NIGP Voluntary Contribution Opportunity Visual

The Opportunity: Leadership Development Committee

What is the opportunity?
The NIGP Leadership Development committee helps prepare NIGP members for future leadership roles while improving succession planning within NIGP committees and councils. The committee facilitates leadership development training for chapter leaders who possess the desire and the potential to step into leadership roles. In addition, the committee helps to create informal opportunities to develop the leadership skills of NIGP volunteers.

What will I do as a member?
- Serve as adviser and subject matter expert on the development and implementation of a formal leadership development program
- Support the development and implementation of remedial training tools and resources
- Support the development and implementation of volunteer onboarding activities
- Support the development and implementation of succession plans
- Help to build and launch new leadership programs
- Help establish learning objectives for leadership training modules
- Deliver orientation and onboarding information to NIGP committee and council members

What qualifications do I need to serve on the Leadership Development Committee?
- Hold a current NIGP membership as a public procurement practitioner or associate member.
- Possess expertise in the discipline that impacts the work of the committee.

What impact will my contribution have on NIGP?
- Develop the next generation of public procurement leaders.
- Ensure succession planning across institutional councils and committees.

What do Leadership Development Committee members say about the experience?
- "The Leadership Committee has been a forum where ideas flourished into action to enhance leadership development for our members. I’m grateful for the opportunity to make a difference in our profession today and leave a trail for those who will come after we’re gone."
  - Lourdes Coss, NIGP-CPP, CPPO
  - Chair, Leadership Dev. Committee
- "My service on the Leadership Development Committee has allowed me to be part of a team that is passionate about developing new leaders, as well as supporting those that have been in leadership roles for many years. Collectively we collaborate about what the future looks like for leaders including what tools, education, and support will be required to enhance leadership goals. It is an honor and privilege to work with this amazing committee and to continue to support the procurement profession."
  - Kerrie Koopman, NIGP-CPP, CPPO, CPPB
  - Vice Chair, Leadership Dev. Committee
  - Deputy Director, PSSD
  - OPCM, MD
