

Fellowship Com.

AIRMAIL

March 11, 1947

Dear Mr. Still: This annual letter is as faithful as the first robin, and always bears the same request; namely, would you be willing to serve again this year as our composition jury? We have three candidates, two new, and one - Ulysses Kay - a repeat. I do not yet have manuscripts from any of them, but will obtain them and hold them until I hear from you.

Lest you begin to think you are saddled with a lifetime chore, let me say that it begins to look as though there will be only one more year of the fellowship program after this current one.

I shall look forward to hearing from you, and this letter, as do all of mine to you, is an expression of gratitude for all your past and future help to us.

Sincerely,
WILLIAM C. HAYGOOD
