Lifting the VOICE in SONG

BY KAY GIBBS

“WE SING for a purpose,” is what James Carlile, Welding Shop employee, says about his gospel singing group, “The Waymakers.”

“This is the way we serve God,” he added. And this seems to be true of all the people who sing at the Angelina County Singing Conventions held quarterly.

People come from everywhere to attend the “singing.” Some come to listen; some come to sing. The gospel singers sometimes come from very long distances. The “singing” usually starts at 7:00 or 7:30 p.m. on a Saturday and winds up around 10:30 p.m. It begins again at 10:00 the next morning and ends at 3:00 that afternoon. Many will stay for every minute of it, and some will come for just an afternoon; but there is always a large crowd.

James actually started singing as a youth in high school. He has sung a great deal in his home church, Bald Hill Baptist. He has also been active as a song leader for various revivals conducted in local churches. “My great-grandfather was a Baptist preacher and he liked to sing,” James smiles, “and I guess I got it from him.”

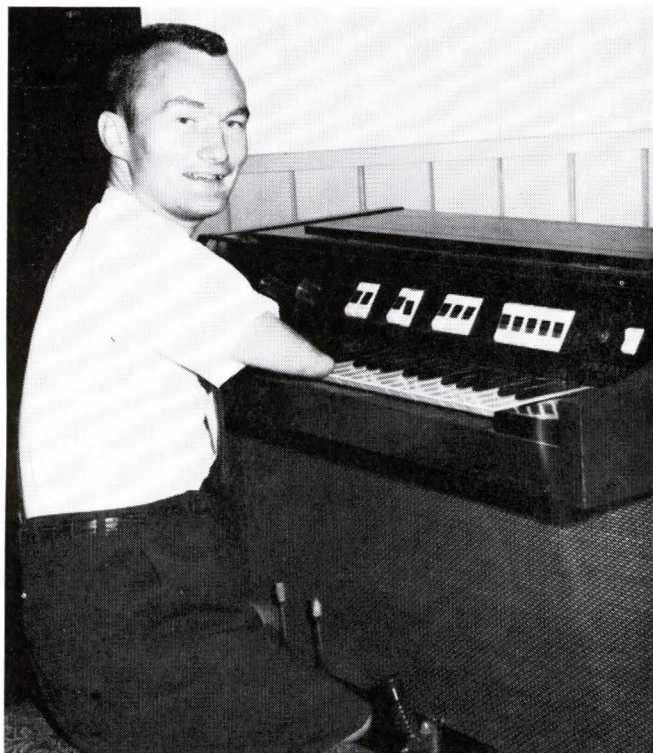

“The Waymakers” were organized in 1960. They met at a Youth “Singspirational” being held in Lufkin that year. The “Singspirational” was conducted by Lufkin youth in several Lufkin churches. The other members of the trio are brothers, Jackie and Jimmy Havard. “The Waymakers” are regulars for all the Angelina County Singing Conventions.

The group gets their numbers from gospel singing books or sheet music. They sometimes rearrange country songs, or find a record they like and listen to it until they know the words and melody. Many of the songs they sing have stories behind them. Before the group presents a number, James will relate the story which is usually inspirational.

One of the songs with just such a story is “Keep Walking” which “The Waymakers” sing quite often. They also derived their group name from a gospel song. They were originally a quartet known as the “Friendly Four,” and “there was something lacking in that name” James recalled. They heard a song, “Jesus, The Waymaker” and that seemed to be more appropriate so they adopted it.

“The Waymakers” have attended singing conventions in Orange, Jefferson, Trinity, Nacogdoches, Shelby, Jasper, Polk and Hardin Counties. They

RICHARD MILLER, a law student at The University of Texas, travels to the various singing conventions with his specially equipped organ which he plays despite the fact he was born without arms and legs. He also can play an electric guitar have also been to conventions near Dallas and Fort Worth, Houston, Baytown and in Arkansas.

They have entered only one contest since they organized. They were invited by a Houston gospel group to enter a gospel singing talent contest there, and they won first place.

James sings bass, lead or high tenor. He doesn't play the piano, but would like to learn. He also says that he has never had a singing lesson. "My ultimate dream is to sing with a professional gospel singing group," James admits.

James does have high hopes in the field of lyric writing. He has already composed words for six or seven gospel songs. Since he doesn't know how to compose music, he writes the lyrics and takes them to a woman in Nacogdoches who teaches music. He sings the words to the melody he wants and she writes down each note and puts them together in a song. He hopes to sell these when they are finished.

A lot of nice things can happen at a singing convention. James met his future bride, Miss Shaila Smith, at one although he "can't remember which one." Shaila sings with a group called the "Messengers" which includes another girl and a younger brother, Doyle. James occasionally sings bass with them.

The singing conventions are usually held in high school auditoriums or churches. This year they have been held at Zavalla High School, Shawnee Prairie and recently at the Fairview Baptist Church.

President of the Angelina County Singing Convention is Burton Ricks, Machine Shop employee. His wife, Annabell, is secretary-treasurer of the Convention. Burton and Mrs. Ricks sing together and Burton plays the accordion.

It isn't uncommon for as many as 20 groups to attend and sing at the conventions. The program for each one is made up of the congregation singing songs from the adopted convention song books, and then the special groups presenting their numbers. They also sing songs requested by the people.

Some of the people interested in singing conventions make it a point to attend the big one—the Neches Valley Singing Convention which is held in different parts of Texas twice a year. It has been held in Lufkin in the past. Another big attraction in Lufkin are the special programs presented by the Gospel Concert Association which has sponsored the Speer Family, Oakridge Boys, Blackwood Brothers and Junior Blackwood Brothers.

Many Foundry employees attend the "singing." Wayne Rushton, Engineering department, was once a member of "The Waymakers." Others who are frequently seen are: Kirby McAdams, Willie Ricks and Luther Whitehead, Trailer Division employees; John Lawrence, J. O. Burgess, and "Preacher" Weems, Machine Shop employees; Steve Warren, W. F. Crager, and J. E. Cook, Welding Shop employees; and Judge Hutson and John Mitchell, Material Control employees.

All those who attend find a rare "togetherness" among people. And if one can't sing, then it's nice listening.

Shop Talk

We hope to see CLARENCE MILLIGAN up and around after being hospitalized. Clarence is foreman, second shift in the Assembly and Shipping Department.

Congratulations to C. V. BISHOP on the arrival of a new granddaughter born August 8. Parents of the new arrival are Jerry and Geraldine Bishop. C. V. is employed in the Trailer Division.

The boys in the Welding Shop office are really going to miss TOMMY DEAL when he has to leave them to go back to school. We understand that Tommy has done a fine job.

We were sorry to hear that J. W. GAINER has been in the hospital. We hope he has a speedy recovery. J. W. is employed in the Machine Shop.

"There's gorillas in them thar' hills!" At least that is what DOYLE BOWERS and T. L. VANSAU think. Doyle and T. L. have houses at River Crest and lately they've been hearing some mighty strange noises that sound like anything from a gorilla to a mountain lion. Anyway, they aren't taking any chances on getting caught. When night moves in, Doyle and T. L. move inside and stay there. We heard a different story from WOODROW LEE AND BENNIE LATHAM who also stay at River Crest; they haven't seen or heard any of these "varmints." Doyle and T. L. aren't taking any chances though because you never can tell what might be lurking in the shadows.

DON TRAYLOR is driving around in a new GT Dodge Dart. Don works in the Machine Shop.

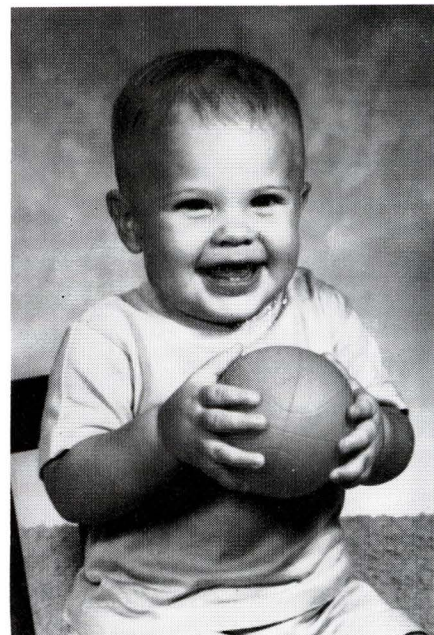

A. G. COLBURN is back after a vacation in Colorado with his family. A. G. is shop foreman for the Trailer Division.

CHARLIE GAULT. Mrs. Gault and their daughter, son-in-law and grandson recently enjoyed a fishing trip to Lake Murvall. Charlie is foreman of the Assembly and Shipping Department.

The boys in the Shipping Department are still wondering what happened to ROY JOE BAILEY's chin. Roy Joe isn't talking much about it though.

We extend our sympathy to C. D. BOYKIN who recently lost his mother. C. D. is employed in the Order Department of Main Office.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. KENNETH RUNNELS on the arrival of a baby girl born July 26. Kenneth works in the Trailer Division.

STEVEN BURNETTE, one-year-old great-nephew of JOE BURNETTE, Yard Crew foreman

The Tarzan of the Pattern Shop is BILLY ROYCE MCCLENDON who can probably beat Tarzan when it comes to climbing trees and catching squirrels. Billy Royce doesn't find it necessary to use a gun to kill a squirrel when he can just climb a tree and shake him out. Of course, this method does have its disadvantages such as sprained ankles and quite a few scratches from keeping a firm hold on the trunk as you slide slowly down

CHARLES CAMPBELL, Tool Room, does cartooning as a hobby and he did this for The Roundup to illustrate the Shop Talk story on T. L. VANSAU and DOYLE BOWERS when he is going to get married and since he hasn't been answering lately some people think he might just be considering marriage. Kent is employed in the Trailer Division.

Margaret Weeks and Lisa Breazeale returned from an exciting 12 days at the Girl Scout Roundup at Farragut, Idaho. Margaret is the daughter of HAROLD WEEKS, Gas Engine Department, and Lisa is the daughter of H. W. BREAZEAL, Machine Shop.

The girls came back with a lot of interesting stories about their trip and their stay at the camp site. Margaret's patrol, which was composed of 32 girls, had a "formal" party. They took hikes and sang songs around the campfire. Some of their best experiences came from meeting girls from other parts of the United States and abroad. Margaret became fast friends with a Girl Scout from Lawrence Harbor, New Jersey, named Jackie Weeks. They hope to find out if they are related. They plan to meet again when Margaret's troop takes their trip to the East Coast next summer. The girls brought home many souvenirs and a lot of happy memories of a once-in-a-lifetime occasion.

One-year-old Steven Burnette has quite a time when he visits his great-uncle JOE BURNETTE, Machine Shop foreman. Steven's daddy, Dan Burnette who is Joe's nephew, is employed by Temple Industries in Diboll. We understand that Steven gets to do just what he wants when he visits Joe. Joe says he spends a lot of time on the telephone "jabbering," and with that winning smile it's easy to see how he has won over "Uncle Joe."

BUD LOVETT, Machine Shop, must own quite a bird dog. In fact, the dog is so special that Bud has already refused $1,000.00 for him. It's not hard to understand why he's worth more than a thousand dollars when you know how well he hunts. It seems that the dog finds the quail first and then he finds an armadillo hole. He then begins to circle the quail until he gets them near the hole and then he runs them all into the hole. Being the intelligent dog he is, he sits on top of the hole and waits patiently for Bud to arrive. Then he eases off the hole and lets one quail fly out and Bud shoots it. He does this until all the quail are out and Bud has shot each one. With cooperation like that, who needs a thousand dollars?

the tree. If anyone has a need for a squirrel catcher, Billy Royce comes highly recommended.

The JOHN COPELAND's just returned from a trip to Montana, Utah and Colorado. John is a foreman in the Trailer Division.

JIM WALL, H. E. SWORD, EDWIN DOMINEY, and JERRY WATSON, all Machine Shop employees, have received "greetings" from their Uncle Sam. We wish them all the very best of luck.

JAMES BOYD, foreman, Gas Engine department did something that few men dare to do—he fell down a well. We understand that he didn't intend to do it, but he leaned over the side a little too far and it was a long 15-foot journey to the water. After he got there he wasn't much better off because he landed in ten feet of water. James was trying to install a water pump in the well and that went in with him. Things looked pretty bad for a while, but then his family called the fire department and the police department. His wife finally rescued him by throwing him a rope that was tied to a tree. We are glad that things turned out okay, and we'll bet that he'll tie that rope to himself and to that tree before he installs another water pump.

JAMES RICHIE, Foundry Department, is back after spending a few weeks at the National Guard summer camp.

Congratulations to the CHARLES COLLINS' on the arrival of a new baby. Charles works in the Foundry department.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. COY OLIVER on the arrival of a baby boy. Coy is employed in the Trailer Division, first shift.

It's good to see BURTON RICKS back at work after being in the hospital. Burton is employed in the Machine Shop on the first shift.

We extend our sympathy to CLINT and JIMMY YOUNGBLOOD who lost their brother. Clint works the first shift in the Maintenance department; Jimmy is employed in the Machine Shop, third shift.

R. E. (Mutt) BARR, plant superintendent saw his first rattlesnake while fishing near Rockport. We suppose Mutt wasn't too impressed because he promptly killed him. He was much happier about his catch of red snapper and speckled trout.

Maurice Wilson isn't at all sorry that he gave up bachelorhood to marry the former Sue Dell Smith July 28. The newlyweds are living on Douglas Street, and Maurice says that his new bride can really cook. Our very best to them. Maurice is timekeeper in the Trailer Division.

A Note of Thanks

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following was written by Mrs. Coy John Key, sister of J. P. MORGAN, former Mill Supplies employee who died July 8.)

A FAVORITE quotation of the late Eleanor Roosevelt and Adlai Stevenson was the one: "I had rather light a candle than curse the darkness."

The hour of Death is a dark one for those who experience the passing of a Loved One, and such has been our hour when J. P. made his exit from this life to the "other world."

But the candles of love and service, of interest and concern shown by the administrative personnel and employees of the Lufkin Foundry and Machine Company—especially by the Mill Supplies Division and Carl Garner who stayed with him to the end—certainly made our sorrow lighter, by letting us know that you appreciated J. P. for himself—a friend and fellow employee.

Your visits—whether expressing words of consolation or just shaking hands and remaining silent—were a great comfort and source of strength to us. Your cards and lovely flowers also expressed the goodness of your hearts and brought solace to ours. The way you came to us in our time of need speaks well of the Company, showing that employees and administration share in the sufferings of fellow-workers.

And truly J. P., with his continuous line of feigned frivolity, spread light wherever he went.

We, the members of his family, never heard him speak evil of his fellowman, never knew him to fail answering the need of a friend, and despite the various kinds of suffering he experienced through the years, we never once heard him complain. He always felt that the Foundry was a special place and that his friends there were special people.

We know that if he could have looked down on all your acts of respect to him and kindness to us, he would have said, "Now, why do you do all this taking on and go to so much trouble? I'm all right. They'll 'make it' fine too!"

While he lived he lighted his candle, and your various expressions of sympathy lighted our time of darkness.

May God bless you individually and the Company as you work together there.

Sincerely yours,

THE FAMILY OF J. P. MORGAN

Our congratulations to the Mr. and Mrs. GARY ROUSE on the arrival of their new baby. Gary is employed in the Trailer Division. The happy grandfather is LUKE ROUSE who also is employed in the Trailer Division.

"Happy Days Are Here Again" when BILL PENNINGTON, and GENE CHASTAIN meet. We understand that these two always find a lot to say about the "good ole days" in Arkansas. Bill is foreman of the Welding Shop and Gene is foreman of the Electrical Department.

Our sympathy to WAYNE FOWLER and BARBARA FOWLER who lost their grandmother and mother-in-law. Wayne works in the Machine Shop, third shift. Barbara is employed in the Plant Office.

PETE LARGENT and his family recently enjoyed a vacation in Colorado.

LEE BISHOP, right, retired Security Guard employee, helps his grandson, Terry Lee Bishop, 16, display the 42-pound catfish which Lee caught for a July 4 picnic

Pete works the first shift in the Machine Shop.

ERNEST LORD, Pattern Shop foreman, had a very successful fishing trip at Lake Houston. He caught three Opelousas catfish that weighed 20 pounds, 22 pounds and 35 pounds.

We understand that JIMMY PATE, side bay, Foundry department, will soon be hearing wedding bells. Jimmy is from Apple Springs.

LEE BISHOP, retired employee, caught a 42-pound catfish in the Neches River the week before July 4. He used a trot line and poly-wog cat for bait. Lee always starts fishing a week before the Fourth of July so his family can have a fish fry the Fourth. Over forty relatives attended the fish fry. Lee is the father of C. V. and Connellee Bishop who are both employed in the Trailer Division.

It seems that Lufkin Foundry knows how to pick beauty and Talent. The new Miss Texas, MARY LOU BUTLER, of Nacogdoches, and her sisters entertained Foundry employees with several musical numbers at the 1964 Christmas party held at the Lufkin High School auditorium. Those who heard Mary Lou sing know why she won the Miss Texas title. Among the numbers she sang was "All I Want for Christmas Is My Two Front Teeth."

More people enjoy baseball than football because it doesn't require a college education to get tickets.

Optimist: A husband going to the marriage bureau to see if his license has expired.

Mother: "My son is home from college."

Neighbor: "How do you know?"

Mother: "I haven't had a letter from him in three weeks and the car is gone."

Ten to one any vegetation on the moon will turn out to be crabgrass.

"How are the roads around here?" he asked.

"Fine," came the native's reply. "We've abolished bad roads in this country."

"Sort of a big job, wasn't it?" asked the motorist.

"Nope," the farmer answered, "where ever the going is especially hard, we don't call it a road. We call it a detour."

A decision is what a man makes when he can't find anybody to serve on a committee.

A Brooklyn mother was pleading with the judge, asking leniency for her gangster son. On behalf of the oft-sprung off-spring she cried, "Judge, he was always a good boy. Everything he stole, he gave me half."

The customs man poked through an old gentleman's luggage and found a flask of whiskey.

"I thought you said you had nothing but clothes in here," the inspector said.

"It's true," the old gent replied. "That sir, is my nightcap!"

A cannibal took his baby to a witch doctor and said, "Doc, I don't know what's the matter with him. He won't eat anybody."

A big brown bear chased the greenhorn hunter back to the cabin where his buddies were readying for the hunt. The greenhorn fell and the bear tripped over him and rolled into the cabin. The greenhorn grabbed the door and slammed it shut.

"Skin that one," he screamed, "I'll go get another one."

The man who claims he never made a mistake in his life usually has a wife who did.

In the early spring, the minister was baptizing a new member while his friend looked on. As they stepped out of the water, the friend asked, "Is the water cold, Joe?"

"N-n-o-o," shivered Joe.

"Better duck him again, Parson," said the friend, "He ain't stopped lyin' yet."

Mother of small boy to child psychiatrist: "Well, I don't know whether or not he feels insecure, but everybody else in the neighborhood certainly does!"

As the wedding ceremony of an actor and actress began, he offered her his arm to escort her down the aisle. She shook her head. "No," she sighed, "you take my arm. I know the way better than you do."

"Boss, I need the raise because of illness in the family. My wife is awful sick of my being broke."

A doctor called to a house to attend a confinement. After he had been upstairs a few minutes, he came down and said to the husband, "Have you got a corkscrew?" He was given one and went upstairs. A few minutes elapsed—he came down and said, "Got a screwdriver?" He was given one. Again he went up. A few minutes and he was down for a third time, asking for a chisel and mallet.

"Good gracious, doctor," the worried husband said, "Is it a boy or a girl?"

"Don't know yet," replied the doctor, "Can't get my medicine case open."

"Willie," puffed the fat woman plaintively as her husband failed to assist her onto the streetcar, "You aren't as gallant as when I was a gal."

"I know, dear," puffed back Willie, "but you aren't as buoyant as when I was a boy."

Golf is a game where a ball 1 1/2 inches in diameter is placed on another ball 8,000 miles in diameter.

The object is to hit the small ball, but not the large one.

"How do you know you were going only 15 miles an hour?" the judge asked the driver accused of speeding.

"I was on my way to the dentist!"

A young applicant for a job as truck driver for a dairy was asked if he was married. "No," he replied. "I'm not—but I can take orders, if that's what you mean."

The original mistake was inventing the calendar. This led, in due course, to having Mondays.

College years: the only vacation a boy gets between his mother and his wife.
