Advanced Anti Spy >> What is Advanced Anti Spy?

At first what is spy software or keystroke monitoring? In accordance with NSA Glossary of Terms Used in Security and Intrusion Detection: Keystroke Monitoring is a specialized form of audit trail software, or a specially designed device, that records every keystroke by a user and every character of the response that the computer returns to the user. A keylogger (or keystroke monitoring software, or keystroke-logging program, or activity monitoring program, or keystroke recorder, or snoopware, or simply spyware) is a little hidden program recording data (such keystrokes) to a local or remote file (log file).

Keylogger may be distributed and installed locally, i.e. through floppy or CD disk, network, etc, or they may be distributed remotely. Keylogger may be enveloped in a Trojan or virus, and be distributed via email. More advanced keylogger will then email the recorded key logs silently - the user will never know it is there! For example - the newest computer viruses send email messages with infected attached files, as well as install spying Trojan component to steal information from infected systems.

One particularly scary and dangerous feature of all spy software is recording of computer user's keystrokes for the purpose of monitoring computer activity. While you are typing out your password and credit card details online it is possible a hacker can be recording your every keystroke on his computer with the right spy software. So keystroke monitoring feature is main core of any spy software.

Without such core feature any spy software is absolutely ineffective and unavailing.
