Dear Mr. Haygood:

It's a great pleasure to say "welcome home!" after the long silence from you. I am sure that you are as glad to be home, after three years away, as everyone is to have you back.

Yes indeed, I'll be more than glad to serve as judge again this year, and I will try to look over the scores and get them back to you promptly. I'm always interested to see these, because it keeps me advised of the progress others are making in musical composition. In that first year, I remember, I was both surprised and delighted to know how much talent there actually is.

With all good wishes to you, as always, I am

Sincerely,

William Grant Still
