Hi friends...
Just installed JetClean and WOW... what can I say. It works flawlessly and it's quick, easy to understand, many options, customize what you want to fix, just 1 click, nice to look at and it's FREE. Was surprised at how quick and easily it does it's job with no problems what so ever. And if it does mess up your PC you can always go back and restore which JetClean also has a 1 click solution for that also. Looks like the programmers thought of that also... EXCELLENT job... Just GREAT... It seems to do a much better job than Ccleaner but I will have to give it a longer run for this is the first time I'm using it. Thanks for letting us know about this little JEWEL..... one other thing, my boot-up time has gone down 7 seconds which is a plus.

Thanks a million

Got a question. I was wondering why this, as probably all cleaner programs need to be run multiple times in order to fully clean so the final clean shows zero.

Close your browser and all open programs. Also, many have options you might check.

I see that Mario has a bit of a problem with his English so I just let him know that I am willing to give him a hand. That's what I told him in my reply comment above, I've downloaded Jet Clean and found 9 malware programs hiding in it. I could only get rid of the malware programs permanently by deleting Jet Clean. I do not know if the program comes with that or the malware just found a home there. But I would run a malware program on it before I installed it.

On one hand ,jetbooster prevent background processes. on the other hand ,It remain as a background process that uses more memory than canceled processes . why?

Kaf Shiel → lahav · a year ago
If it keeps a background process then i won't even try it... Also if you can't do the job with CCleaner or Wise Disk Cleaner and you still believe in "cleaning" your registry than by all means use JetClean... It was designed for users that don't really understand what cleaning their systems is. I myself was like that a few years ago.
