Fellowship Com.

January 22, 1947.

Dear Billy:

I'm tickled pink over the chance of serving on the Rosenwald Fellowship jury. I've cleared it with Doubleday and they are more than willing to have me do it. So far as I can tell now, the middle of March sounds fine, and don't you think it might be wise to pick Thursday and Friday as the two days so that if, for any reason, I don't get through, I could stay over the weekend.

Thanks again, and any time that's agreeable to Arna is fine with me. What I particularly like is that this will give us a chance to really have a good talk.

Cordially,

Bucklin Moon
