Mail & Parcels in the Digital Age

Technology and market forces are driving more diversity in customer communications, and there's no escaping the impacts of e-commerce.

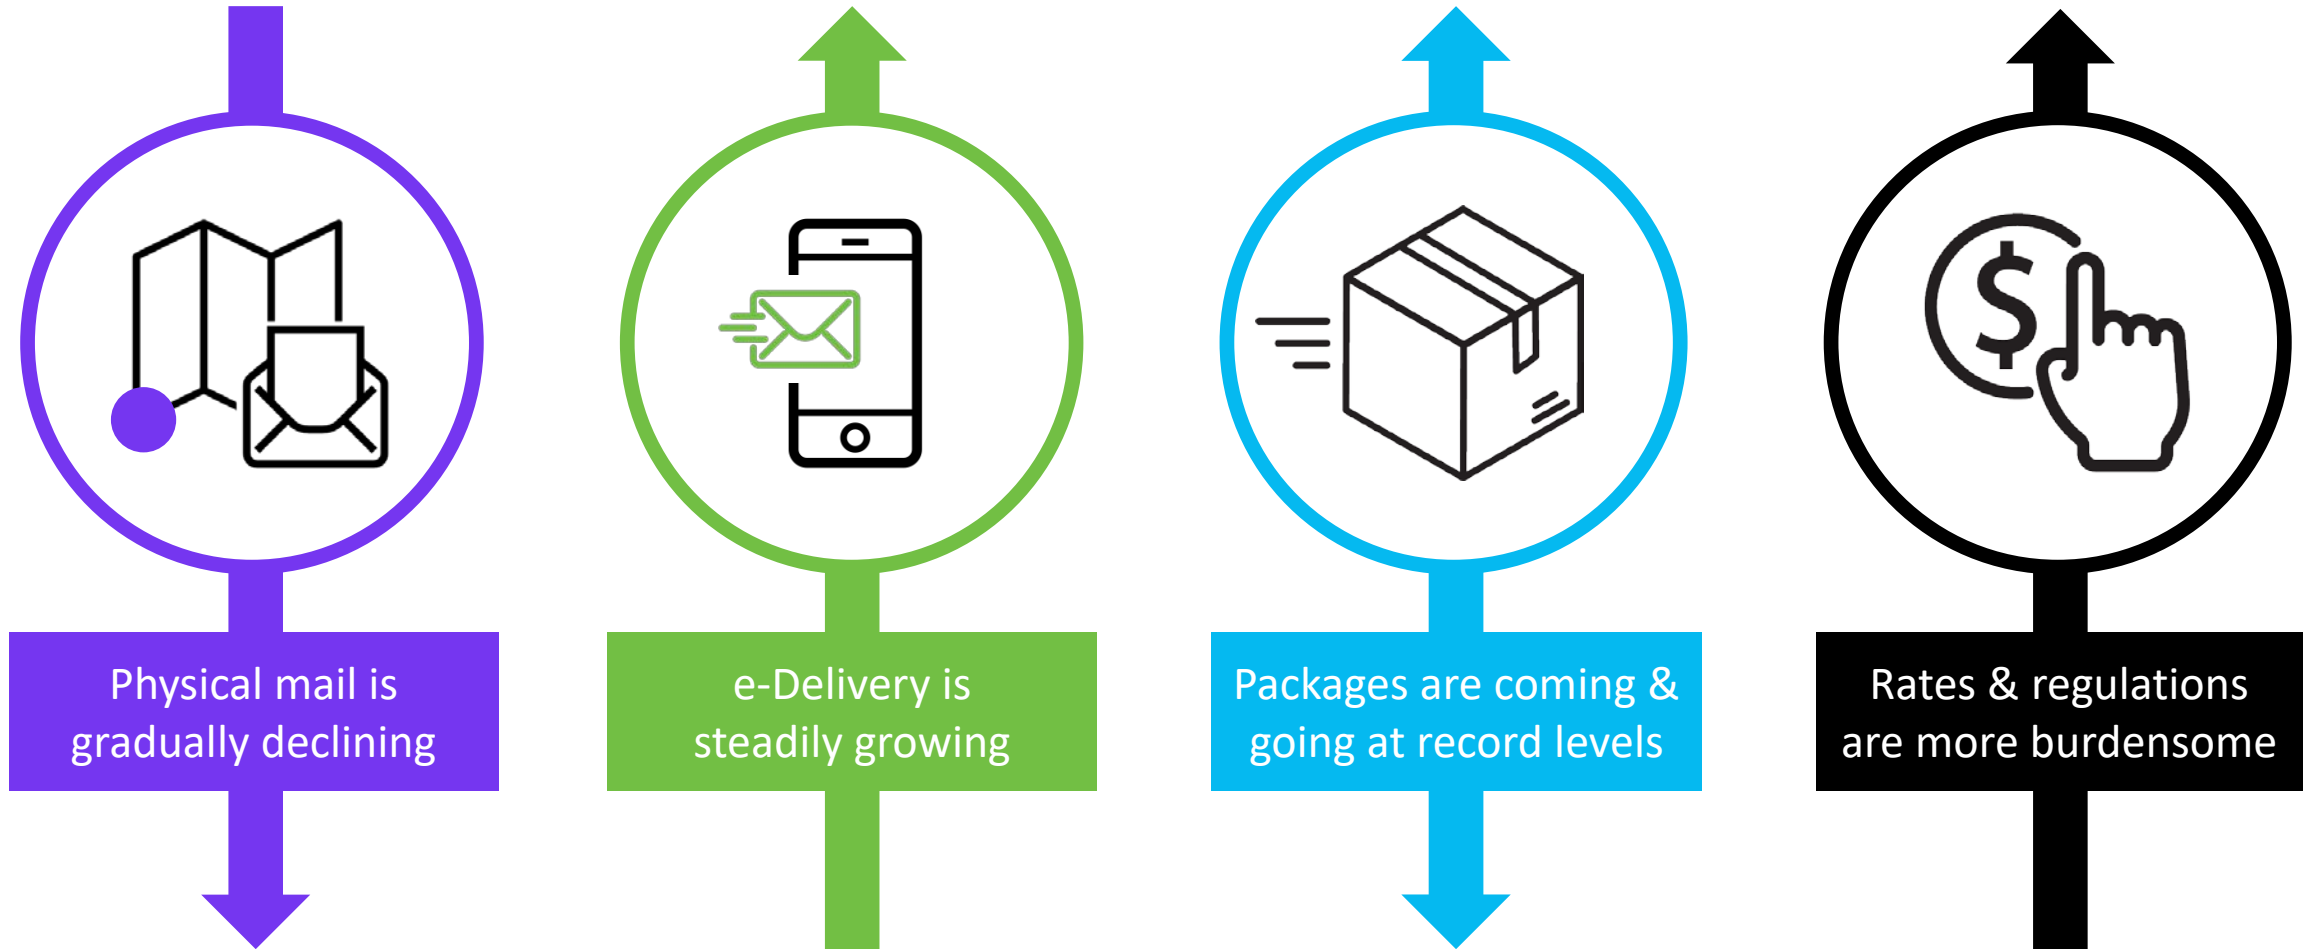

Today, Quadiant is at the evolutionary forefront, helping organizations adapt and thrive.

Because Connections Matter

How Mail & Parcel Management is Changing

Customers expect convenience, speed, simplicity and the peace of mind that their personal information is secure.

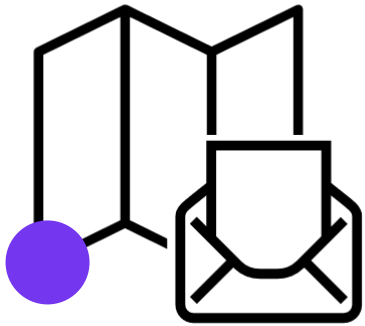

How Quadient Can Help

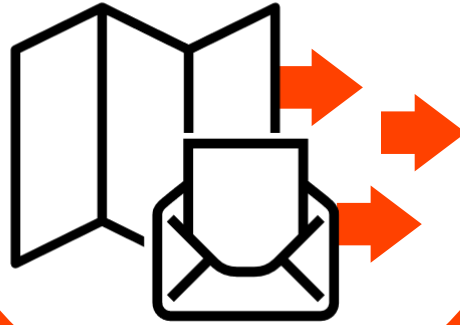

quadient

In-House Physical Mail

Create, assemble and send mail pieces with maximum operational efficiency and integrity at the lowest possible cost

Outsourced Physical Mail

Shift all or some of your print and mail jobs to our secure document factory where we do all of the work for you

Digital/ e-Delivery

Allow your customers to choose paper or paperless and route documents via physical or digital delivery based on their preferences

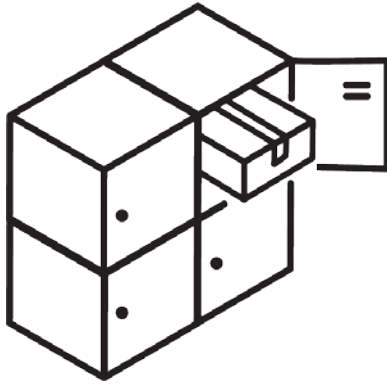

How Quadient Can Help

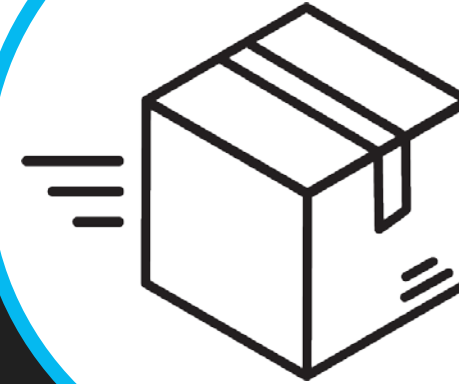

quadient

Inbound Parcels

- Record the arrival, movement and delivery of packages at your facility with paperless tracking systems
- Employ parcel lockers to provide a modern, convenient solution for self-service package retrieval

Outbound Parcels

- Streamline shipping and expense tracking in the mail center using a multi-carrier platform with automated service shopping
- Extend that same technology to other employees anywhere in your facility so they can ship smarter

Quadient makes it easy to work remotely

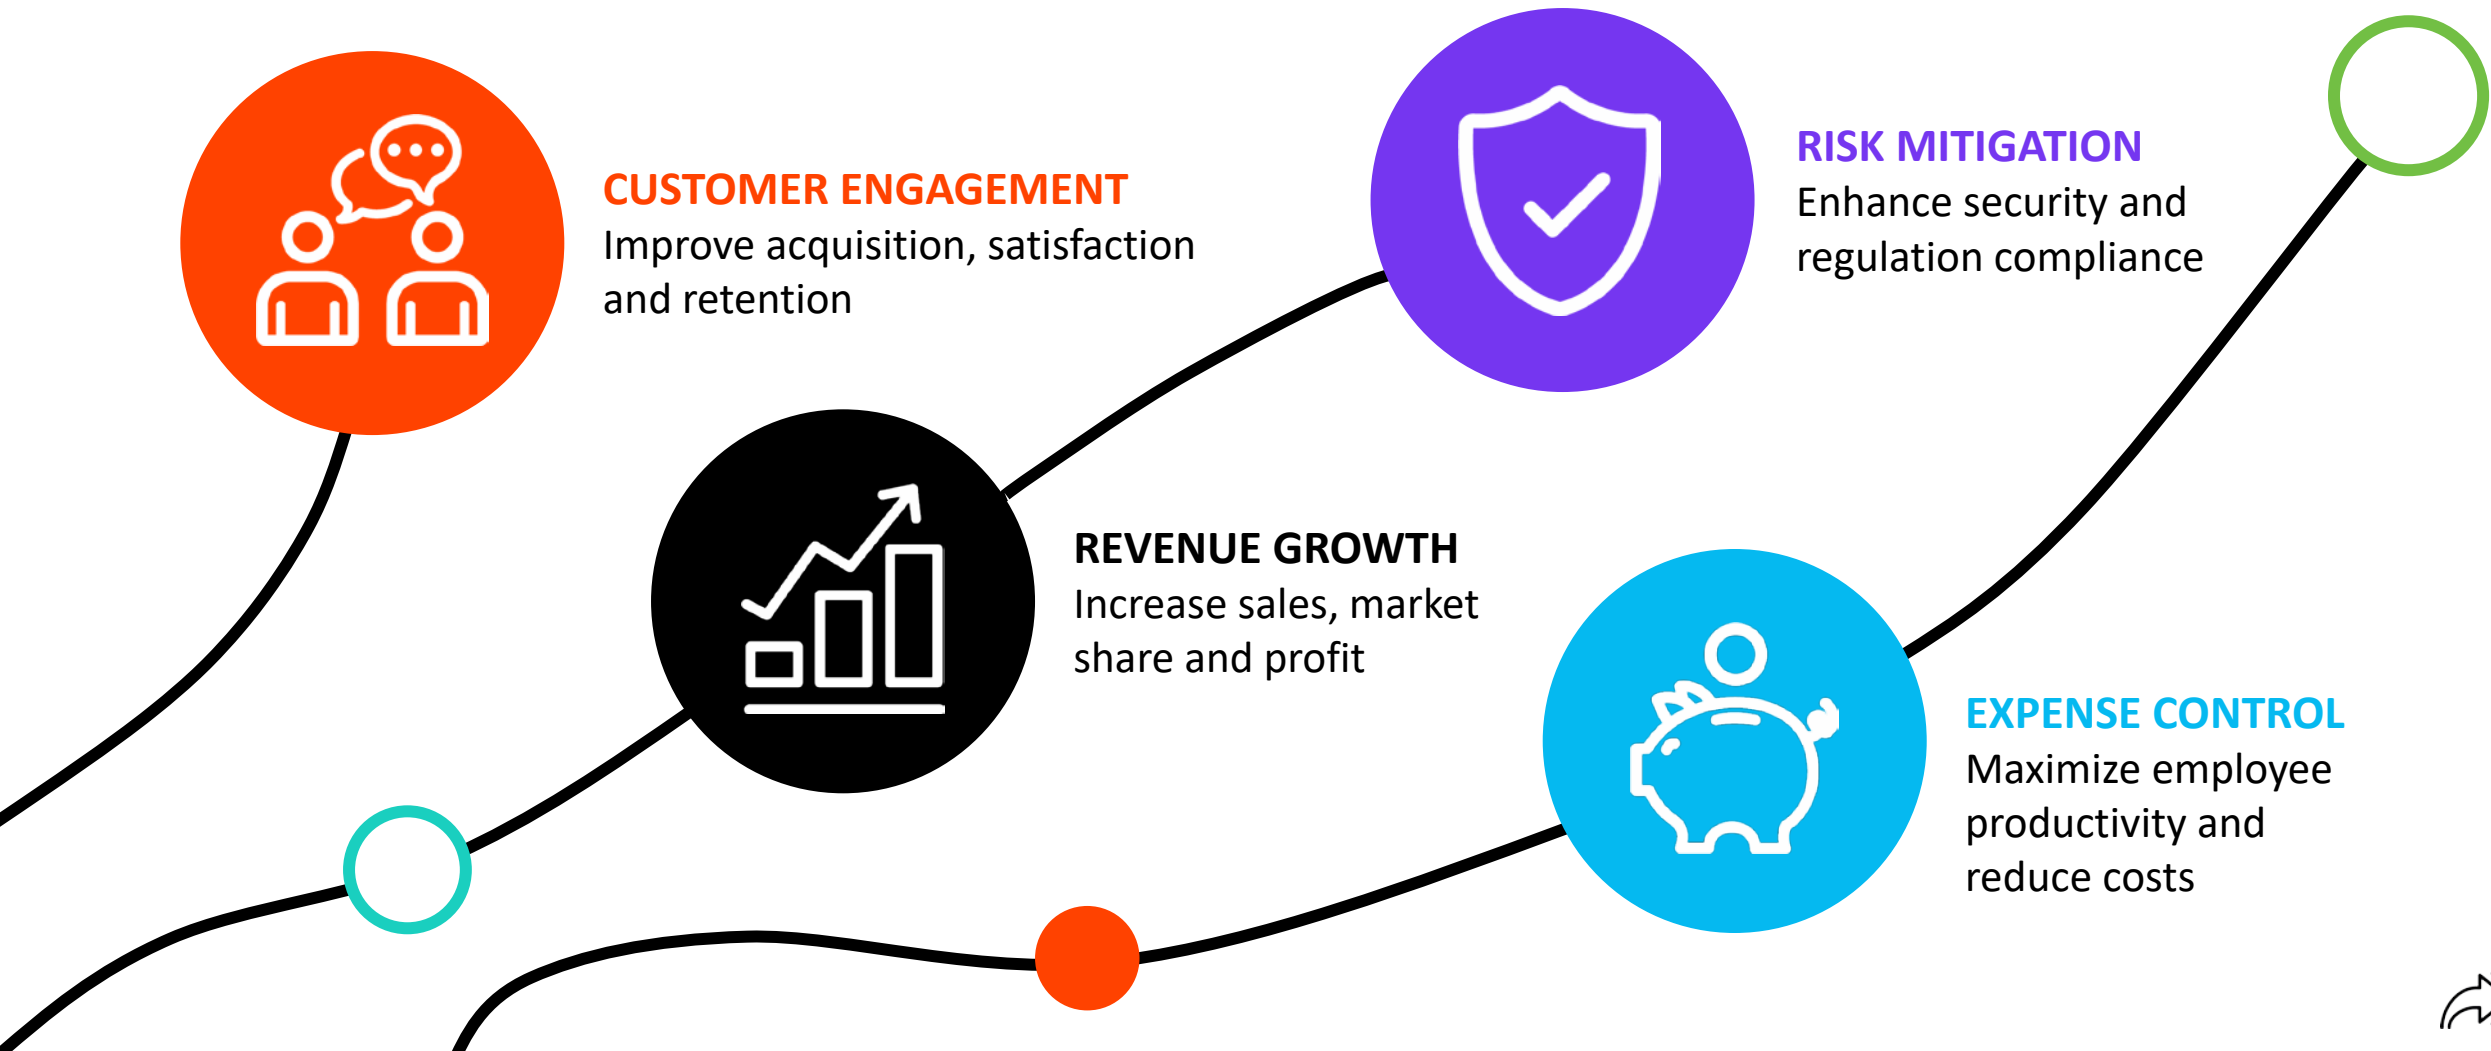

- Send business-critical mail jobs without going to the office
- Provide employees with the ability to mail and ship from home in controlled cloud environments

Tailored Solutions with Real Results

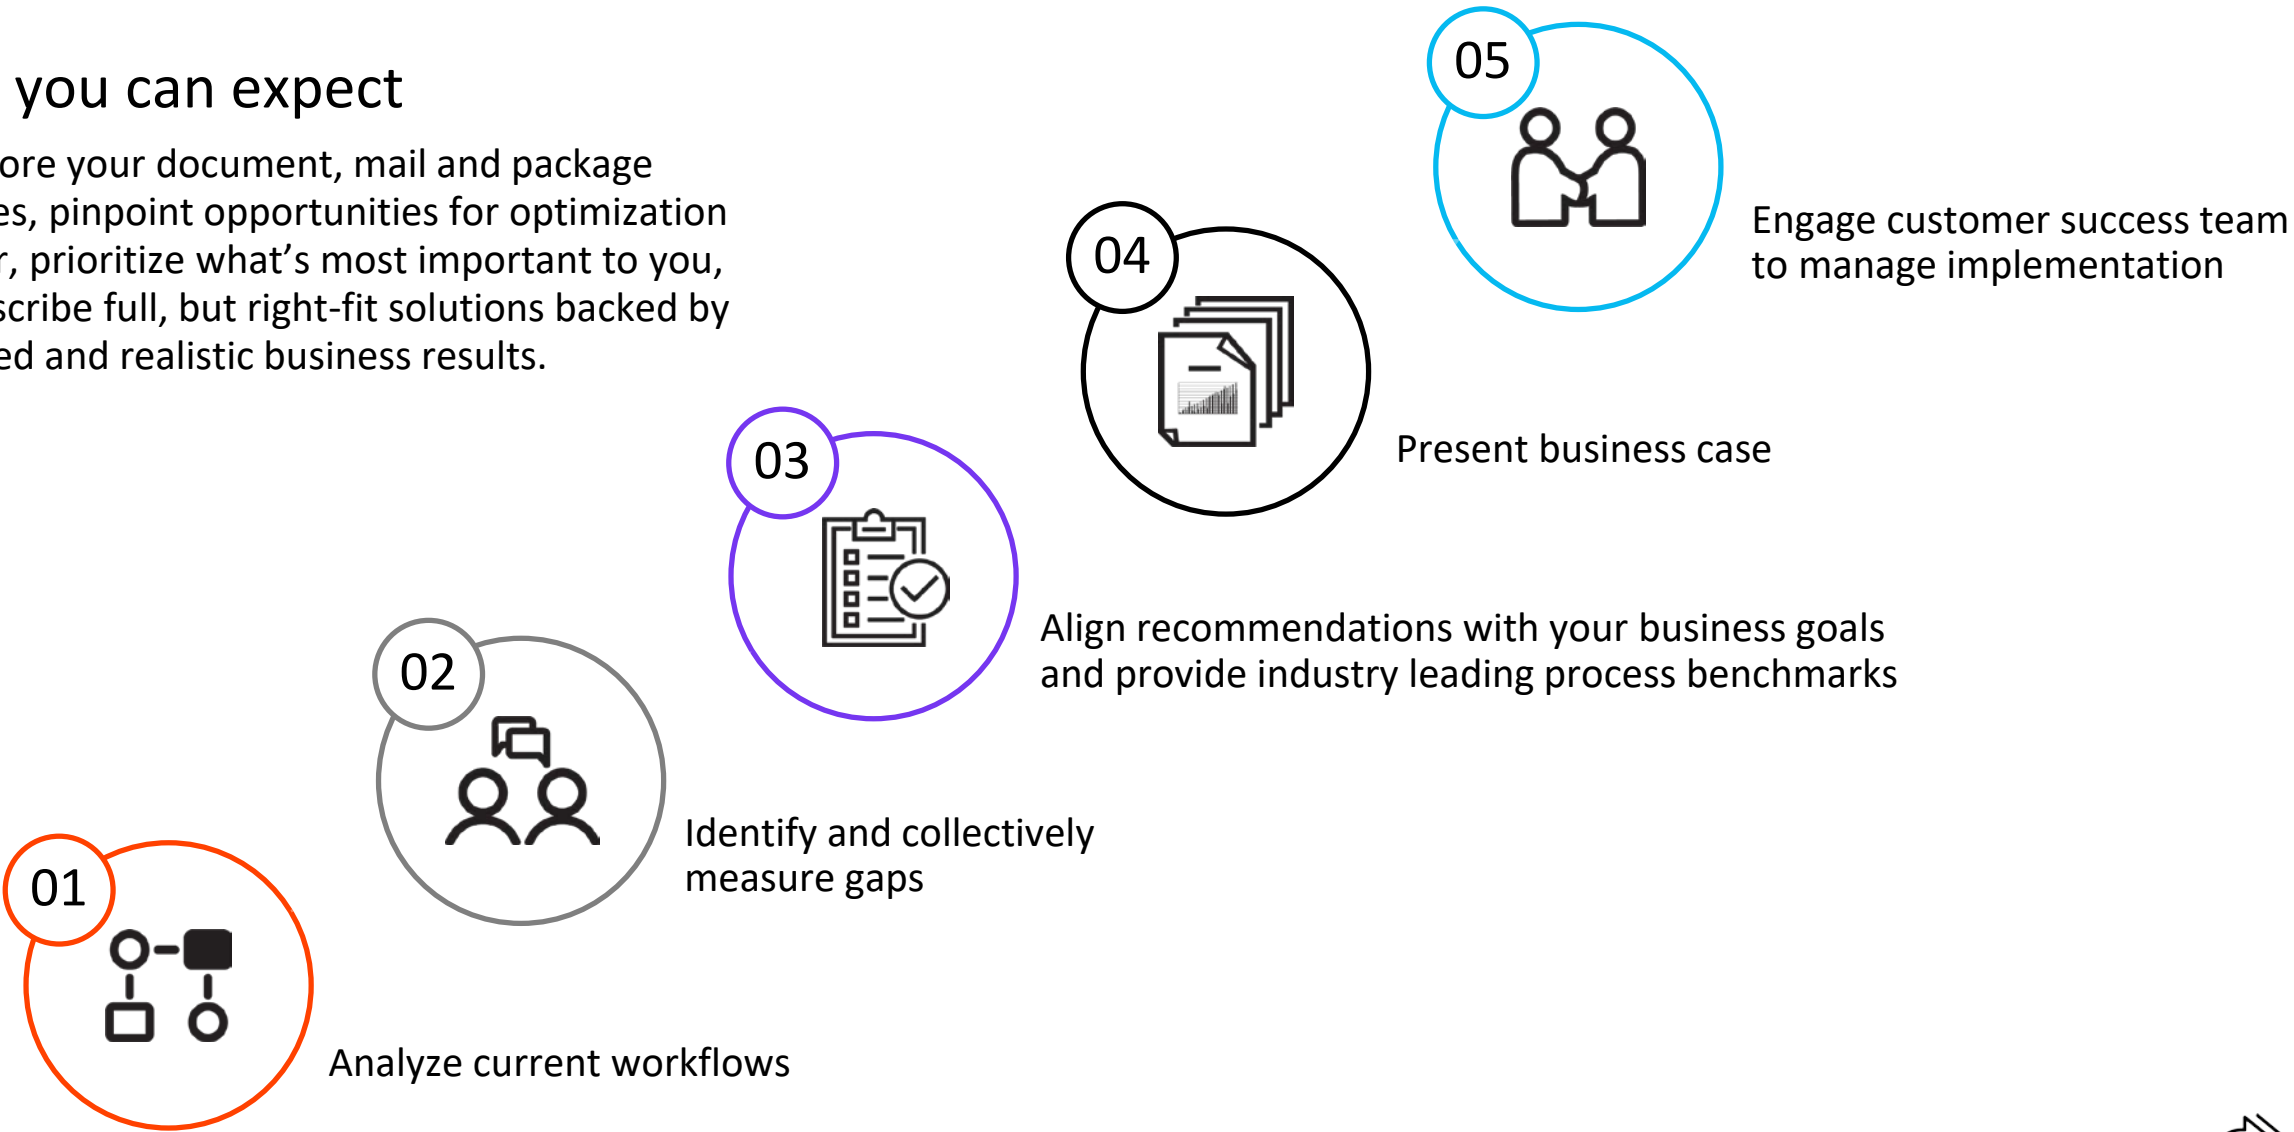

With every solution we design, maximizing the impact to your business in 4 key areas is our #1 objective:

What you can expect

We explore your document, mail and package processes, pinpoint opportunities for optimization together, prioritize what's most important to you, and prescribe full, but right-fit solutions backed by quantified and realistic business results.
