The Presentation:

Many of us get our Trades Ticket/designation and then are told that our best path forward is to go into business for ourselves. “You can set your own hours!” or “You can charge whatever you want!” are the messages we hear. Or sometimes, we get offered a position on an exciting project, but we’re told we MUST be a contractor and bill the general Contractor accordingly. Beyond what we’re told or what’s expected of us, what is involved in setting up a contracting business?

The Speaker:

Mike Janzen, Co-Founder & CEO of ClearSource

Mike Janzen is going to discuss the process, the pitfalls and the platforms that can help you ensure success. Mike has been a contractor himself, worked as a field rep for a power tool company and held executive roles with multi-national distributors like Fastenal & Red-D-Arc. Now he’s trying to help the contractor community be better prepared for the challenges of running a small business and will introduce innovation to help make them more efficient.
