

FELLOWSHIPS

Lists

February 12, 1948

Dear Miss Broaddus: I am writing you in connection with your application for a Julius Rosenwald Fund fellowship.

Candidates in creative writing and journalism are given a preliminary judging for the Committee on Fellowships by a jury of nationally known critics. It is to the advantage of each candidate to present samples of his writing in order that the jury can arrive at a fair and sensible conclusion as to the applicant's style, facility, and treatment.

Will you please send me samples of your writing before March 5? The material will be carefully handled and returned to you as soon as the Committee has made its final decisions.

Sincerely yours,

HR
