Accomplishments

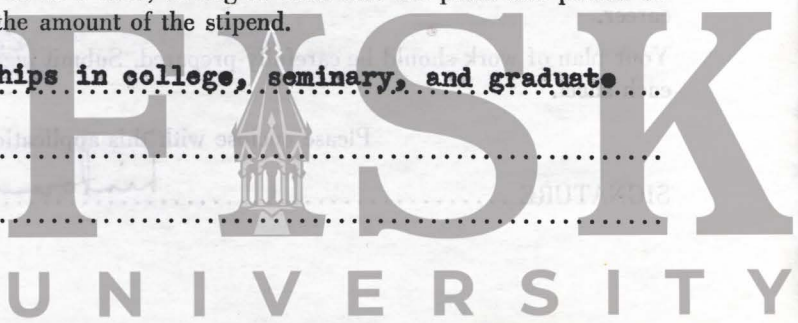

1. Of what learned, scientific, or artistic societies are you a member? Phi Beta Kappa (elected as honorary member, 1945); Sigma Upsilon (literary); American Sociological Society; National Council on Religion in Higher Education

2. What research, or creative work have you done? (If in business or a profession, give evidence of standing and achievements.)

Field research on interrelation of religious and economic institutions in Gaston County, North Carolina, won John Addison Porter Prize of $500 at Yale University in 1940. Continuing research on race and labor problems with special reference (thus far) to the United States, on the sociology of religion, and on agencies and strategies of social action.

3. Publications (Books and articles. Give title, date, and publisher.)
See attached Memorandum No. 2

4. List scholarships or fellowships you have previously held or now hold, stating in each case the place and period of tenure, the studies pursued during your incumbency, and the amount of the stipend.
None, except various tuition scholarships in college, seminary, and graduate school.

For a number of reasons, this budget is rather tentative. Careful calculations with Professor Julius Lewin, of Witwatersrand University, have indicated a total cost of approximately $4000. This figure includes air travel each way, in order to give me a full six months on the field. It may be desirable to make revisions as a specific schedule matures. No expenses are included for my family, which will remain in the United States.

If you have applied or expect to apply elsewhere for any fellowship for the same period (which is, of course, permissible), state the facts regarding such application.

Officials of the Phelps-Stokes Fund, of which I am a trustee, have indicated their interest in providing perhaps half of the necessary funds. I have not yet made application to them; other trustees have taken the initiative.

References But this application to the Rosenwald Fund is entirely at my own initiative.

List references, preferably five, from whom confidential information may be obtained concerning your professional qualifications and from whom expert opinion may be obtained as to the value and practicability of your proposed plan of work.
