July 4 to Be Big Day For Pineland

Pineland on Parade, as the big July 4 celebration at Pineland has been titled, will commence with plant tours through Southern Pine Lumber Company's all-new fully automated forest products plant and end at nightfall in a burst of fireworks which are promised to be visible to the limits of the great pine and hardwood forests of Texas.

When the committee of Pineland people met recently to complete plans, it was agreed that primary emphasis would be placed on the people of deep East Texas who have given their lives to the progress of the region.

Old timers will be especially noted and prizes ranging from television sets through home furnishings and jewelry will honor old timers and guests who have traveled far for the reunion.

Speakers at mid-afternoon, free supper for all and fireworks beyond anything seen in this region will end the day, according to planners.

Market News from Southern Pine

SPIB 77 and 78 Pine lumber sales progressed slightly less rapid in the first twenty days of June than the sales for the first twenty days of May. However, the volume has been sufficient to enable us to increase a few prices that were disappointingly low. The sale of common lumber to retail building material dealers has proved very active and we presently have a shortage of these items. We do, however, still have swollen inventories of No. 1 common and better items. We are in hopes that industrial sales will pick up during the third and fourth quarters of this year so that we might begin to reduce those inventories.

Sales of SP Supreme Oak Flooring are slightly off as expected and predicted. But, those sales made have been on a satisfactory price basis and shipments tend to continue at a gratifying rate due to orders on hand. The bulk of our unsold inventory of SP Supreme is in a clear grade which can be readily sold at a price above our cost of manufacture. We have found it very difficult to predict the general oak flooring market but we are in hopes that they will continue to improve as they have in the past ninety days.

R. M. Burns
Asst. General Sales Manager
PINELAND:

Temple Seat sales were down slightly this week. However, several of our key field personnel have called us and most feel that the seat market will firm up in the near future.

Don H. Burnley
Asst. General Sales Manager
DIBOLL:

Orders for hardwood lumber are continuing to come in on a satisfactory basis. Prices on most species are holding firm while some items of oak have increased $5 per thousand. Actually, most of the dry lumber on hand at Pineland is covered by orders.

Orders for the treating division have not developed as we would like them to. This business has been spotty since last October. Even so we have been operating full time and are confident we will continue to do so. There have been some plants that are operating only three and four days a week due to lack of orders. We have approximately $250,000 backlog of orders for the treating division and, of course, will be booking some new business daily. With this backlog, we are in a good position. Competition is very keen and prices on treated materials are softening a little.

Edward B. Price
Asst. General Sales Manager

Primary students, Elizabeth Anne Smith and Albert Ezerack, Jr. are studying in preparation for their first Holy Communion, which they will receive Sunday, at 10:30 Mass.

A picnic Sunday afternoon at Red Hill Lake will be given for the children and awards presented to each for faithful attendance each day.

News About Little League

Action this week saw the standings in the Pineland Little League finish in the same order as it began.

Tuesday night, June 17, the Pineland Giants defeated the Hemphill Dodgers by a score of 10 to 3. In the second game, the Pineland Cardinals defeated the Bronson Braves 8 to 4 in a game that saw 1 extra base blow, a double by Knight of Bronson in the second inning.

Thursday night, the Hemphill Yankees defeated the Hemphill Dodgers by a score of 16 to 12, in the first game. In the second game, the Pineland Giants moved into a tie for second place with the Bronson Braves after defeating the Braves 16 to 9. The big blow of the game was Jimmy Ball, the Giant first sacker's home run in the fourth.

Standings as the week ended were Pineland Cardinals in first place with a perfect record of 9 wins and 3 ties. The Pineland Giants and the Bronson Braves own equal shares of second place and a duplicate records of 6 wins 5 losses and 1 tie. Fourth place is occupied by the Hemphill Yankees with 4 wins and 7 losses. Fifth place is occupied by the Hemphill Dodgers who have 2 wins, 10 losses and 1 tie.

W. W. McVicker Announces for State Representative Post

My decision to announce for this important office was not a sudden one. For several weeks I have discussed it with many friends and with my family, all of whom urged me to make this race.

After long and serious consideration, I have filed my application to have my name placed on the official ballot of the Democratic Primary. District 6 includes three counties and I may not be able to see every voter in person, but I will be trying awfully hard to do so, and to outline to each and everyone of you the things I stand for and the things I stand against before election time.

I was born in Chireno 41 years ago and attended grade school there. My parents moved to Garrison while I was yet in grade school and I attended public school there. During the depression I operated a small cafe in downtown Nacogdoches for several years. I am married and have three children all of whom are active in the Baptist church. I am a veteran of World War II, have served three years in the Navy with overseas combat in the Pacific. For a little over a year now, after attending the University of Texas for my college education, my wife and I have operated the College Drug Store in Nacogdoches.

If the people of this district see fit to elect me to this important office, I promise my unceasing efforts and Christian vigilance to serve these same people with all the force and power at my command.

I consider that a public office is a great and honorable public trust. It affords a challenge and a real opportunity for a fearless, honest and Christian Representative to give of himself and render a worthwhile and constructive service to the people who elect him to this high office.

I shall strive hard and constantly to be such a Representative if the people out of their generosity will give me the great honor to serve them in this capacity.

Respectfully submitted to you the people of my district,
W. W. McVicker.

Wood Siding Will Glamorize Home Exterior

Wood siding is the lumber that glamorizes the home exterior, and its most obvious appeal is the physical charm and natural beauty of the material itself.

But it can do more than beautify your house when used in combination with its "silent partner"—wood sheathing, the Southern Pine Association says.

Wood sheathing is a layer of boards that lies just beneath the surface lumber. For greatest strength, the sheathing should be nailed diagonally to the "studs"—upright 2x4's which are the basic elements of the wall structure. It then provides a smooth, flat base to which the finish lumber, or siding, can be readily applied.

The use of Southern Pine for siding gives a glowing, light golden sheen to the home exterior, but it is the presence of sheathing that brings the wood's strength into play. Being nailed directly to the sheathing, the siding itself is combined with and becomes part of the wall structure.

Siding and sheathing each consists of 1" boards, and the combination gives your home a solid 2" thickness of lumber on the outer walls closely integrated with the inner house "backbone". The result is you have a much stronger house; not only have you used the natural beauty of Southern Pine for exterior decoration, but you have also taken full advantage of the fact that it's the strongest of structural woods.

Also there's the vital factor of superior insulation that the presence of wood sheathing provides. The resulting 2" wood wall thickness provides the same insulation as 18 inches of brick. This, of course, makes your air conditioning work better, more economically. And if you don't have air conditioning, it'll make your house a lot cooler in the summer and warmer in the winter.

So don't forget to include wood sheathing in your siding plans. It's the silent partner that turns the beauty of your wood exterior into a functional thing.
