EmailObserver

EmailObserver™ for Windows NT/2000/XP is a unique email monitoring software and surveillance tool created for a wide range of users either for ordinary home users or businessmen, corporations etc. With its help you can know the exact contents of email messages sent by your children, spouse or employees.

When installed on the monitored computer, EmailObserver™ will invisibly copy all outgoing emails and accurately send them to your secret email address pre-configured by the program Control Panel, no matter which email client is used on the computer under monitoring (Microsoft Outlook Express, Eudora, Pegasus, The Bat! or similar).

Full control over outgoing emails

EmailObserver™ captures outgoing SMTP-based emails and forwards them immediately to your secret email address - the recipient will not get these emails at all. So you have an full control over all the emails sent by the monitored user.

Email Observer is a suitable tool for:

- Parents concerned about their children's computer activity, i.e. what kind of messages they send by email, who they communicate with etc.
- Spouses worried about their partner's secret cyber relationship etc.
- Businesses trying to control internal information turnover, to stop incorrect usage of the company name, drain of trade secrets, know-how, or intellectual property, etc.
