MCLANAHAN ATTENDS CQMS FOR FIRST TIME

Alton, UK, May 2, 2017 – With a growing presence in the U.K. and Ireland, McLanahan joined over 100 exhibitors at Ireland's Construction & Quarry Machinery Show for the first time on April 21st and 22nd.

At CQMS, there was a lot of interest in the new McLanahan Modular Wash Plants (MWP). While there are a number of modular plant solutions available in the market, McLanahan is one of the only companies offering both custom and modular washing solutions. This, combined with our years of processing design knowledge, allows you to feel confident that we are selling you the right solution and not just a piece of equipment.

Visitors to our booth were able to talk to our experienced team members about all of our new and exciting offers to the market. Our in-house teams of engineers and technical support services have each spent years serving the processing industries and know the tough requirements mineral processing operations face. Our MWPs provide the reliability, simplicity and efficiency that you need in your system. All equipment that is part of our Modular Wash Plants is engineered and manufactured by McLanahan. We back that all up with our in-house customer service that is available 24/7 around the world.
