1 Import & Export Passwords

Multiple options are available for either importing or exporting passwords to csv files, depending on the permissions you have been granted. When importing passwords, you can first test the import to ensure the expected format is met.

2 Real-Time Notifications

Passwordstate has 39 different builtin email notifications. These can be customized or disabled by the Security Administrators of Passwordstate, and each user can specify which email notifications they would like to receive.

3 Expiring Passwords Management

Every password record can have an expiry date set, and then users can be reminded via email reports, visually on the screen, or via the Expiring Passwords Calendar view.

4 Automatic Logouts

To mitigate against people leaving their screens unlocked with Passwordstate being visible, and automatic logout period can be set for inactivity.

5 Prevent Password Reuse

Adopt consistent Password Management practices with the use of Password Policies, and enforce various settings such as Prevent Password Reuse.

Click Studios' Passwordstate is a fantastic product. As a technology firm, we tried multiple password management solutions and no other system came close on features, cost effective licensing, and support. Their support is spectacular, quick and knowledgeable responses, and unlike most other companies they are willing to listen to feedback and quickly fix issues. It is rare to actually get excited about a piece of business software, but we most certainly were and continue to be surprised. They are always upgrading the product with great new features and we are always excited when we get a notification of a new update. Simply the best password management system and development company, hands down. We hope to see other great products and more exciting updates from them.
