

Fellowships
Directory

June 12, 1946

Dear Mr. Keady: In the past decade many business concerns and industries have instituted programs of scholarships for students or for research workers. The activities of the Standard Oil Company, Sears Roebuck, or the Pepsi-Cola Company are obvious examples.

The Julius Rosenwald Fund is attempting to gather information relative to this type of aid offered by commercial organizations, with a view to issuing a directory. Such a directory would be of considerable value to teachers, counselors, librarians, and other educational agencies, and would also furnish the basis for an interesting study of this new development in American business life.

If your organization has, or has had in the past, or contemplates in the future, any kind of program of prizes or scholarships for students or research workers, we would be very grateful for any information you can give us.

Sincerely yours,
WILLIAM C. HAYGOOD

WCH:EN

Mr. William L. Keady
U. S. Gypsum Company
300 West Adams Street
Chicago, Illinois

FISK
UNIVERSITY

Same letter written to:

✓ Mr. George A. Eastwood, President
Armour and Company
Union Stockyards
43rd Street and Racine Avenue
Chicago, Illinois

Mr. Thomas Drerer, President
American Steel Foundries
410 North Michigan Avenue
Chicago, Illinois

✓ Mr. Walter Geist, Executive Vice-President
Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company
Milwaukee, Wisconsin

✓ Mr. P. K. Wrigley
William Wrigley Jr. Company
410 North Michigan
Chicago, Illinois

✓ General Mills, Inc.
400 South Fourth Street
Minneapolis, Minnesota

✓ Mr. William L. Keady
U. S. Gypsum Company
300 West Adams Street
Chicago, Illinois

✓ Bendix Aviation Corporation
Vincent Bendix, President
401 Bendix Drive
South Bend, Indiana

✓ Mr. C. S. Davis, President
Borg-Warner Corporation
310 South Michigan Avenue
Chicago, Illinois

✓ Mr. Standish Backus, President
Burroughs Adding Machine Company
Second and Burroughs Avenue
Detroit, Michigan