Hearings on clearcutting to begin March 20

The Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans will begin hearings March 20 in the challenge of a federal judge's opinion that has effectively banned clearcutting practices in the national forests in Texas.

Members of the board of directors of the Texas Forestry Association were informed of the hearing dates this week at their meeting at TFA headquarters in Lufkin.

The appeal of the decision handed down this past summer by U.S. District Judge William Justice of Tyler is being pressed both by the Department of Agriculture, a defendant in the original suit, and TFA, an intervenor on behalf of the defendants.

The Department of Agriculture is the parental agency of the U.S. Forest Service.

Rich Lindell, public information officer for the U.S. Forest Service office in Lufkin, said that the government filed its appeal for three main reasons.

"First, the U.S. Forest Service maintains that the geographical scope of an environmental impact statement is committed to the forest service rather than the court.

"The court injunction ordered a programmatic environmental impact statement on the issue of clearcutting to cover all four national forests in the state of Texas.

"Our direction is to prepare land management plans forest by forest, and we are asking the appeals court to resolve that.

"The second reason is that the court improperly substituted its judgement on environmental consequences of timber harvesting practices for that of Congress and the forest service.

"Third, the court abused its digression by enjoining all even-aged management on our national forests,

Angelina County history series

Ottie and Marriage

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of articles reprinted with permission from the Angelina Bicentennial Committee from "Land of the Little Angel," an award winning book compiled by the Angelina County Historical Survey Committee and edited by Bob Bowman.

Ottie was as much a pioneer as her master, C.N. Humason, an early fire chief, mayor, churchman and ice cream factory owner.

She pulled Lufkin's first ice cream wagon through its streets in 1896. She was at the lead carriage of funerals and parades, and she answered hundreds of fire alarms with her own.

Humason often said that Ottie wore out 12 buggies, 14 sets of harness, and 200 shoes "but only one ten-cent buggy whip" during her lifetime.

When she died in 1918 at the age of 44, most of Lufkin shared the Humason's sorrow. A family friend described her passing:

"She was a faithful old mare and member of the family. During her last six months, she was tenderly fed and watered by the mistress. Finally, the family doctor was called in to give her chloroform so that she might pass on in a peaceful sleep. She was gently wrapped in heavy duck tarpaulin and laid to rest near Glendale Cemetery."

Of course, it wouldn't have been proper to bury her in the family plot at Glendale or, for that matter, anywhere in the cemetery.

So Ottie was buried in an unmarked grave just beyond the cemetery, a few hundred yards from where the oaks and pines signaled the forest's beginning. But in the family plot, among Lufkin's captains of commerce, the Humasons placed a small slab of marble. On it, they wrote the inscription:

"Ottie...a faithful mare."

While Ottie was a beast of burden, Marriage made his name on the racetrack. Owned by Lufkinite Carl L. DuPuy, the stallion had an annual race in New Orleans named for him. Each January, Du Puy would head for the New Orleans Fairgrounds to witness the Marriage Handicap.

"It's really Marriage's race," he said. "He won it twice, the first horse to do so, and held the track record for 16 years."

Marriage raced on every major track in the nation and set four American and one world's record. Du Puy had purchased the chestnut for $5,000 in 1941. During a nine-year racing career, the horse grossed more than a quarter of a million dollars.

Wilson speaks against Carter defense budget

U.S. Congressman Charles Wilson of Lufkin has announced that the Carter Administration's proposed 1979 defense budget "illustrates a marked lack of foresight." Wilson made the statement at a recent press conference in response to the President's 1979 budget, which was released Jan. 23.

The congressman said that he feels that the "cut in naval expenditures will promote an irreversible trend which, in the future, will render the United States Navy virtually ineffective in relation to Soviet build up in the last decade." Wilson pointed out that deleted from the five-year projection from which Carter worked in 1978, were 15 major naval vessels, including nine support ships.

"Those of the opinion that the Navy is outdated, that cruise missiles and ICBM's are the weapons for future defense, are missing the point. Through illustration that we have a strong Navy, we fend off opposition and thus curb the necessity of using cruise missiles and ICBM's," said Wilson.

Congressman Wilson added that he felt "while Carter was increasing the total defense budget by 9.2 per cent, he was attempting to pacify those who stand against increased defense spending by arbitrarily reducing Naval defense allocations, specifically ship building."

Highway Dept. urges halt to sign theft

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation today issued a plea to area residents to assist the State in attempting to stop wanton theft of flares and flashing or blinking lights placed on or near construction signs and especially on "Ice on Bridge" signs.

During the recent ice and snow storms that hit this area, the State lost numerous lights and flares. The lights and flares are placed near the warning signs to warn the traveling public a special notice is posted. The loss of one of the lights or flares could be directly responsible for someone having a serious or fatal accident due to their not noticing the warning. The lights serve to call their attention to the sign that warns of the hazardous conditions ahead.

Among some people it seems to be the fashionable thing to do. It is very simple to stop and steal the small battery operated light or extinguish the flare and carry them home. This could cost someone their life or the life of someone in their vehicle.

Persons apprehended for stealing or vandalizing these lights or flares can be fined as much as $200 for each offense, plus Court Cost and the cost of replacing the light or flare. But thieves and vandals operate clandestinely and are difficult to catch. However, there is also another side to the story. Every time a light or flare is stolen it means the cost of replacement will have to be taken from money that would otherwise be used for highway repair. The Department is more interested in the return of useable lights and flares than in prosecuting offenders.

If anyone knowing the whereabouts of our missing lights and flares will call the Highway Department or leave them at the nearest maintenance office, we will be glad to get them back. 'No questions asked.'

The department feels that the message is clear:

Is there a conspiracy sweeping the land these days that seeks to forbid any of us the enjoyment of a square meal?

Can't hardly pick up the paper any more, that some scientist has't escaped from his laboratory to shout from the housetops that too much of something-or-other is dangerous to your health.

The Surgeon General screaming at me from my pack of cigarettes is one thing. If I have to pitch the saccharin in the garbage, well, OK, I don't really know what is in saccharin anyhow.

But saccharin was the substitute for sugar, wasn't it?

The rats are running the country, that's what's happened. Not intended as a derogatory euphemism for our elected representatives in the Congress, the rats I'm talking about are the four legged variety.

Cramming them full of cranberries till they turn up their toes and die, or sending them to an early incineration with massive doses of diet-drink just doesn't seem very scientific to me.

Put yourself in the laboratory researcher's smock and face mask.

He certainly isn't about to feed that poor rat anything that's going to make him healthier. That's no way to get a financial grant to keep the missus in grits and ham.

You gota find somethin that is going to give that rat cancer, preferably something he wouldn't have touched with a ten foot pole in the first place, if it had been his choice on what he wanted in his daily diet.

For instance, how long has it been since you've seen a rat with a cigarette dangling out of the corner of his mouth?

Getting so a person hesitates to pick up a forkfull of food anymore. I don't really look forward to a diet of Red Delicious apples and macadamia nuts, with maybe an occasional carrot stick now and then.

But just this past week, one of our rat keepers said sugar was bad for you. That's why I say conspiracy. They grabbed saccharin away from us, we should have known they'd come after the sugar.

Chances are that poor rat was in a diabetic coma before he knew it. But wasn't the proof there?

Chances are it will finally be proven we should exist on raw meat, and the berries we can scrounge. Come to think of it, our ancestors of that long ago didn't live to a very ripe old age.

I'm going to dig in my heels. If I want a handfull of chocolate chips, or a slab of pie with ice cream, I'm going to indulge.

And woe be to the lab boys who say no sugar on your grapefruit. We should use cane syrup?

"Theft and damages to traffic control devices is costly in terms of dollars and lives. Leave them alone—they are there to help preserve all of us."

Investigate, get recommendations

Selecting a lawyer requires careful consideration

When selecting a lawyer, investigate, get recommendations and interview to find the lawyer that provides the needed services, advises Claudia Kerbel, Consumer Information Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Do some investigating--don't be satisfied with "potluck" out of the telephone directory, she continues.

"Get recommendations from a trusted friend or another lawyer.

Another source of information is the Lawyer Referral Service--a free public service of the State Bar of Texas. (Lawyer Referral Service toll-free number is 800-252-9690.)

The Lawyer Referral Service provides names of licensed attorneys according to their specialty--divorce, criminal, bankruptcy, juvenile, real estate and others.

These lawyers--though not screened by experience or qualifications--are all licensed and in good standing with the State Bar of Texas.

After gathering two or three names, interview each lawyer. Many lawyers will give an initial consultation free or at a nominal fee, the specialist continues.

During the interview, be sure to ask:

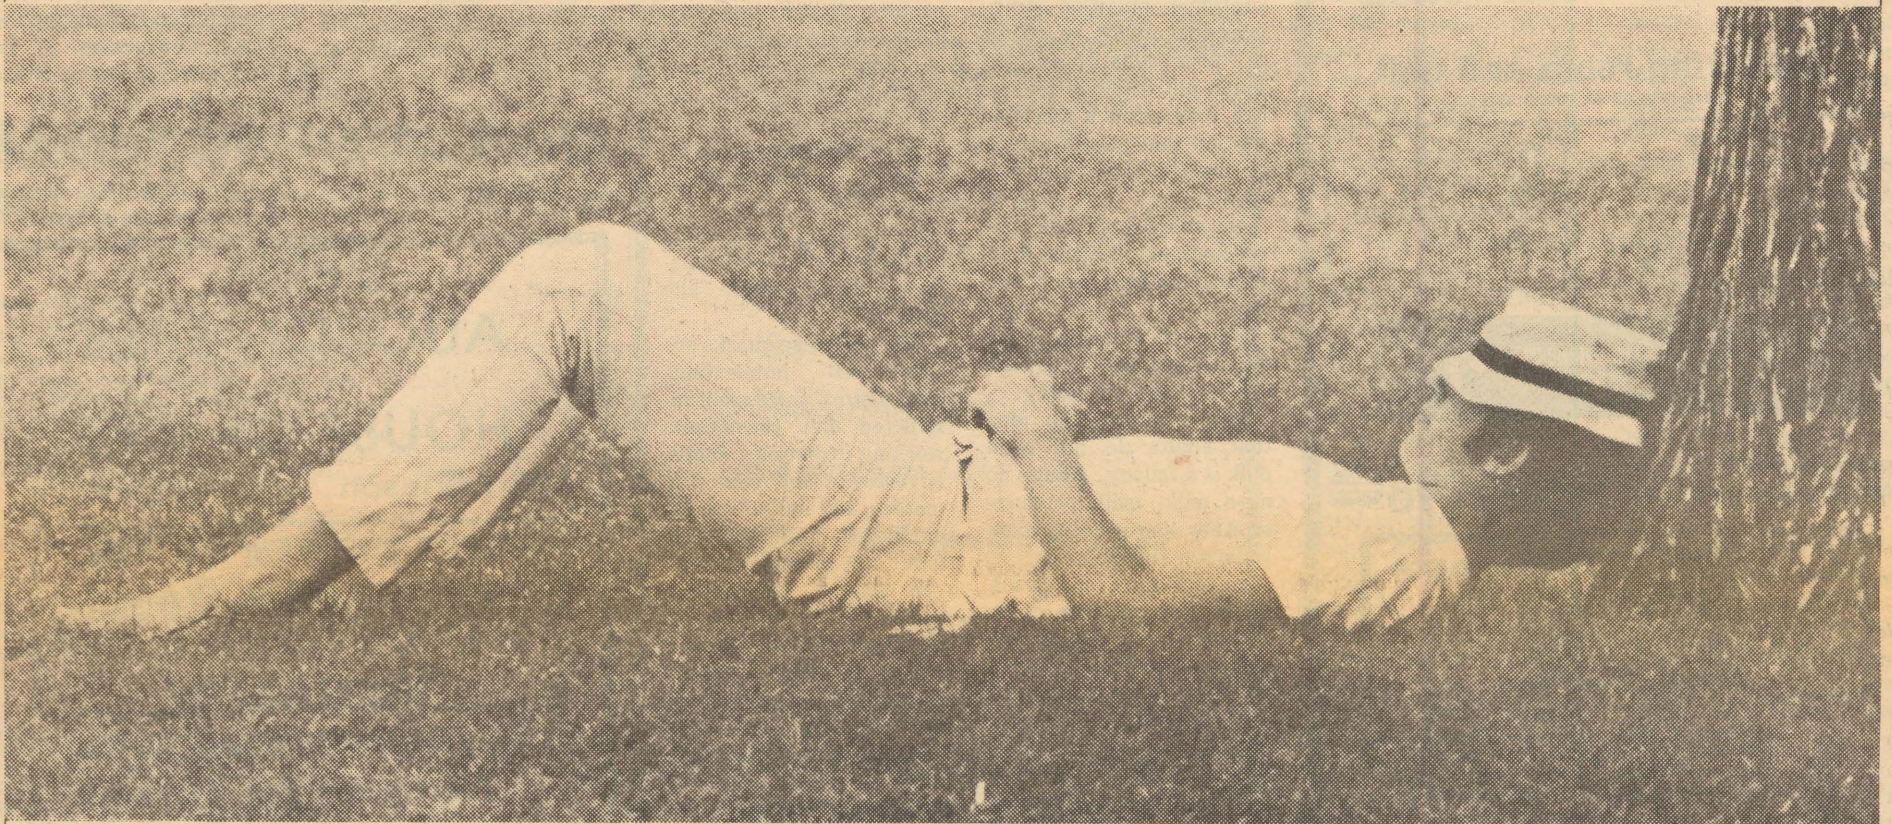

about their experience with particular cases and their expertise in the subject, whether other lawyers will be consulted on a referral basis, and about fees--are rates hourly or a flat fee or a contingency fee (a percentage of the money recovered in a damage suit).

First, you can deposit 15% of your yearly income (up to $1500) and claim your contribution as a deduction on your federal income tax. Second, you pay no taxes on the account, or the interest it earns, until you retire. By that time, you should be in a lower tax bracket. Now is the time to act! If you open your account before Feb. 14, 1978, you'll qualify for a 1040 deduction for the 1977 tax year. A Lufkin Federal IRA plan saves money, earns interest and is tax deductible. ## Variety in nutrition important

$600 million a year food-fad trap sometimes fatal

Consult a variety of nutrition sources and avoid the sometimes fatal $600 million a year food-fad trap, a Foods and Nutrition Specialist says.

Consumers not only waste money following food-fad practices, but they support harmful poor nutrition when they follow fads, Mary K. Sweeten continues.

Mrs. Sweeten is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

By consulting a variety of sources, each consumer can learn to recognize food fads and their possible danger.

Some food fads are dangerous, contributing to malnutrition, unnecessary surgery and even death, she warns.

Thirty-one deaths thus far are the direct result of liquid protein diets, according to the Disease Control Center in Atlanta, GA.

Also, taking massive doses of vitamin A can cause symptoms like those of a brain tumor--and that might lead to unnecessary surgery.

Results of following other food fads are less serious, but even these encourage irrational nutrition practices that might be acting as "poor substitutes" for sound nutrition habits.

"A food fad is a misconception that people accept as fact," Mrs. Sweeten says.

Two sources of these misconceptions are the food fallacy and food quack, she adds.

"False or mistaken ideas about foods and nutrition are termed food fallacy.

"For example, the idea that adults do not need milk is a fallacy. Adults do need milk, milk products or other sources of calcium to keep strong bones.

"In addition, a food quack is one who has little or no foundation in foods and nutrition but who pretends to have knowledge and skill in the field.

"These quacks take facts out of context and draw the wrong conclusion. They fail to report the total facts," she explains.

"For example, the quack might say that phytates in cereals, or oxalates in spinach or chocolate, tie up calcium; therefore, they say, they are bad and should be avoided.

"In truth, it would take vast amounts of these substances at one time to make a significant difference in the amount of calcium absorbed," Mrs. Sweeten points out.

There are two types of food quacks--those who report about nutrition accidentally and those who report misinformation about nutrition intentionally, she says.

"The accidental quacks are those such as a scientist with a bias, scientists who misinterpret research of others, misinformed educators, health care personnel who are skilled only in their own field, and well-meaning friends, relatives and associates.

"These people do not really mean to spread misinformation."

On the other hand, some people spread misinformation intentionally, she adds.

"Some of these quacks are commercial publications that distort facts, self-instructed diet consultants working in specialty shops, advertizers and food promoters, and indiscriminate publishers and broadcasters," the specialist says.

To combat misinformation sources, nutritionists recommend that consumers try to keep abreast of as much information about food as they can. Just knowing about the many different viewpoints on food issues is a giant step toward sound nutrition, Mrs. Sweeten emphasizes. Mrs. Sweeten suggests several nutrition information resources--

"List of Nutrition References and Book Reviews" compiled by the Chicago Nutrition Association may be purchased from the American Medical Association, 535 N. Dearborn Street, Chicago, Ill 60610.

The American Dietetic Association offers assistance in determining the reliability of a reference. Their address is ADA, 420 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill 60610.

Various federal agencies such as the Food and Drug Administration, and the United States Department of Agriculture can also be of help.

"The Journal of Nutrition Education" reviews many nutrition books. This reference is available at local libraries.

Food bargains include Texas grapefruit, fryer chickens

Attractive prices on grapefruit and fryer chickens will greet shoppers at Texas grocery markets this week--along with good values on beef, pork and several vegetables, Mrs. Gwendolyn Wyatt said.

Mrs. Wyatt is a Consumer Marketing Information Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

FRESH FRUITS--Texas grapefruit shows excellent quality, especially pink and red-flesh varieties, and prices are attractive. Orange prices are a bit lower than December levels. Other values are apples, bananas, pears and pineapples.

FRESH VEGETABLES--With prices generally a bit lower than a year ago, this week's plentiful vegetables featuring reasonable prices are: broccoli, cabbage, carrots, celery, hard-shell squash, potatoes, turnips, rutabagas and dry yellow onions. Also, head lettuce prices are down, and fresh green beans (mostly from Mexico) are moderately priced.

POULTRY--Fryer chickens have outstanding values, both whole birds and parts. Look for more attractive egg prices as the heavy holiday demand eases.

BEEF--Demand is increasing and prices are trending upward, but many markets are featuring chuck roasts and steaks and sirloin and T-bone steaks. Good values also appear on ground beef and liver.

PORK--Prices somewhat irregular, but good values include quarter loin (in chops) and Boston butt roasts. Scattered features are on ham portions, picnics, bacon and frankfurters. Cured products show less price fluctuation than fresh items.

GROCERY MARKET AISLES--Specials appear on an assortment of fruit pie filling, canned peaches, green beans and pork and beans.

From your County Agent by Charles Arnold

How long before planting can nitrogen be applied? This is a common question during the winter months.

Several factors need to be considered regarding this question: source of nitrogen, weather conditions including temperature and rainfall, clay content of soil and crop.

If nitrogen is applied from one to three months before planting a crop, the ammonium source should be used. Anhydrous ammonia is a good economical source when properly applied.

Ammonium becomes attached to the clay and held against leaching during wet periods. Also, the ammonium is not subject to denitrification as is the nitrate form. However, in warm soils, nitrifying bacteria convert ammonium to nitrate. Therefore, apply ammonium when conditions are favorable to keep it in this form between the time applied and planting. Nitrification is generally slow after the soil temperature drops below 50 degrees F.

Several advantages of all and early fertilization:

--Take advantages of readily available supply and favorable prices. Even though the current fertilizer supply is adequate, reduced gas supplies this winter and transportation problems could cause spot shortages in the spring.

--Avoid possible application problems due to wet soils. Clay soils that dry out slowly remain wet and cause delay in fertilizing and planting next spring.

--Avoid disturbing beds and drying soils. Applying fertilizer after final bedding can reduce moisture loss in the spring.

Numerous research studies show comparable yield results when ammonium nitrogen is applied after the soil temperature is below 50 degrees F. With current favorable prices, producers may want to consider early nitrogen fertilization for spring planted crops.

Instant market news has spread so rapidly in the last few years that it is within easy access of most farmers and ranchers in Texas.

A new regional directory has been developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service.

The new directory lists 83 instant market news numbers for Arkansas, Colorado, Kansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas and major numbers of states bordering them. Each number is followed by a description of information offered at that number.

National numbers are included as well as facts about market news and a glossary of market terms.

Instant market news is a federal-state market news service with offices around the country. They're connected by 23,000 miles of teletype system.

Reporters gather information from most major markets around the country, then feed the information into central computer banks operated by the major news wire services.

The market information gleaned from the teletype system is provided to farmers and ranchers via taped telephone messages, which are updated frequently.

The instant market news program brings farm market news as close as a telephone call. With the recorded news, producers can take more control over buying and selling decisions, leaving less to chance.

A copy of the directory is on file at the County Extension Office.

Historically present

Fire can be useful tool for foresters

When most persons think of a fire in the forest they think of a major catastrophe. Such is often the case, but not necessarily so, according to Howard Victory, District Conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service in Lufkin.

Fire can be one of the forester's best tools, and has been historically present in the East Texas forests. Were it not for fires, set by Indians, early settlers, and nature, the great pine forests which have been so important may not have developed. The climax specie on most of our woodland sites is hardwood, the pine became predominate because it was better able to withstand the periodic fires.

Today's forester uses prescribed burning for various purposes, even to prevent fires! Forest fuels accumulate rapidly in pine forests, posing a serious threat from wildfire. A prescribed burn can reduce this fuel, thereby lessening the wildfire danger.

Prescribed burning is highly recommended in pine stands to improve both the wildlife habitat and grazing for livestock. Immediate plant response to a proper burn results in increased quantity and quality of grass, forbs, legumes, and browse from hardwood plants.

Low-value hardwoods often encroach on sites best suited for pines. Prescribed burns can be very beneficial in managing this understory to limit competition with pines. Burning is most effective in controlling hardwoods below three inches diameter at the ground line.

A burn to remove underbrush can increase the efficiency of timber marking and harvesting by improving the visibility and accessibility.

Victory cautions that a prescribed burn takes into account many factors, such as objective of burn, type fuel, atmospheric conditions, season of the year, and type of fire needed. This is not a job for an amateur. Any landowner considering the use of fire should enlist the aid of the Texas Forest Service or a private consultant. Soil Conservation Service personnel are also available to assist forest owners in making decisions on needed forest management practices.

Electricity can be a hazard to small children

Practice electrical safety and protect children from potential hazards, says Dr. Carolyn McKinney, Family Resource Management Specialist.

Remember, small children live on or near the floor within easy reach of electrical outlets. Their natural curiosity leads them to explore many potential hazards in the home, she continues.

Dr. McKinney is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Put plastic safety caps in unused electrical outlets to prevent children from sticking something into the outlets--and being shocked, the specialist suggests.

Also, unplug appliances at the wall outlet rather than at the appliance so that a child cannot harm himself with the open ends of connected cords.

Remove as many potential hazards as possible from the paths of small children.

Teach them that electrical things are not toys and not to touch switches or appliances with wet hands.

And, set a good example--practice electrical safety everyday in every way, Dr. McKinney says.

DO YOURSELF A BIG FAVOR, AND WE'LL GIVE SOMEONE YOUR VALENTINE...

February 14 is Valentine's Day. So what? So, it's also the last day you can take advantage of a $1,500 tax deduction for last year with IRA. That's right...you can open an IRA account with us, deposit up to $1,500, and deduct the whole amount from your 1977 income taxes! If you are now not covered by a qualified pension or profit-sharing plan, then a First Bank IRA (Individual Retirement Account) is the best investment for your future.

FIRST BANK IRA... HOW IT WORKS FOR YOU

Under IRA, you can deposit as much as 15% of your yearly income (up to $1,500 for individuals; up to $1,750 for married couples) and claim your total yearly deposit as a deduction on your Federal income tax. You pay no taxes on your IRA account until you retire and begin to withdraw your money. And by that time, you'll probably be in a much lower tax bracket because of your retirement.

Saving for your future and getting a tax break at the same time...that's a good deal! But there's more. Your First Bank IRA account earns 7 3/4% interest! (And that's the most interest any financial institution gives.)*

Call First Bank & Trust Vice President Dwight Thrash at 632-5511 - He'll answer all your questions, and show you how IRA can work for you.

* A substantial penalty for early withdrawal is required by law.

WHAT ABOUT THE VALENTINE OFFER?

We want you to get that 1977 tax deduction, and to do it, you have to act before Valentine's Day. So, as a reminder, First Bank is offering a box of Valentine Chocolates when you open your IRA account with us before February 14, 1978. It's a nice way for you to sweeten up someone's Valentine while you sweeten up your own future.

Falling immunization levels may lead to new epidemics

Public Health experts fear that falling levels of immunization may lead to new epidemics such as that of the 50's when polio killed thousands of children and left even more permanently disabled. In the early 60's a rubella epidemic killed 30,000 fetuses and caused serious birth defects in 20,000 babies. Similar outbreaks occurred in 75-76.

The Carter Administration has recently embarked on an nationwide campaign to elevate immunization levels among children and to establish a permanent system for immunization services.

In the Greater East Texas Health Systems Agency area, 3,153 public school students were not immunized against DTP/Td; 3,385 were not immunized against Polio; 1,078 were not immunized against Measles; and 1,118 were not immunized against Rubella in the 76-77 school year. The greatest number of these totals (55.2 per cent) reside in Angelina and Jefferson Counties.

Garden club to sponsor 'dial a prayer'

The January meeting of the Piney Woods Garden Club was held in the home of Mrs. Sid Scott of Keltys.

Mrs. S. W. Henderson, Jr., club President, presided and it was suggested enlisting the support of the nursing homes to sponsor a dial a prayer for the patients as the club's community project for the coming year. The number to call is 632-2122. It was also suggested that this number be placed on the telephones in the homes for the convenience of the patients. Plans for visiting the Houston Azalea Trail in the spring were also discussed as well as changing the club's meeting time to 3 p.m. instead of 3:30.

Gourmet Corner

by Audrey Davenport

Ward off the freezing weather chill with warming dishes, and what cook could prepare a more hearty, substantial meal to satisfy winter-sharpened family appetites than a "Chili Supper". In thousands of western homes chili con carne rates high on the list of favorite main dishes. Americans shorten the name of this cross between a stew and a soup to chili. You will find several different versions of recipes for this dish. The beef and the hearty ingredients, including beans should simmer gently for hours. Meanwhile you have ample time to bake Jalepeno cornbread and a delicious Guacamole salad and dessert.

An unusual feature of the following recipe is the inclusion of hominy. It imparts that special taste south-of-the-border cornmeal gives to certain dishes. Double this recipe to serve twelve people.

Chili Con Carne

1 Lb. Ground Beef
3/4 to 1 cup chopped onion
1 (1 Lb.) can Hominy
1 (15 Oz.) can red, pinto or kidney beans
(or use dried cooked pinto beans)
1 Tsp. salt
Chili powder -add to taste
1/2 tsp. ground cumin seeds
1/2 Tsp. garlic salt or powder
Dash tobasco sauce
1/2 Tsp. paprika

Cook and stir beef and onions until beef is lightly browned and onions are almost tender, pour off fat.

Add remaining ingredients (except beans and hominy) simmer slowly for 1 to 2 hours. Then add hominy and beans.

Guacamole Salad

2 Med. ripe avocados, halved and pitted
1/3 Cup minced onion
Juice of 1/2 lemon
1 to 2 small Jalepeno peppers, minced
1 to 2 small tomatoes, diced
1/4 Tsp. salt and pepper

Mash Avocado coarsely with a fork. Mix in other ingredients. Serve on shredded lettuce.

Both are very delicious! Menus from the 1880 list items and prices which may bring a tear to your eye. How about lobster for 60 cents! Sirloin of beef for 50 cents! Augratin potatoes for 15 cents? During this time illuminated summer gardens and al fresco theaters were the rage.

Until next issue,
Audrey.

Farmers, ranchers face March 1 tax deadline

While most taxpayers have until April 15 (actually April 17) to file their 1977 income tax returns, the filing date for farmers and ranchers is much sooner.

"Agricultural producers who did not file an estimate of their income by Jan. 16 and did not pay the estimated taxes must file their tax returns and pay due taxes by March 1," points out Dr. Richard Trimble, economist in management for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "However, if farmers filed an estimate, they have until the April 17 deadline to file final returns.

Trimble notes that several changes were made in the income tax law during 1977 which could be of interest to Texas farmers and ranchers.

A major change was the elimination of the standard deduction and the low income allowance. These two items have been replaced by a flat amount called "zero bracket amount." This amount depends on your filing status.

"The zero bracket amount is not a separate deduction, but the equivalent amount is built into the new simplified tax tables and tax rate schedules," explains the economist. "This is true if you file the 1040A or 1040 income tax forms. However, a person who chooses to use the 1040 form and itemize deductions will need to make an adjustment if he itemized deductions exceed the amount allowed for his particular filing status."

Another change is that the deduction of $750 for each exemption and the general tax credit have been built into the new tax tables, so there is no need for the taxpayer to determine these. The general tax credit has also been revised to consider exemptions for age and blindness, add Trimble.

Filing requirements have also been changed for the 1977 tax year. For example, an individual must file a return if his gross income is $2,950 or more and a married couple under 65 years of age must file if their joint gross income is more than $4,700. If both are 65 or older, they may make $6,200 before being required to file a return.

There are many other minor changes, and Trimble suggests several publications that may be of help. One is publication No. 17, "Your Federal Income Tax," 1978 edition, from the Internal Revenue Service. Another, publication No. 225, "Farmer's Tax Guide," 1978 edition, is also available from the IRS or from any county Extension office.

Area Sports

my corner....

by Jim Daher

Whenever the conversation turns to the high salary structure in professional sports, why is it that the athletes are the ones that are blamed? Everyone remarks about the greed of Reggie Jackson, Catfish Hunter and Tom Seaver, just to name a few. In reality these athletes are merely selling a product to the highest bidder, it's not them that creates the problem.

If you wish to cast a few stones why not toss a few at the owners. In basketball and football it'll soon be as bad as baseball, expect it. Until the owners in every sport realize that money is not the only end, the problem will continue.

A great example of this can be found at the end of each baseball season. As of late, the season end means a time for ridiculous offers to new free agents. The owners bitterly complain about wages and then cut each other's throats to sign a "superstar". All the players do is sit back and wait for the dollars to roll in.

In the case of pro sports, the greed label goes right to the owner. Last year the teams that won now have the money to buy and the teams that lost must pass. In San Francisco the two major league baseball teams combined drew only 1.1 million fans. Where's the money to buy new talent going to come from? Who blames Charlie Finley for bailing out?

Last but not least comes the fan. All these million dollar athletes don't get all their money from the owners. Just check the prices of tickets. At the rate they're appreciating it won't be long before a season ticket will require a safety deposit box. The humor seems to fade when a common working man can't even afford to go to the ball game.

Although all indications are that the problem is getting worse, the end is in sight. Mr. Finley is a sign of things to come. More and more owners are going to lose interest in this expensive enterprise and some changes will have to come. Either the salaries will come down or the fans will not come out.

Besides, is Catfish Hunter really worth 7,000 dollars an hour? Jim Daher

Panthers beat Nacogdoches; drop close one to Tyler Lee

The Lufkin Panthers played a pair of tough games last week, winning over Nacogdoches and dropping a close one to Tyler Lee.

Against Nacogdoches last Tuesday the Pack came out a little too relaxed and the Dragons took advantage. At the end of the first half it was 38-34, Dragons. In the second half though it was all Lufkin from the opening tap on. The Panthers scored 10 straight points and were never headed.

Victory was sweet as five Panthers hit double figures in the 69-62 win. Garnering 14 points, re-serve guard Ronnie Blake was high man, followed by Andre Hall and Chris Wortham with 13 each. Danny Hartsfield chipped in 11 and Elroy Edwards had 10 to round out the scoring for the pack. In the second half there was no mistake made by Lufkin that wasn't overshadowed by hustle and desire. The defensive play of the Panthers was excellent as they shut down the lanes and slowed the Dragon offense to a walk. The win upped their record to 24-5 on the year, and 7-0 in league play.

Lufkin's second game last week was a losing effort, as the powerful Tyler Lee Red Raiders handed the pack their first conference loss, 53-46. The first half ended with Lee ahead 24-23. At times both teams dominated the first two periods but neither could take full control of the game. In the second half the Panthers seemed to have an edge but it was shortlived. Before the end of the third period the Raiders took over and never looked back.

The Panthers had trouble making the easy shot against Lee and never got their offense untracked. It gave Tyler Lee a chance to avenge their only loss of the season, and possibly set the stage for a pressure packed playoff.

Lufkin was led by Chris Wortham with 20 points, and Andre Hall who had eight points. Elroy Edwards also scored eight points.

Although it's hard to find a lot of good play when you lose, such was not the case in this contest. Chris Wortham's play was worth the price of admission alone. He was all over the court and was involved in most of the crucial plays. Wortham may be on the way to grabbing off the M.V.P. award if his performance continues on it's present course.

Some other local games saw Hudson defeating St. Augustine, 61-48, Central downed Burkeville, 65-61, and Diboll rocked Camden-Corrigan, 90-52.

Over a quarter million

White-tail deer abundant, thanks to Temple Ind.

It is almost hard to imagine that 25 years ago the only white-tail deer in East Texas consisted of a small herd on some Temple Industries land in the Boggy Slew area. Through careful management on the part of Temple wildlife specialists, the herd has multiplied. Now there are over a quarter of a million white-tails in East Texas; all stemming from this small herd.

Management included protecting the animals from predators, indiscriminate hunting and over-population. Once the herd grew in population it became necessary to transport some of the deer to other areas; a task which Temple wildlife specialists now have down to a fine art.

A net is attached to four vertical poles and dynamite caps are placed at each corner. Deer are lured under the net by placing food on the ground directly underneath it. When a sufficient number of deer have gathered under the net, the dynamite charges are exploded causing the net to drop over the animals. Although this sounds as though it may be a traumatic experience for the deer, Wildlife Manager Samford explains that the deer calm down immediately after being placed in a dark trailer for the journey to their new home.

Temple's interest in wildlife is also evidenced through their exotic animal programs. Among the animals which the company has imported into their wildlife management areas are various types of ducks, turkeys, elk, alligators and pheasants.

When these animals get too plentiful, the more exotic ones are traded with other exotic game farms.

Temple Industries is also concerned with plant life. In fact, there is a nature walk scheduled to open this spring adjacent to the company's wildlife management area at Scrappin' Valley. The five-acre arboreum will be open to all those interested in flora. According to Temple Public Information Director, Alan Miller, the walk is especially useful to students of botany and horticulture.

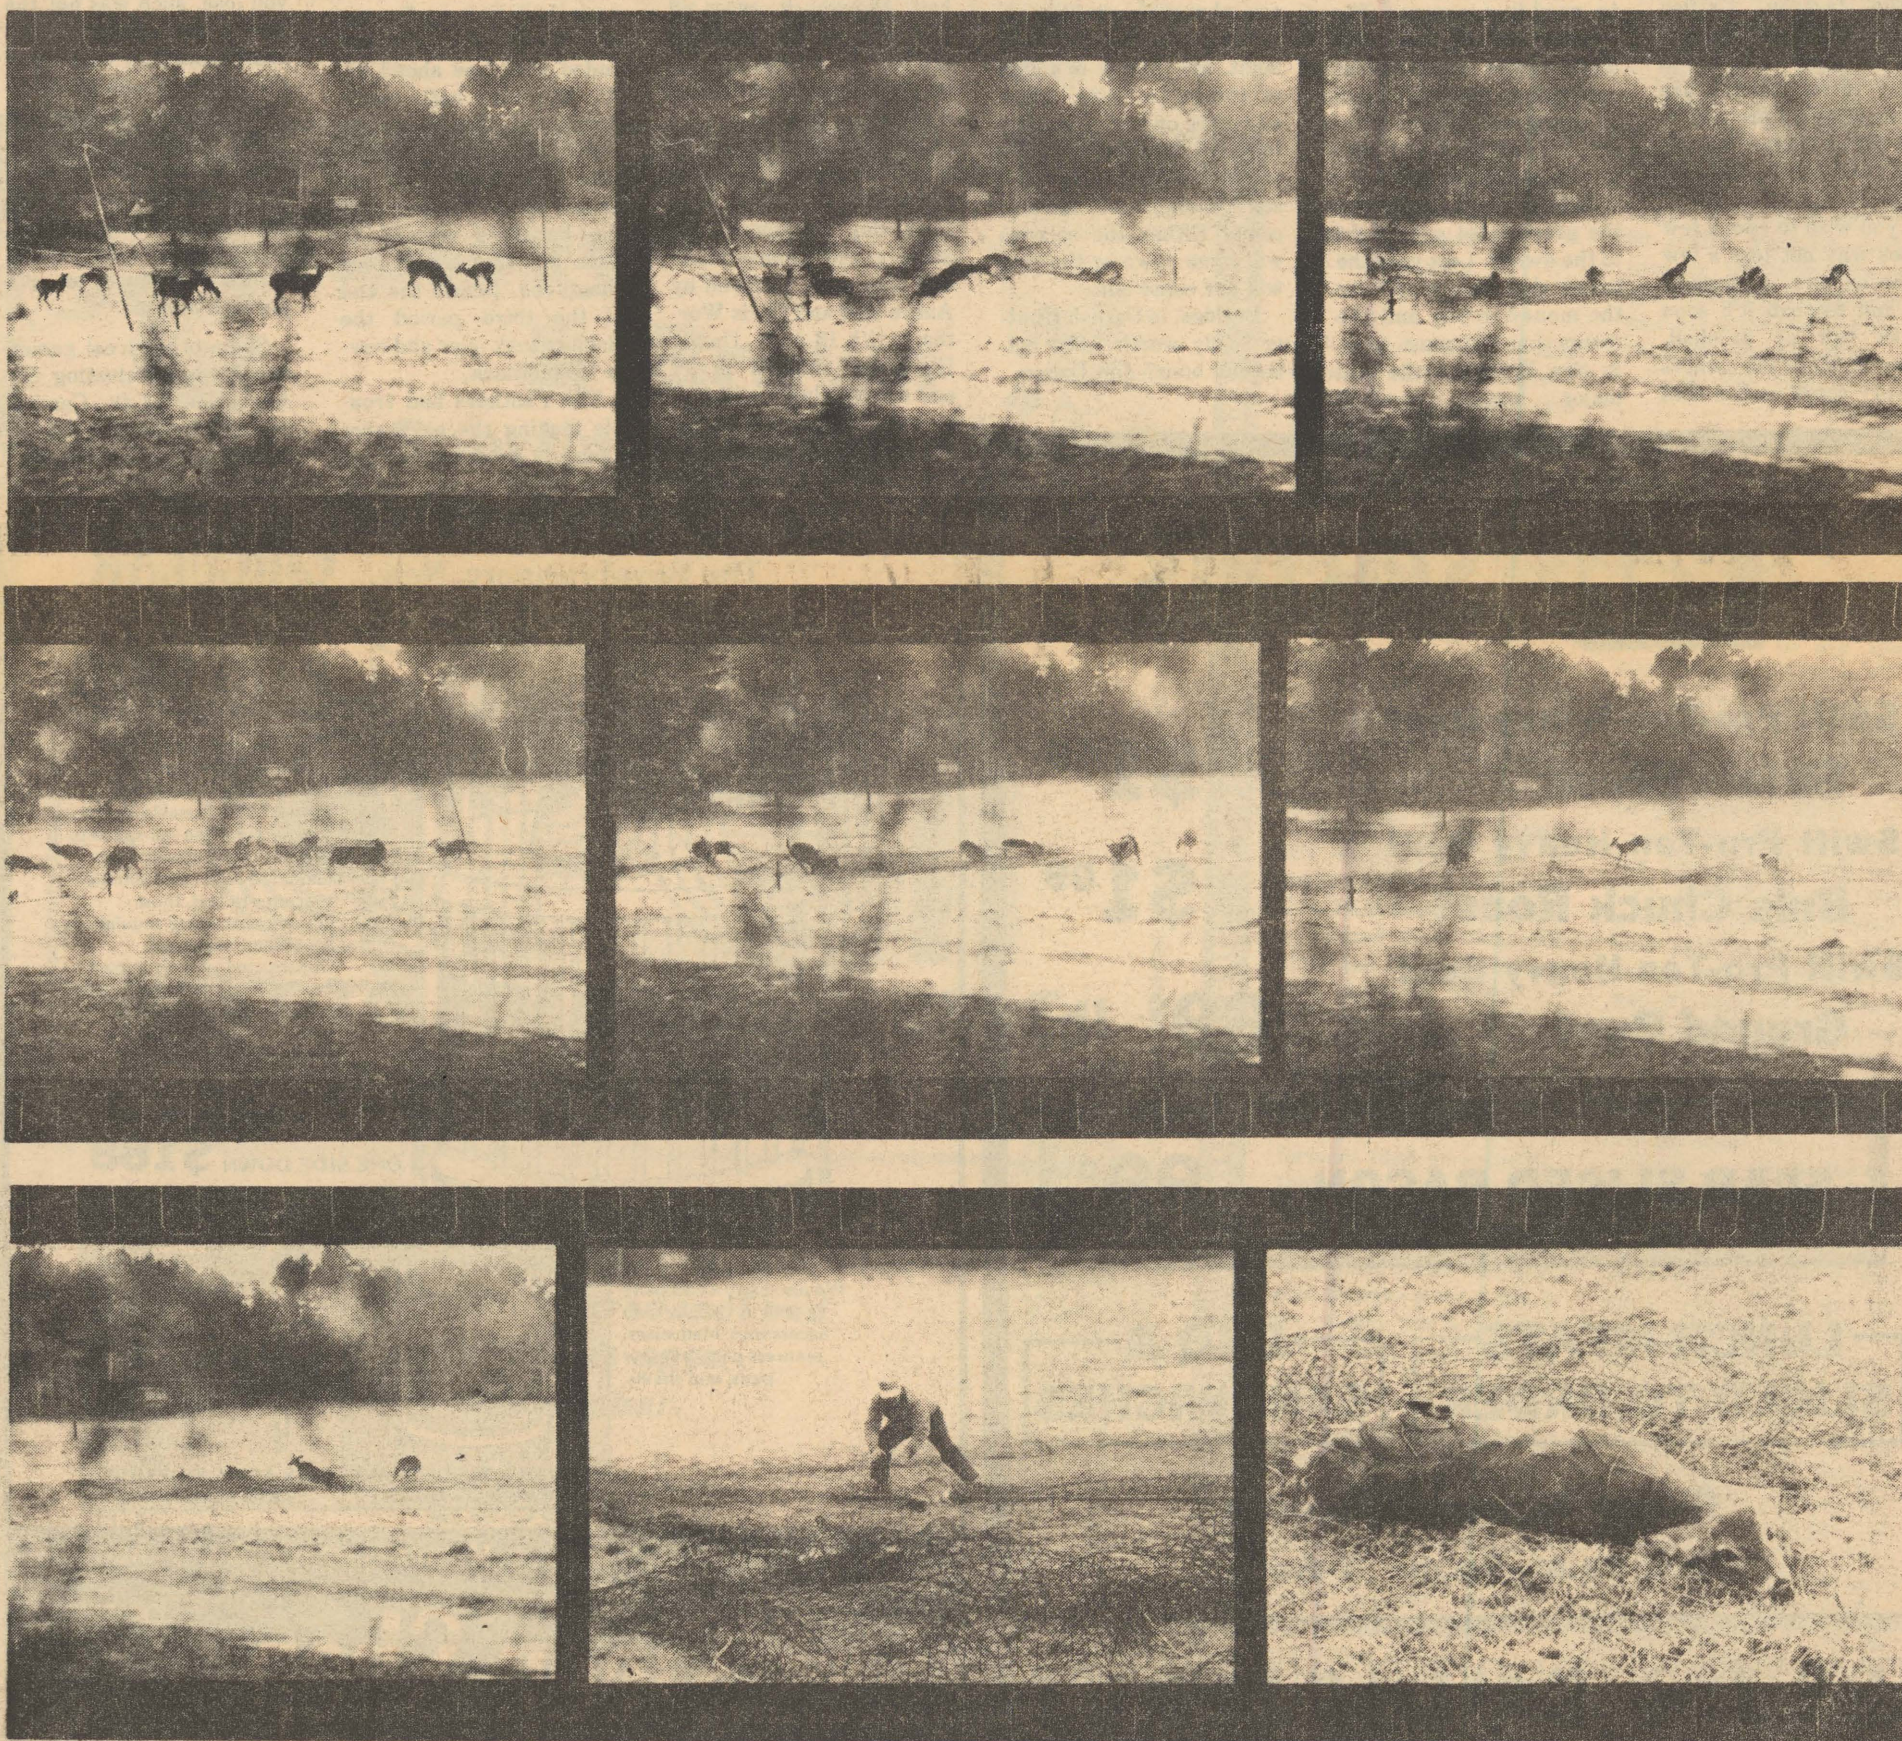

Gene Samford explains that the company's main purpose in maintaining the flora and wildlife areas, in addition to a concern for preservation of certain species, is to study the effect that the timber industry and flora and wildlife have on one another. So far, those involved with the projects have discovered that commercial timber land can support much more wildlife than was once thought possible without harming production.

Samford also points out the good side of clearcutting. He explains that pines tend to dominate an area and prohibit the growth of hardwood brush, which various animals and birds feed on. Clearcutting allows for the growth of the feed stock and thus attracts animals to the area.

Discriminate hunting is considered by many to be a key ingredient in keeping animal population in balance. Temple Industries land boasts approximately 250 hunting clubs. Clubs near the Lufkin area include Ryan's Lake outside of Diboll, Renfro, off of FM 1818 and North Boggy Slew, off of Hwy. 103.

Temple Industries personnel have deer trapping for transfer to other areas down to a fine art. As the picture series above shows, a large net is attached to four metal poles. Dynamite caps are placed at each corner. After a sufficient number of deer gather under the net, lured by food, the dynamite is exploded causing the net to drop. The deer are then loaded into a trailer, kept dark to avoid exciting the animals, and transported to their new home.

Gospel soloist to perform in Civic Center

Merrill Womach

Gospel soloist and recording artist Merrill Womach will perform at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 13 at the Lufkin Civic Center.

Womach, a native of Spokane, Wash., received his voice training at universities in Seattle, Spokane and Los Angeles. He has served as a soloist with the Civic Choir of Seattle, the Spokane A Capella Chorus as well as with several other musical groups on the west coast. In addition, Womach was Director of the Voice Department of the Spokane Conservatory of Music and the Ministry of Music at one of the outstanding churches in the state of Washington for five years.

The singer's ministry evolved in spite of a fiery plane crash in 1961. Burned beyond recognition, he literally rose from the ashes to the peak of a career of singing and Christian witness which few have matched. Countless surgical operations have restored his facial features, some of which were completely burned away in the flames. This untimely interruption in his normal life style was just that - an interruption that did not keep him down, but gave him all the more reason to share his experience and voice in song.

Tickets for Womach's Civic Center concert, which is being sponsored by the Luncheon Pilot Club of Lufkin, are available at Gipson Funeral Home, Home Savings & Loan in the Angelina Mall, Lufkin National Bank, Massingill's Market or from any Luncheon Pilot Club member. Advance tickets are $3 at the door they will be $3.50.

Chestnut Drive Baptist gets 'new start'

Pastor Kenneth W. Bryson and the members of the congregation of the Chestnut Drive Baptist Church have already begun settling down in their new home at the intersections of Loop 287 and Chestnut Drive. Formerly called the Antioch Baptist Church located at Kerr Street and Chestnut Drive, Chestnut Drive Baptist has already started making plans to occupy two more sanctuaries made possible by their new location.

Pastor Bryson stated that its almost like having a brand new start as they begin planning for more extensive Christian training with the provisions that have been made and by the devotedness of the church members in wanting to expand their ministries for the Lord. Wednesday, Jan. 18, Chestnut Drive Baptist Church featured the film, "Road To Armageddon" during their regular evening service. The film has been noted to make a great impact among many believers. Persons are finding out that more emphasis needs to put into training children in the ways of Christian living, and Chestnut Drive Baptist Church is aiming to do just that; teach children in the ways of the Lord.

January 29, a special children's film, presented by Lufkinite Gloria Russell on child evangelism, was shown. Gloria Russell is a member of the "Child Evangelism Fellowship". Reaching children for Christ and the Church is the main motivation of the organization as they train and educate children in the ways of spiritual growth. Gloria is presently the Director of the Deep East Texas Chapter of C.E.F.

WHAT IS A PONZI SCHEME?

Named for Charles A. Ponzi, who defrauded hundreds of investors in the 1920s, a Ponzi scheme pays off old "investors" with money coming in from new "investors." It works this way:

Example: Investor A gives Promotor ("P") $1000 on P's promise to repay $1000 plus $100 "interest" in 90 days. During the 90 days, P makes similar promises to Investors B and C, receiving $1000 each from them. At the end of the first 90-day period, P may offer to pay A the $100 "interest" for a similar, or higher, return at the end of another 90 days. Thereafter, A, believing he can receive a good return on his investment, is likely to bring other investors to P.

In this manner P collects a pool of money that he can use to pay out to those few wishing return of their money. P may operate his scheme for some time before "pulling the plug" — that is, either disappearing with all the "investments" or revealing the bad news that the investments went

"sour."

A major factor in the eventual collapse of a Ponzi scheme is that there is no significant source of "income" other than from new investors.

FALLING FOR FRILLS

Many people go househunting in a remarkably casual way - and sometimes end up making costly mistakes. One of the mistakes a househunter can make is to buy the frill instead of the house. All too often a family will fall in love with an eye-catching feature and buy the wrong house. This mistake happens frequently and in all price ranges.

Families skip over careful consideration of the major factors because something minor has really grabbed them. The lure may be a charming fireplace, a glamorous lighting fixture, a garage door opener, or even a unique tree or shrub in bloom.

Yielding to superficial attractions like these can result in your family winding up with a thoroughly unsuitable house. Bear in mind that these same alluring features can usually be added to another house at a relatively small cost, considering the amount of the overall purchase.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at LUFKIN REALTY, 1001 Lee, Lufkin. Phone: 639-2227. We're here to help.

pending environmental impact statements. Congress expressly determined that management may continue on the national forests under existing resource plans until new plans are completed, and the forest service does not believe that continued management principles will significantly threaten adverse environmental impacts."

U. S. Forest Service spokesman said that the decision to appeal the case was made because of the "serious impact on professional forest management" involved in the U.S. District Court ruling.

They said that, at the time of the original ruling, they had been pleased that the judge ruled in their favor alleged violations in four of five laws listed in the plaintiff's charge.

At the time of the district court ruling, they said, the overall outcome was considered a partial win.

But the effect of the ruling in the fifth law, the National Environmental Policy Act, places the law in conflict with the new law signed by the president.

Lindell said that appeal will present the first legal construction and interpretation of the National Forest Management Act signed by the president Oct. 22, 1976.

The judge found U.S. Forest Service in violation of the National Environmental Policy Act and said that USFS must prepare an environmental impact statement on clearcutting before the practice can be used on the state's national forests.

He also said that the impact statement must be approved by his court before national forest timber sales could resume.

In addition, the judge ruled the impact statement already prepared, both on the local and national levels by U.S. Forest Service were inadequate.

Rip Byrd, TFA President, said the findings and conclusions issued by Judge Justice in the case "...display a definite design on the part of the court to retain jurisdiction in this case and thereby set itself up as the manager of the National Forests in Texas for an indefinite time into the future."

He also challenged the judge's findings of fact, which he said were made against "the great weight of credible evidence, and in some cases were scarcely supported by the record without support of scientific evidence."

TFA attorneys said that the latest development on the appeal came when Judge Irving L. Goldberg of the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals granted the motions of the appellants to expedite oral arguments.

E. R. Wagoner, executive vice president of TFA, said he was pleased with Judge Goldberg's action because it insures quicker action for the appeal.

'Rule of 72' determines growth rate of savings

Use the "rule of 72" to determine the approximate length of time it will take to double savings dollars, says Dr. Carolyn McKinney, family resource management specialist.

Dr. McKinney is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

To use the "rule of 72", simply divide the interest rate into 72--the number obtained is the number of years required to double the investment, the specialist continues.

For example, if $1,000 is placed in an account earning 6 per cent annual interest, divide the interest rate, 6 into 72 and find that it will take about 12 years to double the initial investment to $2,000, Dr. McKinney explains.

Hebrew Christian Evangelist Marvin R. Aranove will be guest speaker at the First Assembly of God Church in Lufkin Feb. 5-8 at both the 11 a.m. services and the 7 p.m. services. Pastor Bob Lewis invites everyone to attend these services.

Dr. Williams honored by two local homecomings

Two local churches in the Lufkin area held homecoming celebrations this past weekend for Dr. Charles Williams. Dr. Williams was the guest speaker during the morning services at the Redland United Methodist Church and also at the Keltys United Methodist Church.

Dr. Williams was licensed to preach at Keltys Church, and the congregation, along with other friends, made preparations for the special festivity.

The speaker attended Stephen F. Austin State University in Nacogdoches where he received his undergraduate degree. He received his bachelor of divinity degree from Perkins School of Theology at SMU and a doctor of divinity degree from Southwestern University. Dr. Williams established the Trinity United Methodist Church in Beaumont. Beginning with no members and no property, the church grew under his leadership to a membership of 1,400 in six years. He also held pastorate position at First United Methodist Church in Longview and served with two Methodist churches in Houston.

Church of the Nazarene prepares for Youth Week

The Youth Department of the First Church of the Nazarene in Lufkin is making preparations for "Youth Week '78," beginning last Sunday through this Wednesday. Tonight's service is expected to be directed by the Youth Department.

Different teens are expected to be involved in special songs, leading testimony services, playing offeratory, devotional message, scripture reading, and other parts of the service.

Pastor Bill Fowler and the whole congregation at the First Church of the Nazarene, located at 424 Lufkin Ave., invites everyone to come down and join in youth night. This evening will be the conclusion of this special event.

It is a pleasure
doing business with you,

Ray's Choice Cut.

Thank you.
