Dear Buck: Delighted, elated, and contented that we will have your help with this year's crop of manuscripts. I'll write Arna at once and begin to set up a date, although this may take a little time since there are several other meetings and juries also to be calendared; but you shall be given plenty of advance warning. I'll probably be coming to New York for a couple of days in March for the auditions at Juilliard and maybe we can come back together.

Sincerely,

WILLIAM C. HAYGOOD
