JLL Income Property Trust Announces Tax Treatment of 2025 Distributions

Chicago (January 29, 2026) – JLL Income Property Trust, an institutionally managed, daily NAV REIT (NASDAQ: ZIPTAX; ZIPTMX; ZIPIAX; ZIPIMX; ZIPIBX; ZIPSAX; ZIPZAX; ZIPDBX) with approximately $7 billion in portfolio equity and debt investments, today announced the income tax treatment of its distributions paid in 2025. For the tax year ended December 31, 2025, approximately 18 percent of the distributions paid will qualify as non-dividend distribution or return of capital (box 3 on Form 1099) and approximately 82 percent of distributions paid will qualify as tax advantaged long-term capital gain (box 2a).

“Since JLL Income Property Trust’s inception in 2012, one of our primary objectives has been to be a source of durable and growing distributions,” said Allan Swaringen, President and CEO of JLL Income Property Trust. “In addition to providing 9 distribution increases over our 13-year history, we also seek to maximize the tax efficiency of our distributions and deliver tax-advantaged distributions to our stockholders. We have placed careful focus on optimizing our REIT structure to provide the most benefit for our investors, and are proud that over the last 13 years, 100% of our distributions have been characterized as either return of capital or long-term capital gain.”
