Dear Billy: It now appears that I'll be able to attend the fellowship meetings on March 23rd and 24th after all. With the appointment of Rouben Mamoulian as director of the play, the opening date has been postponed to the 29th. I'll plan on getting to Chicago one or two days early so that I can study the applications on the spot.

Would it be too much to request someone in the office to secure outbound transportation for me on the 25th? I'll be going from there to New York and would welcome either a lower or a roomette.

Your letter is most interesting. I'll look forward to a session with you on the new novel-- which can't help being something rather special, coming as it does out of your own experience and observation.

Much work is still being done on ST. LOUIS WOMAN. We still hope it will be first-rate entertainment by the time it reaches the Martin Beck Theater.

Best,
