

The Lufkin Roundup

AUGUST 1970

from THE PRESIDENT'S DESK...

FELLOW EMPLOYEES:

THE most rewarding thing for peace of mind to anyone is to accomplish something useful that will help someone in need or render a service to some worthwhile cause.

Next time you are asked to volunteer time or talent for a worthwhile cause and you're inclined to say no because you feel you have more to do already than you have time for, think of this man:

There were only 24 hours in the day then as now, but before he died in 1826, he finished college in less than three years; studied law; was admitted to the bar at age 24; introduced crop rotation and terracing to the U. S.; designed and built his own home; designed one of the country's leading universities and the capitol building of his state; invented a plow, a manifold signing machine, lettercopy press, double swinging doors, a seven day calendar clock and countless gadgets.

He originated the decimal system for U. S. money; played the violin well; created his state's public school system; was a university president; established the U. S. Military Academy and designed the uniforms the cadets still wear; wrote the rules of parliamentary procedure under which the U. S. Senate still operates; wrote 16,000 letters to friends and colleagues all over the world.

He served as a member of his state legislature, governor, minister to France, secretary of state, vice president and president of the United States for two terms.

He designed his own gravestone and created this epitaph listing the three accomplishments of which he was proudest: "Here was buried Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of American Independence; of the Statute of Virginia for Religious Freedom and Father of the University of Virginia."

What a lesson for those of us who say, "I just don't have the time!"

R. L. POLAND

ROBERT LANG, left, vice president and foundry superintendent, and HENRY MANTOOTH.

C. J. (Dude) SCHULLER, left, vice president, and W. E. (Shorty) HUMPHRIES.

RETIREEES:

Henry Mantooth

SINCE retirement, Henry Mantooth has been "fishing and doing just as little as I can."

"Or maybe I should say I've been doing whatever work my wife can get out of me," he added with a grin.

Henry was hired Oct. 21, 1937, in the Foundry department and remembers moving equipment by hand at the site of the old foundry 33 years ago.

"I never weighed over 145 in my life, so that was pretty tough work."

He says he is especially grateful to Robert Lang for giving him the opportunity to be a foreman.

Henry and his wife have one son, James, an engineer in Houston, whom they visit "about every other week." They also have a grandson.

Shorty Humphries

"I LOVE to weld, I always tried to make every weld better than the last one I did," W. E. (Shorty) Humphries said of his nearly 28 years with the Trailer Division.

He was employed in the Van Sub-Assembly department when he retired. Shorty's first day at work was Nov. 2, 1942.

Shorty grew up in Southwest Texas near the Mexican border, but he met his wife in Lufkin after his family moved next door to hers. They have two sons, James Henry, and Emory Ray, also an employee of the Van Sub-Assembly department.

Shorty spends much of his spare time with his seven grandchildren, who range in age from six years to a one-year-old. There are two granddaughters and five grandsons.

Hardy Fredregill

HARDY Fredregill, retiree of the Machine Shop, not only remembers the exact date he began work, Sept. 29, 1943, he even recalls punching in at 5:30 p.m.

"I'll never forget that first night and the exact time I got there, because when I got home the next morning, I had never been so tired in my life," he said. He worked 14 years at night.

Hardy's recollections include many a morning that he got off at 4:30 a.m. and ran straight home for his hunting gear. He still enjoys hunting but has spent much of his retirement at the lake fishing.

Hardy has two gardens and runs 30 head of Brahman cattle on his 70 acres. He also leases 1500 acres.

The Fredregills' two children live in Redland and Houston. They have six grandchildren.

Tommie Finley

"I BROKE in a lot of foremen in my 28 years here," Tommie Finley reminisced about his years in the Machine Shop on the night shift and the Trailer Division day shift, from which he retired.

For more than 20 years, he built the grain walls in floats and he did mostly flooring in the Float department during his last years of employment.

He was employed April 22, 1942.

Now that he is retired, he plans to catch up on his fishing and somewhat regrets having sold the camper he had last summer.

"Now I need it, but I guess I won't buy another one, because I never really slept too well in the camper," Tommie added.

He also has more time to help his mother-and father-in-law with their garden. He is 89; she, 75.

The Finleys have one son at home, Johnny Wayne, a student at Lufkin High School, and a daughter, Virginia Melton.

C. J. (Dude) SCHULLER, left, vice president, and TOMMIE W. FINLEY.

Shop Talk

JUDGE HUTSON, Inspection department, first shift, and his wife were delegates of Knights and Pythian Sisters to a convention in Lubbock, the scene of a tornado in June.

"Words cannot express nor mind conceive the horrors of a real tornado," Judge said when he returned. "My advice is, if you see a twister cloud, find a hole real quick, crawl inside, then pull the hole in behind you," he added.

Marine Corporal Ralph Fowler, son of Mr. and Mrs. FREDDIE B. FOWLER of Lufkin, is now serving at Marine Corps Base, Twenty-nine Palms, Calif.

Freddie works in the Trailer Division, Yard Crew.

Greetings to Mrs. BYFORD SMITH, who has been ill. Her husband works in the Machine Shop, first shift, and her brother is JIMMY YOUNGBLOOD, Tool Room, first shift.

ARTHUR WARREN, Trailer Division, Machine department, and YANK WILLIAMS, Machine Shop Assembly Floor, first shift, will be racing modified stock cars every Friday night this summer, weather permitting, at the track near the country club road.

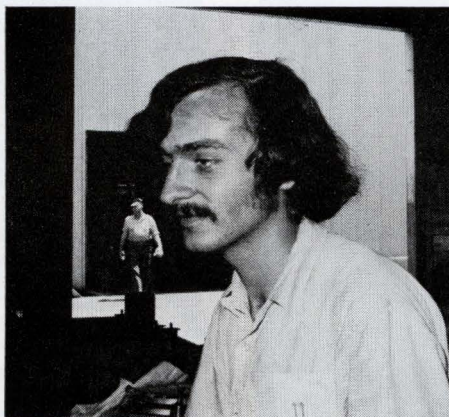

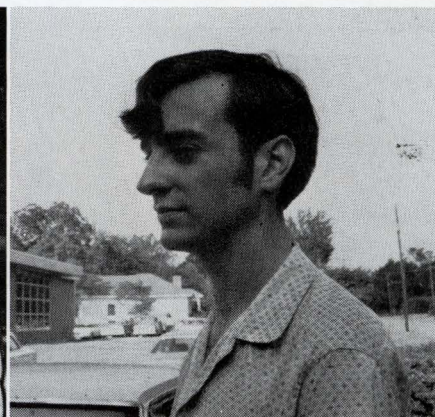

The fellows in the Pattern Shop say LARRY STRINGER has a new motorcycle and a hairdo to go with it.

LEE BURNETT, Accounting department, and family took a two-week vacation, swinging through Las Vegas on the way out west, where they visited son, Stacey, who works for Texaco in Los Angeles.

Sherry Eastepp, who will be in tenth grade this fall at Hudson High School, was the winner last spring of the math award. She was named the top student in math out of 91 who vied for the honor.

Her father is CARROLL EASTEPP, Assembly and Shipping, first shift. This summer the Eastepps took a week's vacation to Logan, New Mexico, to visit Carroll's relatives.

BILL LOVE has been taking a lot of kidding about the tumble he took from JERRY VANN's barge on Lake Rayburn when Bill fell through the gate and into the drink in an effort to reach a tree with the rope.

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT . . . That's William Wayne McClendon both before and after his first trip to the barber shop in eleven months.

Both are employed in the Machine Shop, first shift.

CHICK BALLENGER, Traffic department, visited his son in Wichita, Kansas, who is a professor at Wichita State. A graduate of Texas Tech, he holds the doctorate degree in education.

The fellows in the Lathe Shop, first shift, gave WILLIAM WAYNE MCCLENDON such a fit about his long hair, sideburns and mustache, that he finally got a haircut and shave, his first visit to a barber in eleven months.

The long hair brought wolf whistles and accusations of being a hippie. William, who emphatically declares that he is not a hippie by either philosophy or life style, added that the long hair was too hot during the summer months.

When he came home from the barber shop, his wife did a double take; she had never seen him without the mustache.

When he walked into the Lathe Shop, many of Williams' co-workers glanced at him without recognition.

The first day after his shearing, William didn't show up for work because his wife was ill. However, the teasing didn't end there; some of the fellows suggested that maybe he was like Samson, whose long hair was the source of his strength.

RAY RUSSELL, Traffic department, was named "Civitan of the Year" at the annual banquet in June.

A fellow member said that Ray never fails to call every member before each meeting as a reminder to attend nor does he fail to put out the club's weekly newsletter. He also was chairman of the installation banquet committee.

JACK ALLEN, Assembly and Shipping department, first shift, took his family on a two-week vacation through New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado in June.

From the Pattern Shop came word that WAYNE McMULLEN has installed in his home the smallest air-conditioning unit any of his co-workers ever heard of.

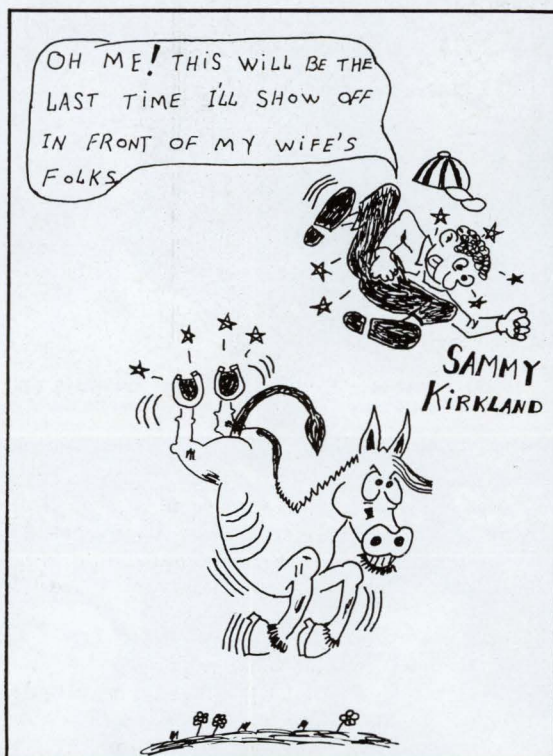

When Wayne was describing it to them, he said it was a 9-BTU unit. BILLY HARRIS suggested that Wayne got his amps mixed up with his BTUs.

A cartoon on these pages depicts the predicament of SAMMY KIRKLAND, Assembly and Shipping, first shift, who decided that a visit from his in-laws was occasion enough to prove his horsemanship. Only thing was, Sammy chose a never-before-ridden horse and look what happened.

A former foreman of Sammy's

SHERRY MOLANDES . . . studying court reporting in Houston

(who shall remain nameless since he arranged for the cartoon) wondered just who tamed whom . . . Sammy or the horse.

Sherry Lea Molandes, spring graduate of Lufkin High School, is enrolled in McMahon College in Houston, where she is studying court reporting. She is employed at the Credit Bureau in Houston.

At LHS, Sherry was sweetheart of the Campus Business League.

She is the daughter of ROBERT MOLANDES, Welding and Structural Shop, first shift.

Navy Airman John D. White Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. JOHN D. WHITE SR. of Wells, has returned to the U.S. aboard the aircraft carrier USS Ranger after more than seven months with the Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific.

This was the carrier's fifth combat deployment in the Gulf of Tonkin.

Airman White's father works in the Yard Crew, first shift.

BEN HOOKER, Photographic department, and family have returned from a three-week vacation through Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico, culminating their tour of the West in California, where they spent a few days with relatives.

Betty, a former employee of the Publications department, wrote that they played in snow at Tioga Pass in Yosemite, then crossed the state line into Las Vegas, where the temperature was 100-degrees-plus.

If you've ever seen the beans on a Catalpa tree, you'll appreciate the little joke EULEN PARRISH and HAROLD DAVIS pulled on Ed DIXON.

They picked some of the beans, which are tiny, and attached them to a sign they made and posted which read, "Beans for Sale. 1¢ per inch. You pick 'em. See Ed Dixon, professional gardener." (sic)

Ed works in the Purchasing department, and Eulen and Harold work in Cost Accounting.

Special happy birthday greetings go to Scott Faviell, who celebrated his first birthday July 5. His parents are Carol and RICHARD FAVIELL, Engineering department.

The thoughts and prayers of many of us during the past year have been with Scott, who was born with heart disorders known as transposition of the great vessels and a ventricular septal defect, which refers to a hole between the two lower chambers of his heart.

He underwent a heart catheterization July 1 at Texas Children's Hospital in Houston, his fifth operation.

He also was born with a harelip and cleft palate and two operations to repair the palate are scheduled for February.

LENORA DEAL and a judge at Madisonville's Junior Livestock Show with her blue ribbon heifer, which took first prize in the Angus heifer class and brought $1.25 per pound for a total of $803.75. The $1.25 bid for the 643-pound heifer was the highest of the auction sale. Her brother, Richard Jr., won second place in western pleasure with his registered quarter-horse "Dealer." He also caught a calf in the calf scramble, which he will show next year and then he gets to keep her. Their grandfather is Earl Deal, Construction and Maintenance, first shift.

Scott was the March of Dimes local poster child and the Faviells also have received assistance from the company's Charitable and Education Foundation.

We enjoyed the post card from PRENTICE ED FLANAGAN, Foundry department, first shift, who spent his vacation in California.

Congratulations to newlyweds:

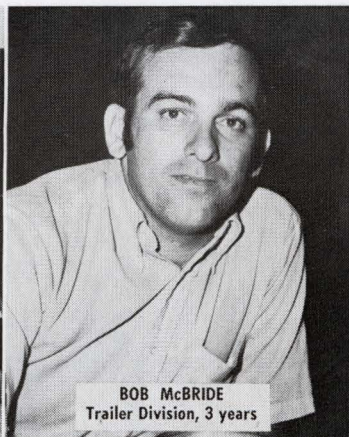

KEITH PICKARD, Trailer Division Warehouse, and the former Mary

They fed the computer in the Pentagon a series of facts and figures, ending with the strategic question. The answer came out, "yes."

The general in charge asked the computer, "Yes, what?"

The machine flashed and hummed, then came out with, "Yes, sir!"

Traffic cop: "Okay, buddy, let's see you walk that white line."

Drunken driver: "Without a net?"

Dieting: Penalty for exceeding the feed limit.

Income tax: The fine for reckless thriving.

"Yes sir," bragged the proud father, "I've got three sons in college. One's at Georgia Tech, one's at M.I.T. and one's at Vassar."

"But Vassar is a girl's school," the friend protested.

"Is that a fact?" exclaimed the father. "No wonder that boy never comes home on vacation!"

The reveller was protesting loudly as he was dragged into the suburban police station. "It's an outrage!" he shouted, when he had calmed sufficiently to speak at all. "What's the meaning of this? Why was I arrested?"

"You were brought in for drinking," the sergeant said.

The man relaxed at once. "Ah, well," he smiled. "That's different. When do we start?"

It's no wonder there are so many accidents in the average home. People aren't at home enough to know their way around.

Dad: "Did you have the car out last night?"

Son: "Yes, dad, I took one of the boys over to the high school."

Dad: "Well, tell him he left one of his tiny lace hankies in the car."

"Good morning, ma'am," said the TV repairman cheerfully, "I understand there's something in this house that doesn't work."

"That's right," said the lady at the door. "He's upstairs in bed."

Pedestrian: A person who gets too far behind with his car payments.

It is hard to believe that America was founded to avoid taxation.

"What's the matter with that young couple?"

"Her curlers got caught in his."

Making his rounds at a mental hospital, the psychiatrist saw one of his patients sitting all alone in a corner, madly scratching himself.

He walked over to the patient and asked "Tell me, why do you sit here and scratch yourself like this?"

"Because I'm the only one who knows where I itch."

Nothing is funnier than the look on the face of a person at the upper end of a dog leash, pretending not to know what's going on at the other end.

"The check you gave me came back," complained the doctor.

"So did my arthritis," retorted the patient.

When the question of outside interests appeared on the application form of a young man, he wrote, "My avocation is color photography."

The personnel manager replied, "Young man, vice presidents have avocations: department heads have hobbies. What you're doing is fooling around."

The good and evil things of life, We learn at different points.

The good we learn at Mother's knee, The bad, at other joints.

Little Junior, who hadn't spoken a word in all of his six years, finally blurted out at breakfast, "Mom, the toast is burnt."

His amazed mother shrieked joyfully, hugged him and said, "Junior, why haven't you spoken to us before this?"

"Well," replied Junior, "up until now everything's been O.K."

It might be said that a wedding ring is a sort of tourniquet which is worn on a girl's left hand to stop her circulation.

Two girls were discussing their families. "Why does your Grandmother read the Bible so much?" asked one little girl.

Replied the other, "I think she's cramming for her finals."

A smart old farmer, who made it a rule to think twice before speaking, was approached by a stranger one day who asked, "How much is that prize Jersey heifer of yours worth?"

The farmer thought for a moment, then asked, "Are you a tax assessor or has she been killed by a car?"
