Plan of Work To make a comparative study of "belligerence" in minority groups, as an expression of social frustration, with special reference to the Negro youth. Belligerence as a characteristic will be tested in compared Negro, Jewish, and other white youth groups on class bases, taking into account possible differences in northern versus southern, and rural versus urban patterns.

Wishes to carry on project under Dr. H. F. Adams, Department of Psychology at the University of Michigan. Hopes to complete work for Ph. D. degree. Has been admitted. Will not return to present position, which is temporary. Seeks further training for the career of professional psychologist either in teaching or research fields. Duration of project, one year.
