A 12-hour Suggestion of Things to do in Louisville*

Morning: Get ready for a bourbon-filled day of exploring the region with breakfast at the brand new Walker's Exchange at the Galt House Hotel & Suites. Named for popular Louisville restaurant that was part of the city's history all the way back to the 1830s, Walker's Exchange has a menu full of Southern traditions that meet modern tastes with something for every palate. After breakfast, hop in the car and head East to begin your bourbon tour with stops along the way at Wild Turkey Distillery, Four Roses Distillery, and Buffalo Trace Distillery. Learn about the history and heritage of America's Native Spirit-- Bourbon. If you're interested even more history of this spirit, check out the Old Taylor Tour at Buffalo Trace and discover what has been called the "bourbon pompeii." On your way back into Louisville, be sure to stop at one of the newest bourbon distilleries in the state-- Kentucky Artisan Distillery, home to Jefferson's Reserve.

Afternoon: Enjoy lunch at Brooke & Billy's in the Paristown neighborhood. Enjoy bites, bourbon and brews at this relaxed lunch spot. Afterwards, venture over to Copper & Kings Brandy Distillery and discover how they use traditional copper pot-distillation to forge non-traditional craft-distilled American brandies that is sonically infused. Journey back to Main Street for a visit to the Evan Williams Bourbon Experience- across the street from the where Kentucky's first commercial distillery first set up shop-- and Kentucky Peerless Distilling Co., a family-owned distillery for five generations.

Evening: Finish up the day with dinner at Bar Vetti where you can choose from a large variety of Italian fare from shareable sized plates to pizza and pasta to delish entrees. Leave some room for one of the desserts or a nightcap.
