Mark LaRoe is a Managing Director, Private Client Advisor with Bank of America Private Bank in Dallas, Texas. Drawing upon more than 30 years of experience in wealth management, private banking, commercial real estate and asset-based lending, he works diligently to address the complex financial challenges of an accomplished clientele residing across the U.S.

Mark leads a team of selected specialists who provide a comprehensive approach and customized financial strategies for senior executives (many in the energy industry), entrepreneurs and owners of private businesses, family offices, and generations of wealthy families and their related interests. He also serves large foundations, endowments and other non-profit organizations. Mark is one of a limited group of Private Bank advisors holding the ICA (Institutional Client Advisor) title.

Before joining Bank of America Private Bank (formerly U.S. Trust), Mark was managing director and head of Dallas Private Banking for Deutsche Bank Wealth Management. Prior to that, he was senior managing director at J.P. Morgan and led the J.P. Morgan Private Bank in Florida before returning home to Dallas. He also held several production and management positions with Comerica Bank in Texas and its predecessor banks. In addition, Mark led valuation teams for bank purchases during the Texas banking crisis of the 1980s and 1990s and created a Southwest region healthcare banking practice for Comerica.

Mark is a Board Member of The Dallas Opera, Dallas Symphony Orchestra, and the Dallas Performing Arts Foundation. He also serves as Co-Chair for the Southwest Region for the United State Priory of the Order of St. John.

Mark holds a B.B.A. from Texas Tech University with a concentration in finance. He and his wife, Dianne, have been married for 39 years and have three adult children, as well as two grandchildren. They collect contemporary art and Mark is an avid golfer.
