

Candidate Samuel Albert Rosenberg

Special Field Economics

Assistant Professor in the School of Business
Hampton Institute, Hampton, Virginia

Plan of Work

I am planning to pursue a course of study in labor economics and economics pertaining to the South. I believe that such a course of study would make me better fitted to teach economics at Hampton Institute and also aid me considerably in economics research in the South. I intend to publish the results of a labor survey of the South.

Wishes to study at Columbia University (has not been admitted) for Ph.D., beginning September, 1938, for the period of two years. Can return to present position.
