Dear Vand:

Thank you for your letter of January 25th in reference to the meeting of the Art Jury.

Oronzio and I deeply regret to confess our annoyance at Frank's decision to meet in Chicago without the customary consultation among ourselves. He is not, as we are, burdened with the responsibilities of crowded schedules, and it seems incredible that he should not consider our situation.

Oronzio will write you his decision directly. Certainly I was not contemplating another trip to Chicago. However, after chuckling over my misgivings and juggling my schedule, I find that I can arrive in Chicago on Friday morning, March 24th.

I would greatly appreciate it if you can make traveling reservations, etc. for me.

With kindest personal regards and looking forward with genuine pleasure to seeing you, I am

Cordially yours,

Peppino Mangravite.

Copy of this letter will be sent to Frank.
