Think Outside The Browser

Browser-based interfaces are slow, clumsy, and require you to be connected to the internet just to use them. Browsers are perfect for reading web content, but not so great for creating it.

If you're serious about your blog, you need a desktop blog editor. If you're lucky enough to have a Mac, nothing is more powerful or more elegant than MarsEdit.

Feature Overview

Rich And HTML Text Editing

Whether you love HTML or can't bear the sight of it, MarsEdit's editor will thrill you. If you prefer the best of both worlds, you can switch easily between the two.

Wildly Compatible

Works with WordPress, Blogger, Tumblr, Squarespace, TypePad, Movable Type and dozens more through standard MetaWeblog and AtomPub interfaces.

Perfect Previews

Build a template to match your blog, then let MarsEdit's live preview show you how your posts will look before you publish them. Use Markdown? MarsEdit will preview that, too.

Your Editor Or Ours

Combine the power of MarsEdit with your favorite editor. Integrates cleanly with BBEEdit, SubEthaEdit, TextMate, TextWrangler, and any editor that supports that ODBEditor suite.

Media At Your Fingertips

Quickly scan your iPhoto, Aperture, Lightroom, or Flickr libraries, and insert images into your blog post with the click of a button.

Easy File Uploads

Upload images and files directly to your blog, or attach them to a post for automatic upload-on-publish. MarsEdit will even resize them to suit your needs.

Re-Blog It!

Add our "Blog This" bookmarklet to your browser's button bar. Now when you discover something cool, you can start a new MarsEdit post with the click of a button.

Offline Freedom

Write when you want to, without an internet connection. Fine-tune your masterpiece on the boat, plane, or train, and publish when you get back online.
