CNET: Great monitoring program for all levels... →

Record Keystrokes

Elite Keystroke Recorder will record all keystrokes typed, while staying completely undetectable to users! Elite Keylogger lets you know what was typed (passwords, logins, addresses, names), in which applications, and who typed it.

Capture Passwords

* Including Windows logon

Elite Keystroke Recorder offers low-core keyboard monitoring with its kernel driver. This will ensure all logon data and other passwords are captured! Note: Elite Keylogger for Mac cannot record OS X logon password yet.

Monitor Email & Chats

Record keystrokes typed in any chat, internet messenger or email client: user names, passwords, keystrokes, instant messages (MSN, AOL, ICQ, AIM, GTalk, Skype). Both incoming and outgoing emails are captured and can easily be analyzed and searched in Elite Keylogger logs. Windows version only.

Remote Keylogger

Receive logs to your email easily! Windows version also features unique silent installation and simple configuration for exporting and attaching to any installation package, Elite Keylogger is one of the first professional monitoring tools to be effectively used in corporate networks, big offices and family households.

Still not convinced? These are just 4 out of 50+ great features of Elite Keylogger!

What is a keylogger anyway?

A computer monitor (known as a keylogger) is an invisible tool that records every keystroke to an encrypted and hidden log file. The log file can be sent secretly via email, or uploaded to a website via FTP, or sent to another PC on the same network. Keystroke recorders also monitor internet activity by logging the addresses of all visited websites. Keyloggers monitor the time and title of the active applications, and captures all texts in edit boxes and message boxes. Each of our keyloggers has its own features, so please, make sure you download the free keylogger trials of our keyloggers before making your choice.

Are keyloggers legal?

Short answer: Yes, keyloggers are totally legal. If you are given the admin login information (which is required to install each of our keyloggers) you have the right to install anything (including a keylogger) that you might need. Therefore, it is more of a moral issue to decide to start using a keystroke recorder. But as long as you own the computer, or are given administrative privileges by the person that owns the computer, it is legal, allowed and never prohibited.
