Dear Mrs. Payne: I shall be in Washington again next week and attempt once more to get in touch with you. May I suggest that we have dinner at the Harrison Cafe (I think on Florida Avenue) on Wednesday evening, January 11. You may set the time to suit yourself. If you do not wish to go home after leaving the clinic, an early hour would be suitable. I wish you would write me here immediately as to whether this is agreeable, and, if not, offer some other suggestion. I shall be in the city until Friday evening, but it is quite unlikely that I shall have any other time at my disposal.

Very truly yours,

M. O. Bousfield, M.D.
