Diamond M Barn Doors

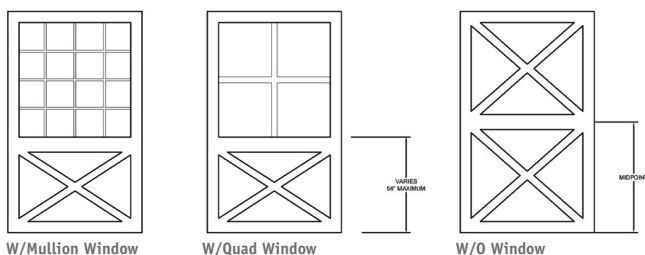

In addition to all the great benefits of the Diamond M construction, when opened, these barn doors create a wide, open space to conveniently enter the barn with your horse trailer, or truckloads of bedding, shavings, or a wagon load of hay. Opening these doors allows great airflow and ventilation in the barn, particularly in those warmer summer months. The Diamond M barn door has a flush stainless-steel pull handle and durable guide rail at the bottom for easy operation. Of course, latching the doors is important, and the Diamond M barn doors can be latched from both the inside and outside. These barn doors latch when opened to protect from wind damage, as well as when the doors are shut for added security. With heights ranging from 8' to 14' tall and widths at 10', 12' and 14' there are multiple styles and options available. While these doors are not intended for use in a conditioned building, an optional brush seal can be added around the door to help diminish drafts.

Diamond M Dutch Doors | Full and Half

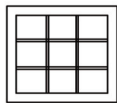

Available in full and half heights, the Diamond M Dutch doors provide a very functional and aesthetic appeal to your building, while keeping the safety of your equine companions top of mind. The Lexan glass top option includes a bar section on the inside of the door that stands off the glass for added protection and easy access to clean. This also provides convenient access to the low-profile top latch for you and not your horses. A practical cane-style door latch safely secures the door closed, and exterior latches easily keep the doors in the open position when your horses are out for a run or need to have ease of access between the inside and outside of the stall.
