2023 is off to a great start! It was awesome to see so many of you – in person and online for our Annual Business Meeting on January 18th! A huge thanks to City of Seattle for hosting our first hybrid event (we have several lessons learned) and to all our volunteers who pulled this event together! It really takes a village to plan and execute these events!

Our speaker, Tammy Rimes, provided some great energy as she helped us take Contract Management to the next level during the morning education session as well as work on our presentation skills in the afternoon session. Congratulations to Regan Givens, WANIGP 2022 Procurement Professional of the Year and to Rena Jackson, WANIGP 2022 Manager of the Year – your passion, collaboration, investment in your agency and our chapter are so appreciated!

Our new website is live! If you haven’t done so already, please be sure to follow the link in your welcome email to update your profile and preferences! We are excited to stand this website up and utilize the great features. Be on the lookout for some additional information and training on how to navigate the site and make the most of this upgraded resource! A huge shout-out to our website transition team led by Regan Givens for their hard work in this endeavor!

March 8, 2023 has been proclaimed Procurement Professionals’ Day. This is in keeping with a tradition that was established in 2015 where towns, cities, and procurement organizations across the nation have proclaimed the second Wednesday of March as Procurement Professionals’ Day. This day recognizes the hardworking individuals of the procurement profession. You will find a copy of the Governor’s Purchasing Month Proclamation and our Chapter’s proclamation of March as Procurement Month and Wednesday, March 8, 2023 as Procurement Professionals’ Day in this newsletter and on our website.

We encourage you to find ways to celebrate Procurement Month and Procurement Professionals’ Day in your organization and promote the value of procurement! Share with the chapter your photos and other documentation by uploading them to the chapter website (https://wanigp.org/content.aspx?page_id=86&club_id=756424). If you can’t access the folder through the link, you can navigate to the folder under Member Benefits > Document Folders > Chapter Documents > Procurement Month 2023. At the chapter level, join us on March 1st as we host Radio NIGP for a great Lunch and Learn event honoring the procurement profession and in mid to late March for our Excellence in Procurement Summit (date and agenda forthcoming!).

As winter turns to spring, look for the signs of changes, opportunities for growth and the hope that spring holds. Take time to celebrate your personal and team accomplishments, look for ways to give back, and remember the value of your work – your impact is far reaching!

Washington State Chapter President
MARGARET MERIN

MEMBER SPOTLIGHT!

Title: Contract & Procurement Specialist
Organization: Spokane Airports

What year did you join the WA State Chapter? 2017.

What Chapter committees/workgroups are you currently involved in? None. With time being such a valuable commodity, committees/workgroups simply are not in the cards.

How long have you worked in the procurement profession? 9 years.

What is the most interesting, unusual, or challenging purchase in which you have been involved? I am a one-person shop with few resources. My circle is getting bigger though, ehem, you guys. It is for this reason it is difficult to pick just one. They all meet the criteria.

What professional certifications do you hold? CPPB.

What is your number one goal (career or personal)? To retire comfortably. I know, not so exciting but I am really looking forward to chasing weather.

What is your favorite hobby? Anything to do with the fiber arts. I crochet, knit, and spin dog hair.

Share a little-known fact about yourself. I am a USAFR retired E-7, Master Sergeant. I spent 29 years as an Aircraft Metals Technologies Craftsman. In simpler terms, I was a certified aircraft weldor (proper spelling) and machinist. This was a significant part of my life, but I do not speak much of it. I thoroughly enjoyed my time in the AF. It afforded me the opportunity to do and see so many things others will never experience. Additionally, I am a stepmom (toughest job ever), and have been volunteer dog rescuer and foster mom of northern breeds. I checked off a bucket list item and received my motorcycle license in 2021. I ride a Kawasaki Vulcan S and love every moment of it. FYI, it does scare me and that is a good thing.
Share a little-known fact about yourself. I ride motorcycles; currently own a 2016 Harley Davidson Softail Slim. I am also a Super Fan of British-American actor, Joseph Morgan, and his family who I had the pleasure of meeting last year via a Zoom prize that I won, and in person. Thanks to them, I have made many friends and acquaintances worldwide, some of whom I have already met or will meet this year, which feeds my travel bug. 😊

RHONDA WAHLGREN

MEMBER SPOTLIGHT!

Title: Sr. Procurement & SBE/DBE Specialist

Organization: Community Transit

What year did you join the WA State Chapter? 2006.

What Chapter committees/workgroups are you currently involved in? If none, which are you most interested in and why? Currently interested in the Finance Committee. I believe my attention to detail could benefit the Committee as I often review various A&E cost estimate spreadsheets and construction Pay Apps.

How long have you worked in the procurement profession? Since July 1998, and it’s all been public transit experience.

What is the most interesting, unusual, or challenging purchase in which you have been involved? In public transit procurement, I haven’t bought anything particularly unusual like Rent-A-Ruminant, but it does have its other challenges at times. I once had a vertical construction project where the GC just stopped paying their workers near the very end of it, so they were walking off the job. The superintendent stayed and tried to keep it together as claims were being filed against the GC’s Payment Bond and retainage. The contract remained open for a couple of years while things battled out between the prime and their subs.

What professional certifications do you hold? CPPB and APWA/CAEC Gold Certification.

What is your number one goal (career or personal)? To be able to retire comfortably enough so that I can keep traveling.

What is your favorite hobby? Drawing/sketching and I have a desire to paint.

She is willing to take in unfamiliar initiatives, like Chapter Treasurer, Finance and Newsletter Committee Chairs, and actively engaged to facilitate our new website.

Congratulations Regan as our Chapter’s 2022 Procurement Professional of the Year!
Rena Jackson, CPPB, CPCP

King County

Rena’s nominator, Stacy Hupp, tells us that after seven years on the Chapter’s Board of Directors, in 2021 Rena immediately became a founding member of our Lunch and Learn Committee and is a big contributor to the Committee, bringing timely education content to our members each month. One of Rena’s endorsements stated she is a strong leader who actively mentors and nurtures the talents of the procurement team at her agency and is well deserving of this honor. It takes leaders like Rena to help keep our profession and our chapter strong.

Congratulations Rena as our Chapter’s 2022 Procurement Manager of the Year!

NIGP PRESS RELEASE

PATHWAYS HAD A POWERFUL YEAR IN 2022!

January 10, 2023

NIGP’s Pathways Program, which integrates competency-based learning with credentialing, had another powerful banner year in 2022 with the issuance of:

- 1,718 competency badges including new advance and management level learning modules
- 461 specializations including two new learnings: Job Order Contracting and Use of Federal Funds
- 430 core certificates
- 209 NIGP Certified Procurement Professional designations
- 100 NIGP Public Procurement Associate designations

Since August 2020, the NIGP Public Procurement Associate designation has been earned by 224 professionals and is an optional pathway (Pathway D) for candidates without post-high school formal education who are seeking their NIGP-CPP designation.

Through the November 2022 testing window, there are now 997 leaders across 45 states who have earned their NIGP-CPP. Thirty of those leaders practice public procurement in the Evergreen State including seven Washingtonians who earned their NIGP-CPP in 2022:

- Cara Brocx – Everett
- Ryan Chase – Everett
- Kristin Fleisher – Quincy
- Jolene Haney – Everett
- Chad Jorissen – Everett
- James Nieman – Vancouver
- Anna Vogel – Vancouver

If you are a mid to executive level leader who aspires to further your career in public procurement, there is no better time to fulfill your New Year’s resolution to earn your NIGP-CPP in 2023. As the job market tightens, your credentials boost your resume. The NIGP Certification Commission believes that professional certification is not a privilege of membership; therefore, all NIGP-CPP applicants pay the same application fee of $150 regardless of their membership status in any professional association. The Commission also believes in providing maximum opportunity to apply and test – offering six pathways available for eligibility based on formal education and work experience, providing four testing windows annually, and structuring the exam into two modules that can be scheduled at the convenience of the candidate.

As we enter a new year, the NIGP Certification Commission reminds professionals that there is a bridge for current CPPO and CPPB recipients who wish to earn their leadership credential as a NIGP-CPP; however, the bridge will only be offered through the May 2024 testing window. The bridge reduces both eligibility requirements (Pathway F) and exam requirements (successful achievement of exam Module B); thereby reducing exam fees and content scope. Individuals who are currently pursuing their CPPO or CPPB from the Universal Public Procurement Certification Council as a gateway to the NIGP-CPP are encouraged to do so; with the understanding that the UPPCC credential must be earned during the May or October 2023 UPPCC testing windows before applying for the NIGP-CPP during the February and May 2024 testing windows.

Want to learn about the NIGP-CPP program value and structure? Join NIGP Chief Executive Rick Grimm and NIGP Certification Director Diane Daly for an upcoming webinar scheduled each month.

Want to learn about building an intentional learning path for your career? NIGP has designed a Pathways Concierge Program specifically to assist professionals in customizing their best pathways for learning and credentialing that align with their aspiration a career goals.
