Dear Hilde,

I am sending you under separate cover the proofs of James Baldwin's short story which you let me bring away from Chicago with me.

Yesterday I mailed my expense statement to Dorothy, not thinking that she may have returned to Texas.* If so, however, you will find it in her mail so that it need not be necessary to wait for her return.

It was a nice meeting, don't you think? Certainly your part was well handled!

Ever sincerely,

Arna Bontemps

*I enclose a copy herewith.
P. S. I have written the letter to Batcher.
