

eMaps

Google Maps desktop client for Mac

eMaps is an application that gives you easy access to Google Maps.

eMaps provides street maps, satellite and aerial photos, hybrid and terrain views, as well as street-level views of locations in many countries around the world.

With eMaps you can use features including:

- Search for locations.
- Get the address of a point on the map, as well as its geographical coordinates.
- Get detailed (step-by-step) driving and walking directions.
- Check out Google Street View that show you places as if you were there in person.
- Draw lines and shapes on the map for trace custom paths, highlight regions, get distances and areas.
- View location-specific information such real-time traffic, current weather conditions and weather forecast, photos, videos, webcams, Wikipedia articles, KML contents.
- Set a default map view.
- Bookmark your favorite places.
- Export as image, export as KML or email your maps.
- View and explore maps in full-screen mode.

eMaps combines the power of Google Maps mapping services with the strengths of a native Mac OS X application.

Using intuitive, familiar interface elements (menus, toolbar items, system shortcuts, preferences) and technologies like WebKit and the Cocoa framework, eMaps makes Google Maps more responsive, interactive, and fun to use.
