

FRANCES ELIZABETH CHAMPION

Assistant National Advisor
Future Homemakers of America
U. S. Office of Education, Washington, D.C.

Home Economics

A good candidate (Her picture & her training with Hale Carnegie are a bit too plausible)
Good academic - not top but above average
A homely practical project to improve clothing budget of rural families in Pa Will Teachers College help her much toward this?

I'm impressed by Ingram's statement Here is doubtless a good person - but maybe at secondary level of influence
