health facilities" approach, the plan is a "population based plan which, according to GETHSA officials, allows for flexibility and encouraging innovative approaches. This will enable the HSA to plan for the needs of the people, and to plan for good health and safety awareness instead of just planning for the treatment of the ill and injured.

The Plan Summary is arranged into four sections; physical health, mental health, environmental health and special concerns.

Areas of concern addressed in the physical health section are: infant mortality, communicable diseases, disabilities, preventable and treatable diseases, dental conditions and accidental deaths.

The mental health section major concerns include mental illness, emotional disturbance, mental retardation, and the abuse of alcohol, drugs or other substances.

In the environmental health section, the HSA will concentrate on reducing identifies physical environmental health problems such as air, water and soil pollution, animal and vector control, housing and sanitation.

Social and economic environmental health problems, not so easily identified, will have limited solutions in the initial years of the HSP, and will concentrate on coordination with existing regulatory agencies, public education and an effective public advocacy program. In the special concerns section, five subjects are addressed. They are: cost containment; consolidation of federal, state and local health programs; research, nutrition and patient confidentiality.

"Why should my husband and I waste our time learning about funeral planning?"

Actualy, the worst time to ask questions about funeral arrangements is when you are forced to plan one. So, by learning about funerals now, you can create for yourself the freedom to choose. Latr you may not have the time or clearness ofmind for the decisions you'll have to make.

The facts you need to know are in an unbiased booklet,"A Helpful Guide to Funeral Planning." We'd like you to have a free copy, because we believe a funeral is no place for on-the-job training.

Plano ends Lufkin's Bi-District hopes, 17-7

Every year one team gets the honor of calling themselves the State Champions. This year it won't be the Lufkin Panthers. Last Friday evening the Plano Wildcats ended the Pack's season by beating them 17-7.

This is not to say that Lufkinites shouldn't be proud of their Panthers, far from it. The team we sent to Waco was the same group of boys that were picked no better than fourth of fifth in their conference last August, they've silenced even the most adament critics.

In their victory, the Wildcats accomplished the seemingly impossible task of shutting down the potent running game of the Panthers. This has not been done before and it's no easy job.

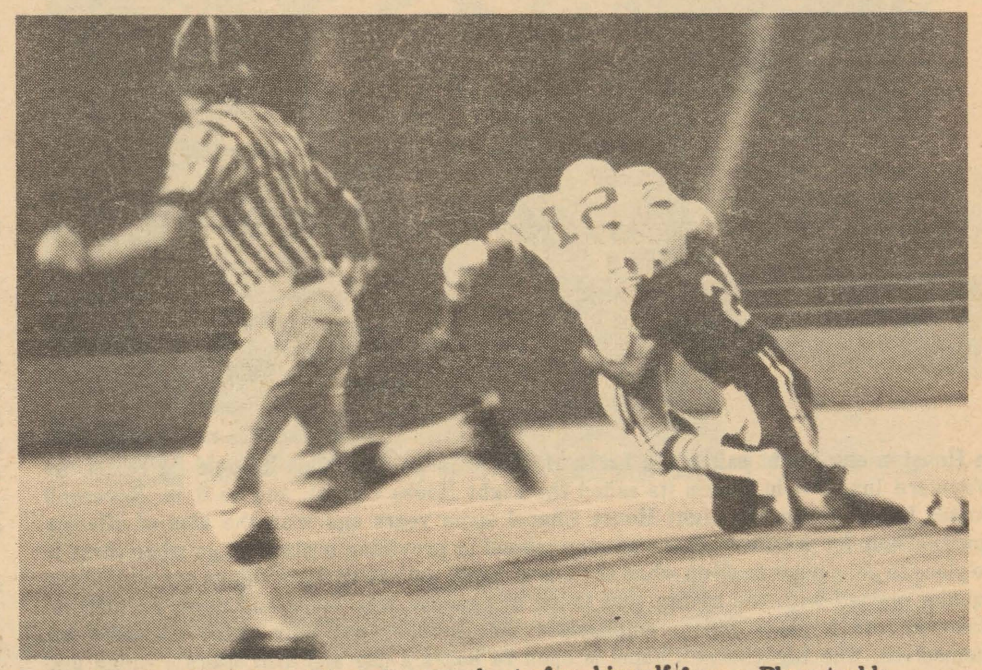

Every time the Pack went to the outside with their swift and deadly combination of Jimmy Kegler and Ronnie Blake, the Wildcats were up to the challange. Offensively the Panthers could only muster a total of 150 yards rushing. For most teams this is an adequate performance, for the Pack it's sub-par.

Kegler carried the ball for 93 yards on 24 attempts, but never got the chance to explode into the defensive secondary for one of his long gainers. All night the Wildcat defense dogged his path and never gave him the daylight he so sorely needed. Blake was even stiffled more efficiently as he picked up a mere 25 yards on 12 rushes, not a typical Ronnie Blake night.

The cause of all the Panthers headaches was a great defensive effort. Plano had exceptional speed in the defensive line and the linebacker spots, and did not allow the Panther backs to get to the outside.

The only show of Packpower came after the first Plano score when the Pack immediately retaliated with a score of their own.

This year is very unusual in that the Big Eight is not sending four teams to a bowl, and the Southwest Conference is. If Texas defeats Texas A&M in their upcoming contest the national title will be decided in the COTTON BOWL, where they will face always potent Notre Dame. This should be the best contest from a viewers' standpoint as the field will be littered with All-Americans and high draft picks.

In the ROSE BOWL it will be defensive power Michigan, against Washington or UCLA. Next week UCLA vs. Southern Cal. game will decide who gets the nod. The SUGAR BOWL will have Alabama and Bear Bryant has chosen to face Ohio State. The Bear usually chooses his own opponent and this time he may have made a mistake. The ORANGE BOWL has landed Arkansas and the Big Eight champion, which will be Nebraska or the favored Oklahoma. Either way it will probably be the 2nd best game available. In the other major bowl we will have last years national champ Pittsburgh against the tough Clemson Tigers, the GATOR BOWL has done well for themselves.

To round out the pictures we have Texas Tech vs. Florida State in the TANGERINE BOWL, The Southwest runnerup vs. the

Joe Hackney Reports

The big name in fishing circles this week belongs to a Broddus man who has just won the first American Angler All Pro Championship. That man is Marvin Baker and he has a check for $15,000 to prove it. Marvin was one of 26 finalist who fished against each other for the top honors. Second in the event was Dave Glibe who picked up $7,500 for his efforts. Dave, who you may remember came from California last January to win the American Angler tournament here on Sam Rayburn, would have won this tournament but came in to weigh in too late the first day and wasn't allowed to weigh his fish. Sonny Viola finished third and collected $4,500 while the other 23 were given $1,000 apiece. They fished on the Mobile Delta in Alabama and the fishing was tough with 25 pounds winning the three day event. This was a very successful finish to the first year for the American Angler Pro Bass Tour.

It is the practice during the tournament for each one of the pros to fish with a sportswritter and Lufkins' Coach Woody Cooper was one of those who fished the one day of practice and three days of the tournament with different pros. Woody, who like myself is a charter member of the over the hill gang, found it pretty hard to get out of bed the second morning. Fearing that he would be too tired to make it up the third morning he went to bed at around 6 o'clock in the evening. Around 9:30 that same evening, while Woody was steadily sawing logs, the phone rang. Woody's roommate picked the phone up and said a few words and hung the phone up. Woody thinking it was time to go fishing and wondering at how tired he still was, got up and began to put his clothes on. His roommate, who thought that Woody was going down to get something to eat, said nothing. Woody got dressed and got downstairs and as he left the elevator ran into Ricky Clunn, dressed in a suit and tie. It took Woody a second to rationalize the fact that something was wrong and that Ricky hadn't lost his mind and was going to fish in a suit and tie. He then glanced at his watch and found that it was just a little before 10 o'clock.

I had said that I was going to take a Vexilar graph to Toledo Bend and try it out. I did, and the results bordered on the amazing. After checking several places looking for stripers, we were crossing a flat area in about 30 feet of water when a massive school of shad began to show up on the chart. They were almost solid between 15 feet and just off the bottom. Within seconds there were fish in large numbers being printed on the graph at the 8 to 12 foot level. I killed the engine and the fish continued to print out on the paper. I dropped a Boone-a-rang over the side and let the line slide off the reel slowly. About ten seconds later the line stopped and a familar tap, tap told me that what ever that was down there was interested in what I had offered. I sat the hook and brought the fish to the surface. It was a keeping a size bass. Before you could say "open the live well," Paul Petropolis, rep for the Lunker Lure, had thrown a silver jigging spoon over the side. Within seconds he was hollering for the live well to be opened. What had been a relatively slow day had suddenly exploded and for the next hour or so we enjoyed what must have been some of the best fishing all year. Granted there were few big fish, but there were fish and in abundant numbers. They would move some of the time but we could just turn on the Vexilar and move until we found them. All in all over 200 black bass and one striper in a particial days' fishing. Maybe thats' not a record but it does beat my average by about a 100 fish per man. This was so amazing to me because we were fishing water that we would normally not fish at all. It saved me from another just so, so day and provided a day to remember for me and Paul Petropolis. (It think from now on I am going to try to find a Smith or Jones to fish with.) I thought some of you might be interested in seeing the graph that we ran out there so I have left it at the reel counter at the American Angler Store.

Sam Rayburn spit up another big fish this past week. Ray Denson, who guides on the lake caught a seven and three quarted pounder on a mister twister worm. Ray who is one of the better guides on the lake has had a good year on these big fish. Outside that I haven't had much report from the lake.

Hunting must be pretty good, for I have seen a number of deer being transported here and there. There was a lot of disappointed hunters opening weekend when they showed up to hunt in counties where the booklet said it was open and it in fact was not. I know that

With the game in the hands of the Wildcats, 7-0, the Pack went 80 yards in 9 plays to tie it up. It was their only sustained drive of the whole evening. The big play in the drive was a 24 yard romp by Kegler, when he got his only real chance of the entire contest. The touchdown was scored by Ronnie Blake on a seven yard run. He took the smap and running, left he turned up field for the game tying score. From this point on all the scoring was done by the Wildcats. When the half ended it was 17-7, Plano scoring on a 28 yard field goal and an 11 yard scoring pass.

Steve Haynes was the big gun for Plano, scoring 11 of their points and catching 5 passes for 48 yards from the flanker spot. He was a thorn in the side of Lufkin all night.

In the second half the battle became a hitting contest and the outcome was a draw. Neither team could score and both were aggresive and punishing on defense. The game was really decided at the line of scrimmage and this night it belonged to the Wildcats. In the end it was their quickness that seemed to bother the Pack most.

Lufkin finished their season with a 9-2 mark, something for which they can be very proud. More than that the underclassmen got a taste of bi-district play, something that could come in handy in the future. Everybody got something and the fans were especially lucky, they got to watch a really talented football team.

CLAW MARKS....good luck to Plano in state play, they earned their right to go on...they had to beat a good team to get this far...heavy claw award this week goes to Winfred Tullos....he must have been in on at least a thousand tackles...almost..

..field position in this one belonged to Plano, it was the deciding factor...only 7 total penalties (4 against Lufkin) means good, clean football...the only kind.... don't feel too depressed, we will be back.

Salvation Army bell volunteers to begin ringing Nov. 28

The familiar sound of the Salvation Army bell-ringers will fill the air with the spirit of Christmas beginning on Nov. 28th and continuing through Dec. 24th. Kettles will be located at Perry's downtown, Howards, Wal Mart's Woolco's at the Mall and Chestnut Village.

Mr. Will Zbranek, member of the Salvation Army Advisory Baord, is serving as Christmas Chairman with the responsibility of securing service clubs, fraternal societies, and patriotic organizations to stand at the kettles. Several groups have already made arrangements and others are urged to do so quickly.

In addition to contributions being made in the kettles, they can be mailed in to: The Salvation Army, P.O. Box 1787, Lufkin.

The Salvation Army will be receiving food and toy applications Monday, Nov. 28 through Friday, Dec. 2 from 9:00 a.m. to noon and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the new Salvation Army building at 412 South Third.

The Salvation Army works in many ways to give help to all who need assistance. Programs during the holiday include entertainment and companionship for nursing home residents, home-cooked meals for people who would otherwise be alone on Christmas Day, toys and clothing for children of families who cannot afford such minor luxuries, Children's parties and food for families who otherwise might not have a suitable Christmas dinner.

Brigadier Roy B. Marshall explained, "Christmas is a time for sharing with others, and the Salvation Army tries to reach everyone who needs help. With the support of the generous people of Angelina County, we can attain our goals for this season and the upcoming year.

Christmas at Lufkin State School made happier with volunteer support

Christmas at the Lufkin State School is always made happier because of the interest and support of friends who share their time, talents and gifts with the residents. As the temperatures drop, hearts seem to warm and the joy of giving and the happiness that comes from being remembered makes this a joyous season for everyone.

December is always a busy month and plans for Christmas are being formulated. Preparations for this blessed holiday are scheduled to begin Nov. 15 with the opening of Santa's Workshop. Once again we must count on the friendship of others to help enrich the lives of the residents at the "School in the Pines." We hope to have parties, caroling and special activities by several groups and at least five gifts for each resident.

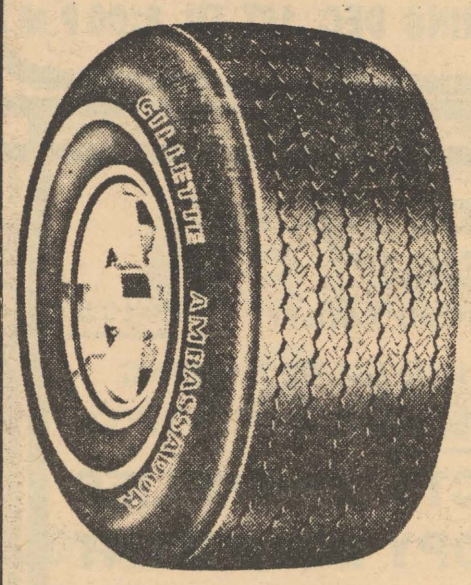

There are several ways in which individuals and groups can help the Volunteer Services Council assure a happier Christmas for those in our care. Some of the suggestions are: (1) donate cash or a check (make checks payable to Volunteer Services Council), (2) sponsor a Christmas party, (3) furnish entertainment and Christmas programs for the resident's enjoyment, (4) donate cookies and other Christmas goodies, (5) volunteer and help wrap gifts and prepare for Christmas, and (6) send a gift (a list of the most wanted items can be obtained by calling Volunteer Services, 634-3353, ext. 253 or 262 - or write to Santa's Workshop, P.O. Drawer 1648, Lufkin, Texas, 75901.

No one should be lonely this Christmas. Whatever we have becomes doubly blessed when we share it with someone else.

Pac Eight runnerup in the BLUEBONNET BOWL, and Stanford vs. LSU in the SUN BOWL. Finally there is Penn State against the Western Athletic Conference champ in the FIESTA BOWL and North Carolina vs. Big Eight runnerup in the LIBERTY BOWL.

It should be enough to say that there is still some great football to come but some of the great games coming up get little or no coverage. In an attempt to deliver objective sports commentary we'll complete the whole picture for you.

In this years Toilet Bowl it will be the mighty Wake Forrest against consistent Rice. Wake Forest added the extra "r" in their name because they are literally pulling all stops. In fact both teams almost missed an invitation to this contest by winning a game. Both have promised to correct this situation and are meeting to decide how they can play in the same game and neither garner a win. They'll manage. Then of course we have the SALAD BOWL where 1-9 Holy Cross will face an open date. Don't laugh, the Holy Cross student body has purchased 5700 seats to see this one. It's the first time since 1926 that they've been favored.

In the BOWL WEEVIL, the standard format has been changed since last year because this is the first time they've ever held the contest. The Tampa Bay Bucs will be a good test for the Ivy League Champs. The game will be played in the swimming pool of the Hilton in Miami, in the shallow end of course.

Finally, we have the EMPTY BOWL where once again nobody will play, be there.

Miss Rebecca 'taught them all'

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of articles reprinted with permission from the Angelina Bicentiennial Committee from "Land of the Little Angel," an award winning book compiled by the Angelina County Historical Survey Committee and edited by Bob Bowman.

From the captains of industry to the captians of football teams, Rebecca Townsend taught them all during a schoolteaching career that spanned 40 years.

"Miss Rebecca," who retired from the Lufkin Independent School District in 1964, became nationally known for her "Imaginary Handwriting Series", now used in nearly 40 states.

But in Lufkin, she is best known by her former students, not only for what she taught, but how she taught.

It was the problem student, not the prize student, where Miss Rebecca excelled. Taking a class made up of D students at the seventh grade level in the 1950's, she pioneered the remedial reading course still used in Lufkin's schools.

She taught in every level, from the first to the 12th grade, during her career and, often, the problems brought to her weren't always those of slow learners.

One year, when Lufkin's football coach was having a discipline problem with the team, he came to Miss Rebecca for help. Miss Rebecca, who stands less than five feet tall, took the team in hand and put them in a special class--Homemaking. "By the end of the year, everyone in there knew how to make biscuits," she remembered.

And, when the coach wanted a way to beef up his players, she solved that problem, too. "I filled them with milk and oatmeal," she said.

When a Lufkin industry discovered its executives didn't have time to read all the material they needed to, Miss Rebecca was called in to solve the problem. She set up a special reading course for a number of Angelina County's major industries. "Of the 40 who started the course, all but one had a college degree, and it was amusing to find out their reading speed averaged only 250 words a minute, which was seventh-grade level," she remembers.

But when the course ended, there wasn't a man who couldn't read at least 1000 words a minute.

Miss Rebecca's "Imaginary Handwriting Series" took 20 years to develop and started during her first years of teaching. She started by hand-drawing broken lines on paper to show the students the area for the height of the letters. Those eventually became the "imaginary lines" that Lufkin's students would remember throughout their schooling.

Miss Rebecca's accomplishments are as varied as they are many. She organized the Civilian Conservation Corps schools in Angelina County, taught handicapped veterans after World War II, and was an advisor to the Texas Board of Education 15 years. She was cited by the Texas Legislature for her work in 1966, selected "teacher of the year" in 1965 by Pilot International, and has twice been first prize winner in the East Texas Pineywoods Writers Conference.

In looking back, however, Miss Rebecca remembers one thing above everything else:

"I kept a box of quarters in my desk to give to students who didn't have lunch money. All the students knew where it was kept. But I never lost a quarter."

Newcomers to meet Nov. 29

The Lufkin Newcomers Club will hold its monthly craft meeting at 10 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 29 at the home of Luci Latham, No. 10 Red Oak Lane. There will be a demonstration of how to make corn-husk wreaths. Those wishing to attend should call Psyche Foy at 634-6721.

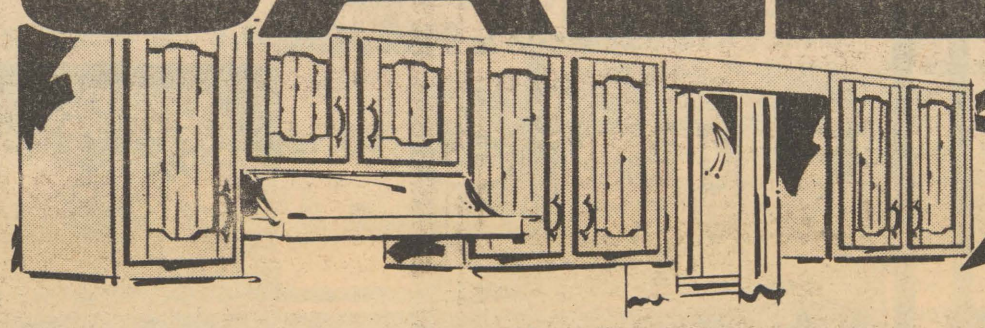

Approximately 15 couples spent the evening winning and losing at roulette, blackjack and Nevada dice at the Newcomer's casino party Nov. 12. All of the high rolling was done with play money. The last event of the evening was an auction where each couple had an opportunity to bid on the many gifts donated by local merchants.

Bobbie Robinson is Lufkin's newest Welcome Wagon hostess. Anyone new to the Lufkin area may call Bobbie at 639-1849. She has many nice gifts and helpful information to help make the newcomer feel welcome.

Computer age comes to Lufkin

New business also aiding financial institutions

One of the fastest growing businesses in East Texas is also proving to be an assest to local financial institutions. Bookkeepers Tax Service, Inc., a relatively new corporation which has recently moved into the Angelina Hotel building, has purchased a $50,000 on-line computer which will tie in with several other cities in the area.

According to company President Ray Robinson, the business orginally set out to buy a much smaller computer, but requests from area businesses to use the computer kept pouring in at such a rate that Robinson's computer order increased several times before ending up with the large $50,000 model.

Bookkeepers Tax Servise, Inc., once part of a Beaumont firm, became independent in January of this year and became a corporation last August. President Robinson and Vice-President, Bill Gruber have combined their many years of experience to form quite a successful operation. According to Robinson, the company's assets have multiplied more than ten times in the last few months.

Robinson adds that this growth is due largely to the broad realm of services offered by the business. One unusual service involves free pick-up and delivery within a 70 mile radius. The firm also furnishes all materials needed including such things as payroll material and sales aids. The firm's staff also runs a personal survey for clients before attempting to figure taxes. This approach is designed to give the business every feasible tax break.

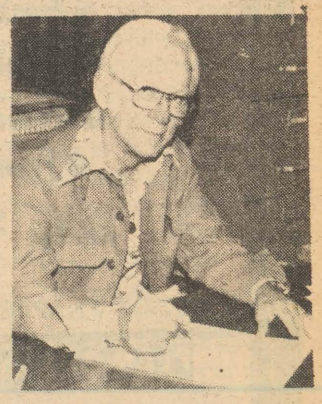

President Robinson majored in business at Lamar University and has years of background in accounting, sales and psychology. He is a native of East Texas with 15 years of accounting experience.

Vice-President Bill Gruber has a bachelor of business administration degree from Ohio State and has done post-graduate studies in corporate accounting and business adminstration. He is the former Vice-President of American Capital Insurance Co., served on the Board of Directors of Capital Center Computer Co. in Houston and was responsible for the creation of a computer center in Springfield, Mo. which served seven life insurance companies. With 18 years in computer business and 6 and one-half years of experience in public accounting, his work at Bookkeepers Tax Service, Inc. fits right in with Gruber's realm of knowledge.

Handling individual, small and medium sized accounts, the new businesses' assets are a good example of the coming of the computer age to the Lufkin area.

Congratulations, Panthers

The Home Banner and the City of Lufkin would like to congratulate the Lufkin Panthers for a fine and rewarding season. Special thanks goes to Coach Ed Cauley, who was chosen as Coach of the Year by the area sportswriters, and his hardworking staff. In the years to come 1977 will be remembered as an outstanding year and we appreciate your efforts in making this happen.

As a high school athletic program is supposed to help mold our young men's characters, we're on the right track. Both at home and on the road Lufkin was well represented, with champion quality athletes.

Contrary to the revered Vince Lombardy, winning is not everything. It is in fact how you play the game; football should be played to make men, not winners. This year's team played with a lot of class and pride and this makes winners in life. After all that's where it counts.

Thanks Pack, you gave us some shining memories.

this was the case in one county and there was a taskforce of game wardens on hand to stop them from hunting. I heard a lot of complaints about the wardens being there, but that is their job. It is not the first time that the man who wears the badge gets the blame for some foul up that some politician has made. I personally belive that our state is lucky to have the quality of men that make up our Parks and Wildlife Department. Until next time, JEH

Four East Texans appointed to health council

The State Health Coordinating Council (SHCC) held its first organizational meeting on Nov. 3 in Austin. Governor Dolph Briscoe appointed 39 members to the Council.

Appointees from the East Texas area are: Cecil Bomar, Nacogdoches, Greater East Texas Health Ststems Agency (GETHSA); John P. Thompson, Livingston, GETHSA; Robert E. Yancey, Groves, GETHSA and James W. Gainey, Jr., Woodville, At-Large Appointee. Many areas do not have more than two appointees to the Council.

During the organizational meeting, SHCC members were provided a briefing on their functions as a council by the state staff. The Council elected Louis E. Gibson, M.D. from Corsicana as their Chairman and C.B. Jackson, Jr., M.D. from Houston as Vice-Chairman.

The SHCC is scheduled to meet again on Dec. 6 in Austin to act on its by laws and complete other organizational tasks.

Social Security paying off for County residents

Social Security benefits were being paid to residents of Angelina County at the rate of $1,715,906 a month at the start of 1977, Social Security District Manager Travis Briggs in Lufkin said recently.

Social Security benefits can be paid to retired persons age 62 and over, to workers who become severely disabled before age 65 and to survivors of deceased workers.

Monthly Social Security checks are also paid to certain dependents of a worker who has retired, become disabled or died.

Of the 9,747 Social Security beneficiaries living in Angelina County, 4,264 are retired workers and 746 are disabled workers. Another 1315 persons are receiving benefits as the wives or husbands of retired or disabled workers. Widows, widowers and deceased workers number 1,631.

In Angelina County, 3,926 people under age 65 and 5,821 people age 65 and older are receiving monthly Social Security benefits. Of total beneficiaries, 3,462 are men, 4,494 are women and 1,791 are children.

Statewide, 87,914 retired workers receive an average monthly benefit of $205.60.

Fruit short course scheduled for Nov. 28

Nov. 28, 1977, has been selected as the date for the Deep East Texas Fruit Short Course. The one-day event will be held in San Augustine at the San Augustine Inn with registration and coffee at 9 a.m. The program begins at 10 a.m. with a welcome by San Augustine Mayor Alvis Juniel.

According to Charles Arnold, Angelina County Extension Agent, the short course is sponsored by Build East Texas Area VII, Texas Agricultural extension Service, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, and the L.S.U. Corperative Extension Service.

A $3 registration fee includes refreshments and handout material. The short course has been planned to assist both commercial and backyard fruit producers gain more information on cultural practices of various fruits adapted to the area.

Program topics include "Fruit Potential for Deep East Texas" and "Pears and Apples" by Dr. George R. McEachern, Extension Horticulturist, College Station; "Fruit Insects and Their Control", Dr. James Robinson, Extension Entomologist, Overton; "Peach, Plum and Apricot Culture", Dr. Earl Puls, L.S.U.; "Fruit Diseases and Their Control", Dr. Jerral Johnson, Extension Pathologist, College Station; "Rabbiteye Blueberry Culture", David Creech, Horticulture Technician, College Station; and "Blackberry and Muscadine Culture", Dr. John Lipe, Experiment Station Horticulturist, Overton.

East Texas has been a major producer of both fruits and nuts, but production has decreased in recent years. With the development of new varieties and new methods of controlling diseases and insects, many people are again interested in investigating the economics of fruit production. Good cultural and marketing practices must be carried out to be successful. This short course is designed to answer many of the questions producers are asking.

The following day, Nov. 29, the San Augustine County Pecan Festival will be held at the San Augustine Inn. This annual event has attracted much attention in the area since pecans are also an important crop in East Texas.

The public is invited to the Fruit Short Course. A dutch-treat lunch will be served. The program wil end at approximately 3:30 p.m.

Army National Guard sees change of command

A change of command ceremony was conducted recently for Company D, 111th Engineer Battalion, Texas Army National Guard by Major Kenneth Barton, Executive Officer for the 111th Engineer Battalion. The returning of the unit Guidon from Captain Conald W. Byrd to Major Barton who presented it to the incoming unit Commander, Captain Paul. E. Northcutt, was performed during a company formation.

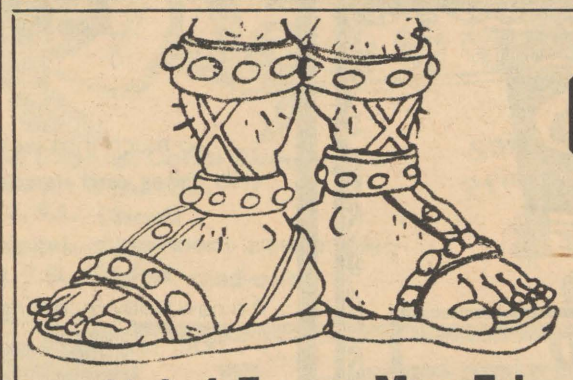

Captain Byrd, a Lufkin citizen and local businessman, has been a member of the local unit for the past 12 years. He had enlisted in the unit and later completed OCS at Fort Benning for his commission. He has served the unit as an enlisted man, Platoon Leader, Executive Officer and Company Commander.

Captain Paul E. Northcutt earned his commission at Texas A&M University, being commissioned in December 1970. While performing his two years of active duty, he completed the Signal Officers Basic, was assigned to Facilities Engineering at Fort Huachuca and later served as Executive Officer for Company C. HG, Fort Huachuca. Since his appointment in the Texas Army National Guard, he has served as Executive Officer for Company A, 111th Engineer Battalion, Taylor, Texas and Engineer Equipment Officer, HHC, 111th Engineer Battalion, Abilene.

Captain Northcutt is employed as an Engineer by the Texas Highway Department in Austin. He and his family reside in Georgetown.

Dot Ray-Broker Residence 824-2111

Are you waiting until interest rates drop before you buy a home? Do you think that this will save you money? The home you have your eye on will cost you more in monthly payments one year from now - even if the interest rate drops one per cent.

For example, take a home that cost $50,000. With a 20 per cent down payment and financed with a 25 year, 9 per cent mortgage, the monthly payment would be $336.00. But one year from now, if prices keep rising at the average rate, the now $50,000 home would likely cost $55,000. If the interest rate decreased to 8 per cent, not only would the down payment be $1,000 more, but the monthly payment would increase to $339.68. If the interest rate stayed at 9 per cent, the payment would come to $369.60.

So, it's obvious that the overall value of the home - not the interest rate - makes the biggest impact on your monthly payment. Since there is no indication of property values decreasing, the moral of the story is - buy now or pay more later.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at LUFKIN REALTY, 1001 Lee, Lufkin. Phone: 639-2227. We're here to help.
